Get Ready in Good Time!

Don't Be Afraid

It is'nt too soon to leave your measures for your Winter Overcoat or Suit. All that's left of Fall is its "bark."

You must feel shabby and uncomfortable in your old clothes. Heavier garments for thin ones, warm colours for light ones. You have got to change, and you'll feel better right away.

We are willing to wait for slower people than you, but let us tell you fairly: sharper people are getting and enjoying advantages that you do not.

Because we made you a Suit or Overcoat two or three years ago, and it won't wear out, that's no reason why you should'nt have a new one with the latest style in it.

TEN MEN WENT DOWN

Loss of the Steamship Memphis Off the Irish Coast.

THIRTY-SEVEN OF THE CREW SAVED

After Suffering Great Hardship in the Rigging Over Night—The Vessel Was Laden With Cattle, Flour, Butter, Cheese and Other Merchandise From Montreal.

London, Nov. 18.—The British steamer Memphis, Captain Williams, from Montreal, Nov. 4, for Bristol, is ashore in Dunlough Bay, near Mizen Head on the south coast of Ireland. Captain Williams and part of the crew were saved, and have arrived at Crook Haven. Nine men are supposed to have been drowned. A number of the cattle and barrels of flour forming the cargo of the Memphis have floated ashore. The fog is clearing so that the mastheads of the ship are visible from the shore. A strong, squally north wind is blowing.

The Memphis is of 3191 tons register, 345 feet long, 41 feet beam and 28 feet depth of hold. She was built at Belfast, Ireland, in 1890, and is owned by the African S.S. Co., London.

A despatch to the Central News says that the Memphis struck at 10 o'clock last night. Her crew took to the rigging, where they remained all night. Thirty-seven of them were rescued this morning in an exhausted condition by means of a line conveyed to the steamer by the rocket apparatus of the life-saving crew. Ten of the ship's crew perished.

The Memphis is completely submerged, and is a total wreck. Her cargo is floating out and washing ashore.

Captain Williams has been her commander since she was put afloat, and is well known as a careful and painstaking officer. Her cargo is said to be insured to the extent of $300,000, so the companies will suffer heavily.

CARGO OF THE MEMPHIS.

She Carried Cattle Butter, Cheese and Other Merchandise of Great Value Belonging to Canadians.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—(Special.)—Word was received here to-day that the SS. Memphis of the Elder Dempster line had gone ashore in Dunlough Bay, on the south coast of Ireland. The Memphis, which left here on Nov. 6, was built by Harland & Wolff, at Belfast, in 1890, and shortly afterwards entered the Bristol and Montreal trade of the Elder Dempster Company. In Lloyd's she is rated "A No. 1," and has a gross tonnage of 2930, while her net tonnage is 2053.

Her manifest is as follows: Hugh McLennan, 10,019 bush. wheat; Crane & Laird, 24,118 bush. peas; A. G. Thomson, 34,401 bush. corn; A. A. Ayer & Co., 2552 cheeses; A. W. Grant, 143 packages butter; A. J. Brice, 357 packages butter; Jas Dalrymple, 80 packages butter; Croil & McLennaugh, 325 packages butter; Co-Operative Wholesale Co., 230 bbls. apples; Wm. Nivin, 100 bbls. apples; J. T. McBride, 140 bbls. apples; B. & S. H. Thomson, 40 bbls. cross and ashes and 322 packages ashes; Bintliff & Peller, 60 bbls. codliver oil; Dobell, Beckett & Co., 277 pieces deals; Canadian Pacific Railway, 100 cases eggs, 108 packages bacon, 600 packages lard, 100 tubs butter and 640 sacks flour; Elder Dempster & Co., 350 head of cattle, 15 tons hay, 17 tons feed; Grand Trunk Railway, 580 packages meats, 500 cases canned meats, 527 bundles staves, 340 cheese, 700 sacks bran, 1200 sacks flour, 221 bbls. apples and 425 firkins of butter; Hyslop & Hunter, 50 cases eggs.

LOTHAIRE MUST PAY.

His Breach of Promise Costs Him £360 and Costs.

Brussels, Nov. 18.—The trial of the action for breach of promise of marriage brought against Major Lothaire, the commander of the Congo State troops, by Madame Vanhecke, on behalf of her daughter, was concluded to-day, the court granting a judgment against Lothaire. The finding of the court is that Major Lothaire shall pay Miss Vanhecke £360, the amount of expense incurred by the young woman in preparing for her marriage, and also pay the costs of the suit. Madame Vanhecke sued for £2000.

TORTURING SUSPECTS.

The Turkish Officials Trying to Secure Knowledge of the Revolution.

Constantinople, Nov. 18.—A great many Americans in Constantinople are interested in the case of a Miss Zimmer, who collected fifty or sixty children for the purpose of giving them shelter and instruction. The school she established was supported chiefly by funds contributed by Germans. Miss Zimmer's venture coming to the notice of the Government, the authorities endeavored to compel her to cease teaching the children. With this object the police have been calling at Miss Zimmer's school every day trying to make her disperse her pupils, but she steadily refuses to do so. The attention of the embassies has been directed to reports that the Turkish authorities are torturing suspected persons for the purpose of compelling them to disclose their knowledge of the revolutionary movement.

Dr. Windt Has to Give It Up.

London, Nov. 18.—A letter received here from Harry De Windt, dated Unwaldjik, on the Siberian coast of the Siberian Straits, says he has been obliged to abandon his proposed journey by land from New York to Paris, as he finds that the straits are 40 miles wide at the narrowest point, and that they are never frozen over. De Windt expects to return in a whaler towards the end of the month.

Spanish People Thanked

Madrid, Nov. 18.—The Cabinet has accepted the bonds for 400,000,000 pesetas, representing the total amount of the new Spanish loan authorized by the Queen-Regent, and the bonds already subscribed for, 250,000 pesetas, will be alloted pro rata. The sum of 7,250,000 pesetas derived from the loan will be allocated for the purpose of repairing warships.

The Cabinet at its meeting yesterday passed a resolution of thanks to the country for the generous and patriotic manner in which the people had subscribed to the new loan.

Armenian Bishop Sentenced to Death.

Constantinople, Nov. 18.—The Turkish special tribunal has sentenced the Armenian Bishop at Hassekein to death.

The bishop was condemned to death because during the late riots in Constantinople a loaded revolver was found in his house. The bishop was absent from home at the time, and upon this ground an appeal was taken against the judgment of the special tribunal, but the Court of Appeal has confirmed the sentence imposed by tribunal. The Armenian Bishop at Bitlis and a number of Mussulmans have been arrested in Constantinople for plotting against the Sultan.

The Castles Take Leave.

London, Nov. 18—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Castle of San Francisco left Waterloo station at 10 o'clock this morning for Southampton, where they will embark on board the steamship Havel for New York. A few friends gathered at the station to bid them farewell. Both appeared to be in a happy frame of mind. Mrs. Castle was perfectly composed and appeared to be in good health. The Castles were booked under the name of Michaels.

Special Tribunal Suppressed

Constantinople, Nov. 18.—The foreign ambassadors, as the result of pressure exerted upon the Porte, have accomplished the suppression of the special tribunal which has been trying the Armenians and Mussulmans arrested for participating in the late riots in Constantinople. All of the judgments and sentences which have already been pronounced by the tribunal are subject to appeal.

To Abolish Sugar Bounties.

London, Nov. 18.—The Chronicle's Vienna correspondent says that Austria and Germany are negotiating to abolish the sugar bounties.

MAN AND WOMAN DEAD.

James Ware Believed to Have Shot Mrs. Ricketts and Himself.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 18.—The dead bodies of James Ware, aged 30, and Mrs. Ricketts, wife of Albert Ricketts, both of Bloomington, were found lying on the Locust-street viaduct. The man had evidently shot the woman and then turned the weapon upon himself. The woman was the wife of Albert Ricketts a teamster. The man was the son of Mr Ware, who occupied a part of the house, the remainder of which was used by Ricketts and his wife. Mr. Ricketts had suspected an intimacy between Ware and his wife.

Driven Into a Water Pipe by a Bull.

York, Pa., Nov. 17.—Contractor John Berkery had an unpleasant experience today while attempting to cross a field on the farm of the late Reuben Minnich. He was attacked by a large, ferocious bull. He started to run, but the bull came after him. He saw lying in the field a number of large iron pipes. In order to save himself he crawled into one of the pipes. He had not been inside the pipe more than a minute when the animal came up, and, in its fury, struck its horns against the pipe. Berkery remained in the pipe until several farmers arrived and drove the bull away.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Mr. Sifton's First Effort Will be to Get a New Province.

CHIPPEWA INDIAN CLAIMS SETTLED

Canadian Carriages to be sent to Johannesburg—Joint Efforts of the Manitoba and Federal Governments to Secure the Immigration of Icelanders—General Notes.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—(Special.)—It is expected that one of the first questions which Mr. Sifton will take up when he returns to Ottawa, will be the request of the Northwest Territories for Provincial autonomy. Mr. Oliver, M.P., advocates the erection of Alberta into a separate province of the Dominion. The Executive of the Northwest Territories, speaking as the elected representatives of that great stretch of country, have declared for Provincial autonomy for the Territories, and it is questionable whether the Dominion Government can stave off the demand for a much longer period. What the Legislature contends is that the Territories should be erected into a province with all the powers pertaining thereto, except the power to borrow money. They are willing that the new province shall be confined to living on its income, or in other words, that it shall have no power to pledge its own credit. Coupled with the demand for Provincial autonomy for Alberta, is a request for power to borrow money in order to aid irrigation, subsidize railways, develop mining and foster the dairy and live stock industries. It is claimed that if Provincial autonomy is given to the Territories it will be a great advantage to that section of the country by doing away with the bureaucratic system of Government from Ottawa, which has prevailed for many years, and which, it is contended, is not to the advantage of the Territories.

The Government has at last settled the claim of the Chippewa Indians of the Thames, which has existed since 1835. A portion of the claim has been under discussion in arbitration between the Dominion Government and the provinces About two years ago a flat was obtained from the Governor-General, and the Indians were thereby allowed to prosecute their action in the Exchequer Court. When the action was ready for trial a compromise was arrived at. By the compromise the Chippewas receive some $30,640 and some $25,000 worth of lands trespassed upon and improperly allotted to the Muncey band, and in addition all costs of prosecuting the claim, which are to be paid by the Government. Counsel for the Chippewas were Mr. George E. Kidd of Ottawa and Mr. A. G. Chisholm of London. Messrs. O'Connor and Hogg were counsel for the Government.

Mr. James Sorley, who resides near the city, has concluded a contract with a Chatham firm of carriage manufacturers for the shipment of about 60 vehicles to Johannesburg, Transvaal. The order includes twenty phaetons, and the rest is made up of top buggies, spring wagons and expresses. The vehicles are to be shipped so that they will reach Johannesburg in a couple of months.

The Minister of Militia will visit Quebec shortly, when the officers of the active militia there will lay before him their views on the question of antedating of brevet commissions.

When Mr. Sifton took the oath of office documents on the Manitoba school question were exchanged between himself and the Dominion Government, so that the matter was finally closed before he became a member of Mr. Laurier's Cabinet. The terms of the settlement will be made known about the end of the week.

The agitation for bringing back the divisional point of the Ottawa and Parry Sound Railway to Barry's Bay from Madawaska, where the company has seen fit to move it, is still going on. Mr. Stafford of Barry's Bay saw the Minister of Railways in regard to the matter.

Mr. Greenway comes east shortly in connection with new inducements for Icelandic immigration. There is a large colony in Manitoba already, and they are about as prosperous and contented a class as can be found in the whole province. The financial conditions on the island of Iceland are at present very hard on the inhabitants. The Manitoba and Dominion authorities will co-operate in the matter to bring as many Icelanders to Canada as possible.

Coroner Freeland has had to adopt a somewhat unusual course. An inquest into the death of James Watergon was held yesterday at Limebank by Coroner Freeland. There were evidences of violence on the body. The jury retired, and after a consultation of over three hours said they could not agree on a verdict. The case was left over by the coroner for the presiding judge at the next county assizes, to be disposed of by him.

The Department of Agriculture is in receipt of letters from several of the largest establishments in the district affected with hog cholera in Western Ontario, commending the action which Dr. McEachren took in establishing quarantine. Unfortunately, the latest reports give word of new places which are affected.

Mr. Leduc, M.P., is in the city to-day en route for Toronto. Mr. Leduc is the owner of a fine deposit of lithographic stone, which has been found on an island in Lake Temiscamingue, and he is going to Toronto for the purpose of endeavoring to secure capital to develop the deposit.

The Marine Department has taken up one of the gas buoys which have proved of such great advantage to mariners on Lake Erie this summer. The other buoy will be taken up on the 20th.

The Minister of Militia, General Gascolgne, Col. Aylmer, A.G., Col. Domville, M.P., Mr. Edwards, M.P., and officers of the headquarters staff and militia, visited Rockliffe this afternoon to look over the site of the proposed Dominion rifle range there.

Capt. McElhinney left for Kingston to-day to take charge of the Collins Bay Co.'s steamer Petrel, which is to be used for ice service to Prince Edward Island.

Contracts have been let for the construction of eight small bridges along the line of the Trent Valley Canal.

Mr. Fisher leaves for Washington in a few days to endeavor to secure from the American authorities the renewal of the 20 days' quarantine regulations.

Mr. McGee, Clerk of the Privy Council, returned from Toronto to-day, where he swore in Sir Casimir Gzowski as acting Lieutenant-Governor.

Mr. H. R. Campbell of the Interior Department went west yesterday with Mr. Sifton in the capacity of private secretary.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve stren gth, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter: "Hood's Sar saparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1896.

THE GOOD ROADS CAMPAIGN.

The good roads agitation is yielding good fruit. Increasing interest is being manifested in the subject. Interest leads to investigation, and investigation and reflection show that good roads pay as an investment. Farmers are beginning to realize that the extra taxation involved in the possession of good roads is much less than the cost of the wear and tear of vehicles, fatigue to teams and loss of time which result from bad roads. When these truths come home to them they will be willing to volunteer for service in the campaign for better roads. And another great step will be gained when it is realized that the idea that should lie at the bottom of good roads is permanence. A road once built on proper principles should, with the necessary care, last for ever. There are roads in England in use now and in splendid condition, that were built at the time of Julius Caesar, over, 2,000 years ago. They were, evidently, built to last, and they have lasted. Of course they have not been kept in usable condition all that time without attention. And it is in England and other portions of Great Britain, where they have, perhaps, the best roads in the world. In the first place the roads are properly constructed, and being once well made, are kept in proper repair. The following paragraph will show what scrupulous attention is devoted to the maintenance of roads in proper condition in England:

"The roadmender, who is a permanent official, lives in a cottage on the line of the highway, which he is required to keep in order, and he is constantly at work. He is at once a scavenger and a road-mender. He goes over the road every day and removes in a barrow everything that is unsightly. After a heavy rain his trained eye detects signs of wear points where the water does not drain off rapidly, and he mends the break and restores the level by dumping a load of flint where it is needed. Supplies of material for roadmaking are in reserve every half mile, where flint has been carted, broken up and left for his use. He watches his section of road all the year round, and keeps it neat, tidy, free from litter, and in perfect repair; and he receives a sharp warning from the inspector if he neglects his work."

All this is expensive. Of course it is; but the result is in every way satisfactory. Over one of these highways a horse will bowl along at a good speed with a big load on a light wagon which on many of the country roads in this county would require two horses and a heavy wagon to drag along at a snail's pace, with occasional assistance from a rail from a road side fence to hoist the mired wagon from some unusually deep rut. The extra cost of roads like those of the Old Country is abundantly recouped. Good roads, though they cost more pay the better, on the same principle that it pays better to buy good honest Canadian tweed at a good price than to buy shoddy at half price. In road-making, especially, whatever is worth doing, is worth doing well.

THE ONTARIO MINING BOOM.

The mineral wealth of Ontario seems destined to have its long slumber rudely and aggressively broken. The latest issue of the Ontario Gazette contains notices of application for incorporation of no fewer than thirteen mining and prospecting companies, with an aggregate capital stock of $7,925,000. These companies are after gold, coal, iron, silver and minerals of nearly all descriptions.

MR. J. S. SNETSINGER has been nominated by the Liberals as successor to the late Dr. Bergin of Cornwall. A Mr. Pringle is the Conservative candidate.

ONE of the good effects of the Manitoba school question is the impetus it has given to the matter of educational improvement in Quebec. It is acknowledged that the school system in our sister province is defective and the proposal to improve it is meeting with great popular favour. To the Montreal Herald is largely due the honour of bringing the subject to its present prominence.

SENATOR COX.

Stratford Beacon.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox, the new Senator, started life as a telegraph messenger boy. He also took a turn at photography, and for a time travelled with a photograph car in the rural districts around Peterborough. His first start in his brilliant career as a financier came with his accepting the agency for the Canadian Life Assurance Co. for Eastern Ontario. He was a perfect type of agent—courteous, persevering and convincing in argument. He afterwards became a railroad president, and is now at the head of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, one of the leading monetary institutions of America. And from the beginning he preserved a character of the highest integrity. He is courteous to everybody with whom he comes in contact and liberal to the point of generosity in all his dealings. Mr. Cox is credited with being a millionaire. If he possesses that sum he came by it honestly, which is more than can be said of most millionaires, and it is in worthy hands. A consistent Christian, who always found time from his many and important business engagements to attend to the duties of his church, he is a good model of self-made man to hold up as an example to young Canada.

THE GARDEN OF NEW ONTARIO.

Situated in the Rainy River Valley it Possesses a Soil of Wonderful Fertility.

Toronto World.

The agricultural garden of New Ontario lies along the bank of the Rainy River for nearly its whole length from Lake-of-the-Woods to Rainy Lake, a distance of 90 miles. The State of Minnesota lies to the south of the river. There is no settlement at all on the Minnesota side. It is quite otherwise on the Canadian bank. Settlers are coming in every season, and the country is being steadily taken up. Next spring will witness a larger influx of farmers than has ever been known in the district before. The development of the country has materially advanced and pioneer life has been robbed of very many of its former terrors.

The district is settled for five miles back of Emo. The Rainy River agricultural district contains over 600,000 acres of land adapted for all kinds of farming. The good land extends back from the river to a distance of from ten to twelve miles, and over the whole of this area the rich alluvial soil is of unparalleled fertility. It has been declared by the Hon. A. S. Hardy that he knows of no other stretch of eighty miles in Ontario that can compare with it for richness or fertility of soil. The land is lightly timbered, and where necessary is easily cleared.

The great advantages of this district, especially with regard to water and wood, over a prairie country have attracted a number of settlers from the adjacent states, as well as from many parts of the Dominion and Great Britain. Already there is a white population in the district of nearly 5,000 and an Indian population of 00 on Government reserves. Some of the settlers have been on the lands for a considerable time, and have good houses and barns, large clearances, good fences well-bred stock. The Ontario Government gives a free grant to every bona fide settler, head of a family, male or female, of 160 acres of land, and if he desires it will sell him an additional 80 acres adjoining at $1 per acre, payable in three years, while any or all of their sons over 18 years of age may have 120 acres free, and may purchase 80 acres each at $1 per acre.

Speaking of the season of 1896, Mr. Locking informed me that the ground was ready to work the first week in April. Seeding began the second week, and most of it was got in in fine condition before any rains came. Crops this year have been generally good. Mr. Lockinge's spring wheat went 35 bushels to the acre. Wheat sown before May 20th, always escapes the frost. Besides all kinds of grains and roots—the district produces tomatoes, citrons, melons, currants, gooseberries and other small fruits. The prices which prevailed this season ranged as follows: Wheat $1, oats 50c, barley 60c, potatoes 50c, turnips 40c, butter 25c, eggs 25c. Stock thrives well in the district and realizes good prices. Working horses being $100 each, oxen per yoke $100 to $125, cows $40. There is a ready market for all produce at the mines and lumber camps.

The winters are cold, but people don't seem to mind the weather, even when the thermometer is several degrees below zero. The thermometer generally dips down to 50 below once or twice each winter. There is plenty of firewood in the district, which makes it in that respect preferable to Manitoba.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10¾ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000,00 a year.

TARIFF COMMISSION.

Great Interest Evinced at the Inquiry in Toronto.

MR. FIELDING THE QUESTIONER.

Sir Richard Cartwright Shows a Great Mastery of Detail—Jewelers Were Out in Force Yesterday—Pork Packers Also Made Strong Representations.

Toronto, Nov. 19.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. William Paterson and Sir Oliver Mowat were on hand at the Board of Trade again at 10 a.m. yesterday to continue the reception of those interested in the tariff.

The Finance Minister seems to be the controlling mind of the commission, for it is generally he who takes the deputations in hand, cross-questioning their spokesmen, and directs them as to the preparation of further information for the Government, when such is required.

Next in activity to Mr. Fielding comes the Minister of Trade and Commerce. Sir Richard has continually a pile of blue books, open and shut, before him, and from time to time he refers to these and propounds incisive questions to those before the commission. His mastery of detail avail him well here.

Hon. Mr. Paterson is comparatively silent, but once in a while, when a subject with which he is particularly familiar crops up, he becomes all alive and helps to elicit valuable information from the evidence-givers.

Mr. H. K. S. Hemming of Hemming Bros., manufacturers of jewelry, toilet and other fancy cases, constituted the first deputation heard. He asked that the duty on the finished articles produced by him be left as it is, but that the Government should put on the free list such raw materials as silk, satin, plush and velvet, when imported by case-makers for their own use.

The largest and one of the most important of the deputations yet heard by the Ministers was that representing the jewelers' and silversmiths' section of the Board of Trade. It consisted of Messrs. M. C. Ellis, W. K. McNaught, Ed Scheuer, James Ryrie, T. H. Lee, H. E. Anderson & Co., H. R. Playnter, Ambrose Kent, C. E. Gunther, Benjamin Kent, J. Davis, John Wanless, E. N. Morphy, Walter J. Barr, P. W. Ellis of J. E. Ellis & Co., jewelers, and the following silversmiths: E. G. Gooderham, Toronto Silver Plate Company; W. K. George, Standard Silver Plate Company; Roden Bros., manufacturers of sterling hardware; Saunders & Laurie, Julius Saunders of H. & A. Saunders, A. H. Dewdney of Dewdney Bros., and E. Cohen of Cohen Bros., spectacle makers.

Mr. P. W. Ellis submitted the deputation's case to the Ministers with the remark that there was no jewelers' trust in Canada, and then went on to speak of what the trade wanted. It was recommended that the duty upon clocks, other than tower clocks, and upon watches, watch cases and watch movements should remain as at present. It was suggested that watch and clock materials, including clock springs, watch glasses or crystals, watch crowns, winding bars, and sleeves be placed under a duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem, which would mean a reduction in some cases of 10 per cent. It was recommended that diamonds and other precious stones unset should be relieved of the present duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem and placed on the free list. It was asked that the present duty of 30 per cent. be left upon electro-plated flat and hollow ware and sterling silver flat and hollow ware, and that sterling silver-mounted novelties should be listed at a uniform duty of 25 per cent. A reduction of 5 per cent. was asked in gold and silver thimbles. Some representations were also made as regards the importation of composition for watch cases, spectacles, etc.

Mr. Ambrose Kent and other retailers endorsed Mr. Ellis and a discussion followed.

Mr. G. S. Russell asked for a reduction of the duty on bead ornaments from 35 per cent. to 25 per cent. to enable the Canadian importer to compete with his American rival. He also asked for discrimination as to the importation of walking sticks and trimmings. As regards silver and gold laces for regalia, it was complained that the duty on the parts was higher than on the finished article. Curling stones were recommended to be put on the free list.

Mr. Emil Poliska, representing the manufacturers of Sapolio, asked that that article should be allowed to come in under the same duty as laundry soap, as it did not compete to any extent with them. The duty, he said, should be 20 per cent. instead of 35 per cent. He also objected to the present import charge on posters and advertising matter connected with Sapolio.

Mr. A. A. Barthelmes of A. A. Barthelmes & Co. complained that the duty on the raw material for "piano actions" was higher than that on the finished article. In many cases the duty on the screws, felts, etc., used was double that on the completed article. He also mentioned a similar state of affairs as regards autoharps. He wanted his hands strengthened as against the French and United States makers.

Mr. R. McLaughlin, builder of carriages, Oshawa, represented that the present duty on finished carriages should be maintained until the duties on raw materials were lessened.

When the commission resumed work in the afternoon the first deputation they received consisted of a large number of pork packers. These gentlemen appeared to be in a very anxious frame of mind and expressed themselves very plainly. Those present were: Messrs. F. W. Fearman, President of the Pork Packers and Provision Dealers, Hamilton; James Park, D. Gunn, Andrew Park, Charles Blackwell, A. Gunn, Robert Thompson, James E. Bailey, James Madden, a representative of the William Ryan estate; Frank Mathews, Peterboro; W. E. Mathews, representative of Hull and Peterboro; W. A. Maclean, Owen Sound, and F. F. Telfer, Collingwood.

Mr. Fearman stated the case of the pork men and said it was absolutely necessary for the success of the hog trade in Canada that the tariff should not be reduced at present. He instanced the remarkable development of the hog trade in Canada during the past fifteen years. Had it not been for protection this increase would never have occurred.

It was claimed that pork is raised cheaper in the United States, and the amount of speculation indulged in had a tendency to keep down the price on the other side. If the tariff was lowered now the country would be flooded with pork from the Chicago packing houses. Canadian hogs are much better than American hogs, this being due to the feeding.

Other members of the deputation spoke and said it was their wish that the Government would not deem it wise to change the specific duty of two cents per pound now on hogs. "If the duty were taken off," said Mr. C. S. Blackwell, "we should be forced to go out of business, and the farmer would have to discontinue raising heavy hogs."

Mr. Counsell said that as it is no money has been made by the handlers of dressed hogs in the last few years. He believed in Canada for Canadians. Should the industry be wrecked by a tariff reduction. Mr. Counsell stated that it would seriously affect a multitude of people in the country. On behalf of the coopers, whose business would be greatly affected by a falling off of the pork trade, Mr. J. Lendreville was present. He stated that he had made thousands of barrels, and the trade had grown in an extraordinary and most satisfactory manner. Barrels can be made cheaper in the States than here, because across the line they have the proper kind of wood.

"Is there any probability of the duty on hogs and meats being changed?" asked Mr. Fearman, "because we would like to know it. If there is any danger it would affect the filling of our cellars, as it has done in the past."

"We can't fill our cellars with this hanging over our heads, and if we did the farmers would have to share our loss" interposed one of the gentlemen.

Hon. Mr. Fielding remarked that every possible change in the tariff would, of course, bring anxiety to some, and he wanted the deputation to make their views as strong as the case warranted and to submit them in writing. A document to which a host of statistics was attached was handed to the Minister and the anxious deputation departed.

Messrs. John and David McIntosh, the marble men, were next. Mr. John McIntosh stated that at present there is a duty of 20 per cent. on rough stone and he would like to see that duty taken off. There was practically no granite in Ontario that can be used for monumental purposes. They had to import their good granite from Vermont, that from New Brunswick not being suitable.

Mr. R. McDonnell of the Sunnyside Rolling Mills wanted the $10 per ton duty on bar iron retained and the $4 per ton duty on scrap iron reduced to $2. Mr. McDonnell, in his remarks, said that if the country could have a settled trade policy it would be of great benefit to the iron industry. At present, he said, there is no soft steel made in Ontario, and he has in his mind the formation of a company with a capital of $250,000 for its manufacture. Before going on with the formation of his company he was desirous of seeing what the Government would do regarding tariff changes before he would go on. He also contemplated organizing a blast furnace company with a capital of $100,000.

Mr. McDonnell remarked that at present steel rails are brought into the country free, and as long as that is the case we will never have a steel rail plant established here.

Messrs. C. C. Going, president; G. W. Marsh, director, and S. D. Mills, vice-president and general manager of the Toronto Junction Foundry Company, stated there was an average duty of about 30 per cent. on malleable iron and it would suit them better if they could get raw material in free. They wanted a reduction on pig iron.

The soap men came next. They were represented by Messrs. C. C. Dalton of Dalton Bros., John Taylor and Fred Richards of Woodstock. They had no association, but were there in the interests of their own firms. They stated that they wished to have the tariff on laundry soap put back to where it was two years ago. It is now one cent and was one and a half cents then. Mr. Taylor wanted the old duty of 10c per pound and 10 per cent. ad valorem placed on soap. This was changed to 3c per cent. ad valorem the last time the tariff was revised, and now some dealers sending goods into Canada took advantage of the ad valorem duty by putting ridiculously low values on their importations. On high-grade soaps the deputation would like the duty to be made 5c per pound and 5 per cent. ad valorem.

Mr. C. H. Hubbard wanted the duty on gold leaf from Germany raised from 25 per cent. to 30 per cent., as, owing to the low rate of wages paid in the Fatherland, German gold leaf can be brought into this country for a little less than Mr. Hubbard can manufacture it. Mr. Hubbard is the only man in his line of business who has been able to make it go in Canada. He turns out about $12,000 worth in a year and about $60,000 is imported.

Mr. Ellis of the Barber & Ellis Company asked that there be no reduction in the duty on paper and manufactured paper, such as envelopes, etc. At present the duty is 35 per cent. and 25 per cent. respectively, but if any change is to be made Mr. Ellis said he would not mind if the duty was changed on paper if it was changed on envelopes, etc., accordingly.

It was nearly 7 o'clock when the commission adjourned.

A MARVELLOUS CURE.

Helped by the First Box—Could not Lift Fifty Pounds—Cured by a few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Arthur, Nov. 9. (Special).—Among his more intimate friends it has long been known here that Mr. J. C. Morrison had been gradually failing in health for many years. The acuteness of his sufferings was known only to a few. His complete recovery is a surprise here and is causing much talk. Of his cure he says:—"Yes I got help from the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I have taken fifteen boxes. I kept getting better every day. When I commenced I could not lift fifty pounds; now I am as strong and well as ever in my life."

Constipation Cured.

Gents,—I was in very poor health for over four years; the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash I got three bottles of B.B.B. and took it regularly. I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B.B.B.

THE MOB SWOOPED DOWN

And Filled a Number of Colored Men With Buckshot at Altoona, Ky., the Other Night.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 17.—Four negroes were seriously wounded and five others sprinkled with buckshot last night by a mob of white men at Altoona, fifteen miles from here on the Tennessee River. Fifteen negroes were engaged in cutting timber for the Standard Oil Company. They had been ordered to leave, being told that no negro was allowed to stop there. John Keeber, the foreman, decided there was no danger of violence, and the negroes were sitting around an old house when a mob of fifty men swoped down upon them and began firing. Some of the negroes ran into the woods, and others sought refuge in the house with the foreman. The mob then started to burn the house, but the foreman sued for peace, and the negroes were given twenty-five minutes to leave. The seriously wounded are: Smith (foreman), Mitchell Clark, John Boyd and Zena Jenkins. They were brought to this city. No effort has been made to apprehend the mob. Not a negro can be found for miles around Altoona to-day. Several more have been killed by mobs in this neighborhood before.

Do the kidneys talk?
Well, yes, both loud and long.
You are learning the kidney language.
Backache in kidney language means kidney ache.
Lame back means weak kidneys.
Weak back means weak kidneys.
The kidneys are talking trouble.
Here is some Norwood talk:

Mr. George Taylor, well known in Norwood, has this to say about Doan's Kidney Pills:—

"For a great many years I have been a sufferer from kidney disease. Terrible pain in my side and back made my life a burden. The urine was a dark wine colour, and I was greatly troubled with frequent urination. My sleep was destroyed because of this annoying trouble.

"I have taken scores of medicines, but could get no relief, and thought that I would never be cured. Happily I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, and got a box at J. C. Moffatt's drug store, and have continued their use for one month.

"I am thankful to say as a result that they have fixed me up. I feel like another person. I do not now have to get up at night, and in fact am entirely cured.

"I think they are the grandest medicine ever placed before the public, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney disorder of any kind."

Royal Templars.

The Midland District of Royal Templars intend to hold their semi-annual meeting in Peterborough next Thursday—Thanksgiving Day.

Rev. G. M. Milligan, D.D.

Rev. G. M. Milligan, D.D., will lecture in St. Paul's church on Monday evening, Nov. 24th. Subject of lecture "How to Brighten Life." Admission twenty-five cents. In aid of the Children's Rescue Work.

A Fine Team.

Undertaker Comstock has just purchased a very fine jet black team from a farmer near Lindsay. They were originally matched for a Rochester undertaker, but Mr. Comstock heard of the pair and was fortunate enough to secure them.

The George Street Church Board.

A meeting of the Quarterly Board of the George street Methodist church was held last evening and the following Board of Stewards was re-elected :—Messrs. John Lockhart, B. F. Ackerman, Thos. Morrow, James Might, Benj. Shortly, Jas. A. Fife, M. D., and D. W. Dumble, Recording Steward.

Settle Your Accounts.

Business men are now sending out their accounts, and every person receiving them should settle without delay, the full amount, or as much of it as possible. Clear off the small debts, and there will not be much difficulty in lessening the larger ones. Five dollars kept constantly on the move, will easily pay off a thousand of indebtedness in a week. Money will move freely and dispel much of the "hard times" if everyone will make an effort to pay what they can. There are thousands of dollars locked up that should be in circulation, in settling up old standing accounts.

St. Andrew's Society.

The annual general meeting of the St. Andrew's Society will be held on Thursday evening, Nov. 19th, 1896, at 8 o'clock in the Morgan House. Business : Election of officers, making arrangements for the celebration of St. Andrew's Day, and other important matters. Members are urgently requested to attend, and all Scotchmen who wish to identify themselves with the Society are invited to be present.

The Lucky Guessers.

The interesting guessing competition which has been in progress at Messrs. M. L. Henry & Co.'s grocery store for the past month closed on Monday evening. The exact number of bars of soap displayed in the window was found to be 1,090. Two persons guessed 1,100, which was the closest figures to the exact number, resulting in a tie for the box of soap. The names of the fortunate guessers were Mr. Edward Ward, an employee of the Lock Works, and Mr. D. Doig. Under the circumstances Messrs. Henry & Co. had nothing left to do but to divide up the prize, and give 50 bars to each of the lucky guessers. The competition was quite keen, and between 800 and 900 guesses were made, showing that considerable business must have resulted from the advertisement of Henry's soap window. The large proportion of the guesses were quite close to the right number, although the lowest guess was 100 and the highest 9,500. Mr. J. W. Latimer refereed the count.

MORE SHEEP SLAUGHTERED.

Mr. J. J. Howden's Flock Attacked on Tuesday Night.

The sooner that sheepowners realise that the only safety for their flocks lies in locking them up securely at night, the sooner will the ravages, which are occurring nightly, cease.

On Tuesday night last the farm of Mr. Joseph Forster, Reeve of North Monaghan, was visited by dogs, but he had his sheep all safely housed. Notwithstanding this fact the bloodthirsty brutes attacked the door and actually endeavoured to force an entrance into the barn. Mr. Heasman, who lives near Mr. Forster heard the noise made by the dogs and, as he lives nearer to the barns than the owner, he ran over and saw what the animals were trying to do. He then hastily aroused Mr. Forster, who, getting a gun, endeavoured to get a shot at the dogs, but they discovered his presence and fled before he could do so. One of the dogs was of a yellowish colour.

The same night Mr. J. J. Howden's place was visited by the brutes, on the Otonabee side of the river, near the locks. He had not exercised the same forethought as Reeve Forster, and his flock of nineteen fine lambs was greatly reduced in number in consequence.

He heard the dogs growling and barking in the field and at once surmising what was the matter he picked up a rifle ran out, and obtained one shot at the dogs before they fled but did not succeed in hitting either of them, although he saw two. Out of the big flock seven were killed outright and five more were so badly mangled as to necessitate Mr. Howden's killing them. Of the remaining seven, four had escaped through leaping the fence, and two were recovered next morning at Mr. Winch's barns, a half mile distant.

The question now arises, if these dogs when they have the thirst for blood so strong upon them, will not eventually turn upon the man who disturbs them while they are engaged in ravaging a flock. A couple of such savage beasts could tear a man in pieces if he was not provided with a weapon for defence.

REV. D. O. CROSSLEY, OF NAPANEE, IS CALLED.

The Charlotte Street Quarterly Board Unanimous on the Point.

At a meeting of the Charlotte street Quarterly Board last night, it was resolved to extend a unanimous invitation to Rev. D. O. Crossley, of Napanee, to become the pastor of the church during the ensuing term.

The following stewards were elected : Messrs. A. L. Davis, M. A. Morrison, R. Neill, J. L. Hughes, Jas. Stevenson, T. H. Goard and Wm. Forster. As a Sabbath school committee the following were chosen : Messrs. A. L. Davis, R. Neil and J. L. Hughes.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. William Fredenburgh Drops Dead Whilst at Work.

The very sudden death of Mr. Wm. H. Fredenburgh occurred yesterday afternoon whilst he was at work with Mr. George Trotter, who was making some repairs to his house on the corner of Reid and Smith streets.

Mr. Fredenburgh was engaged in mixing the mortar when he suddenly straightened up and fell back dead without uttering a word.

The deceased was 63 years of age, and up to seven years ago resided in Trenton. Since that time he has been living in Smith township, just across the boundary line. He was a brother of Mr. James Fredenburgh's and was married.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon next, at two o'clock, from the residence of Mr. George Trotter, corner of Smith and Reid streets, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN HICKEY.

She Was Only Sick One Week of Inflammation of the Lungs.

The death of Mrs. John Hickey, aged 76 years, occurred this morning at the family residence, No. 71, Elm street, after an illness of just a week. On Thursday last Mrs. Hickey contracted a severe cold which settled on her lungs and developed into inflammation, which was the cause of her demise.

The deceased was born in Limerick, Ireland, where she married Mr. John Hickey, coming to Peterborough in 1850, where she has resided ever since, being one of the oldest residents of the town. A husband and two children survive her, the latter being Ellen, the wife of Eugene Archambault, of town, and John Hickey, of Rochester.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at nine o'clock from the late residence of the deceased to St. Peter's Cathedral.

ANNOUNCEMENT NOTES.

The Spider and Fly Company.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review says : A good audience was present at the opera house last night to see M. B. Leavitt's great spectacular production, "The Spider and Fly." The costumes were pretty and a gorgeous line of scenery is carried. Teddy Simonds appeared as the star comedian, and his turns and songs are extremely good. Besides this three very clever sisters do a contortionist and dancing performance, which is one of the best features of the show. The ballet dancing and fancing marching is well done. The closing tableau is splendid. This company appears at Bradburn's opera house on Saturday night next.

Myra Collins Company.

Plenty of good singing, dancing, etc., can be enjoyed by attending the Opera House, week commencing Nov. 23rd, when Myra Collins and her jolly company will appear. Mr. Dan Simons, the popular Peterborough boy, is with this company. Dan will be pleased to be home for one week. The prices have been reduced to 10 and 15c. No higher. Don't forget the date, week commencing Monday, Nov. 23rd, with matinees Thanksgiving and Saturday afternoons.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

Mrs. D. H. Burritt is confined to her room with illness, as is also one of her children.

Mrs. Sidney Strike, of town, is visiting her friend, Mrs. W. H. McCallum, in the Dale, Port Hope.

Mr. W. A. Wood, of town, has been ill in the Toronto General Hospital of typhoid fever for some time.

Mr. Thos. Telford, it is regrettable to learn, has been confined to his bed for the past four or five days.

The Port Hope Guide says : Mr. Sam McElroy, Peterborough, a former resident of Port Hope, was in town to-day, calling on old friends.

Mr. Frank Ellis, the popular porter at the Grand Central Hotel, who has been ill in the Nicholls Hospital for some weeks, is again able to be out.

Mrs. Wm Moyse, of Peterborough, who has been spending a few days in Port Hope the guest of Mrs. W. A. Russell, has returned home.

—A paragraph in the Ottawa correspondence of the Toronto World says that the contract has been let for eight bridges on the line of the Trent Valley Canal.

A well known young Bellevillian has been honoured in the person of Mr. John A. Forin, son of Mr. John Forin of this city. Mr. Forin has been appointed a judge at Rossland, B.C.

Messrs. T. F. Matthews, of Peterborough, and Mr. W. E. Matthews, of Ottawa, representing the respective branches of the Matthews Company' business, were in attendance yesterday at the Tariff enquiry in Toronto.

The Lindsay Post says :—Mr. Thomas Mimms, engineman, who has been running on the Lakefield branch, has been transferred to Lindsay, and will remove his family here in a few days. We welcome Mr. Mimms as a citizen of Lindsay.

Mr. Shoemaker, who has been appointed head miller of the Consolidated Milling Co., with his wife and two daughters, arrived in town on Saturday from Sarnia. They are at present boarding at No. 90 Hunter street, and so far are delighted with Peterborough.

Mr. J. W. Crosby returned to town yesterday from Campbellford, where he had been engaged in placing a number of new pianofortes in the homes of some of the citizens of that embryo town, and in negotiating for several others which are to follow.

The friends of Miss Retta Irwin, a member of the graduating class for 1896, of the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses, will be glad to learn of her rapid convalescence from her protracted and critical attack of typhoid. Her recovery has been eagerly watched for by her relatives and friends, and since her removal from the hospital to the home of her parents on Stewart street, she has been permitted to enjoy numerous personal congratulations on her restoration.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

The melancholy days have come,
When he and his heart's desire
Find it too cold to hang by the gate,
And too warm to spoon by the fire.

—No police court this morning.

—A number of wages cases against Corry & Laverdure will come before the magistrate on Monday.

If your eyes trouble you in any way, have them tested by W. Madill, optician. No charge for examination.

—Mr. Charles Herring, while shooting on Salmon creek, yesterday, shot a large white owl. Its spread of wings is five feet six inches.

—The concert in the George street Sunday school to-night promises to be very entertaining. A varied and pleasing programme has been prepared.

—Lizzie Burley of the township of Hope picked a pimple on her lip with a needle a few days ago. Blood poisoning set in and she died yesterday from the effects.

—The hunters are all complaining of the amendments to the game laws, and say that large numbers of wounded deer have been found in the woods already.

—Here's another victim to the baneful tobacco habit. Mrs. Isabella Riddle, of Markham, died last Tuesday at the age of 106 years. She enjoyed her pipe to the last.

—Great numbers of dandelions are now in bloom, which is a sign, an old weather observer remarks, that winter will not set in early. Let it be accepted for what it is worth.

—The Quarterly Board of the Omemee Methodist church have given a unanimous invitation to the Rev. N. A. McDiarmid, of Napanee, to become their pastor next June.

—A George street merchant whilst on his way to the bank yesterday dropped a fifty cent roll of coppers, but on retracing his steps half an hour later found them in the gutter unmolested.

—A dog poisoner has destroyed a large number of valuable animals in Belleville. It is a pity this man could not be secured to kill off some of the useless curs of North Monaghan and Otonabee.

Mr. Bert Wallace, G.T.R. operator, is off on a couple of weeks holidays and his place at the key is being taken by Mr. S. Dunn, relieving agent, of Allandale. Bert will spend most of his time in Midland and Toronto.

—The George Matthews Company's branch meat store in Hintonburg was entered by thieves on Sunday morning last, and a large quantity of meat taken. No clue to the robbers.

—There should be a great crop of Mayoralty candidates in the larger centres of Canada this year. It is hinted that the Duke of York will confer knighthood on the Chief Magistrates on the occasion of his visit to Canada.

—Lindsay council is discussing the advisability of giving the mayor a salary of $200 per year. One of the councillors objects to "increasing the bonded indebtedness of the town to the amount of $5,000." This is just about what it means.

—If you want to economise burn the People's Coal Co's coal. All kinds of coal in stock, including best hard coal for stoves and furnaces, soft coal for grates, and smithing coal. Office—220 Charlotte street. Telephone 306.

—During the summer Mr. W. G. Fraser, of Campbellford, cut two heads of cabbage in his garden, and from the stalks there sprouted fifteen heads, eight on one and seven on the other, all of which became solid and fit for table use.

—During the early part of next month the farmers will be made wealthy again with the money they will receive from the sale of cheese. With good prices the latter part of the season, it is expected that there will be a fair average for the six months.

—Now that poultry is being placed upon the market, it would be advisable to heed the instruction of poultry dealers, who recommend the removal of all feathers and the entrails, but not the skin in plucking. Poultry sells best when offered in good condition.

A NOVEMBER WEDDING.

Marriage of Mr. Alfred E. Simpson, of Lakefield, in Hamilton.

Hamilton Herald.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Waters, 30 Erie avenue, on Wednesday afternoon, when Miss May Brown, sister of Mrs. Waters, was married to Alfred E. Simpson, of Lakefield, Ont.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Tovell, and the bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Oliver, of this city. The groom was assisted by Mr. Heath, of Port Dover.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of about twenty of the nearest relatives and friends of the bride. Since coming to the city Miss Brown has been identified with the First Methodist church and has become very popular amongst a large circle of friends by whom she will be greatly missed. She was the recipient of a large number of handsome presents, among them a solid gold watch and chain from the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left on the noon train for Detroit. The bride and groom above mentioned are well known in Campbellford. The bride is the daughter of Mr. David Brown and the groom for some time was employed by the Rathbun Company.

NO INTERFERENCE.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

SIR,—We desire to say that the very unusual display of posters put up about town are not in reference to a matter for which our firm is responsible, nor can our goods be sold to satisfy it. And further, that the attempted sale cannot and will not in any way interfere with our contract on the canal.

Your obedient servants,

The Penalty of Politeness.
Yesterday a lady from the country called at a certain shop in town and requested permission to leave her basket for a short time—till she called for it. The proprietor with a smiling politeness characteristic of his demeanour, very affably assured the lady that he would be only too happy to oblige her. He took the basket and placed it carefully on top of a steam coil, which was not hot enough to injure the basket, but had heat enough to make it disgustingly hot for the proprietor of the shop a short time later. In due time the lady returned and claimed her parcel, which was handed her. She noticed that it was rather light, and forgetful of the favour she had received rather irately proceeded to tax the courteous shop keeper with abstracting some of its contents. Investigation showed that the contents of the basket—butter—had melted and flowed through the interstices of the basket upon the floor, and the coil not being in a very good light, the catastrophe was not noticed till close examination was made. A friendly compromise was effected, as there is no more wisdom in crying over melted butter than spilt milk. One thing that intensified the uncomfortable experience of the gentleman was that the presence of a lady prevented the employment of language sufficiently vigorous to express his feelings.

BAPTIST MISSION CONFERENCE.

Bad Weather Makes a Small Attendance — Addresses by the Mission Officials of the Church—The Responsibility of Christians in Reference to Missions.

The unusually rainy and stormy weather accounted for a small attendance at the Baptist church last night, for the mission conference which was addressed by distinguished workers in the mission field of the church.

After the usual devotional exercises a brief address was given by Rev. A. P. McDiarmid, M.A., secretary of Foreign Missions, on the general subject of the object of God in redeeming the world, which was to use the redeemed ones for His work in extending the blessings of that redemption. He particularly referred to the great responsibility that rested upon Christians in relation to the spread of the Gospel. God had appointed no other way than through the members of the Christian church. In this great work a diversity of gifts was needed, but all working to the common end of saving lost men and women. The gifts of all were redeemed in order that they might be consecrated to the work of of extending the Kingdom of Christ. Even the business man, as a type, should consecrate his business gifts to making money to be used in the spread of the Gospel. There were many obstacles to the use of these gifts, but they might all be summed up in one word—worldliness, in its various forms—than which there was nothing more destructive of spiritual life in the soul. The great motive to activity in the work of extending the Kingdom, should be the love of Christ.

After the singing of the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee,"

Rev. E. Bosworth, field missionary of the Grand Ligne Mission, Quebec, addressed the meeting. He urged his hearers to each one regard himself or herself as specially selected by God to do some special work in the salvation of souls. But not only as individuals was the duty of working for God laid upon us, we were banded together for the same purpose. There was no doubt of the work that God had assigned. Christ commissioned His disciples to preach the truths of His Gospel and before He ascended to Heaven He urged upon them the duty of the spread of the Gospel to the "uttermost parts of the earth." When we looked upon the fifteen millions of souls in the world, the truth was forced upon us that our duty was not only to those in our own town, but our zeal should lead our hearts to go out in love to the whole world. The speaker related experiences of his own which showed the necessity of the blessed consolation of the gospel in many spiritually barren regions of our own country, where he had been the first Christian minister that had visited isolated settlers in seven and nine years respectively. In all the six hundred miles between North Bay and Port Arthur, within the some twenty-five villages and towns, there had not been planted one branch of the church of the New Testament. The speaker pointed out the great field for mission work in the Northwest. There was much to be done, but the speaker was thankful that much had been done. Twenty years ago there was only one Baptist in Winnipeg. Now there were two prosperous churches with large congregations, and in the whole Northwest there were three score churches. Referring to the Province of Quebec the speaker inquired why God had selected the Baptist church to carry the gospel to the great province where the great majority were bowing down to idols, and relying upon the mediation of so-called saints, rather than upon that of the great Mediator. There were 300 millions in India alone, who had never heard the name of Christ.

Rev John P. McEwan, Superintendent of Home Missions, said the presence of the officials of the mission department was not to present the claims of any particular work, but to deepen the interest in missions, and impress the sense of responsibility that rested upon the individual Christian. In the Home Mission Field the past year there were 146 missionaries at work, and he was glad to say that in every one of these fields, with one or two exceptions there was evidence that souls had passed from death unto life. Never did their seem to be so many open doors as at present, nor such an evident willingness to receive the great message of the Gospel.

After a few closing words from Rev. Mr. McDiarmid the meeting closed with singing and prayer.

ARCHDEACONRY OF PETERBOROUGH.

Summary of the Proceedings of the Third Annual Meeting—Division of the Diocese of Toronto Unanimously Favoured.

The third annual meeting of the Archdeaconry of Peterborough opened on Tuesday morning last at Cobourg. The following clergy were present in the course of the day:—Ven. Archdeacon Allen, Rural Deans Allen, Cooper and Harding; Canons Macnab, Spragge and Farncomb; Revs. J. Gibson, J. Creighton, A. G. E. Westmacott, Rev. J. C. Davidson, W. J. Creighton, W. E. White, G. H. Webb, H. Symonds, R. A. Rooney, G. Warren, A. D. Tarrant, C. H. Marsh, W. H. French, E. Daniel, J. H. McGinnis, G. Major, W. L. Baynes Reed, Wilson McCann. Lay delegates were present:—Mr. Cummings, from Colborne; W. P. Plant, John Coyle and E. Weir, from Hastings; John Burnham, Q.C., from Ashburnham; F. H. Falkner, from Havelock; Col. Bolton, Mr. Osler, Judge Ketchum, from Cobourg; Mr. A. L. Colville, from Campbellford; Mr. Grace, from Lindsay; Mr. Thompson, from Gore's Landing and Harwood; Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, Peterborough. A considerable number of ladies also attended the meetings.

Proceedings opened with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 9 a.m., followed by a devotional meeting, conducted by Canon MacNab, after which the delegates adjourned to the school house, when the Archdeacon delivered the opening address and nominated as his representatives on the Council, the Rural Deans of Durham, Northumberland and Haliburton.

The delegates elected Canon Spragge to represent Northumberland, Rev. E. Daniel to represent Durham and Rev. E. Soward Haliburton. Rev. H. Symonds was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. Lay representatives were also, for the first time, elected to the council as follows: Mr. Grace, of Lindsay, for Durham; Mr. Colville, of Campbellford, for Northumberland, and Mr. Bemister for Haliburton.

The meeting then adjourned for lunch, which was bountifully provided by the ladies of St. Peter's church. Speeches were made after lunch.

In the afternoon the question of the division of the diocese was fully discussed by Rev. W. E. Cooper, Messrs. A. L. Colville, John Burnham, and F. E. Hodgins, of Toronto, and others. The following important resolution was passed unanimously.

Moved by Col. Boulton, seconded by Rev. C. H. Marsh:

"That whereas it is desirable in the interests of the Church that a division of the Diocese of Toronto be made as the present area is too large for the efficient supervision of one Bishop, in the opinion of this Conference it is desirable that a new Diocese be formed consisting of the counties of Ontario, Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton; that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Committee on the Extension of the Episcopate, and that a special committee, consisting of the Archdeacon, Col. Boulton and Rev. H. Symonds be appointed to confer with the clergy of the County of Ontario in regard to the proposed division."

In the evening Divine service was held in St. Luke's church, when the sermon was preached by Rev. H. Symonds from Ephesians v, verse 32: "I speak concerning Christ and the church." The musical portion of the service was well rendered and a short devotional service by Canon McNab brought to a close a very successful opening of the Conference.

BURIED AT DUNSFORD.

The Sad End of an Accident in the Back Woods.

On Thursday of last week, as noted briefly in a previous issue, James Bell, hotel keeper at Orono, was drowned while hunting with a party of Toronto and Orono friends about thirty miles north of Havelock, Methuen township.

The lake was very rough about the time he was due to arrive from his watch some miles distant from the camp, and it is supposed the canoe was overturned by a huge wave.

The body was recovered on Saturday previous to the arrival of Messrs. Wm. and Arthur Bell, of Dunsford, brothers of the deceased and Robt. Thurston, a brother-in-law, who at once left for Havelock upon being notified of the unfortunate occurence, and they passed through to Dunsford with the body on Monday. The funeral took place Tuesday at 2 30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Thos. Bell, another brother of the deceased, and the remains were followed to St. John's cemetery by a large number of sorrowing friends, many being present from Orono, Havelock, Bobcaygeon, Lindsay and other points. Deceased was 44 years of age, and leaves a wife, four sons and a daughter.

ENJOYED HER PIPE AT 106.

Probably the Oldest Resident in Canada Passes Away.

Mrs. Isabella Riddle, aged 106 years, relict of the late David Riddle, one of the oldest settlers in this part of the country, died on Tuesday at the residence of her son, James, on the tenth concession of Markham. Deceased was in possession of all her faculties. She has always been a very industrious woman and of late years spent most of her time knitting. She has been a widower over fifty years and always enjoyed her pipe.

A Bicycle Accident.
Yesterday afternoon, says the Port Hope Times, as Miss Ella Merrifield was riding on her wheel along Mill street going north, a farmer named Orlando Gifford, driving a load of barley to town, ran into her. Miss Merrifield was thrown from her wheel and severely bruised, while the wheels of the waggon passed over her bicycle, completely wrecking it. The farmer drove on without stopping to assist the young lady or to apologize. He was on the wrong side of the road and was warned to turn out, but instead of doing so, crowded Miss Merifield into the ditch. A suit for damages will be instituted by Mr. C. A. Merrifield.

Mr. Dougherty, better known as "Doc," played with the "Ontarios" of Port Hope, for one season, and was a general favourite with all the boys, who regret to learn of his death. At one time he had the reputation of being the best "all around" player in the world.

FENCING.

An invention has been tried in London which is said to do away altogether with the difficulty constantly experienced by an umpire in judging hits between two equally matched competitors at fencing. This end, it is declared, has been achieved by covering the front of each jacket with fine copper or brass wire gauze, and connect this with the adversary's foil and an electric bell (of the burglar alarm pattern) and battery in the safe circuit. It follows that when a hit is made the circuit is closed and the bell rings and continues to ring until stopped by the person in charge.

A special arrangement in each foil handle provides that only a direct point produces a ring. Two entirely electrically distinct circuits are used, each including a bell, foil and jacket; flicks or blows or grazes produce no result. The bells being of different tones and moreover placed on opposite sides of the room, there is no difficulty in deciding who has scored a hit, or, in cases of almost simultaneous hits, who delivered the point first. By a simple arrangement the wires passing from the batteries to the combatants' collars are kept well out of the way, however sudden may be the movement of advance or retreat.

In the London trial six selected amateurs competed for a pair of foils, and five bouts were fought. The experiments were completely successful. A military expert, Captain Hutton, who was present said that the device would be of great value at such competitions as the Royal Military Tournament, for the best judges sometimes made mistakes, while the electrical current could not err.

Nervous Prostration

Complete Recovery by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

Something Mysterious in Connection with Mr. James Martin White, M.P. for Forfarshire.

London, Nov. 17.—Considerable mystery attaches to a report concerning James Martin White, a Liberal who represents Forfarshire in the House of Commons. The Dundee Advertiser announced on Saturday last that Mr. White had accepted the Stewardship of the Chiltern Hundreds, in other words had retired from politics. Immediately thereafter Mr. White declared that the announcement was wholly untrue. He added that he was going to India on business, but hoped to return by the time Parliament resumed its sittings. That something is wrong was shown to-day by the action of the Legislative Committee of the Dundee Liberal Association, which held a meeting and discussed the case of Mr. White. The committee finally adopted a resolution declaring that since it had been informed that grave charges affecting Mr. White's personal character had become the subject of litigation, the committee would take no action in the case, hoping that Mr. White would be able to clear the charges up. Mr. White started for India yesterday. Mr. White, who is about 39 years old, is a member of the firm of J. W. White & Co., No. 54 Worth-street, New York, which is chiefly engaged in the importation of textile goods. He is a Justice of the Peace, member of the Council of University College, Dundee, chairman of the Technical Institute and President of the Dundee Technical Association. The character of the charges against Mr. White is as yet unknown.

The Daily Mail, in its issue to-morrow, will seek to minimize the gravity of the charges against Mr. White. It does not state definitely what the charges are, but the article indicates that a suit for breach of promise of marriage has been, or is to be, brought against Mr. White by the daughter of a Scotch clergyman.

INTER-IMPERIAL TRADE.

The Conservative Associations of Great Britain Resolve in Favor of Commercial Federation.

London, Nov. 17.—The National Union of Conservative Associations, in its session at Rochdale, has adopted resolutions favoring a commercial federation between Great Britain and her colonies, the restriction of the immigration of pauper aliens and the creation of a national reserve of breadstuffs.

Mr. Robert A. Yerburg, M.P. for Chester, in supporting the last-mentioned resolution, urged that the Government should store ten million quarters of wheat. He also argued in favor of restoring a duty of one shilling per quarter on foreign corn.

More Curative Power

Tried several medicines, but none gave much relief. Until I tried Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound my blood was in a dreadful state, but I am happy to say your medicine cured me."

ROBBED A CANADIAN.

That is the Charge Against Two New York Young Women Clothed in Purple and Fine Linen.

New York, Nov. 17.—Two fine-looking women, clad in purple and fine linen, with sparkling jewels and costly furs, were brought into the Supreme Court before Justice Lawrence to-day by an officer from the Tombs. They were Misses Nellie Mason and Jessie Roberts, who were arrested several days ago on the complaint of E. L. Peltier, a Canadian, who charged that they had robbed him of $75 in a saloon on 40th-street and Broadway.

P. A. McManus obtained a writ of habeas corpus for the women, and urged that there was no evidence to show that they had committed the theft in spite of the fact that Magistrate Mott had held them each in $2000 bail for the grand jury.

It was in the evidence, he said, that Peltier had not examined his pocketbook from 6 o'clock on the evening in question until after the women had been with him, and then he accused them. They had immediately been searched, but nothing was found on them. Assistant District Attorney Oliver said that Peltier had told one of the women to keep her hands out of his pocket where the money was. Decision was reserved.

THE CROOK OWNED UP.

The Safe in a Napanee Hotel Was Robbed and a Job Was Put Up on the Supposed Thief With Success.

Napanee, Ont., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—A. E. Douglas, proprietor of the Paisley House here, had an experience last night with a light-fingered gentleman. A one-armed stranger, giving the name of Ross, and alleging himself as a traveler for a Chicago firm, has been staying at the Paisley House for a few days, and last night after many of the guests had retired Ross walked up to the office to pay his bill, and among the bills offered in payment was a crisp new American two-dollar bill. Mr. Douglas recognized the bill as similar to one which had been deposited by a guest shortly before. He had a suspicion that the safe in which over $300 had been placed for safe keeping shortly before had been rifled, and investigation proved this fact. He immediately called in the police and sent for Police Magistrate Daly, but before their arrival communicated the fact of the robbery to a drummer guest who knew Ross. This gentleman approached Ross, and, stating that he was short, asked Ross for a loan of ten dollars, which request Ross complied with. The drummer went to the office, placed a mark on the bill and had a talk with Douglas. The drummer then approached Ross, and told him something was wrong with the bill and that it had been stolen and was recognized by the mark on it, and as the bill came from Ross he was suspected of the robbery. Ross broke down, and acknowledged taking the money, repaid it and left. The Magistrate and constable allowed Ross to go unmolested to pastures green.

SPAIN'S LOAN.

The Government Asked for Fifty Million Dollars and Over Twice That Amount Was Subscribed.

London, Nov. 17.—A despatch from Madrid to The Central News says the new Spanish loan has been subscribed for to the amount of 570,000,000 pesatas, though only 250,000,000 pesatas were required. The sum total of the loan authorized by the Queen Regent was 400,000,000 pesatas, but the Government decided to ask for only 250,000,000 pesatas, reserving the remaining 150,000,000 pesatas, for which there was no immediate need.

The success of the Government in floating this internal loan is regarded as assuring the Government's ability to secure a foreign loan should it ever become necessary, and the Government are greatly encouraged.

It has been decided to send 10,000 troops to the Philippine Islands at once, in addition to the 6000 which are already under orders to leave for Manilla.

Mining Engineer Furlong Drowned.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 17.—A private telegram received in this city yesterday states that Francois F. Furlong of Butte, a well-known mining engineer, was drowned at Vancouver while trying to cross the bay for the purpose of examining some mines for English capitalists. Furlong has been engaged in mining in Mexico, South America, Australia, New Zealand, Portugal, Japan and all over America. He was 50 years of age and unmarried. He had a brother in London and a sister in Australia.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

The market to-day was quiet and steady. The receipts were 48 car loads, including 700 sheep and lambs and 1500 hogs. The demand for export cattle was slow. Sales were made at 3¼c to 3¾c per lb. Really choice animals are worth 4c. Bulls, for export, 3c to 3¼c. There were few choice butchers' cattle, and they would bring 3c to 3¼c per lb.; medium butchers' at 2½c to 2¾c, and inferior at 2c to 2¼c. Offerings are chiefly confined to inferior grades. Milch cows unchanged at $25 to $40 each, and calves firm at $3 to $5.50 per head.

Old Country cattle markets are not improving. The demand is poor and all the markets are well supplied. A cable from Liverpool says: "There was a dull market both here and in London to-day. States cattle sold at 5¼d per lb., Canadian cattle at 4¼d, and ranchers at 4d."

Sheep and lambs in moderate supply on local market, and prices firm. Export sheep sold at 3c per lb., and bucks at 2¼c to 2½c. Lambs are steady, there being sales at 3c to 3¼c per lb.

Hogs in fair offer, with receipts of 1500. The best sold at 3¾c per lb., weighed off cars, thick fats at 3½c to 3¼c, light weights at 3½c, sows at 2½c to 3c and stags at 2c per lb.

BRIDE'S WARNING IN VAIN.

Told Her Betrothed Not to Blow Out the Gas, But He's Dead.

Baltimore, Nov. 17.—Edmund G. Crosby, a young farmer from Prince George's county, came to Baltimore yesterday to visit his sweetheart and to arrange for his wedding, which was to have taken place a week from to-morrow. This morning he was found dead from asphyxiation at the home of Mr. William J. Shriver, No. 1534 North Carey-street, the uncle of his bride-elect. Wilbur W. Shriver, a son of Crosby's host, with whom he slept, was rendered unconscious from inhaling the gas, but will recover.

In parting last night the last words of Miss Hallie Hall, Crosby's betrothed, to her lover were: "Don't blow out the gas when you retire." Crosby, evidently in his anxiety to turn the gas entirely off, wrenched the stop-cock so that the gas escaped. He slept directly under the gas jet, and had been dead several hours when his room was entered this morning. Young Shriver awoke in the night partly suffocated by the escaping gas, and attempted to escape from the room, but when he reached the door he fell unconscious.

When they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. Is it not equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor enough. He suffers much, gets little sympathy. At first, perhaps a little heaviness in the stomach, a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn; headaches and biliousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and means that the body is holding poisonous, impure matter that should be gotten rid of. The poison is being reabsorbed into the blood and the whole body. Impurity in the blood may lead to almost any disease. Constipation is the start of it all. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, cure it so it stays cured. No other remedy in the world will do that.

AFTER TEN YEARS SUFFERING

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 23RD JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

Making the baby happy is a womanly woman's best pleasure. It is easy to make a healthy baby happy. Such a baby is born happy. Smiles and dimples are as natural to it as fretfulness is to a puny, sickly child. It rests with every woman whether her baby shall be healthy and happy, or puny and miserable. If during the period preceding maternity a woman takes proper care of the organs upon which the perpetuation of the race depends, she insures the health of herself and child. It is easy to do this. The proper medicine is at hand. Over 90,000 women have testified in writing to the value of it.

The organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible are directly acted upon by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares for maternity. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period. It insures baby's health and makes its advent easy and almost painless. Druggists sell more of the "Favorite Prescription" than of all other similar medicines combined.

"I am anxious to add my testimonial to your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. C. G. Brandon, of Fort Grant, Graham Co., Ariz. "I had been using the 'Prescription' for several months previous to my confinement, and I am sure I have been benefited greatly from the time I commenced to use it. I feel fully as well as ever I did in my life. Up to the very day when the baby was born I did all my own housework; and during confinement I had not the least symptoms of fever. The 'ordeal' was nothing to what I expected."

The woman who owns a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser probably does not realize at once all that she gave in exchange for it. There was the price of $1.50. That paid for the large volume of 1,008 pages. Then, as day by day she looked into these pages, one by one she gave away her anxieties for her family's health. She learned how to make her children well. In the chapters especially treating of her own weaknesses, she learned the causes and the cures. 680,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 each. Now an edition in paper covers, will be distributed FREE. Send 21 one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., to cover the cost of customs and mailing only. Send 50 stamps for cloth binding.

SOME TURKEY LORE.

HISTORY AND HABITS OF THE NATIONAL BIRD.

It Is a True American, and No Genus of Its Species Is a Native of the Old World. Our Domestic Gobbler Is a Descendant of the Wild Turkey of Mexico.

The turkey is deserving of special sympathy inasmuch as it may be regarded fairly as the representative American bird. Its likeness would be more appropriate than that of the eagle as the national emblem. No species of its genus is a native of the old world. When the Spanish conquerors came to Mexico, they saw and wrote home about the turkey. They described it as a kind of peacock. Montezuma had one of the greatest zoological collections ever got together, comprising nearly all the animals of the country, to which were added many brought from afar. He was very proud of his menagerie, on which great sums of money were spent. Large numbers of turkeys were furnished alive as food to the carnivorous beasts. At that period turkeys had already been domesticated for centuries in the land of the Aztecs, and they were reared in much the same way as at present.

From Mexico the domesticated turkey was brought to the West Indies as early as 1520. It was carried to Europe by the Spaniards, and the delicacy of its flesh being highly appreciated, it soon spread over the greater part of Europe. In the reign of Francis I it was imported into France. The first one eaten in that country is said to have been served at a banquet on the occasion of the wedding of Charles IX. This was in 1570. The bird was bred with much care and not long afterward it found its way into Africa and Asia. In 1541 it was introduced into England. Although these facts are beyond dispute, there was question for a long time as to the origin of the turkey. In Great Britain it was popularly supposed to have come from Turkey, and hence the name given to it.

The most remarkable event in the history of the turkey, however, remains to be told. From Europe it was brought to the United States, and it is the descendants of these imported birds that appear on our Thanksgiving tables, trussed and browned, with giblet gravy for an appetizing accompaniment. In fact, our domestic turkey is the Mexican bird—a different species from the familiar wild turkey of this country. The notion so widely held that the barnyard turkey is this wild turkey domesticated is an error. It was first proved to be such by the late Spencer F. Baird, formerly secretary of the Smithsonian institution; hence the difficulty of mating wild turkeys with tame ones. The wild turkeys of Mexico today, on the other hand, are just like our tame turkeys, being derived from the same original stock. They have the same white meat — decidedly whiter than that of the wild turkeys of the United States—and they exhibit other likenesses in addition.

There are two species of wild turkeys in North America. One is confined to the eastern and southern United States and the other to the southern Rocky mountain region and adjacent parts of Texas, New Mexico and as far south as Orisaba. In a word, one species belongs to eastern and the other to middle north America. Our barnyard turkeys are derived from the latter stock. The differences between the two species are not so marked as to excite the attention of the casual observer. In the Mexican or barnyard fowl the tips of the tail feathers and the feathers overlying the base of the tail are creamy white. The same feathers in the wild turkey of the eastern United States are brown always.

In view of the facts here stated, the Mexican wild turkey of today becomes interesting. It is a very shy bird and lives in families like the goose. Sentinels are kept on watch while the flocks feed. The female lays 12 brownish red, spotted eggs, which are hatched in 30 days. It feeds on various kinds of berries and fruits and prefers pecan nuts to any other diet when they can be found. Its habits in all important respects are like those of the wild turkey of the United States.

When migrating, if they reach a river which they want to cross, the turkeys wait on the near bank for a day or two, for consultation apparently. Meanwhile the males gobble continually and strut about with lowered wings and expanded tails. When the proper time arrives, the entire flock rise to the tops of the highest trees, and, at a signal from the leader, the birds launch themselves in the air and fly to the opposite shore. Should the stream be wide the young and feeble individuals are apt to miss the point aimed at and fall into the water. They swim ashore with much dexterity, closing their wings, using the expanded tail for a support and striking out rapidly with their long and powerful legs. Sometimes, if the bank is very steep, a few may be unable to ascend, and, falling back from unsuccessful attempts, they are drowned.

In Yucatan and Guatemala is found a third species of turkey, which is one of the most beautiful birds known to the ornithologist. Its feathers blaze with metallic reflections of gold, green, blue and bronze. It is somewhat less in size than the other two kinds. Its tail is ornamented with eyes like those of the peacock. This species is called the "ocellated" turkey.

Thankful For Small Favors.

In 1633, according to Palfrey, "there was great scarcity of corn, yet people lived well with fish and the fruit of their gardens," and yet these supplies, insufficient for comfort, were deemed enough to be thankful for, and in the proclamation of Governor Winthrop calling for "a day of public thanksgiving through the several plantations" he refers to "the many and extraordinary mercies which the Lord has been pleased to vouchsafe of late to this plantation—namely, a plentiful harvest, ships lately arrived with persons of special use and quality, etc."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Oysters Served Raw.

Wash the oysters well in cold water; then have them opened in the deep shell to preserve their liquor. Cover the bottom of deep oyster plates with chopped ice, place the oysters on top and serve; or put a small napkin over the ice and arrange the oysters on the napkin. Another way is to place the oysters for 15 minutes on chopped ice, arrange them without ice on plates and serve with lemons cut in quarters.—Exchange.

Thank Him.

For pasture lands folded with beauty,
For plenty that burdened the vale,
For the wealth of the teeming abundance,
And the promise too royal to fail,
We lift to the Maker our anthems,
But none the less cheerily come
To thank him for bloom and fruition
And the happiness crowning the home.
—Margaret E. Sangster.

A Reminder of the Fathers.

Thanksgiving day comes with its annual reminder of the fathers, who in the midst of their poverty and distress thanked God for their blessings and had hope for the future. It is the self sacrifice of one generation that constitutes the prosperity of the next. The rock of Plymouth is no stony bowlder to be shielded from rough contact by a marble canopy. It is rather a sure faith in the supreme obligations of duty and of personal character as the main element of durable success.—Independent.

The best way to cure disease is to drive it from the system by purifying the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Old Time Thanksgivings.

In 1652 the magistrates at Plymouth, desiring to show loyalty to England on the close of the war in England by the battle of Somerset, placed themselves on record thus: "The court desired that a public day of thanksgiving throughout the colonies might be observed therein to give thanks for the great victories granted to the army in the behalf of the parliament and the commonwealth of England."

In the Plymouth colony Thanksgiving days were appointed for 1651, 1668 and 1680 and in the Massachusetts Bay colony in 1633, 1634, 1637, 1638 and 1639. In New York the Dutch governors proclaimed Thanksgiving days in 1644, 1645, 1655 and 1664 and the English governors followed this precedent in 1760 and 1775.—Exchange.

A Beautiful Custom.

Our beautiful national custom of setting apart a day for Thanksgiving annually must never be suffered to fall into desuetude. The home day, when the clans gather and rally, when bearded men, having traveled for days, arrive breathless and eager at the old threshold to keep Thanksgiving among kith and kin, when troops of grandchildren surround the old table, when all the land is thrilled and moved because of the great feast—this day is so peculiarly our very own that we must always hold it dear. Its religious and its social character should continue to be interchangeable, and the consecration to God should but make the separateness of its home joys the more precious.—Mrs. M. E. Sangster.

Stubborn Rhode Island Settlers.

The Rhode Island settlers, stubborn in this as in other things, never took kindly to thanking anybody for anything. Sir Edmund Andros, the imperious governor of New England in the reigns of Charles II and James II, thought his will a match for their stubbornness. Several times he ordered them to appear to be thankful on a certain day, but the colonists did it with so bad a grace that several of them were hauled before the magistrates and charged with contempt and disobedience of the king's ordinances.—New York Sun.

The Best Turkey Cook.

There's a queer thing about the cooking of a turkey. And in my estimation there's only one person who has solved the riddle—or one class of persons. A farmer's daughter can cook a turkey, but no one else in the world. I want my "turk," as the boys say, cooked by a farmer's daughter. The chestnuts inside must be big ones, domestic chestnuts, but the bumping big kind that grow in Indiana and nowhere else.—Benjamin Harrison.

You may eat cheap food and not be seriously hurt by it: but you cannot take cheap medicines without positive injury. If you use any substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, you do so at the peril of your health, perhaps of your life. Insist on having Ayer's, and no other.

Thanksgiving Day.

Over the river and through the wood
To grandfather's house we go.
The horse knows the way
To carry the sleigh
Through the white and drifted snow.

Over the river and through the wood.
Oh, how the wind does blow!
It stings the toes
And bites the nose
As over the ground we go.

Over the river and through the wood
To have a first rate play.
Hear the bells ring,
"Ting-a-ling-ding!"
Hurrah for Thanksgiving day!

Over the river and through the wood
Trot fast, my dapple gray!
Spring over the ground,
Like a hunting hound,
For this is Thanksgiving day!

Over the river and through the wood
And straight through the barnyard gate
We seem to go
Extremely slow.
It is so hard to wait.

Over the river and through the wood
Now grandmother's cap I spy.
Hurrah for the fun!
Is the pudding done?
Hurrah for the pumpkin pie!
—L. Maria Child.

IN THE DARK VALLEY.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have Saved My Life"—This is said by Thousands—Prevention the Safest.

"In the valley and shadow of death"—"Given up to die." There are many thousands of such living in Canada to-day who say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills have saved my life."

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents—which is better than curing.

Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all Lung Troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

Cod-liver oil suggests consumption, which is almost unfortunate.

Its best use is before you fear consumption; when you begin to get thin, weak, run n; then is the prudent to begin to take care, and the best way to take care is to supply the system with needed fat and strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, will bring back plumpness to those who have lost it, and make strength where raw cod-liver oil would be a burden.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

SELF-DENIAL WEEK.

This Annual Event in the Salvation Army Begins Next Sunday.

The annual Self-Denial week of the Salvation Army takes place throughout this territory from November 22nd to November 29th, inclusive. Every salvationist is more than occupied with preparations for this event.

A wonderful testimony to the Army's development and activity has been paid in past years by the large sums of money which have been raised in this way.

Each member of the Army, as well as the friends of its many social institutions, are asked to abstain from all luxuries, and in many cases officers and soldiers have actually determined to do without certain articles of food which are ordinarily considered necessary, in order that by their acts of self-denial they may add financial support to the Army and its many different branches of work.

The social operations in this wide field have been greatly developed during the past twelve months, there being several extensions of the work. As a natural consequence, therefore, the demands upon the Army's funds have increased, and this will require still greater effort to raise a corresponding increased amount during this special Self-Denial week.

There is hardly anything more refreshing than a cup of good Tea. But then really good Tea is scarce and that is why so few understand the invigorating qualities of the herb. One of the most experienced "Tea-tasters" selects our best brands of household Teas. If you will try them in preference to what you usually use you will soon detect the difference and understand how refreshing a cup of good Tea really is. Prices according to quality.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Edward Blomfield left here on Tuesday afternoon for Regina, N.W.T., where he will join the Northwest Mounted Police.

Miss Dench returned to her home at Windsor on Wednesday after a pleasant visit to her uncle, Mr. R. Q. Dench.

Mr. — Kelly of Uxbridge is the guest of his son, Mr. J. E. Kelly.

Mr. James Madill of Kingston is the guest of his his brother, Mr. J. L. Madill.

Mr. Alex. McEwen of Carleton Place, is in the village visiting friends.

Mr. J. B. Smith of Brighton is visiting friends.

Mr. Herbert Chubb sailed on the Parisian from Quebec for England.

Mrs. Andrew Fairbairn is very ill with scarlet fever.

Mr. John L. Simpson has opened out a butcher shop opposite the English church, where he will keep on hand all kinds of fresh meat.

Mr. Garnet Greso, formerly of Millbrook, has opened out a photographic studio over Mr. J. C. Carveth's store.

Mr. Cunningham of Douro has purchased a milk business here.

Street Inspector Doidge has had the street at both ends of the bridge graded with broken stone. This is a great improvement, as there were great holes at each end of the bridge.

It is is also talked of having Queen street graded from the bridge to the railway track.

Mrs. G. Vinette, of Peterborough, will be at the Queen's Hotel, Lakefield, on Thursday and Friday, November 26th and 27th, with a supply of her valuable preparation for the hair, which restores gray hair to its natural colour, stops falling out, cures baldness, scalp troubles, etc.

Our deer hunters have been very successful this season.

The Gordon-Grylls hunting party returned home Monday night with thirteen deer.

The Strickland Canoe Co. hunting party arrived home on Tuesday with fifteen deer.

The Casement - Crowe - Fraser party came back on Tuesday morning, bringing with them eight deer.

The Hendren - Sprye hunting party returned on Saturday evening having three deer.

There were a number of other hunters out who had very good luck, among them being Mr. W. J. White, Robert Lennox and others.

R. Graham & Son are offering extra inducements to buyers of tea in quantities, their teas being acknowledged to be the best and at popular prices, 25, 35, 40 and 50c, either green, black or mixed. They also carry Appleton's, Tetley's and Bollsera blends of India Ceylon Tea.

On Saturday evening a number of young men on pleasure bent robbed a hen roost. Policeman Doidge has the names and it is expected they will come up in court, unless otherwise settled.

Mr. Harry Masters, who was watering Mr. Hull's horses, met with an accident on Saturday evening. One of the horses kicked him on the hip, inflicting an ugly wound, the calk on the horse's shoe cutting through to the bone.

On Monday the noon train changed time, being forty-five minutes later coming in. This is a very great inconvenience to the business men, as under this present arrangement they do not receive the mail from Toronto until after three o'clock and are unable to answer the same day. If the Grand Trunk Railway will send the noon train in earlier instead of later, it would more greatly benefit the neighbourhood than the present service.

The Public Library has been receiving new additions to its stock of books, also new magazines and periodicals. We notice now on the reading table, among other new papers, the Daily Globe, which we have no doubt will be read with interest by a great many who otherwise would not have an opportunity of selling it. There are a number of books and magazines out, which the obliging secretary would like to have returned. The following new books have been added :—Life of Sir John A. Macdonald, Pope, Vols. 1 and 2; Life of Christ, Geikie; History of the United States, Andrews, Vols. 1 and 2; History of Civilization, Guisot, Vol. 1, 2 and 3; Poetical Works, Crabbe; Other Worlds than Ours, Proctor; Christopher Columbus, Irving; Sketch Book, Irving; Monte Christo, Dumas; Les Miserables, Hugo; Dr. Cladius, Crawford; Donovan, Lyall; Silas Marner, Eliot; Kidnapped, Stevenson.

PIPES! PIPES!

Why pay 25 to 50 per cent. more for a Pipe, when you can save that much by buying at Clegg's Retiring Sale? Pipes, Pouches, Tin Tobaccos, Cigars by the Box, all at cost price. E. B. CLEGG.

BENGFORT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. R. J. O'Hare, purchaser of the John Moyse estate, is pulling down the old dwelling house on the estate and intends erecting a more handsome and modern building with all the latest improvements.

As Mr. John Bradshaw was taking a fat beef away on Thursday last it went mad. After driving it two or three miles it had to be shot by Mr. Thos. Armstrong.

Mr. Jos. Higgins has rented the farm belonging to Mr. John Finnie and is now doing his fall plowing.

Mr. Abner Wood and wife have moved to Baillieboro. They will occupy the house recently vacated by H. B. McFee, merchant tailor of Centreville.

Master Russell Morrison is improving slowly under Dr. McKee's care.

WARSAW.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Lillie Kidd is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Jas. Doughty.

Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Stirling, occupied the pulpit in the Baptist church on Sunday last in the absence of Rev. Mr. McDonald, who has resigned.

Mr. W. J. Stephenson, of Norwood, was in town last week.

Miss Effie Hughes was home over Sunday.

Mrs. M. Hope, of Peterborough, is visiting at Mr. F. A. Choate's.

The hunting party consisting Messrs. Morgan, Tully, S. Miller, Charlton, W. Miller and Steve Miller, returned on Saturday evening with the regulation supply of two deer each. Who can beat this?

Mr. Wm. Middleton has moved to the city.

The Warsaw hockey team organized last night. Full particulars next week.

Mr. Fred Doughty arrived home from the hunt with a deer and a half.

The Methodist Sunday School is practising for the Christmas entertainment.

The Warsaw creamery was completed last week, and is now in running order. It is needless to say that the butter turned out is first class. Mr. S. R. Payne and Mr. Jas. Greystock are in charge, which is a sufficient recommendation as to the quality of the butter.

The heavy weight hunting party returned a few days ago, and report the Apsley road in first-class walking condition. They claim to have captured the walking championship of Burleigh. There is no truth in the report that sole leather is in great demand in Apsley. The settlers say there will be a good hard bottom on the road when the snow comes.

The annual meeting of the Bible Society took place last week. The reports showed things to be in a prosperous condition. Dr. Couch was elected president. Rev. Mr. Fraser of Bowmanville addressed the meeting.

A new sidewalk has been erected at the Methodist church.

The numerous ducks on Lacy's pond tempted one of the 3rd line marksmen to take a holiday and try his skill. Shouldering his shot gun early one morning he started for the pond. But the ducks evidently expected him and made themselves scarce, so scarce in fact that he headed for home with an empty game bag and stomach also. On his return trip he journeyed through the woods with the hope of seeing some partridge. He was not disappointed either, for a flock lit in a tree in front of him. Catching sight of a couple of heads he fired and was quick enough to kill two birds with one shot. But the birds in this case happened to be a pair of fat turkeys. Shouldering the two turkeys (no easy matter for a small man) he took a short cut to the nearest house, but the owner being absent he took a tour of the farm and found Jack in the fields and gave him an explanation of the matter, and also one of the turkeys. He then wended his way homeward, a sadder and wiser man. Moral—Don't go duck hunting on your neighbour's farm.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 18th, 1896.

There is considerably more grain moving. Prices paid are about as follows :—Spring wheat 80 to 81c; fall 82c; standard oats 22½ to 23½c; peas 44 to 45c; mummy peas 45c to 46c; rye 30c; barley 25 to 31c. On the market fresh butter 18 to 19c, with 20c asked; eggs 15 to 17c; crocked butter 16 to 18c; chickens 35 to 45c; geese 50 to 60c; turkeys 60c to $1; lamb 5 to 6c; potatoes 40 to 50c bag; apples 40 to 50 bag; potatoes 40 to 50c bag. No other changes.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 16th.—Cattle cables were worse to-day and very discouraging to shippers. A private cable from Liverpool quoted 4½d for choice Canadian cattle; middling unquotable; choice States 5½d, and sheep 5d. Freight rates here are firm at 50s to 55s, one steamer being let at 60s insured. There were about 650 head of butchers' cattle, 25 calves and 1,200 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers and trade was good with prices ruling about the same as on last Thursday and from ½c to ¼c per lb higher than they were a fortnight ago. Some of the butchers maintain cattle were sold at 2¼c per lb to day which could have been bought ten days ago at 2c per lb. Really good cattle sold to-day at about 2½c per lb, and some were held for more. Pretty good stock sold at from 2¼c to 2½c per lb, common animals at from 2c to 2¼c do, with some of the leaner beasts at about 1¼c per lb. There is an active demand with pretty good prices paid for good veal calves as not many of this sort are being brought to market. Prices range from $5 to $10 each. Shippers were paying from 2¼c to 2¾c per lb for good large sheep, but the sea on is near over. Good lambs sold in lots at about 3½c per lb. Fat hogs sold to-day at from $3.75 to $3.95 per 100 lbs.

BRITISH APPLE MARKET.

Montreal Nov. 16—A. R. Fowler, Montreal, received the following apple cable to-day (Monday):

Liverpool—Messrs. Simons, Shuttleworth & Co., cable—The market is weaker; prices remain about the same. There appears to be a demand which will take incoming receipts materially altering present prices.

London—Messrs. Garcia, Jacobs & Co, cable—Market opened strong, continuing so during day, with a slight advance. The market is showing great activity and prices hardening. Baldwins, greenings, spies, 9s to 11s; G. russets, 10s to 12s; Spitz, seeks, C. reds, 8s to 10s.

Shipments from Montreal for week ending Nov. 14 To Liverpool, 27,668 brls; to Glasgow, 20,998 brls; to London, 18,367 brls; to various, 6,145 brls; to Bamburg, 6,000 brls.

Get Ready in Good Time!

Don't Be Afraid

It is'nt too soon to leave your measures for your Winter Overcoat or Suit. All that's left of Fall is its "bark."

You must feel shabby and uncomfortable in your old clothes. Heavier garments for thin ones, warm colours for light ones. You have got to change, and you'll feel better right away.

We are willing to wait for slower people than you, but let us tell you fairly: sharper people are getting and enjoying advantages that you do not.

Because we made you a Suit or Overcoat two or three years ago, and it won't wear out, that's no reason why you should'nt have a new one with the latest style in it.

THE CIVIL SERVANTS

And the Number of Hours They Labor.

THERE MAY BE A SHAKING UP.

Some of the Ten o'Clock Birds Will Probably Have to Show Up Earlier—The Rich Minerals of the Yukon Country—General News From the Capital.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.

The question of civil servants is now under consideration by the Government. The order-in-council governing the hours of work stipulates that clerks shall attend from 9.30 to 4. There is nothing said about lunch hour, but it is contended by some of the Deputy Ministers that the order implies that the clerks shall work through without a break from 9.30 until 4 p.m. There has been a great lack of uniformity in different departments. In some an hour or more is allowed for lunch, the clerks leaving at 4. In other departments a lunch hour is taken and the clerks leave at 5. Then again, there has been considerable laxity about the hour of arrival in the morning, some civil servants reaching office at 9 or a little after, others being systematically 10 o'clock birds. The Ministers recognize that something like uniformity must be insisted upon and, as it is conceded that a man works better by a break of half an hour or more in the middle of the day, it is possible that an order will be passed making the regular hours from 9.30 till 5, with one hour for lunch.

The Agricultural and Dairy Commissioner has received a copy of the resolution passed by the Toronto City Council commending the action of the Government in its efforts to promote cold storage, and calling attention to the cold storage warehouse which is in course of erection in Toronto. Prof. Robertson will visit Toronto next week to meet a committee of the City Council or members of the Board of Trade and those interested in the business of handling such perishable products as would be benefited by cold storage, in order to give information in reference to the construction and equipment of the proposed building.

From Toronto Prof. Robertson goes to Chicago to look into recent improvements in refrigerator cars. Some new devices have recently been put into operation in connection with refrigerator railway cars, and on one western line in particular they have been in use during the past summer with success. The cold is produced from ice, with a division of galvanized iron round the inside of the car separating the damp air from the ice from the contents of the car, and in that way cooling the dry atmosphere and protecting the products which may be in the compartment. The Department of Agriculture purposes arranging for an extension and improvement of the refrigerator car service as adopted this year for the carrying of butter and other perishable products for export, and the question of providing refrigerator accommodation on the Intercolonial Railway is to be dealt with. It is with a view to ascertaining what is being done in the United States in the way of providing the very best style of construction that Prof. Robertson, at Mr. Fisher's request, proceeds to the Western States; that whatever system may be decided upon the cars may be ready for use in the spring.

Apropos of mineral wealth in the Yukon district, of which Mr. Hamilton of the North American Trading and Transportation Co., recently brought such substantial evidence to Ottawa, it is learned that the Department of Customs only recently received another considerable consignment of gold dust from Fort Cudahy in payment of duties. The consignment amounted to ten thousand dollars in value. As this only covers collections up to the 1st of January, 1896, it will be seen that the revenue-producing capabilities of the Yukon country is considerable. In all probability Mr. D. W. Davis, recently appointed Collector at Fort Cudahy, will be forwarding another instalment of gold dust before the close of the season, on account of collections of the current calendar year.

Prof. Robertson, Dairy Commissioner, attended a meeting at Alexandria when the farmers considered the question of establishing a winter creamery at that point. As an evidence of what can be accomplished by systematic effort, it may be stated that five years ago the first butter factories were established by the Dairy Cimmissioner. There were only two in operation that winter, but during this winter there will be about 160 in all parts of the Dominion. Mr. D. M. Macpherson, M.L.A., is running eleven factories this winter. He charges the patrons three cents per pound for manufacturing the butter and marketing it for them.

Deposits in the Government Savings Banks for the month of October amounted to $290,568 and withdrawals to $280,464, thus leaving an excess of withdrawals amounting to $10,104. Last year, for the same month, the withdrawals exceeded the deposits by $80,721.

Complaints come from Manitoba that American hunters are crossing the international boundary and carrying off large numbers of elk which the Manitobans are not allowed to shoot. The mounted police will watch things closely and see that the practice is put a stop to.

Fort Anne, one of the oldest military stations in the Dominion, was visited by the Minister of Militia while he was in Nova Scotia. It is in an extremely dilapidated state, and the Minister is inclined to do all he can toward repairing it. General Montgomery Moore suggests, however, that a museum be erected on the site, of the fort, to the cost of which he would be pleased to offer a handsome donation. This does not meet with the approbation of the local military men, who want the old fort maintained on account of its historic associations.

The Fisheries Department is advised that the last of the season's sealing fleet from Behring Sea has arrived in port with a poor catch, on account of rough weather.

Reports of illegal fishing by the Americans off the Queen Charlotte Islands, have reached here, and the cruiser Quadra has been sent up from Victoria for the purpose of investigating the facts, and if necessary securing a seizure or two. There has been a warning that the regulations will be strictly enforced, any violation of the same meaning a fine of $400.

Ottawa University Football Club is running a cheap excursion to Toronto to-morrow.

Commander Spain of the fisheries protection fleet left for Owen Sound to-night to inspect the cruisers Petrel and Dolphin.

By the middle of next week all electric cars will be equipped with fenders. They are similar to those used in Toronto.

Dr. Montizambert, Chief Quarantine Officer at Grosse Isle Station, was here to-day on his way to Toronto.

The School Management Committee of the Public School Board has granted the request of the ladies of the Band of Hope to be allowed to give a temperance lesson once a month in Bell-street school.

Hon. R. W. Scott, Q.C., Secretary of State, has entered into a new law partnership here with his son, D'Arcy Scott, and W. H. Curle, late of Toronto. The name of the new firm will continue to be Scott & Scott.

During the early part of next month Hon. Mr. Fisher will attend a number of farmers' meetings in Ontario and Quebec.

The local Liberal organ, The Free Press, urges that ex-Warden Fitzsimmons should be appointed Warden of the British Columbia penitentiary.

C. VANDERBILT TO QUIT.

It is Rumored That William K. Will Take Cornelius' Place in the Business World

New York, Nov. 19.—It is generally believed in Wall-street that Cornelius Vanderbilt will never again return to active business life, but that William K. Vanderbilt, his brother, will take Cornelius' place.

Cornelius Vanderbilt looked after the railway interests of the whole family. He was chairman of the boards of directors of the Big Four, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, New York Central, West Shore and Canada Southern roads, and he was also interested in the management of the New Jersey Central, Delaware Lackawanna & Western and Delaware & Hudson.

When he was stricken with paralysis last summer William K. Vanderbilt stepped into his place. He is now well "broken in," and it is thought by many that he will continue to do the work.

"Even if Cornelius Vanderbilt recovers entirely," said a Wall-street man, "he will do nothing except guard his health. Another stroke of paralysis might be fatal. William K. Vanderbilt has shown himself an excellent business man. Personally, however, I am more inclined to think that H. Walter Webb will take Cornelius' place."

Chauncey M. Depew said that Cornelius Vanderbilt would continue to look after his business interests as heretofore.

"He is not attending to business at present," said Mr. Depew, "but he is improving in health every day, and we hope that it is only a question of time when he will be able to attend to all of his affairs."

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY

Furniture Men Want the Duty Retained.

LEATHER MEN FEEL THE SAME WAY

Book Publishers for the Most Part Agree That the Tariff is About Right—Artists Go for Free Trade—More Deputations Than Could be Heard.

Toronto, Nov. 20.

The tariff enquiry was continued at the Board of Trade yesterday, and the representatives of many industries were heard.

At 10 o'clock Mr. Wm. A. Verner, manufacturer of soda waters, waited upon the Commission, and asked that the duty of 20 per cent. on steel tubes containing natural carbonic acid from the spring at Saratoga be not collected every time the tubes enter the country. Those tubes are sent back after being emptied to be refilled, and under the present regulations Mr. Verner said he had already paid 720 per cent. on their value.

Mr. Alex. G. Allen of the White, Allen Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of fringes, cords, tassels, etc., for upholstering purposes, asked for a removal of the duty of 30 per cent. they now pay on raw materials, such as silk, cotton and chenille yarns. He opposed increase of the duty on tonet goods.

Mr. Geo. H. Hees of G. H. Hees, Son & Co., waited upon the Commissioners to ask that the present duty of 35 per cent. ad valorem or 5c per square yard on window shades should be at least maintained. He pointed out that before the present duty was put on his firm manufactured its goods in Detroit for the Canadian market. When the duty was imposed, a factory employing 80 skilled hands was established here, and if it were taken off the cheapness of the raw material across the border would render it impossible for them to continue manufacturing here. Even at present the American manufacturers sometimes managed to unload their culls on this market.

Next came a deputation representing the artists of Toronto, consisting of Hon. G. W. Allan, honorary president of the Ontario Society of Artists, and president of the Ontario School of Art and Design; M. Matthews, president of the O.S. A; R. F. Gagen, secretary O.S.A.; James Smith, secretary Royal Canadian Academy of Arts; G. A. Reid, R.C.A.; F. McG. Knowles, A.R.C.A., and Manager Beswetherick of the Art Metropole. Their appearance seemed to break the monotony of the session for the Ministers, for in contrast to the other deputations the artists asked for the removal instead of the maintenance or increase of the present duties.

Senator Allan asked for the removal of the existing tariff on artists' materials. None, he said, were manufactured in this country, and no obstacles should be left in the way of the progress of art in the country and the artistic education of our young.

Mr. Knowles supported Mr. Allan, and Mr. Beswetherick, representing the importers of artists' materials, agreed to the removal of the duties in case he were given sufficient notice to allow time to arrange his stock accordingly. He said the change would lessen his profits for a time, but this loss, he thought, would be made up by the increased number of patrons he would get.

In reply to a question by Hon. Mr. Fielding, Mr. Knowles said that if the Government were unable to remove all the duties, it was most important that the tariff on "academy boards" should come off.

The artists were followed by a quartet of medical men. Drs. Wilson, Oldright, Fraser and McPhedran appeared to request the removal of the duties on medical literature and surgical instruments. The duty on books, they held, was a tax on knowledge, and in the interests, especially of the poor, for whom many physicians did a lot of charitable work, the tax on surgical instruments should also be removed.

A deputation of seedsmen consisting of Messrs. Geo. Keith, S. E. Briggs, J. A. Simmers, Jas. Goodall and Robt. Rennie, asked that the duty be taken off clover and grass seeds imported for agricultural purposes. They represented that these seeds imported for garden purposes should retain the impost. It was pointed out that seeds are imported from the United States, Germany and France, and that the postal rates discriminated against Canada and in favor of the United States. The postal charge on seeds going into the United States from Canada is 16c per pound, and on those coming into Canada from the United States 8c.

Messrs. J. L. Spink, C. B. Watts and M. McLaughlin asked that if possible the duties on grain and flour remain undisturbed. The deputation averred that the millers were unanimous in making the request, and that the farmers were benefited by the duty to the extent of from 5c to 15c per bushel on every bushel of wheat they sold. The danger of second-class American flour being slaughtered on the Canadian market was noted. The discrimination in freight rates between Minneapolis and other points and much nearer Canadian points was also commented upon.

President Crompton of the Crompton Corset Co. and Vice-President Walker of the same company had a secret interview with the Ministers.

When the Commission resumed work at 2 o'clock the first deputation was composed of bookmen and publishers. Those present were: Messrs. A. S. Irving, Rev. William Briggs, Richard Brown, W. J. Gage, D. A. Rose, William Bryce, H. L. Thompson of Copp, Clark & Co., and G. Roberts. The deputation were not there as an association, but on their own separate interests, and it transpired that it would be hard to please them all, because an ad valorem duty that was satisfactory to the handlers of cheap books would not suit those who had the more expensive grades to handle, and the general opinion expressed was that the specific duty of 6c per pound, as it now stands, would be most fair to all concerned. Books on the curricula of the colleges are admitted free, but a declaration must be made at the time of their entry that they are for the use of students. The letter of the statute is not fairly and honestly car-

POLITICS IN MUNICIPAL MATTERS;

The people of London the Less, according to the newsy News, are inclined to fight out the municipal elections on political lines—a mistake, gross as a mountain, open, palpable. It would be just as wise to make the issue some particular form of religion. To elect a man to municipal office because he is a Baptist, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, Anglican or Methodist, is just as good a reason as to elect him because he is a Liberal or a Conservative. He may be one of these, or all rolled into one, and that fact per se will make him no more fit to be an alderman or a councillor than it would fit him to be an archbishop or a prime minister. Capacity for the duties of the office sought, conjoined with integrity, are aside from the statutory requirements, the only qualifications that should commend the candidate for municipal office to the support of the electors. Sir Charles Tupper was not much to blame if, as is credited to him, he inaugurated a crusade for the seizure of municipal offices for the machine element of the Conservative party. As premier he was out of a job, and in this respect Satan found mischief for idle hands to do. We have no sympathy with an attempt to domesticate the Tamany Tiger in Ontario. London had better think twice before importing party politics into its municipal contests.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE present Warden of Elgin County, Mr. Richard Lockes, is a son of the first Warden of that county, who accepted the the chair in 1853, when the county was separated from Middlesex.

THE Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance doesn't want very much change in the Ontario Liquor License Act. They only demand that temperance hotels be licensed and inspected, that bar-rooms close at 7 o'clock every night and at 4 o'clock p. m. on Saturdays, that no shop licenses be granted, that the age of minors to whom liquor be not sold be advanced from 16 to 21, and that clubs where liquor is sold be brought under the restrictions of the Liquor License Act.

ACCORDING to the report of Bulletin No. LX of the Ontario Bureau of Industries, the total yield of the grain crops in this Province for the year 1896 was 72,415,921 bushels. Of this wheat contributed 15,078,441 bushels, grown on 816,955 acres, the average yield per acre being 17 2-10 bushels. The advance in wheat prices has led to more being sown this year than last. The report respecting the crop this year says: "There has been considerable increase in the area of fall wheat sown this year. Seeding was done between the latter part of August and the 25th of September, with the soil in favourable condition, and while many correspondents speak of a good showing, some complain that there is hardly as much top as usual. A few complain of brown spots, which in some instances are ascribed to the Hessian fly, and in others to lack of rain. Dawson's Golden Chaff, Red Clawson and Manchester appear to be the most popular varieties.

THE EXAMINER has heretofore pointed out the machine character of the recent conclave of politicians who assumed to arrange matters for the Conservatives of Ontario. We believed that they did not represent the best elements of the party, and Mr. John Ross Robertson, M.P., for East Toronto, thinks so too. His journal, the Telegram, says:

"The men who did the fighting in line have been ignored. The committee is a cancus managed on cancus methods, governed by men who are chief in the cancus at Ottawa. By implication, if not by a formal announcement, the independent Conservatives, the men who believed that the main doctrines of the party are right, are told that they must remain without the pale or else accept John Haggart as their leader in Ontario. They may be pardoned for declining to obey the command, for they were not allowed to express their opinions as to the desirability of conferring such dignity upon the former Postmaster-General.

The convention of a fortnight ago had better not have been held if its outcome is to make the members of the above galaxy the party members. Some of them are local leaders of a certain degree of importance. Most of the others have no more right to appear as party generals than they have to be considered men of weight in private life."

EXEMPTIONS.

Some time ago the mayor of Toronto sent out enquiries to a number of other cities regarding exemptions from taxation. He thought Toronto was carrying a bigger burden of exemptions than most places and wanted to make sure of it.

From the replies received, a Toronto paper publishes a compilation as follows:

	Assessment.	Exemption.
Kingston	$ 8,069,030	$ 2,889,000
Montreal	114,000,000	23,000,000
Detroit	134,229,130	38,000,000
Toronto	151,800,000	23,115,586
Hamilton	34,279,531	5,238,600
Buffalo	197,084,780	21,139,300
St. John, N.B.	34,556,800	2,582,200
Halifax	24,621,150	1,954,000

Next follow Boston, New York and Cleveland down to Baltimore, which has only $2,127,280 of exemptions as compared with an assessment of $280,730,260. Apparently the law of Maryland admits practically no exemptions. There seems no other exemptions, as Baltimore contains an enormous amount of property devoted to religious, charitable and educational purposes. It is the chief place of the Roman Catholic church in the United States, and John Hopkins' university alone holds millions of property. What college property means is seen in Kingston's case, where a small city has a big university.

HOW TO DETECT CONSUMPTION.

Dr. Holmes of Denver Tells the Pan-American Medical Congress About an Important Discovery.

Mexico, Mex., Nov. 19.—Many interesting papers were read before the Pan-American Medical Congress to-day, but that of Dr. A. M. Holmes of Denver, Col., on his discovery of a new treatment of consumption from morphology of blood attracted the greatest interest, and was the subject of considerable discussion.

Dr. Holmes' paper was entitled "The Diagnosis of Tuberculosis by the Morphology of the Blood." It contained a presentation of the manner in which he made the discovery of detecting the tubercular germ in the human blood before the system has been attacked and at a time when it may be eradicated by the treatment of any physician. Dr. Holmes' discovery has been discussed very widely in medical circles, and he was invited to be present and personally present the subject to the congress.

The manner in which the discovery was made while he was experimenting with blood drops was interesting to the professional men present. He had noticed under a microscopic examination a difference in the shape and formation of the corpuscles, especially of consumptives, and extended his researches, with the result that more than one hundred total strangers were brought to him for examination, and in each case he had either detected the presence of the disease or announced the extent to which it had made inroads on the patient.

This discovery, while not a cure, is considered by many to be more far reaching than of Professor Koch, in that the disease is discovered at a time when it is a simple matter for any physician to cope with it. In presenting his researches the Doctor practically gave up everything for science, and the result of labors in the principal hospitals of Europe for a period of fifteen months is now given to the world. A vote of the thanks of the congress was extended to the Doctor for his paper.

NUGENT LOST $100.

A Niagara Falls Man Victimized by a Montreal Swindle—Accident at the New Gorge Bridge.

Niagara Falls, Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Alexander Bell, manager of the Scottish Canadian Loan Association of Montreal, for whom the police of that city are inquiring under a charge of fraud, has lately been operating his scheme in this district. His correspondence was received by several prominent moneyed men, but only one had confidence enough in him to forward money. Mr. Frank Nugent was the unlucky man, who was victimised to the extent of $100.

A small piece of iron fell from the traveling derrick at the works on the new arch bridge this morning and struck a workman on the head who was on the scaffold below. He would have been overthrown had it not been for the timely assistance of a fellow workman.

Thomas Young, a rich farmer living in Pendleton, N.Y., while driving home early yesterday morning from a dance, was held up by two highwaymen at a lonely spot eight miles west of Lockport under cover of a revolver. He was rifled of over $100 in cash and a gold watch. This is the tenth similar hold-up in the vicinity within the past month and residents are growing excited.

WALLER FAILED.

He Started Out to Beat the World's Twelve Hour Record and Broke Down.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 19.—The 12-hour ride against the world's record of 289 miles, by Frank Waller to-day at the Memphis Coliseum failed at the 106th mile, just at a time when success seemed certain. Waller lowered every American record from the hour to the 106th mile, and was maintaining a pace of 26 miles and a fraction an hour at the time of his cramping, the real reason of his quitting. The following, with the intermediate times, are records for America, established by Waller to-day: Twenty-eight miles, 1.04.03; 30 miles, 1.08.31; 35 miles, 1.19.55; 40 miles, 1.31.09; 45 miles, 1.42.12; 55 miles, 1.53.18; 60 miles, 2.16.12; 65 miles, 2.27.41; 70 miles, 2.39.21; 75 miles, 2.51.20; 80 miles, 3.03.12 1-5; 85 miles, 3.15.33; 90 miles, 3.30.07; 95 miles, 3.39.41 3-5; 100 miles, 3.52.14 1-5; 105 miles, 4.09.29 2-5; 106 miles, 4.12.04.

HORSE THIEVES CAUGHT.

They Stole the Nag in Rochester and Got to This Side, But Were Nabbed at Thorold.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 18.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Young received word this afternoon from the American officers that two young horse thieves had crossed to this side of the river. Inquiry showed that the thieves had traded the stolen horse at this place and driven west. The local police at Thorold were notified, and soon after the culprits were under lock and key at Thorold Jail. The horse was stolen from Rochester.

A woman of unsound mind, who paraded the streets all last night with a sheet over her head, was locked up to-day.

LEND YOUR EARS

To Your Back and Listen to its Talk—A Peterborough Man Tries It.

Did you know the back could talk;
Tell you why it aches and pains;
Tell you why it's lame and weak;
Warn you of the kidney's ills;
Tell you of Doan's Kidney Pills?
Listen to them when they speak.
Relieve the kidneys, cure the ache.
Bad back, acute pains and kidney ills,
Are quickly cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is proof of it at home. The testimony of Mr. George N. Graham, the genial host of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, is as follows:—

He says:—"I have been a great sufferer for some time with pain across the back, extending up between the shoulders, swelling of the limbs, dizziness, loss of appetite, and in fact felt completely broken up.

"I had lost 17 pounds in three months, and thought that I would never get better. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, and have also been treated by medical men, but did not seem to get any better at all, in fact was constantly growing worse.

"I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertisement and got a box of them at Lynch's drugstore, and by the time I had taken one box noticed a marked change for the better.

"I have taken seven boxes altogether, and am now free from pain; the swelling in the limbs has disappeared, and my appetite is good. In fact, I feel that I am completely cured.

"I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from any form of kidney trouble. They are the best kidney medicine I have ever used.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10½ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000,00 a year.

Call and examine the new importation at CHARLES LeGROS, 329 GEORGE STREET, and do not buy a lower grade (being seconds and thirds) of them which have been put on the market by our smaller dealers which they purchased from Montreal jobbers.

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

ried out, because some not over-particular persons will make affidavits that books are for students or colleges when they are not. Mr. Bryce, in presenting his side of the case, produced cheap books such as are imported, and which, he explained, could be made in the United States cheaper than in Canada, the additional cost of paper here being a large item. Another reason our cousins across the line could produce books cheaper was that with their big market they can run off unlimited quantities of the books, and in our smaller market the publisher cannot do this. If the Government decided to change from a specific to an ad valorem duty he hoped that they would make it high enough to protect his interests, which were large.

Another matter taken up by the deputation was the admission of stereotype plates to this country duty free, as they now are, notwithstanding the fact that the Typographical Union deputation had said there was an existing duty of 2 per cent. The bookmen strongly objected to any duty being placed upon the plates and stated that the printers could not have properly considered the matter or they would not ask to have a high duty put upon the plates.

Mr. W. B. Stewart of the Dovercourt Twine Mills and Mr. John Leckie do not want the Government to make any change regarding cotton or nets, as they didn't expect an increase of the 20 per cent. duty and could not stand a decrease. Mr. Leckie suggested a 20 per cent. duty on all their imports, particularly seine twine, which was admitted free for fishing purposes only, and accordingly there was considerable fraud regarding it.

The next delegation was representing the Dominion Furniture Manufacturers' Association. The gentlemen were Messrs. J. S. Anthers, Berlin, President; Simon Snyder, Waterloo; C. G. Pease of the American Rattan Company, Toronto; D. Knetchel, Hanover; W. B. Rogers, Toronto; T. Gibbard, Napanee; George McLegan, Stratford, chairman of Tariff Committee; J. Acton and Mr. Hill of Wiarton. Mr. McLegan put forth their case very clearly and stated that any change in the fiscal policy as it applied to them might be disastrous. He showed that, owing to competition, furniture is sold in Canada just as low as it is in the United States. There was no combination among furniture men here to keep up prices, and much the same quality of material is used in the manufacture of Canadian furniture as American, but the latter had such an extensive market that they could make up so many new styles, whereas our market is not large enough for that. Quite a lot of American furniture is sold in Canada at prices that can compete with the Canadian article notwithstanding the 30 per cent. duty placed upon it. The reason assigned for this is that when a style becomes obsolete there, as it does in a few months, the stuff on hand is sold at a sacrifice to the Canadian dealers. The statement was made, and generally concurred in, that Canadian people will buy imported goods quicker than they will those manufactured in their own country, and in some cases are willing to pay a little more for the sake of saying their furniture was imported. One manufacturer stated that he and others in the business went to the States twice a year, and, after getting all the new designs, they bring them here and reproduce them at the same price as they are sold in the United States. Some orders to the manufacturer ask him that he will not put his name on the goods. This is done so that they may be sold at better prices as imported goods.

According to the furniture men, if a reduction of the present duty is made one-half of the furniture concerns now operating in Canada could not keep up. It would virtually mean the closing of the factories, as they are now manufactured up to and perhaps beyond the needs of the Canadian market. If the Americans are allowed to come in and take any more of the trade it will be necessary for most of the firms to close up or look elsewhere for a market.

The tannery men had a large representation, as follows: Messrs. Charles King, James Robson, J. E. Bowman, G. W. Beardmore, L. J. Breithaupt, Berlin; Joseph Carrington, Kingston; S. R. Wickett, Toronto; C. J. Mariatt, Oakville; A. R. Clarke, Toronto; G. W. Lang, Berlin; Charles Knees, Oshawa; W. Beardmore, Toronto; W. J. Bickell, Toronto. They had a strong grievance to the effect that the last tariff reform had so affected the trade that some of our largest tanners have been driven out of the country. They wanted a general increase of duty to offset the inroads the United States Leather Company and other large American concerns were making in our leather market. They would like to see the duty raised from 17 1-2 per cent. to 20 per cent., as it was before, and on boots and shoes they thought a 30 per cent. tariff would be of all round benefit.

Sir Richard read a declaration in his possession, showing that special inducements were offered buyers to purchase from several Canadian firms, or as he put it: "If you choose to confine your trade to members of our association we will give you a certain discount."

It was explained to Sir Richard that this declaration was no attempt at coercion, it was to keep out the ravages of the United States Leather Company. Members of the association compete with each other, and it is not considered any breach of faith to undersell a neighbor. Every member can sell at his own prices.

Like the furniture men, the tanners stated that preference was given by the Canadian buyer to imported goods.

Mr. William Beardmore warmly remarked: "If you want to see tanneries kept up in Canada we've got to be protected from the United States. It's been getting worse and worse right along and something should be done." He told how the wealthiest packing concern in the United States had started a tannery at Boston and were going to make a big effort to get into the Canadian market. Prices would cut no figure with them until they got established and they could afford to lose half a million a year for a few years without feeling it to any extent, and unless a high tariff was put up this concern was going to very greatly affect certain branches of the trade here.

It was nearly 7 o'clock when the interview with the tannery men concluded, and there were other delegates waiting outside. The coffee and spice men, C. C. Dalton, J. W. Cowan, Mr. Todhunter, W. A. Mitchell, A. Jardine and R. Watson of the Toronto Spice Company, were ushered into the Chamber, but Mr. Fielding explained to them that the Ministers had important engagements and had not time now to give a full hearing to the deputation's views. Accordingly, another appointment was made. The deputation were going to ask for slight changes in the tariff.

A couple of machinery men, Messrs. Alex Gourlay of Galt and Mr. A. R. Williams, Toronto, tried to get an interview, but they will also be heard by appointment.

Hon. Mr. Fielding stated to the newspaper men that he and Hon. Mr. Paterson would sit at 2.30 this afternoon to hear several deputations by appointment. Owing to important engagements, Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Oliver Mowat would not be present. Mr. Fielding said further that he regretted very much the inability of the commission to complete the enquiry here at this sitting, but the Ministers would, on their way back from the west to the Capital, spend another half-day in this city, and they hoped to finish their work here then. The delegations not yet attended to will be notified of the date on which the Ministers will be here.

A MARVELLOUS CURE.

Helped by the First Box—Could not Lift Fifty Pounds—Cured by a few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Arthur, Nov. 9. (Special).—Among his more intimate friends it has long been known here that Mr. J. C. Morrison had been gradually failing in health for many years. The acuteness of his sufferings was known only to a few. His complete recovery is a surprise here and is causing much talk. Of his cure he says:—"Yes I got help from the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I have taken fifteen boxes. I kept getting better every day. When I commenced I could not lift fifty pounds; now I am as strong and well as ever in my life."

Drowned While Shooting.

Orono, Nov. 19.—The body of James Bell, hotelkeeper of this town, was brought home to-day. He was drowned while out shooting at Tonawanda Lake, 26 miles northeast of Havelock, last week. His body was found in an upright position, apparently in the act of grabbing for his canoe, both arms being stretched upright, with his hands in a clasping attitude. Mr. Bell was one of the most popular and most esteemed sportsmen in the province. He was in a shooting party, with J. C. Cockburn and others from Toronto, when the accident occurred, but he was alone in his canoe when it upset. He leaves a widow and two children. Mr. Bell was a frequent visitor to Toronto, the sportsmen of which city knew him well.

The Spaarndam in Trouble.

HELD UP BY HOBOS.

An Owen Sound Traveler Stopped in a Swamp and Beaten to Insensibility by Tramps.

Owen Sound, Nov. 18.—(Special.)—This afternoon Mr. Harry Burnham, travelling salesman for Messrs. McClary Bros., grocers of this town, returned here from his usual trip to Shallow Lake and Park Head in a bruised and used-up condition. He states that about 7 o'clock last night, when coming through the swamp between those places, on his way to Owen Sound, he was held up by two tramps, one of whom stopped his horse and held it while the other dragged him from his buggy and beat him into insensibility. They were rifling his clothes when Mr. Berry, a farmer living near, who had heard Burnham's cries, came to his assistance, and the men made off. Burnham's injuries, while not serious, are quite painful. He has two large abrasions on his forehead over his left eye, as well as an injured arm and lacerated hand. He was taken to Hepworth, where his injuries were attended to, and this morning he proceeded home.

The Hepworth and Park Head constables started out in pursuit of the men, but have been unable so far to locate them. Two strangers answering to the description given by Burnham of his assailants called at the residence of Mr. R. J. Doyle, insurance manager, yesterday afternoon, a few hours before the assault upon Burnham, and asked for work. They were given work by Mr. Doyle, but did not stay longer than a few minutes, and disappeared. They were undoubtedly tramps.

The demand for Ayer's Hair Vigor in such widely-seperated regions as South America, Spain, Australia, and India has kept pace with the home consumption, which goes to show that these people know a good thing when they try it.

Public School Inspector.

Messrs. Robt. Fair, W. H. Hill and J. J. McBain, of the Board of Education, have just returned from Brockville, whither they went to make enquiry into the personal character of Mr. Walker, Mathematical Master of the Collegiate Institute there, with a view to making a recommendation to the Board as to his fitness in this respect for the position of Public School Inspector — his qualifications in everything else being all that which is desirable. As the result of the trip, the three members are more than satisfied and think that if the Board accepts Mr. Walker's application an ideal Inspector will have been secured.

A Suggestion.

A citizen makes the suggestion that as winter is almost upon us and tenders for snow-ploughing will be asked for shortly, that it would be a good idea for the council to sub divide the snow-ploughing divisions of previous years. It is well nigh impossible at present for a man with a horse and snowplough, no matter how willing he may be, to properly cover the ground—or rather sidewalk—after a fall of snow. Witness many times last winter, after a heavy fall of snow at night, the snowplough might be seen making its rounds on some streets towards the noon hour. Mechanics and business men going to their employment, and even little tots on their way to school, had to work their way as best they could on some streets through deep snow.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Prudence Lipsett and Mr. Samuel Long.

Ashburnham had a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon when Rev. H. Symonds, rector of St. Luke's church, performed the marriage ceremony between Miss Prudence Lipsett, eldest daughter of Mr. George Lipsett, sr., of Ashburnham, and Mr. Samuel Long, who for the past nine years has been residing in Minnesota.

A large number of friends were present in St. Luke's to witness the ceremony.

The bride, who looked charming in a gown of white silk with garniture of pearls, was given away by her brother, Mr. Arthur Lipsett. She wore a bridal veil, caught up with sprays of orange blossoms, and carried a handsome spray bouquet of cream roses. The bridesmaids were her sisters, Misses Jennie and Minnie Lipsett. The former was most attractively attired in a gown of pink crepon trimmed with white silk, and the latter wore a pretty combination of cream cashmere and lace. Both carried bouquets of roses.

Mr. Edw. Armstrong assisted the groom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's father where the wedding dejeuner was served.

Amongst the many handsome presents which were received was that of a chair, from the Girl's Guild of St. Luke's church, of which the bride was a valued member.

Mr. and Mrs. Long have taken up their residence on the corner of Sophia street and Railroad avenue.

A VAGRANT CIVIL ENGINEER.

Is he an Imposter?—Claims to Have Been Chums With Sir John MacDonald and Sir Oliver Mowat—His Yarns Don't Hang Together—His Disjointed Tale of Woe.

The past day or two a man about forty years of age, whose appearance indicated a swift style of living, but whose address and language suggested education, and whose clothing, though somewhat in the seedy stage, indicated fine material and fashionable tailoring, has been practising on those whom he might suppose would be sympathetic. This gentlemen, whose name is given as Hinds, claims to hail from Kingston way. He was a friend of Sir John MacDonald and also a playmate of another distinguished Kingstonian, Sir Oliver Mowat. Sir John, he says, got him a job as civil engineer under the government, but with a change of government, "the perfidious Liberals," to use the language of the Mail and Empire, guillotined him and he was thrown upon the cold mercies of the world. He applied, while here, to an engineer employed on the Trent Valley Canal, and worked on his sympathy for $3.00. If he could only get to Toronto he was sure his old playmate, Sir Oliver, would do the handsome thing by him. It is to be noted that, as the vagrant engineer is about 40, and the Minister of Justice 76, Sir Oliver must have been a chubby boy of about 40 when "we two played together." The next day the adventurer called at the Oriental Hotel on another engineer who, having been informed of the gift of $3.00, which had in the interval been "blown in," was wary, and refused to respond to the appeal of fraternal obligation. Nothing daunted, the suppliant visited two or three ministers, to whom he unfolded his rather disjointed tale. He claimed to have met, within a week or two, an engineer in Napanee, whose name he gave, and to have received assistance from him. One of the ministers knew that the engineer mentioned had been in Peterborough all summer on the Trent Valley Canal, and so informed the suppliant, who promptly requested to withdraw both his statement and himself—which he did, and so ends his connection with this brief history. The police have no knowledge of his movements.

ASSAULT UPON A CHILD.

A Father Sent to Gaol for One Month at Hard Labour.

A nicely-dressed woman, accompanied by a handsome girl, her daughter, appeared in the police court this morning to complain of the ill-treatment of a little boy, aged eight, by his inhuman father. The child's mother told of the last assault upon which complaint had been laid. Her husband, a worthless mean spirited fellow, attacked the child without any provocation, and kicked and beat him savagely until she at considerable risk threw herself in between them and with the aid of others who came to her assistance, rescued the boy from the man's clutches. This man, as shown by the evidence, has been in the habit of treating his children cruelly, and when the daughter mounted the stand to testify she described her father ill-treatment of herself and her brothers in a voice broken with emotion. On one occasion, she said, though at that time he was quite sober, he held the child's head against the wall and struck him viciously three times with his clenched fist. He had also struck her with his fist on the head and from her description it was apparent the prisoner richly deserved what he eventually got. This daughter supported the family. The prisoner offered a few remarks in explanation but they only aggravated his offence. A Children's Aid Society officer attended. The magistrate told the prisoner that if he ever came before him again on a similar charge he would give him a long term.

HALF-PRICE SALE ON SATURDAY.

Now and then prices get ridiculously low. A well-known maker of Overcoats and Ulsters offered his entire sample line of Frieze Coats at a big reduction and we bought them. Saturday 500 of these go on sale at these prices :

Overcoats and Ulsters that were $7 for $5.50.

Overcoats and Ulsters that were $5 for $3.90.

Tell us, honestly, if you want, a good Overcoat or Ulster, any lower than these prices!

Saturday we will be in splendid shape to meet our customers with good heavy Tweed and Frieze Pants for 98c a pair. One sale with us means many! You'll come back again to the Always Busy Clothiers.

The cold days are coming and if you want to prepare for it with good Winter Underwear, we want to show you the All Wool Shirts and Drawers, which we will sell you on Saturday for just One-half price.

We know you will be satisfied with the material in these Coats, Pants and Underwear, for we tested it severely, and we wouldn't sell it if it wasn't right. It isn't necessary to tell you who's doing the business.

After the ceremony each member took their respective offices and speeches from the newly appointed officers took place. M. A. Jamieson, the newly appointed N. G., in a well-chosen speech, thanked the members for the honour they had conferred upon him by appointing him their N.G. He would endeavour to the utmost of his ability to discharge the duties that had been imposed upon him. The address was listened to with attention and on resuming his seat he was warmly applauded.

W. Creamer, the newly-appointed V.G., made a neat and spicy speech, also thanking the members for the honour they had conferred upon him. He would use all means in his power for the furtherance of their noble order. The speech throughout was well delivered and received hearty applause. Loyal Peterborough is making rapid progress and at no distant day will have the honour of being the banner lodge of the province.—[Com.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Street cars to-morrow.

—Additonal local matter on eighth page.

—Bicycles are out again, as the roads have improved.

—Five per cent. will be added to all taxes after Dec. 14th.

—Pay your statute labor tax or have a police court case on your hands.

—The North Star makes her last trip of the season down the river to-morrow.

—A number of hunting parties are being organized for Thanksgiving Day. It will go hard with the partridges if the weather is good.

—If there is no change in the weather there should be an enormous market to-morrow, as the frost has put the roads into good shape.

—The choir of St. Paul's last night decided to give a recital in the church early in December. Mr. Dingle, organ soloist, and Mr. Eaton, baritone, of Belleville, will assist.

—The surveyors of the C.N. & P. railway are surveying the proposed route between Cobourg and Warkworth. They arrived at Burnley last Friday, and this week are working between Burnley and Warkworth.

—The young man who was convicted of destroying a number of plate glass windows in Port Hope by scratching them was fined five dollars and costs, amounting in all to $12. He did the damage unthinkingly.

—A generous friend of the Children's Aid Society yesterday contributed $4.00 to the funds. Such unsolicited evidences of practical interest in the excellent work of this organization are very warmly appreciated.

—If you want to economize burn the People's Coal Coy's coal. All kinds of coal in stock, including best hard coal for stoves and furnaces, soft coal for grates, and smithing coal. Office—230 Charlotte street. Telephone 366.

—Now that the winter is coming on the question arises as to what is to prevent the town from keeping a portion of the Little Lake cleared for the skaters during the next few months. Hamilton always looks well after its young people in this respect.

—Mr. W. C. Chisholm, ex-reeve of Murray township, while shooting in the woods near Wooler on Wednesday last, shot a pigeon, on the leg of which was found a silver band with the initials "Q.L." and numbers "370" and "95" engraved upon it. The bird must have been a carrier.

—It is said that that a boy of about sixteen years, belonging to a party who were hunting in the vicinity of Jack's creek, last week, shot a bear, two bucks, one doe and a fox. None of his companions were favoured with a shot. All the luck centered upon him.

—Farmers have been ploughing all the week, and if the weather permits it, the plough will move till late in December, as it did last year. On the many farms there is work being done in cleaning the fields of stumps and stones, which in some places cover more than half the soil.

—The Brockville Recorder says :—"In one of the Public Schools of the town a pupil recently disfigured a new desk by cutting it. The school board promptly took the matter up and caused the pupil's parent to replace the disfigured desk. It is thought this will prove a warning to other pupils, as the board intends to protect the school property in this way." This seems a very good example for other places to follow.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

For years the employees of the Grand Trunk have been paid on the 15th of every month, and this is the date recognized by the different railway union organizations as the proper time for the payment of all salaries. This month, however, the cheques have not arrived, and the men in Toronto and all points in Western Ontario are wondering what has caused the delay. The officials do not seem willing to explain, but a rumour from Montreal, apparently solves the problem. It is to the effect that the clerks in the audit office there have gone out on strike, and that the business there is in a sort of demoralised state. The trouble, it is said, was caused by the clerks being overworked.

The new management of the Grand Trunk is nothing if not progressive. In the olden days the superintendents made annual trips along the different branches and agents along the line knew of their coming a month before they arrived and took good care to have everything in good order before the officials put in an appearance. Now these man are sent out at unexpected times and the result is that employees all along the system have an eye to business all the time. In getting out the new time-table the American hustlers have slightly over-stepped the mark. The official sheet, which was placed in the hands of every engineer, orders the man who holds the throttle on the Wabash Express to make the run from Grimsby to Winona in exactly two minutes. The schedule says that the train shall leave Winona at 8.49 and arrive at 8.51. The figures on the chart show that the distance between these two points is 4.84 miles, which means that the engineer in order to comply with the rules of the new company must bowl along at the rate of nearly 2½ miles a minute.

If your eyes trouble you in any way, have them tested by W. Madill, optician. No charge for examination.

THE MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION SETTLEMENT.

The Officials Terms of the Settlement —As Agreed Upon by the Governments of the Dominion and Manitoba— Provisions for Religious Instruction— Employment of Roman Catholic Teachers.

(Special to the Examiner.)

OTTAWA, ONT., Nov. 20, 1896.—Premier Laurier gave out to-day the terms of the settlement of the educational questions which have been in dispute in the Province of Manitoba as agreed upon between the Dominion and Manitoba Governments. The settlement provides that religious teaching shall be conducted in any public school, a majority of the trustees of which authorise it, or a certain number of parents petition for it. Such religious teaching shall take place between the hours of 3 30 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and be conducted by any Christian clergyman, whose charge includes any portion of the school district, or by a person duly authorized by such clergyman. In any school where the average attendance of Roman Catholics is a certain number, the trustees, if the parents of such number of Roman Catholic children so petition, shall employ at least one duly certificated Roman Catholic teacher. Under the same circumstances regarding non-Roman Catholic children, the trustees are required to employ at least one duly certificated non-Roman Catholic teacher. Where the school room accommodation, does not permit of the Roman Catholics and non-Roman Catholic pupils being placed in seperate rooms for the purpose of religious teaching, such teaching of Roman Catholic children shall be carried on during the proscribed period of one half of the month, and that of the non-Roman Catholic children during the other half of the month. Where ten pupils in any school speak the French, "or any language other than English," as their native language, the teaching of such pupils shall be conducted in French, "or such other language" and English, upon the bi-lingual system. No pupil is to be present at any religious teaching unless the parents or guardians of such pupils desire it.

It might be said that the swamps are full, and it is many years since there was so much moisture during October. According to a theory advanced, a hot summer is generally followed by cloudy autumn weather, bringing considerable rain, and evaporation of the lakes, caused by the heat, forms into clouds, and cools the air below the freezing point, and later on there comes the precipitation of vapor in the form of snow. If this holds true, there may be quite an amount of snow this winter.

Look Out for Crooked Straits Coin.

A considerable number of silver coins from the Straits Settlements are finding their way into circulation here. As they are of the familiar denominations, 10, 25 and 50 cents, and bear the stamp of Her Majesty's head, they are readily accepted at their face value. These coins are not tokens redeemable directly or indirectly in money of greater bullion value. They are worth little more than half their face denomination and should be accepted accordingly

From Picton he Came.

Thos. Brown, a decrepit old man, with shaggy grey hair and beard to match, arrived in town, says the Port Hope Guide, on Saturday, and enjoyed the hospitality of Castle Gamble on Sunday night, having footed it all the way from Peterborough, so he said. His only possession and apparent means of support is an old yellow cane and a compulsion to beg. He reported at this office to-day, and when in reply to his heartrending appeal for "a cup o' tay," we tossed him a $5 bill (!) told us this bit of history: "I'm from Picton, and me name's Brown; I've been lingering all summer in the woods of Dummer, and I'll monkey round the band wagon till I'll get sent down. I'll go and see the Mayor, who'll do it on the square, and perhaps I'll make Picton, where I've a son-in-law who's a bricklayer, good day, sair. "We jumped from the chair, but got a second hand drink from his air, and from all accounts we think he'll be sure to get there, if he strike's the Con's lair.

THE ARCHDEACONRY OF PETERBOROUGH.

SUMMARY OF THE SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

A Discussion of the Work Taken up on the Work of the Church Amongst the Young—The Simplification of the Prayer Book.

The second day of the Archidiaconal meeting at Cobourg was taken up with the discussion of the work of the Church amongst the young, and the question of the simplification of the arrangement of the Prayer Book. In addition to the members present on the previous day, Revs. Davidson, Kenrick, Broughall and Macklem, and Messrs. Dennistoun and Maycock were in attendance. The number of clerical members was in excess of any previous meeting.

In his opening remarks the Archdeacon spoke very strongly in depreciation of party tickets at synod elections.

Rev. G. H. Webb read an excellent paper on catechising of children in Divine service. He believed it was possible to improve existing methods of conducting Sunday school, and explained the system of Rev. Spencer Jones in his work entitled "The Clergy and the Catechism. Mr. Webb's paper will be published. Revs. Davidson, Harding, Macklem, Symonds, Col. Boutton and Mr. Maycock, of Bailieboro, also spoke on the topic.

REV. C. B. KENRICK

introduced the subject of "Preparation of Candidates for Confirmation." He pointed out some errors in the teaching on confirmation, and referred to the necessity of sparing no pains with the moral preparation of the candidate. Revs. Canon Harding, Macklem, Cooper and Daniel took part in the discussion.

The subject of "Young People's Associations" was introduced by an able paper from Miss Eyre, of Cobourg, which was full of information as to the various church associations for young women, such as the Girls' Friendly Society, the Daughters of the King, St. Agnes' Guild and others. Rev. Baynes Reed, sub-warden of St. Luke's Boys' Brigade, spoke on the church Boys' Brigade.

After luncheon, which was bountifully spread by the ladies of Cobourg, Rev. Canon Farncomb in an able manner discussed church social gatherings. Since Christianity laid the utmost stress on fraternity, social gatherings were a necessity. Church people were not always so friendly as they ought to be. "If our Christianity is worth anything, our cast-iron distinctions should be dropped in the society of the church." He defended the raising of money through church gatherings, provided the entertainment was a legitimate one. Raffles and lotteries were condemned, but he could not see why those who were endowed with musical and other gifts should not supplement their regular offerings by placing these at the service of the church.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun said man was a gregarious animal. Social gatherings were therefore a necessity. There was great diversity of opinion as to the form church social gatherings should take, and he thought authorities should upon which they should be conducted. He thought that gatherings for work were better than gatherings for amusement. The clergy should not be afraid to join in the social amusements of their congregation. Messrs. Plante, Maycock and Revs. Spragge, McGinnis, Rooney, Major, Marsh, French, Cooper, Creighton, Allen and Gibson took part in a lively discussion on the question.

On the simplification of the arrangement of the Prayer Book Rev. John Creighton and Rev. G. Warren read papers. Mr. Warren's paper will probably be published. He believed the Prayer Book could be simplified in its arrangement so as to make it more generally useful. Revs. H. Symonds, T. S. Macklem, Gibson, Rooney and Cooper also spoke on this question.

The customary vote of thanks was then passed, and the business part of the Conference was closed.

In the evening an interesting missionary meeting was held, when Rev. E. Daniels spoke on Africa, Rev. T. Street Macklem on Japan, and Rev. C. H. Marsh on China.

In the course of the proceedings Rev. E. Daniels made the important announcement that a house in Port Hope had been offered to the Archdeaconry, to be used as a Home for the Homeless. The matter was referred to the Council for consideration.

AN ITALIAN LOVE STORY.

A Love Sick Signor Draws His Gun and is Put in Limbo.

Sabitano Palumbo languishes in the cells.

Sabitano bought a wife, he says, and now her parents refuse to give her up to him. Through thinking over his wrongs Sabitano waxed wroth last night, and drawing his revolver proceeded, it is said, to terrify the neighbours who lived in the locality of his inamorata.

Frank Williams, another Italian, with a somewhat less romantic name lodged an information against the enamored Sabatino with the result that the latter appeared before the magistrate this morning.

The case has been adjourned until the Crown can subpœna the necessary witnesses.

It is said that Sabitano is a suitor for the hand of fifteen-year-old Mary Walker, the young senora who was in the police court yesterday, charged with assaulting Mrs. Bourne. Palumbo's suit did not find favour in the eyes of Mary's parents, but when they were hard up some time ago they accepted money from Sabitano, he says, on the understanding that he could have the daughter. The parents now wish to back out of the agreement and hence the trouble.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

Reports for the Year—Depletion of the Treasury—Election of Officers—St. Andrew' Day Celebration.

The annual meeting of the St. Andrew's Society was held in the Morgan House on Thursday evening, the 19th instant. There was an average attendance at the meeting. The President, Dr. Bell, presided. After the minutes of the last annual meeting had been read and confirmed, the following accounts were presented:

A P Morgan	$1 75
Review Printing Co	3 25
EXAMINER Printing Co	5 80
Times Publishing Co	1 83

The Secretary, in reply, to the President, stated that these accounts represented the total liabilities of the Society so far as he was aware.

On motion, the accounts were ordered to be paid out of the first available funds of the society.

The treasurer, Mr. Alex. Gibson, submitted the annual financial statement of the year, which showed a small balance of $1.35 to the credit of the society. The report also showed that only a very small number had paid their subscription fee of $1.00 for the past year. This falling off in the membership was no doubt another evidence which the influence of hard times and the scarcity of dollars had upon all societies of a similar nature. Every Scotchman, therefore, in the town and county should help on the good work of this society by contributing at once the small suscription of one dollar, which is all that is asked for membership fees.

On motion, Dr. Caldwell and Mr. Thos. Gemmell were appointed to audit the treasurer's books. After investigating they reported, certifying to the correctness of the accounts; and the treasurer's report was then passed.

Some discussion ensued on the state of the funds and the necessity there was for some steps being taken to improve their condition. A number of those present came forward and paid their fee for the ensuing year, but not enough to create a fund such as was required for prosecuting the benevolent work of the society to the extent which, the President thought, the demands of the coming winter would necessitate.

It was then moved by Mr. W. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Alex. Gibson, that Messrs. H. W. Watson, Thos. Gemmell and John Cunningham be a committee to consider the best means of raising funds to pay off the present obligations of the society and to place the society in a better financial condition for the benevolent work of the ensuing year; said committee to have power to act with the sanction of the President.

Dr. Caldwell, speaking to the motion, said he did not wish to throw any cold water on the Society, but it was evident that its usefulness as a benevolent society was on the wane. He sharply criticised the manner in which the funds had been used for other than purely charitable work. For the past four or five years there had always been a balance of the expenses in connection with the annual celebration to be defrayed out of the funds of the society, which he thought was not justified. The annual dinner should be made self-sustaining by making the tickets cover the whole expense connected therewith. He had enjoyed the annual dinners as well as any of them, but was opposed to taking money out of the funds for that purpose. He made up his mind that he for one would not be a party to this any longer, and announced that he would not become a member this year. He could not help noticing also that there had been a lack of enthusiasm among the Scotchmen of both town and county, in helping the society to keep up its charitable work, and while the life of the society might be protracted by a few active members, its benevolent fund was not likely to accomplish much good, unless more encouragement was forthcoming.

Mr. Chas. Cameron said there was considerable force in Dr. Caldwell's remarks. There had, however, been circumstances in connection with the history of the Society since he became a member thirty-six years ago, that had more of the blue-ruin character about them than the present. He instanced one occasion years ago, when the few staunch friends that rallied around the annual meeting had almost decided to wind up its affairs. One enthusiastic member, now dead, rose to his feet and deposited his last dollar, remarking—"That's my dollar, and I'll see that you all pay your's!" His example was followed by all present, and it was not long before the Society was on its feet again. He confessed that dollars were hard to find just now, but he would never think of letting the Society die on that account. He was prepared once more to be one of the few who would stand by the Society in its hour of adversity, even if he had to celebrate "the Day" with a glass of cold water.

The motion for the appointment of the committee was carried.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The next business was the election of officers for 1896-97, which resulted as follows:

President—Dr. R. W. Bell.
1st Vice-President—A. G. Dickson.
2nd Vice-President—H. W. Watson.
3rd Vice-President—W. Breckenridge.

Norwood—W. E. Roxburgh.
Havelock—W. Mathieson.
Douro—Jos. Renwick, Thos. Russell.
Harvey—Geo. Smith.

Mr. John Cunningham was appointed official collector for the society, the same as last year.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY CELEBRATION.

The following committee was appointed to arrange for the annual celebration on St. Andrew's Day, November 30th,—The President and Messrs. Alex. Gibson, H. W. Watson and the secretary.

The meeting then adjourned at the call of the President.

MISS MELVILLE'S OPENING.

A Bewildering Display of Exquisite Fancy Work—Many New Designs Shown.

Miss E. Melville held her holiday opening in novelties and fancy work last evening, and although the opening was not expected to take place until seven o'clock yet her store was crowded from four until ten by ladies anxious to see the many beautiful knick knacks which it was known would be shown. Nobody was disappointed, as this year Miss Melville has excelled herself, and the novelties—particularly in the line of presents for gentlemen, are far ahead of those introduced in previous years.

One piece of work in particular attracted the attention of everyone who attended the opening. It was a roll pincushion of sufficient length to reach from one end of a dressing case to the other, and is designed to beautify that usually bare space just beneath the glass.

There are also a great many designs in Honiton lace on bolting cloth and some beautiful things in Battenburg lace, as well as a number of doyleys and centrepieces of netted lace with linen centres, ornamented with the popular holly designs.

A butterfly pin cushion is one of the novelties which attracts a great deal of attention, as do the new chrysanthemum centres.

Besides these there are a host of exquisitely worked patterns of new slipper cases, photo baskets and cases, tea cosies in Battenburg lace, gentlemen's shaving cases of every conceivable design, newspaper cases and pin cushions of the daintiest possible conception.

Any one puzzled as to what to give for a Christmas present cannot call upon Miss Melville without being suited, as the variety of the beautiful pieces of fancy work is such as to suit every taste.

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A SATISFACTORY CONFERENCE.

The Archidiaconal Gathering at Cobourg Closed Last Evening with a Missionary Meeting.

Cobourg, Nov. 18.—The second and last day of the Archidiaconal Conference was held here to-day

"The Work of the Church Amongst the Young" was discussed. On "Public Catechism" Rev. G. H. Webb of Colborne and Rev. J. C. Davidson, M. A., of Peterboro, spoke; "Preparation of Candidates for Confirmation," Rev. C. B. Kenrick, M. A., Port Hope, and Rev. Canon Harding Apsley; "Young People's Associations,' Miss Eyre, Cobourg, and E. E. W. McGaffey, Lindsay.

At 1 p.m. luncheon was served in the school room by the ladies of the congregation.

At the afternoon session "The Parish," "Church Social Gatherings" and "The Prayer Book" were discussed.

At 8 p.m. a grand missionary meeting was held, at which the following clergy addressed the conference on the different topics. "Foreign Mission Work in Japan," Rev. T. C. Street Macklem, M. A., Toronto; "Mission Work in China," Rev. C. H. Marsh, Lindsay; "Mission Work in Africa," Rev. E. Daniel, M. A., Port Hope. This meeting was well attended and closed a most satisfactory conference.

TWO UNSAVORY CASES.

One Man Sentenced for Criminal Assault and Another Let Off.

Whitby, Nov. 18.—The Assize Court finished here to-day. There were two criminal assault cases. In the first David Christopher Compton of Glen Major was found guilty and sentenced to two years in the Central Prison. The second, that against James Burney of Port Perry, resulted in acquittal, Judge Armour not being satisfied with the statement of the woman, a Jewess, the wife of a Russian pedlar living in Port Perry, and refusing to let the case go before the jury. Mr. C. J. Holman conducted the Crown business at these assizes.

THE FLOOD SUBSIDING.

But Still the Rivers Have Not Fallen Enough to Give Material Relief—Other Rivers Rising.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 18.—In some sections of the flooded districts the Skagit and Snohomish Rivers are slowly receding However, they have not fallen enough to give material relief, and the smaller rivers to the south of the city in King County are still rising, entailing great loss of property. Much of the wheat crop for which the Skagit River bottoms are famous, has been irreparably damaged and an immense quantity of hay has been washed down the river into Puget Sound. From the northern counties come reports of great destruction to stock, hundreds of cattle, sheep and hogs having been drowned.

In Seattle there is but little improvement as regards railway communication, there being no overland trains moving. The Northern Pacific made an unsuccessful attempt to get an eastbound express through. Its lines between this city and Tacoma are impassable, while river bridges have collapsed and many landslides are still blocking the way. The Seattle and International ran a train through north to Sumas yesterday afternoon, thus connecting with the Canadian Pacific. The local agent of the latter road reports its main line clear. To day the Great Northern expects to have a train running as far north as Stanford on the coast line.

HAVOC EVERYWHERE.

Rain is Causing Enormous Damage in Idaho Railway Washouts Stop Traffic.

Wallace, Idaho, Nov. 18.—Rain is king in the Coeur d' Alene. Down mountain gorges floods have been raging since Sunday morning, creating havoc everywhere. Of six railroads, running into Wallace, but one can run trains, while the best residence portion of Wallace is a scene of desolation. Buildings have been swept away and their places are occupied by drift-wood, while two blocks have had the soil washed off to bed rock. Since Nov. 1, snow has been falling and ten feet lay on the summits of the mountains. This quickly became slush, when the warm rain commenced falling last Thursday. The depth of snow prevented the water from starting quickly, but Saturday night the streams were swelling considerably. On Sunday morning trains were held up by washouts Through the western part of Wallace runs a placer creek, along which are built the houses of well-to-do citizens.

Fifty thousand dollars worth of property has suffered along the placer creek. The railroad loss may be as much more in the whole district, while no estimate can yet be made of private losses in other places, or the loss on country roads and bridges. All the large mines will have to shut down. Many miles of Northern Pacific track have been washed out in this vicinity, and several bridges have also been destroyed. Kingston, below the junction of the south and north forks of the Coeur d' Alene River, is reported all afloat.

VETERANS OF 1866.

A Reunion at Leamington Which the Old Boys Enjoyed—They Owned the Town.

Leamington, Ont., Nov. 18.—The re-union of the veterans of 1866, consisting of the old North Ridge Rifles and the Leamington Infantry, who were out on duty at the time of the Fenian invasion, took place in Leamington to-day. Besides these there were several veterans of 1837 who were invited as honored guests of the men of 1866. There was a large turnout, nearly one hundred responding to the call. Many in the town decorated their places with flags and flags were flying from all the public buildings. About 11 o'clock the veterans assembled at the Town Hall, when an address of welcome was read to them by Mayor Capt. J. E. Johnson, who extended to them the freedom and hospitality of the town. The veterans then, led by the Leamington band to the music of "The British Grenadiers," paraded and marched through the principal streets, which were lined with the citizens. They were repeatedly cheered as they passed through the town. The line of march brought them to the Presbyterian Church, where the town had provided a sumptuous banquet for them.

Dinner over, they again marched to the Town Hall, where patriotic addresses were made by Col. Wilkinson,, Captain Billings, an old veteran of 82 years, who was captain of the North Ridge Rifles during those stirring times; Major Fox, captain of the old Leamington Infantry, and others.

The most pleasing part were addresses which were presented to Capt. Billings and Major Fox by their old comrades in arms, and the replies made by their old officers. The whole affair passed off with great enthusiasm, and all were delighted with the spirit manifested by the citizens, as well as those who took part in the re-union. At the close a meeting of the veterans was held, when it was decided to organize and make it an annual affair, and perhaps endeavor to associate with other organizations of a like nature.

VENEZUELA ARBITERS.

Lord Dufferin and Sir George Gainsford Bruce Suggested by a London Newspaper.

New York, Nov. 18.—A London special to The Journal says: A London newspaper today suggests the names of Lord Dufferin and Sir George Gainsford Bruce as suitable Venezuelan arbiters. The idea may be at once dismissed. The former has definitely retired from public life, and the latter is considered as too professorial and impractical for such work, despite his brilliant abilities.

A cablegram to The Journal from Berlin says: The Foreign Office is entirely satisfied with the result of the Bismarck interpellation. My Hamburg special says that Prince Bismarck is formulating a sensational rejoinder, the piece de resistance of which is the disclosure that Italy has been allied to Russia since 1891, in the same manner as was Germany before 1890.

A cablegram from Paris to The Herald says: The Figaro announces that Count De Moltke Huitfeldt, Danish Minister in Paris, is seriously ill. He had two apoplectic strokes last week, but owing to his strong constitution his physicians have not lost hope. His eldest son, Comte Adam, has arrived in Paris.

The Anchoria in Sight.

New York, Nov. 18.—The disabled steamer Anchoria from Glasgow was sighted off Fire Island at 2.30 p.m.

When they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. Is it not equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor enough. He suffers much, gets little sympathy. At first, perhaps a little heaviness in the stomach, a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn; headaches and biliousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and means that the body is holding poisonous, impure matter that should be gotten rid of. The poison is being reabsorbed into the blood and the whole body. Impurity in the blood may lead to almost any disease. Constipation is the start of it all. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, cure it so it stays cured. No other remedy in the world will do that.

Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

Constipation Cured.

Gents,—I was in very poor health for over four years; the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash I got three bottles o. B.B.B. and took it regularly, I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B.B.B.

MRS. STERNAMAN'S CASE.

Mr. Thayer Declares There is No Case for Extradition—Lawyers Will Argue Next Tuesday.

Buffalo, Nov. 18.—Nothing of importance was brought out by either side this morning in the case of Mrs. Sternaman. The court room was crowded with the usual number of spectators, who are directly or indirectly interested in the case.

The first witness called was Benjamin J. Morningstar, agent in this city for the Chautauqua Loan Association of Jamestown, N.Y., Mr. Morningstar's office is at No. 231 Niagara-street. He said that he had a conversation with Sternaman last May in regard to buying some stock in the Chautauqua Association. He said that Sternaman declined, saying that he could not afford it, as he was paying considerable money out for his own life insurance. This was the only evidence brought out by Mr. Thayer. Mr. Thomas revealed nothing in his cross-examination.

The next witness sworn was Charles R. Roberts, special agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York. Mr. Roberts resides in the metropolis. A cross-examination by Mr. Thayer brought out the fact that Mr. Roberts had been sent by his insurance company to Cayuga, Ont., to ascertain the cause of Sternaman's death. Roberts said he was present at the inquest held in Cayuga, but was not responsible in any way for the arrest of Mrs. Sternaman.

This practically ended the case so far as the evidence was concerned. Next Tuesday is the day set for the lawyers to sum up their respective sides. Mrs. Sternaman looked brighter this morning than at any time during the examination. Mr. Thayer made the declaration in the court room that the Crown has not one iota of a case against the accused woman.

A man fears and abhors the highwayman who at the point of the revolver robs him of his money. The mere thought of the ruffian who robs by violence makes a man shudder. There is a deadlier enemy than the highwayman that robs men not only of their money, but of their ability to make it, and of their health and life. And yet men actually court the advances of this deadly enemy. Its name is consumption. Thousands of bright men and women are passive victims in its clutch. Its daily victims are numbered by thousands.

A sure cure for this dread disease is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It goes directly to the seat of the trouble. It restores vigorous action to the digestive organs, tones up the liver, and makes the appetite good. It makes the assimilation perfect and supplies the blood with the elements that build up healthy tissue. It acts upon the lungs driving out all impurities and disease germs. It soothes the shattered nerves and they resume their normal function of imparting healthy activity to all the organs of the body. All Druggists sell it. Nothing else is "just as good."

"Dr. Pierce, I am one of your most grateful patients," writes Mrs. Annie M. Norman, of Siquisunk, Wayne Co., Pa. "I have taken 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pellets' with wonderful results. I am, as many of my friends tell me, like the dead brought to life. The doctors said I had consumption and death was only a matter of time. That was six years ago. I concluded to try your medicine. I continued until I had taken nine bottles of 'Discovery' and several bottles of 'Pellets.' I got well and have done a great deal of hard work since."

What more need be said of a book after the one statement: "680,000 copies sold at $1.50 each?" That book was Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In that many homes it is known as the best medical book ever published in any language. Several chapters relate exclusively to diseases peculiar to women. There is now ready an enormous edition that is absolutely FREE. This edition is bound in heavy paper. Send thirty-one one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. If fine French cloth binding is desired, send 50 stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

THOUGHTS SUGGESTED BY THE ANNUAL HARVEST FESTIVAL.

Its Origin and Ancient Manner of Observance—Its Modern Significance—The Country Feast—A Tempting Banquet. The Perfect Form of Giving Thanks.

An annual harvest festival of Thanksgiving has been by no means peculiar to this country or even to modern ages. Indeed the Hebrews had their harvest festivals, the principal one being the autumn feast of ingathering (feast of the Tabernacles), a thanksgiving for the whole produce of the wine press, of the fruit orchards and the cornfields. Similarly, too, the Greeks and Romans had festival seasons in honor of Demeter, or Ceres, the goddess of agriculture. All these were sanctioned by religious rite, games and joyous indulgence in the pleasures of the table. So our Thanksgiving day has a noble descent in history, and the Puritans of Massachusetts not only showed their piety, but their scholarship, in some of the old sermons still extant. A discourse of the celebrated Dr. Cotton Mather on Thanksgiving is curious in its learning concerning the prototypes of the Puritan festival among the nations of the past. It shows how well the fathers knew they had linked themselves with a great historic observance.

However the day has become shorn of its religious quality in the minds of the masses, who sacredly enjoy the Thanksgiving turkey, its connection with worship is always earnestly enjoined by state and federal proclamations. It is indeed the sole religious festival observed in the United States by virtue of civil authority. The annual practice in New England during colonial times was imitated after awhile by the Dutch and English governors of New York, and the continental congress proclaimed the festival annually during the great war struggle. It remained afterward, however, a purely state affair till, in 1863, President Lincoln began the practice of proclaiming an autumnal Thanksgiving annually.

In the earlier time Thanksgiving day was the most important of American festivals, for Christmas was looked on with more or less suspicion by the rigid Puritans. Aside from churchgoing, shooting with the rifle at turkeys was the most widespread habit of the day. This is still practiced to some extent in the purely rural communities. Nowadays, however, the overshadowing feature of the holiday in the way of amusements is the prevalence of the great football and other games selected for that date. Our universities make it the occasion of their most brilliant athletic contests. Out of the cities where the more important of these friendly battles would naturally occur local games are arranged which perhaps evoke as much interest among the spectators. It is curious to observe that among all the strong and servile nations this tendency to connect national festivals with athletic contests has been all but universal. Among the Americans, Englishmen and Germans of today, the cognate branches of the Teuton family, this is specially noticeable.

The religious exercises of Thanksgiving nearly always look in some way toward matters of national gratitude rather than those of individual thanks. So we expect the church addresses to be largely of a political character, dealing with topics of public morals. Our ministers naturally avail themselves of this escape valve to discharge views of political questions once a year, and many a good stump speech, as well as some poor ones, have been thus shot from the battery of the pulpit. Not a few of the most powerful and eloquent addresses of Henry Ward Beecher, Rev. Dr. Storrs, Dr. Hall, Dr. E. H. Chapin and other preaching celebrities have owed themselves to this occasion. A sermon delivered by the Rev. Dr. Palmer of New Orleans on Thanksgiving day, 1860, is said to have aroused and crystallized secession sentiment scarcely less than Mirabeau's oratory did the revolutionary sentiment at the convocation of the French states general in 1789. So, while most of the Thanksgiving pulpit talking may lack pith and fire, it sometimes becomes a projectile of monstrous force and effect.

But, after all is said, one must confess that the true modern significance of Thanksgiving is that of the feast day—the family feast day. It gathers the scattered branches together from far and wide to sacrifice at the altar of family love, where are enshrined the Lares and Penates of the old home. There is something of this feeling, too, at Christmas, but it chiefly touches the individuals of each family branch. Thanksgiving seeks the gathering of the clan and becomes in many cases perhaps the most beautiful and delightful occasion of the year, full of the purest joy and sweetness, a veritable fountain of refreshment. The spectacle of three or four generations of a family assembled together from distant dwelling places under the ancient family rooftree is charged with the heart's truest poetry. The significance is not that it surfeits the belly with toothsome and succulent dainties, but that it fills the soul brimful of love and sympathy, effervescing anew after long absence. This is the truest religious sacrifice of the day, and so the dinner table becomes perhaps the most consecrated shrine of all, though no blood of the grape is poured out in libation there.

It is in the country that the finest joys of Thanksgiving are found. They go with turkey and pumpkin pie, not with terrapin and canvasback; with sparkling apple juice, not with champagne. The crisp, pure air, the association of rural life revived again with exhilarating freshness, the warming of family ties, the homely, appetising dishes, into whose concocting the cook has poured the purest love and joy of the heart as well as fragrant spices and sweets, make up something which no banquet of Lucullus could equal. Many a worldworn spirit has found in such an occasion a new sense flaming out of the ashes of ennui and weariness, that, after all, life is well worth living. And so may it be always.

We have said nothing in this article about the giving of thanks, which the name of the day emphasizes. Well, perhaps the indulgence of love and innocent joy and the new birth of all the best sympathies of one's nature are as perfect a form of thanksgiving to the great Creator of all as prayer and psalm singing within the walls of the chapel. Without the first named all else is but as "sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal."

G. T. FERRIS.

Happy Thanksgiving.

The happiest Thanksgiving is that which retains the spirit of primitive good cheer, simplicity and good fellowship. Dinners of style are not consistent with the occasion. There used always to be snow at Thanksgiving and roaring fires in the old big fireplace and hosts of gay relations coming from the country or town.

The impurities in the blood which cause scrofulous eruptions are thoroughly eradicated by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

Our Annual Thanksgiving.

From 1689 onward the governors of the colony and state of Massachusetts have annually proclaimed a general holiday in the fall of the year. The dominant spirit of New England was felt in Revolutionary times so much that an annual Thanksgiving day was observed by the continental army. Even the placid Dutchmen of the state of New York fell into line and since 1817 have had their Thanksgiving day.—Exchange.

A Day of Family Reunions.

It is customary for the forenoon of Thanksgiving day to be observed in a religious way. Churches hold service during this time, and the occasion for thanksgiving is dwelt upon with a grateful spirit. The rest of the day is given to rational amusements and to feasting. All absent members of the family are invited to the dinner and it is made a time of family reunion.—Detroit Free Press.

A Colonial Pudding.

Tickletooth pudding was the name of the Thanksgiving pudding of old colonial days. It was only a memory of the great progenitor of that name which the pilgrims had left at home in old England. There were no 10 pounds of solid fruit, no 20 luscious eggs, rich beef suet, nor was it dampened with choice brandy and home brewed ale. But it was probably more easily digested.—Exchange.

Thanksgiving Sentiments.

In everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God which passeth all understanding shall guard your hearts and your thoughts in Christ Jesus.—Philippians iv, 6.

And he that suppleth seed to the sower and bread for food shall supply and multiply your seed for sowing and increase the fruits of your righteousness; ye being enriched in everything unto all liberality, which worketh through us thanksgiving to God.—II Corinthians ix, 10, 11.

I exhort therefore first of all that supplications, prayers, intercessions, thanksgivings be made for all men; for kings and all that are in high place; that we may lead a tranquil and quiet life in all godliness and gravity. This is good and acceptable in the sight of God, our Saviour.—I Timothy ii, 1.

You may eat cheap food and not be seriously hurt by it; but you cannot take cheap medicines without positive injury. If you use any substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, you do so at the peril of your health, perhaps of your life. Insist on having Ayer's, and no other.

A BATTLE IN CUBA.

Col. Monrado Had a Fight With Insurgents and Succeeded in Dislodging Them.

Havana, Nov. 18.—Col. Monrado has had an engagement with combined parties of rebels, who were found strongly entrenched in the Grillo hills in the Province of Havana. The enemy were dislodged and dispersed, the Spanish column advancing and capturing the position of the rebels under a heavy fire. The Spanish troops had six privates killed and a captain, two lieutenants and thirty-eight privates wounded. The rebels left seven dead on the field and carried off many others. Gen. Gonsales Munoz has had two engagements with rebel parties between Sitio Hondo and San Cristobal in the Pinar del Rio province. The Spanish had a private and one captain killed and twenty-seven privates wounded. The insurgents had twelve men killed.

IN THE DARK VALLEY.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have Saved My Life"—This is said by Thousands—Prevention the Safest.

"In the valley and shadow of death"—"Given up to die." There are many thousands of such living in Canada to-day who say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills have saved my life."

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents—which is better than curing.

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

Fairweather's Fine Furs

They Can, But They Don't Like To.

The Ladies can go around all winter without nice warm Furs—but they don't like to.

Now the matter of a Fur Cape, Collarette, Ruff or Jacket is of vast importance to a lady's comfort, health and appearance—it's an article that for 6 months of the year is in constant use and should be attractive as well as durable.

It's the perfect fit of our Fur Garments — combined with faultless style, and a reasonable price—that places this store at the fore front of the Fur business in Peterborough, Toronto and Lindsay. Let us show you our stock.

HOCKEY.

Kingston junior hockeyists have come to an understanding whereby members of the Granites, Limestones and Crescents will affiliate with the Victorias, forming one strong team that will be hard to beat.

The Kingston Whig says: It is expected that the Ontario Hockey Union will establish three series this season instead of two, as heretofore. In that case the Victorias will enter the Junior series. The Union meets during the last week in the present month.

CURLIANA.

Lindsay curlers hold their annual meeting last night. The report of the bonspiel committee was read by Mr. Harstone. After referring to the arrangements already made, the report stated that it would be necessary to collect about $300 to defray the cost of suitable prizes. The committee also suggested that only two Lindsay rinks be entered in the double rink competition, the trophies won (if any) to become club property; entries of single rinks to be unrestricted, and prizes to become the property of the winners. The suggestions were approved of, and Messrs. Flavelle and W. McLennan were appointed skips for the double rink competition by ballot.

Mr. J. H. Hart, one of the delegates to the meeting of the Midland Colt's Association held in Peterborough last week, gave a very concise report of matters pertaining thereto. The association was organized two years ago by Mr. Biggar, of Belleville, when the clubs comprised Peterborough, Campbellford and Belleville. Last year Kingston, Port Hope and Cobourg entered, and this year Norwood and Lindsay had accepted invitations to join, making sixteen rinks in all. The trophy played for was valued at $50. Some confusion had resulted as to the definition of the term "Colt," and he felt that some of the players were very old "Colts." At the meeting in Peterborough he understood that curlers who had not played previous to 1893 would be allowed to play for Lindsay, but since then he had been informed that 1894 was the date. Players were eligible for three years from date of entry.

Mr. Harstone, in moving that the action of the delegates be endorsed, said that it made very little difference whether the entry limit was made 1893 or 1894—there were numbers of good players eligible in either event, and in the course of three years the matter would right itself.

How to Keep Winter Apples.

Oftentimes we hear complaints that winter apples are spoiling in the early part of the winter. The reason of it is that they are kept in too warm quarters. Apples should be kept in a cool, dry place; at a temperature of 30°, if possible, and will keep better in closed barrels kept on their side, elevated from the floor to permit the air to circulate all around. Barrels that are opened for use are also better standing elevated from the floor and kept covered from the air. Scabby apples are better kept out of the barrels and spread out in a dry place. In opening a barrel of apples for use it is advisable to open the bottom to use from first, as the pressing process squeezes the apples at the bottom, which is the end that is pressed and will not keep as long as the faced end, which is placed in carefully by hand, stems downward, and where the choicest apples are generally put in order to protect them from the press.

DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT.

What Ladies Can do When They Work Harmoniously — Excellent Music. Beautiful Flowers. Dainty Refreshments and Charming Social Enjoyment.

The entertainment presented last night in the lecture room of the George street Methodist church, under the joint auspices of the Epworth League and the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, was a very pleasant success in every respect—musically, socially and gastronomically.

The room was well filled with auditors, and the platform was finely decorated with the beautiful, shock-headed chrysanthemum, which also prodigally supplemented the charms of youth and beauty of many of the lady contributors to the programme.

Rev. W. R. Young occupied the chair, and introduced the successive numbers. The programme opened with a very sweetly sung duet by the clever Belleghem sisters—Clara and Annie. This was followed by a brilliant pianoforte duet, "The Charge of the Cavalry," by Harriss, performed by Misses Sherin and McAllister, (of Pembroke, sister of Mr. C.B. McAllister, town.) Miss May Richardson contributed that often-heard, but ever-sweet song, Adams' "Holy City." She sang it so sweetly that she had to respond to a recall—with "My Dad's the Engineer." Mr. McCaig made a very creditable debut in Peterborough as a violinist, giving that dreamy musical tid-bit of Schumann, "Traumerei." His excellent playing, which was much assisted by Miss Grant's excellent and sympathetic accompaniment, caused him to be loudly recalled. He responded with a spirited rendering of the music of the old Scotch song, "I lo'e ne'er a laddie but ane." Dr. Clark gave in good style a reading from an old English play. His imitation of the Scotch dialect was excellent. An old time favourite, Mrs. W. W. Daly, next charmed the audience with an exquisitely sweet singing of the sweet song, "The Maiden and the Rose," but gave even further delight with the recall number she was compelled to give, "Far Away." The delicate pathos she infused into this was simply charming. A rousing quartette sung by Misses McAllister and Annie Belleghem and Messrs. Miller and Skitch, deserved the hearty applause with which it was received. Miss Florence Hall sang her solo so charmingly that she was compelled to respond to a recall. There's a world of music in this young lady's voice. Mr. A. R. Davis, C.E., was called upon to give an address, but owing to the lateness of the hour he announced that he would give it later. Miss Vina Belleghem and Mr. Mulligan sang with much spirit, "Flow Gently Deva," and were rewarded with very hearty applause. The excellent programme closed with a musical trio, mouth-organ, autoharp and guitar, by Messrs. Roadhouse and Hendricks. The programme presented was a most excellent one and the performers generally did justice to their numbers. The several accompaniments were supplied by Mr. Geo. Schneider, organist of the George street church, Miss Grant, organist of St. Andrew's, and Misses Sherin and McAllister.

At the close of the programme dainty refreshments, coffee, cake, etc., were served, and a most pleasant season of social intercourse was enjoyed.

DAUGHTERS OF ENGLAND.

The Varied Programme Which Was Prepared for the Occasion.

A most pleasing entertainment was held last evening in the Sons of England hall, under the auspices of the Daughters of England. The chair was occupied by Dr. Pigeon, who introduced the programme by a few appropriate remarks. The Sons of England Band then rendered the selection known as "The Firemen" in splendid style, showing a vast deal of improvement since their last appearance. Miss Lizzie Rounds then recited "If I was a Man," in a manner which won for her considerable applause. Messrs. Roadhouse and Hendricks followed with a guitar and autoharp duet, given in their well known admirable style. Master Herb Taylor's song was well received, and Mr. George Adam's "Mocking Bird" song brought down the house.

At this juncture an intermission was announced to allow the ladies an opportunity of serving refreshments. After a pleasant half hour spent in discussing cake and coffee, etc., Mrs. Edward Harris, the president of the Lodge, made a brief address on the aims and objects of the order, calling attention to the fact that it was rapidly increasing in membership, as there were now over a hundred branches established in Canada and the roll of the local lodge was rapidly increasing in length.

Miss Bell opened the second part of the programme with a brilliantly rendered instrumental. Mr. George Adams then gave his "Irish Cuckoo" song amidst roars of laughter.

One of the most interesting numbers on the programme was then given by Misses Alice Carter, Emma Campbell and Jennie McLellan, and Messrs. Vas LeBar and Geoffrey Pratley. It was a dialogue entitled "Way Down East," and those taking part won golden opinions by the clever way in which they took their parts. A pleasing song by Mr. W. F. Taylor brought the programme to a close and was followed by the singing of the National Anthem.

MY BICYCLE.

What lifts me from this world of care
About three feet, and holds me there
A-flying like an angel fair?
My bicycle.

What is it, when Brown's big bull
Gets after me and makes me gull,
That saves my life and keeps it whole?
My bicycle.

What makes me catch that horse-thief bold,
(I grabbed him and right off he rolled)
Who dad's old mare had been and stole?
My bicycle.

And when my cousin Jim Jack Jay,
Would race me with his colt one day
What was it run so quick away?
My bicycle.

What helped me win Alldy Brown,
The prettiest girl in all our town,
All in her pea-green Sunday gown?
My bicycle.

What doesn't need a feed at all,
Just takes a hand's breadth for stall,
And leans up quiet in the stall?
My bicycle.

What makes this world a tip-top place,
What most improves the human race,
And for said race what sets the pace?
My bicycle.

To this the printer's devil added:

What makes you write such poetry bad,
Gives you a face so very mad?
I am afraid it is it at fad—
Your bicycle.

There is hardly anything more refreshing than a cup of good Tea. But then really good Tea is scarce and that is why so few understand the invigorating qualities of the herb. One of the most experienced "Tea-tasters" selects our best brands of household Teas. If you will try them in preference to what you usually use you will soon detect the difference and understand how refreshing a cup of good Tea really is. Prices according to quality.

Get Ready in Good Time!

Don't Be Afraid

It is'nt too soon to leave your measures for your Winter Overcoat or Suit. All that's left of Fall is its "bark."

You must feel shabby and uncomfortable in your old clothes. Heavier garments for thin ones, warm colours for light ones. You have got to change, and you'll feel better right away.

We are willing to wait for slower people than you, but let us tell you fairly: sharper people are getting and enjoying advantages that you do not.

Because we made you a Suit or Overcoat two or three years ago, and it won't wear out, that's no reason why you should'nt have a new one with the latest style in it.

TARIFF COMMISSION.

Another Very Busy Day Put In at Toronto.

YET THE WORK IS NOT FINISHED

Boot Manufacturers Want More Protection—Iron Men Would Like Such an Arrangement as Would Lead to the Development of Our Mines—What Other Men Say.

Toronto, Nov. 21.

The Tariff Commissioners have gone away, but their business here is not yet finished, and they will be back again, although the date of their second visit is not definitely decided upon. Sir Richard Cartwright left yesterday for Rochester, where he has gone to secure the benefits of mineral springs. Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. William Paterson left last night for Ottawa. It is the intention of the commission to sit in Hamilton on Tuesday week.

Deputations were received by the commissioners on the first flat of the Rossin House yesterday morning, while in the afternoon they resumed business at the old stand—the council chamber of the Board of Trade.

Messrs. J. D. King, Edmund Weston, W. A. Marsh, W. B. Hamilton and C. B. Hamilton were a boot and shoe deputation received at the morning session, and one of these gentlemen stated afterwards that they had simply asked for an equalization of the duties on the various things used by them in manufacture. It was considered that a great discrepancy existed between the duties they pay on their raw material, about 20 per cent., and those accorded them as protection amounted to 25 per cent., so that the real protection was only 5 per cent. The deputation wished the difference to be made at least 15 per cent., and thought it could be done without decreasing the revenue. The dealers pay 17 1-2 per cent. duty on fine leathers, and they consider 15 per cent. sufficient. The raw material of the tanner was admitted free and they wanted equal protection on such articles as kids, linings, inks, dressings, blackings and machinery. In reply to Mr. Fielding, it was stated that it would be impossible to compete with the United States if free trade were established.

Another delegation who had a private session with the Ministers were Messrs. George Bertram, and Edward Gurney. They discussed general iron duties without reference to any particular industry. The gentlemen asked that, owing to the present duties on pig iron and bar iron being so much higher than those of the finished article, some reduction should be made and that some other way should be found of bringing about the development of the iron deposits of the Dominion other than by taxing the users of iron to such an extent as has been done for years past. The users of iron do not take the position in any spirit of antagonism to the producers of pig and bar iron, but they think the question should be considered from the standpoint of the general interests of the country, and it appears at present as if there were no other way of bringing about the development of our iron deposits to any great extent than by a bounty, and reduced duty, rather than by an excessive tax, which runs from 40 to 50 per cent., while 27 1-2 per cent. is the average duty on the finished product.

None of the iron users are advocates of free trade, even in raw material. They were quite willing a duty should be imposed, but not to the present extent.

Mr. F. B. Hays of the Toronto Carpet Company sought an interview with the commission, but was asked to call again in the afternoon, which he did.

At the afternoon session in the Board of Trade, the carpet section of the Manufacturers' Association were represented by Major J. A. Murray, Toronto; F. B Hays, Toronto; R. Dodds, Guelph, and A. R. Burrows, Guelph. Major Murray, on their behalf, told the commission how the carpet trade had struggled along under difficulties for years, and how hard they had found it to persuade people that the home product was as good as the imported. They did not ask the Government to increase the duty, but they would ask it to put an upset price of 50 cents per yard on wool carpets, and 30 cents per yard on other carpets. The American markets had flooded ours and had sent in a lot of cheap stuff. The carpet trade of Canada is a most important one if properly protected, and carpets made here were rapidly becoming more popular even than imported. The deputation trusted that the Government would not harm the industry by any change in the tariff that may be made.

Mr. Burrows manufactures chenille curtains at Guelph. Other firms had tried it also, but were unable to make it go with the low duty on imports. Mr Burrows said he would send a statement to Ottawa, showing why he thought the tariff should be raised.

Messrs. W. R. Johnston, T. O. Anderson and John Watson represented the ready-made clothing manufacturers, but not as an association. They represented theirs as an industry which paid in Toronto alone nearly one million dollars a year for labor. They thought the tariff on goods coming in here in competition with them should at least be kept as high as it is, viz., 30 per cent. ad valorem and 5c per lb. which is equivalent to from 35 per cent. to 40 per cent. ad valorem. The deputation considered that if any change was made by way of lowering the duty this industry would be imperilled. It was as much as the trade could do to compete with the English markets at present, and with a lower tariff, Yorkshire goods would soon be on our markets to a large extent. The clothing industry was the largest in Toronto at the present time, and was a great help in many houses in the city. If this industry was knocked out there would be no market for Canadian tweed. The woolen manufacturers are not making fortunes, some of the companies have not paid dividends for years, while others are not doing anything at all. It was stated that if the English goods were allowed to come in it would drive all the factories now operating here to Yorkshire, where there were so many facilities for making goods cheaper.

"No inferences should be drawn from any questions we ask," said Mr. Fielding. "We are not going to do anything in a hurry."

Mr. A. H. Eckardt of Philp & Eckardt, casket-makers, preferred not to have the tariff raised on material used in the manufacture of caskets such as hardware, plates, handles, etc. Coffins and caskets can be imported, covered with cloth and lined with satin at a duty of 25 per cent. Under these conditions Mr. Eckardt thought his trade should be put in a position to compete with these goods, as they at present have to pay the same duty, on the articles they use in manufacture, as outside competitors have to pay on the manufactured article. Mr. Eckardt also asked that his industry be put in a similar position to the hat and cap trade, who get their sealing in free by having them cut. The casket men are quite willing to have their sealing cut before they come here. He also wanted the Government to protect the manufacturers from exorbitant freight on the subsidized lines. This, Mr. Eckardt pointed out, had been a great drawback to the export trade of his and other firms, although it was much better now.

Mr. Fielding stated that if Mr. Eckardt's firm had notified the Department of Trade and Commerce of any complaint against one of the subsidized lines the matter would have been investigated.

Mr. J. C. McLachlan of the Toronto Electric Motor Company wanted to have magnet wire placed on the free list. The present duty is 30 per cent. If it was placed on the free list it would enable us to get the American markets. The wire is not covered here to any extent, only in a few sizes, and by the firms using it. Mr. McLachlan did not care a rap for any competition. Once before a reduction from 35 per cent to 30 per cent. had been allowed on magnet wire.

Mr. Joseph Wright, president; David Carlisle, vice-president; John Stark, director, and J. W. Taylor, managing director of the Toronto Radiator Manufacturing Company, were the next to wait upon the commission. They wanted the tariff left as it was, the present duty of 27 1-2 per cent. being considered sufficient under certain conditions, which they named. They were, however, desirous of having a bonus of $4.80 per ton on exported radiators, whether made of Canadian or American iron. The competition from the United States gave considerable cause for complaint. Labor was much cheaper there than here, was of an inferior class, and the vast expanse of this country made freight expensive. Radiators, Mr. Taylor said, are sold in Toronto 20 per cent. cheaper than in the United States, and the cheap rate of freight, viz.: 14c, from Boston to St. John, compared with the 55c rate from Toronto to St. John compelled the Canadian concern to sell 10 per cent. cheaper in St. John than the United States firms did, in order to meet the American competition. The present duty of 27 1-2 per cent. ad valorem was, if anything, not high enough, as it gave the American concerns an opportunity to work off their surplus stock in this country.

Messrs. G. C. Heintzman and G. C. Royce, piano men, did not care for the reporters to be present at their interview, but it was learned that they were satisfied to have the tariff concerning them left as it is and if a change is contemplated they would like the duty on walnut reduced from 10 per cent. to 5 per cent. The latter is the duty on foreign wood, under which head they claim walnut should come.

In the interests of those who are engaged in making acetic acid, Messrs. A. G. Peuchen of Peuchen & Co., J. H. Bowman of Canada Chemical Company, London, and W. H. Evans of the Canada Paint Company, Montreal and Toronto, were a deputation who protested against a proposition that had been made to the Government by the vinegar manufacturers to the effect that an excise duty of 3c per gallon be placed on acetic acid, similar to the way in which vinegar is taxed. It was pointed out that acetic acid had been of benefit to the people. For instance pickles, which a couple of years ago cost $3 a pail, now cost $1.25, because the acid had been used in preserving them. Many people preferred acetic acid vinegar to fermented vinegar, and it was not injurious to health any more than ordinary vinegar.

In the event of the proposed duty being imposed the acetic acid factories would have to close. They are quite willing to compete with the vinegar men on equal terms if the duty on vinegar is taken off. The production of acetic acid from wood, it was maintained, is a purely Canadian industry and one of benefit to the country.

Messrs. S. P. Saunders and W. B. Evans, sponge makers, asked that the present 20 per cent. duty on sponges be taken off, excepting from the bleached article. Raw and unbleached sponges could then be admitted and the duty left on the finished article. These gentlemen also asked that the duty on certain chemicals used in their industry be removed.

This was the last deputation heard, although a couple of others were waiting outside. Hon. Mr. Fielding stated to the press representatives that the commission expected to be in Hamilton on Tuesday week, and then the subsequent program would be announced. They expect to put in another day at Toronto and will probably call here at the conclusion of their mission in Hamilton.

FORTY MILLION TAELS

To be Expended in Railroad Building in China—American Money Will be Used.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 20.—A. Spitzel of Chicago, who is closely identified with the projected American-Chinese railroad between Pekin and Canton, arrived here from the Orient yesterday. Mr. Spitzel said the Tsung Li Yamen has received a secret edict appointing Sheng Taotai director-general of railways, and granting him permission to construct the Kankow-Canton-Souchov line. It also authorizes him to borrow 20,000,000 taels, 10,000,000 to be furnished by the Tsung Li Yamen, the Northern Superintendencies to furnish 3,000,000 taels and the Southern Superintendencies 7,000,000 taels. About 40,000,000 taels will be required for the construction of the lines. Native materials must be employed as far as possible on the Hankow lines, but foreign engineers may be engaged. Sheng Taotai is the head of the telegraph administration in China. Mr. Spitzel said the railway will certainly be built, and with American money and largely with American material. The road cannot be proceeded with now until next season, but will be started as soon as the Pei-Ho River is free from ice. Mr. Spitzel says American citizens are bound to excel in the struggles of the nations for trade supremacy in the Orient.

THE HARVEY CASE ALIVE YET.

Mayor and Aldermen of Guelph to See the Attorney-General About the Light Sentence Imposed O'Connor Released.

Guelph, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—The end of the Harvey case is not yet. It is currently reported throughout the city that as soon as his three months is up he will be arrested on other charges, to which he has pleaded guilty. The Mayor and a committee of aldermen intend visiting the Attorney General in reference to the light sentence imposed by Judge Chadwick.

Ald. Scroggie has been elected treasurer of the city, to enter on his duties next month.

Thomas Flaherty, who is locked up on a charge of breaking into and stealing from cars on the G.T.R., has elected to be tried before a jury on Dec. 3.

J. C. Dillon of Fergus was charged before Magistrate Saunders this morning with the seduction of Hattie, the 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mary Wilkie of the same place. He was committed for trial.

James O'Connor, who was sent to Kingston Penitentiary in 1892 by Justice Street for seven years, for a criminal assault on a young girl named Florence Marriatt, has been released, as the girl's father believes he was not guilty.

UNITED IN DEATH.

An Eloping Couple Separated in Life Deliberately Planned to Die Together—Prussic Acid Used.

Valley City, N. D., Nov. 20.—A man and woman of middle age, well dressed and of refined bearing, arrived here last night and registered at the hotel as Thomas Owens and wife, New Rockford. They at once went to their room and were not seen again alive. This morning when the couple did not appear, the room was forced open and they were found lying across the bed, both dead. A partly empty bottle of prussic acid on the table pointed to their suicide with that poison. A note was also left by the suicides stating: "Though separated in life, we are one in death. Make no enquiries as to us." Money was enclosed for burial expenses. The woman was Mrs. A. C. Swain of New Rockford, N. D., and her companion was Frank Addison of Baltimore, Md. They eloped Wednesday from New Rockford, and the news had been suppressed on account of the high esteem in which the family was held. Mrs. Swain was 40 years of and the mother of four children, one aged 18, a daughter. Addison's age was 40. The Swain family sent word here to have the remains of the woman sent to New Rockford for interment.

BLACK JACK WOUNDED.

Western Outlaws Get the Worst of It in an Encounter With Officers—A Bold Highwayman in Indiana.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 20.—News has reached here of a desperate fight near the Chihuahua line. For some days past Marshall Hall and a posse have been in hot pursuit of Black Jack and his gang of bandits. Several times the officers of the law were quite close to the desperadoes, but not near enough to engage them. Finally, however, they caught them in a position where they had to fight. At the first fire the notorious Bob Hayes was killed. Black Jack was badly wounded, but escaped. None of the posse were injured. The officers are still in pursuit of Black Jack.

A Lone Highwayman's Nerve.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 20.—A lone highwayman with a pair of revolvers stopped a section gang on a hand car on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad about dusk last evening and held them up for over $100. There were four men on the car, and they had just received last month's salary. The highwayman compelled them to throw their money on the track and then leave.

Cleveland Hardware House Burned.

Cleveland, Nov. 20.—A Superior-street block, owned by ex-Congressman R. C. Parsons and occupied by W. H. Luekete-meyer & Sons, wholesale hardware, was destroyed by fire this morning. The building, valued at $75,000, and stock, valued at $100,000, are a total loss. Both were insured.

One of the members of the firm and two employes were burned about the faces and hands before they could escape.

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our

AN ENGLISH JOURNAL ON TUPPER.

Following is the comment of the London Daily News upon Sir Charles Tupper's attack upon the Governor-General: "Sir Charles Tupper has undertaken, in The National Review, a task which might have been left to more disinterested hands. It is the discussion of the constitutional rights of a Colonial Governor—not in the abstract, but with special reference to what occurred when Sir Charles Tupper himself was defeated at the Canadian polls. Upon Sir Charles' own facts, the the reader's sympathy will surely incline to the side of Lord Aberdeen, for what is the indictment against the amiable Governor-General? It is that after a general election, in which Sir Charles Tupper's party was beaten, Lord Aberdeen chose to regard the acts of his advisors as in "an unusual degree provisional," and refused to sanction the appointment of further Conservatives and judges to the Senate and to a judicial bench already well packed with members of Sir Charles Tupper's party. In the Senate there was only one vacancy from the Province of Ontario, and it was currently understood that Mr. Laurier coming in as Prime Minister would put into that position Sir Oliver Mowat, whose services would be required as leader of the Liberal Government in the Senate. Lord Aberdeen saw that the appointment of Senators by the advice of a defeated Minister would "tend to embarras the probable successor of the Government." Any constitutional question here raised appears to have been created by Sir Charles Tupper's own indiscretion and conspicuous eagerness to embarrass his successors by acts for which he could claim no popular sanction, he being already a defeated minister. In this country a retiring Minister submits to his Sovereign the names of friends for whom he desires reward; but he would not dare to use his purely provisional power after defeat to cram the bench of the Senate."

A DIFFERENT TARTE.

The Hamilton Herald, independent, under the heading, "The Transformation of Mr. Tarte," says: "We believe that Mr. Tarte is an exceedingly shrewd politician and an ardent Liberal; but we believe that he has also become a Liberal in the best sense of that much abused term. The transformation of this man from a champion of extreme ultramontanism in religion and of narrow Gallic nationalism in politics into the exponent and defender of liberal views, both in religion and in national politics, is one of the most interesting studies in the development of opinion that the history of our time affords. Not more than two or three years ago Mr. Tarte would have been horrified at the theory that in the education of Catholic children clerical authority should yield to the authority of the State, and he would have bitterly resented the prediction that the growth of a French nationality on the banks of the St. Lawrence is a dream that will never be realized. Now he argues that a good secular education for Catholic children is more important than the retention of clerical control over the schools," and his patriotism has grown wide enough to include Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Much may be expected from Mr. Tarte."

THE COUNTY COUNCILS ACT.

The Government are in receipt of numerous letters of inquiry on several points in connection with this bill, as follows:

(1) Are the Reeves and Deputy Reeves (who will not have seats in the County Council) of towns and townships still to be elected?

Answer—The law upon this point remains precisely as it was. The act makes no change in this respect, and therefore they are to be elected as heretofore, though they are not to take seats in the County Council.

(2) Who has the power of appointing nominating officers during the present year?

A.—The Warden of the county; in future years, the County Council.

(3) Can a voter divide the two votes which he is authorized by the act to give, or must he give both to one candidate?

A.—He may divide them or give them both to one candidate, as he pleases.

(4) Are nominations to be held on the same day as ordinary municipal nominations, or the week previous to the ordinary nominations?

A.—The statute is plain on this point. They are to be held the week previous, but the vote is of course to be taken on the same day as the vote for municipal elections.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

AT the Conservative convention for Cornwall and Stormont, held at Newington Thursday. Mr. James Leitch, of Cornwall, was unanimously chosen to contest the riding at the coming bye-election.

THE Government proposes to arrange for an extensive service of refrigerator cars weekly on railways for the carriage of perishable food products to Great Britain. Plans for the cars are now being considered.

THERE seems to be considerable activity in the organization of Conservative clubs. They are needed. Sir Charles Tupper's Conservative club that was used on Manitoba to such poor effect seems to have been a failure and hence the demand for new ones.

SPEAKING in reference to the Tariff Inquiry now going on in Toronto, the Evening Star (ndependent) says:—"Toronto's business men who have had the pleasure of conferring with the tariff commission have been agreeably surprised with the courtesy and frankness with which they have been received, and especially with the urbanity of Sir Richard Cartwright, who has hitherto been depicted as a particularly disagreeable ogre. Instead of such a man, he has been found genial and courteous to a degree and has won unstinted praise. Those who have come in contact with him are warm in their admiration of the treatment they have received, and they are eminently pleased with the visit of the commission."

UNTOLD AGONY.

Distracted By Excruciating Rheumatic Pains—Seven Years' Untold Misery—No Remedy to Help—No Physicians to Thwart the Onslaught But South American Rheumatic Cure Charms Away the Pains in 12 Hours and the Suffering Slave is Emancipated.

J. D. McLeod, of Leith, Ontario, says:—"I have been a victim of rheumatism for seven years, being confined to my bed for months at a time, and unable to turn myself. Have been treated by many of the best physicians without benefit. I had no faith in cures I saw advertised, but my wife induced me to get a bottle of South American rheumatic Cure. At that time I was suffering agonizing pains, but inside of 12 hours after I had taken the first bottle the pains left me. Three bottles completely cured me, and I rejoice in having the opportunity of telling what a great cure it has wrought in me. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

COMPRESSED AIR AS A MOTIVE POWER.

Its Application by a Montreal Company Its Advantages Over Other Motive Powers.

The utilization of compressed air for mechanical purposes has long attracted the attention of scientific engineers, but compression by steam or hydraulic power has never been perfectly successful, on account of the loss of power caused by the heating of the air in mechanical compression, and the cooling of it in transmission. These difficulties have been completely overcome by the Taylor system, the air from which is, by the tests, six times drier than the normal atmosphere, and of the same temperature as the water-fall. The advantages and economical working of this system have been fully demonstrated, and can be seen at Magog, P.Q., where a plant of 150 horsepower has been installed for the Dominion Cotton Mills Co., Ltd., and which since 7th September has been running their printing engines with perfect satisfaction, and a great saving of expense (formerly these engines were run by steam). Mechanical air compressors were tried and failed to operate these same engines. It will be invaluable for mining operations, pumping, drilling, elevating and ventilating, and presents the most economical and safest power for working street railways, being the cheapest and most efficient system for the transmission of power yet discovered. It use will lessen the rate of insurance. The plant consists of a shaft sunk to a depth sufficient to obtain the pressure required, ending in a receiving tank for the air and the water. It can be applied to any water-fall, but more successfully where there is a head of three feet and upwards, bringing into use many new waterfalls at present not considered available for power. By this system air can be compressed to any pressure and transmitted by (ordinary) pipes any distance required, with little loss of energy, and with practically no wear and tear. The air takes the place of steam, and can be applied direct to any style of engine. Being perfectly automatic (after the plant is installed), there is no cost for operating. The Dominion Cotton Company's plant at Magog, P.Q., as per Professor McLeod's report, shows an efficiency of 62 per cent. of the actual power of the water used; transmitted in compressed air, with a waste of 20 per cent. of the air taken down. In the installation of any future plant this waste of air will be avoided by increasing the size of the air chamber, and consequently the efficiency will be increased by not less than 10 per cent.

WITH INTENSE PAIN BEYOND ENDURANCE.

In This Case Local Physicians Failed and Life Not Worth Living.

WELL UP IN YEARS.

His Cure Complete and Permanent—Dodd's Kidney Pills Triumph Again.

COBOURG, Nov. 20. (Special.)—No end of quiet talk has been created in this town and its immediate farming suburb in the vicinity of the old Court House and Jail.

This was the outcome of something concerning Mr. Alex. Russell, a wealthy farmer, who, though well up in years, has been cured of a long-standing kidney disease from which he had endured great distress.

Of his case he says: "I have been troubled for many years with a kidney and urinary disease which in spite of medical treatment continued to torment me beyond endurance.

"My trouble was bladder and urinary difficulty. Was subject to acute attacks of inflammation and intense pain in passing urine.

"Local physicians failed to help me and friends interested advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, of which I have used one dozen boxes.

"As the result of using this medicine I have been completely cured and I believe permanently so. The release and ease I enjoy is worth a hundred times its cost."

"Such a medicine as Dodd's Kidney Pills should be used by every aged person as I believe that all of us need kidney treatment.

"I say all this in the hope that it may be published, and thus prove to be the means of guiding others."

Indian Thanksgiving.

It is but fitting that in the evolution of this truly national holiday the original occupiers of the soil should have their part. It was about this time each year that the American Indian was wont to build great fires in the woods and roast the flesh of the deer and bear and boil the corn and stew the pumpkin and make the welkin ring with the noise of his feasting, singing and dancing before the long winter closed down.—New York Sun.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monopoly.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, aut got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and got a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

THE NAPANEE SUSPECT.

A Louisville Police Officer Goes East to Identify the Prisoner Charged With a Terrible Crime.

Toronto, Nov. 20.

W. R. Brown, a police officer of Louisville, Ky., was a visitor at Police Headquarters last night. He left for Napanee to identify and bring back to Louisville James Burnett, who is wanted on a charge of killing Theo D. Gilliam.

Gilliam belonged to Indianapolis, Ind., and was visiting in Louisville at the time he was killed. It was in August, 1895. A social club was holding a picnic, when Burnett tried to force his way into the grounds. Gilliam and another refused him admittance. Burnett drew a knife and slashed Gilliam in the neck, severing the jugular vein. Burnett escaped in the crowd, and has eluded capture until a few days ago, when he was arrested at Bath, near Napanee. He was traced by his letters to his mother, who still resides in Louisville. The officer says he has no doubt but Burnett is the guilty man, as he saw him at the gate five minutes before the crime was committed.

Rev. Canon Richardson, London, Ont., Sends a Record of

PERSONAL INTERVIEWS

With People Restored to Health by Ryckman's Kootenay Cure.

LONDON, Sept. 29, 1896.

S. S. Ryckman Medicine Co.,
Hamilton, Ont.

DEAR SIRS,—I take much satisfaction in sending you this record concerning persons living in London who have used "Kootenay Cure," and with whom I have had personal interview and can vouch for their statements. Mr. C. B. Hamilton, aged 32, a miller, and highly respected citizen, was troubled with sciatica of a very aggravated type for over twelve years. He began taking your medicine last spring and has now gained entire freedom from pain and does not suffer any symptoms of the troublesome disorder. Mrs. Sarah Burdick, aged 68, widow, has been for seven years a victim of Eczema. She was unable to wear her clothes and friends had to wait on her as on a child. She began to take your medicine last March and is now without a blemish on her body. Eight bottles of the medicine cured the disease that was thought to be incurable. A most astonishing cure is that of Mr. Patrick Ryder, aged 70, a retired farmer, well and favourably known. He was sorely afflicted with intermittent Rheumatism for some thirty-six years. About a year ago he could neither dress nor undress himself, but after taking your excellent medicine, the rheumatism left him, and he is not only well but a very active man for his years. Mrs. Sarah Judge, living in West Nissouri, had Neuralgia and Rheumatism for twenty years. She has used Kootenay since February last and is now perfectly cured. Had her sufferings continued much longer she states she would either have been in the asylum or the grave. Mr. McGowan, 35 years of age, has endured agony during the past year from a disease of the skin called pemphigus. His whole body was covered with angry sores and ulcers, and he never had a moment's relief from pain and suffering. He took your medicine and he has become quite rid of all disease, only the scars remaining to tell his horrible affliction.

I have much pleasure in writing the above, and am certain you have the heartfelt gratitude of those whom you have relieved of suffering by your valuable and excellent "Kootenay Cure."

Yours truly,
J. B. RICHARDSON, Rev. Canon.

Sir Donald Smith Tells Englishmen About It.

WHERE IMMIGRANTS CAN DO WELL

Provided They Have Energy and Enterprise and are Not Afraid of Work—The High Commissioner Was Listened to Attentively and Given a Vote of Thanks.

London, Nov 20.—Sir Donald A. Smith, Canadian High Commissioner in London, delivered an address before the Newcastle Geographical Society to-night upon the recources of the Dominion of Canada. The address embodied a comprehensive view of the progress of Canada since the landing of John Cabot on the coast of Newfoundland in 1497, and described the growth of her internal and international water and railway communications, her industries, agriculture, mining and fisheries.

In conclusion Sir Donald said: "More advantages can be obtained by emigrants of the right class in Canada than in any other quarter of the world. Canada does not want anybody unless he has a capacity for hard work, energy and enterprise. Given these, nowhere can one realize so rapidly such great results. The Canadians are proud of their country and believe in it. They are proud of their connection with the Mother Country and constantly endeavoring to make their beloved Dominion not the least important in a family of nations all under one flag, which seems to be the ultimate destiny of the Empire."

A large audience was present and listened closely to Sir Donald's very interesting description of the Dominion and the work that has been done there. He was frequently applauded.

Principal Gurney, who presided at the meeting, lauded Sir Donald's generosity, and a vote of thanks to the High Commissioner was adopted.

SPAIN'S TROUBLES

How There are Signs of a Rebellion in Porto Rico.

Madrid, Nov. 20.—The Government has received official advices from the Island of Porto Rico saying that extensive precautions are being taken there to prevent surprises by filibusters in the event of the news received from Cuba and the Philippines being of such a character as to encourage a rising of the islanders. The defences of the island are being examined and strengthened, as many well-known separatists have recently disappeared, leading to the suspicion that they are organizing an insurrection. All the houses and their inmates as well are being registered and the landing places where filibusters might attempt a coup are closely guarded by sentinels. The secret societies which have long existed in Porto Rico have recently increased their activity and documents recently seized by the authorities indicate that preparations are being made for a rising at an early date.

Mr. White Drops Out.

London, Nov. 20.—The Dundee Courier announces that James M. White, M.P. for Forfarshire, has applied for the stewardship of the Chiltern Hundreds, the equivalent of resigning his seat in the House of Commons. Mr. White, who is the head of the firm of J. F. White & Co., importers of textiles in New York, has recently become involved in litigation connected with charges seriously affecting his personal character, and is said to have sailed for India.

A PREACHER'S FALL.

Rev. Oliver J. Booth, Formerly of Montreal, is a Wreck Owing to His Weakness for Drink.

New York, Nov. 20.—Five years ago in the city of Montreal the curse of drink drove the Rev. Oliver J. Booth from his pulpit and his church. He sought a refuge and a living in this city and tried hard to get along, even enduring the separation from his wife, but the curse clung to him, and his latest step was that of early this morning, when he was removed to Bellevue Hospital from his lodging at No. 238 West Fourth-street.

The Rev. Mr. Booth is a fine-looking man, 41 years of age. He is of the Episcopal faith. Outside of his sole fault, his failing for drink, he is a man of strong character and in possession of many attainments. Upon reaching this city from Canada Mr. Booth spent several months with the Rev. Dr. Greer of St. George's, and with Mr. Thompson, manager of the "Under the Polar Star" theatrical company. All three attended the same college together, and continued the friendship then formed.

Mr. Booth's weakness overcame him upon several occasions and he determined to save his friends from the humiliation he felt he was causing them by living among strangers.

He went to West Tenth-street, where he lived for a long time, or until about a month ago, when he moved to his present residence, where he occupied a back parlor. On Tuesday he left, and on his return showed signs of having been drinking. Yesterday Mr. Thompson called and relieved Mr. Booth of all his money to make him stop drinking, but the latter obtained it and at midnight was on the verge of delirium tremens. He became so boisterous that the police were called in and he was removed to Bellevue in an ambulance.

A MARVELLOUS CURE.

Helped by the First Box—Could not Lift Fifty Pounds—Cured by a few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Arthur, Nov. 9. (Special).—Among his more intimate friends it has long been known here that Mr. J. C. Morrison had been gradually failing in health for many years. The acuteness of his sufferings was known only to a few. His complete recovery is a surprise here and is causing much talk. Of his cure he says:—"Yes I got help from the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I have taken fifteen boxes. I kept getting better every day. When I commenced I could not lift fifty pounds; now I am as strong and well as ever in my life."

A Cedar Hill, Victoria, B.C., Case That Has Caused Most Favourable Comment.

After a Lifetime of Agony From Rheumatism, a Lady is Cured by Paine's Celery Compound.

There is no other medicine in the world so prominent to-day as Paine's Celery Compound. The results it invariably gives to rheumatic sufferers are so astonishing and satisfying that it has justly been named the world's wonder-working medicine.

The desperate case of Mrs. Elizabeth King, Cedar Hill, Victoria, B.C., is one that is well known to hundreds in the city of Victoria and vicinity. For almost a lifetime Mrs. King endured the variable agonies of rheumatism, and failed to find a cure by the aid of doctors and patent medicines.

A friend, knowing personally the value of Paine's Celery Compound and its power to overcome the worst cases of rheumatism, advised Mrs. King to give it a trial. The afflicted lady complied with her friend's request, and was delivered from her life of torture, and now, with a heart full of joy and thankfulness, makes a public statement for the benefit of the thousands that have not yet found a cure; she says:

"I have been troubled with rheumatism all my life, and about eight years ago I had a very severe attack, almost losing the use of my right arm. A friend recommended Paine's Celery Compound, and kindly gave me a bottle. I was so much benefitted by that one bottle that I took three more, and was quite cured. Since then it has been almost my only medicine for all the ailments from which I have suffered, and all my family have found some benefit from it. I am sixty-five years of age; I live on a farm, get up early in the morning, and am equal to a good day's work."

Wouldn't Pray for the Prince.

In every service of the Church of England the royal family is prayed for, the Queen and Prince of Wales being especially mentioned. It is related that a little English girl, after long cogitation, asked her mother why the prince was excluded from the prayers. "He isn't," said the mother. "Yes, he is," persisted the child. "The minister always says: 'All but Edward Prince of Wales.' The mother laughed heartily, and had some trouble in explaining that the clergyman's pronunciation was to blame. He said: "Awlbert Edward Prince of Wales."

A Potato Story.

Mr. R. W. Wood, Grand Trunk station agent at Bainsville, is to the front with the champion potato story of the season. In the spring Mr. Wood planted a North King potato. It was a very large tuber, weighing fully two pounds, and the numerous eyes were separated and planted about two feet apart. The plants were carefully tended and during the dry season watered daily. This fall when the product of this one potato were dug they weighed 180½ pounds, or a little over three bushels. Several of the potatoes weighed over two pounds. The planting and also the digging was witnessed by several reliable parties.

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE.

Some Odd Circumstances Connected With It—A Narrow Escape.

The brigade was called to Patterson street at a quarter to five this morning, but the flames, which were in the residence of Mr. Lockett, were under control before the arrival of the firemen.

A very odd circumstance connected with the fire is that it was discovered smouldering in the mattress of the bed in which Mrs. Lockett was asleep, and she was rescued with difficulty, being almost unconscious through the effects of the smoke.

Another strange incident exists in the fact that when the family hurried down stairs they found one of the windows raised and a quantity of eatables on the table, which had not been left there when the family retired.

The fire was confined to the one bedroom and was easily quenched without the necessity of turning on the water.

A SMITH WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Laura Darling and Mr. Sidney Blewett on Wednesday.

A most interesting event took place at the residence of Mr. Richard Darling, fourth line Smith, on Wednesday afternoon last, when his second daughter, Miss Laura, was united in marriage to Mr. Sidney Blewett, of Communication line.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. McLeod, of Gilmour Memorial church, and the bride, who was becomingly costumed in brown tweed, was given away by her father. Her cousin, Miss Laura Ballechem, of town, was the bridesmaid and the groom was assisted by Mr. James Blewett, of Selwyn.

The large wedding party partook of a most inviting dejeuner during the evening.

LAST EVENING'S ASSEMBLY.

It Proved to be a Brilliant Success—Over 200 Guests Invited.

The assembly which was given at the Huffman House last evening by the gentlemen boarders was attended with great success and passed off in a manner which certainly reflected credit on the management, and as this was but the first of a series to be given during the winter, it is expected that a great deal of pleasure will result before the close of the season.

The patronesses were Mrs. H. C. Rogers, Mrs. W. J. Sherwood, Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, Mrs. R. W. Grubbe, Mrs. Charles McGill and Mrs. T. A. S. Hay. The committee of management was composed of Messrs. Pope, Cluxton and Kerr.

Refreshments were served during the evening and the ball room was very tastefully decorated for the occasion. There were about two hundred guests invited.

THE SKATING AND CURLING RINK COMPANY.

The Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Skating and Curling Rink Company was held last evening in the rink parlours, and it is understood a very satisfactory statement was presented by the Secretary-Treasurer.

The officers and directors of last year were unanimously re-elected as follows:

President—W. G. Ferguson.
Secretary-Treasurer—John Crane.
Directors—W. G. Ferguson, Adam Hall, C. McGill, R. P. Boucher, M.D., and R. S. Davidson.

SALVATION ARMY SELF-DENIAL.

To Raise Funds for Rescue Work—The Record of the Army for the Past Year.

A paragraph appeared in Friday's Examiner announcing that from Nov. 22 to 28 would be the self-denial week of the Salvation Army, the purpose being to raise funds for the special work of the Army, especially the rescue work. The social operations have greatly developed during the past year, and there is need for an increase of funds. The work of rescue is a noble one, and has therefore a strong claim of Christian sympathy. The funds gained by the week of self-denial are devoted to the propagation of no doctrine or dogma, but to the rescue of fallen women, to the feeding and housing of the hungry and the shelter of homeless children in Army homes. In this connection the results of the social work of the Army for 1895 will be interest :—

Fallen women taken to Homes, 548; number of these satisfactory, 498; unsatisfactory, only 50.
Meals supplied to poor men, 169,427.
Beds supplied to poor men, 75,515.
Poor men found employment, 4,650.
Numbers of homeless children have been sheltered in Army Homes.
The army also at this present time are sheltering many of the exiled Armenians.

DIPLOMAS RECEIVED.

FIRE BRIGADE BAND SUIT SETTLED.

Claim Paid in Full—Each Party to Pay its Own Costs.

The suit brought in the Division Court by the Fire Brigade Band to recover $100 for services rendered on the occasion of the annual exhibition, was concluded today. The Agricultural Society had paid $80 into court, and the action was really to recover the $20 balance claimed.

After a large number of witnesses had been examined a settlement was arrived at by which the Agricultural Society agrees to pay the claim in full, each party to pay its own costs. Mr. R. M. Dennistoun appeared for the Band and Mr. W.H. Moore for the Society.

LAST OF THE SEASON.

A Wheeling Trip to Lakefield and a Venison Supper.

A number of wheelmen took advantage of what will probably be the last opportunity this year for a spin, and rode out to Lakefield yesterday afternoon.

The air was bracing, though not cold, and better weather for wheeling could not be desired. The roads were rutty in places, but the run was easily made in thirty-five minutes. Arrived in Lakefield the party participated in a venison supper at Mr. Bob. Munro's and came home by moonlight, when every rut in the road could be as clearly seen as in the day time. Several other parties rode out during the evening and were treated to something in the way of a novelty at Mr. John Craig's, where Mr. Will Sanderson kindly consented to give an exhibition of his kicking powers. Will is over 40 years of age but is as straight as a rush and stands 6 feet 2½ inches in his stockings. Without in any way exerting himself he can easily kick the top of the highest doorway in the Craig House, either frontwards or backwards.

THE INSTITUTE LITERARY SOCIETY.

An Important Decision—Women Have no Right to Vote in Dominion Elections—A Good Programme Presented.

The fifth regular meeting of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute Literary Society was held Nov. 20th, with the vice-president, Mr. J. W. Kelly, in the chair.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mr. S. Smithson and Mr. J. Fessenden were elected assistant editors for the ensuing month.

The following programme was then rendered :

Selection..... Glee Club
Instrumental solo..... Miss Kendry
Journal..... Editor
Duet, guitar and mouthorgan..Messrs. Davidson and Sisson
Debate—Resolved "That women have a right to vote in the Dominion elections."

The affirmative was sustained by Miss Weir and Miss Yenny; the negative by Mr. Smithson and Mr. F. Beer. The judges Miss English, Mr. Grey and Mr. Turner decided in favour of the negative.

During the absence of the judges the critic's report was given by Miss Judge.

Another selection was then given by the Glee Club, after which the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

THE THANKSGIVING MARKET.

An Enormous Number of Turkeys Brought in To-day.

The market to-day was not as large as that of last Saturday, which fact is doubtless to be accounted for through the fear of the farmers that, although it would be easy enough getting in to Peterborough, return journey would not be accomplished with the same facility. That there was strong grounds for the suspicions is shown by the heavy fall of snow.

An unprecedented number of turkeys were brought in, but the price of the smaller ones only went down to fifty cents and the owners of the larger birds held off for $1. The proximity of Thanksgiving probably led to the marketing of such a quantity of fowl. Chickens brought 30 and 40c, geese from 50 to 65c, and ducks averaged between 60 and 75c per pair. Eggs were rather scarce at 15 and 17c, but there was plenty of butter at from 18 to 20 cents.

PERSONAL

Rev. J. J. Rae lectured in Grafton last night.

Mr. John Lang, M. P., was in town today.

Miss Laura Haselip, of Monaghan, has been the guest this week of Mrs. Hamill.

Sir MacKenzie Bowell is talked of in the Belleville press as that city's mayor for 1897.

Mr. Anson Cartwright, of Belleville, is renewing old acquaintances in Peterborough.

Mr. Thomas Telford, who has been seriously ill, is, it is a pleasure to say, on the way to recovery.

Mrs. Frank Foster, of Toronto, is spending a few days in town with her nephew, Mr. Ed. Brown.

Rev. W. R. Young is on a missionary tour in the north country, and will not return home until Tuesday.

Mrs. B. A. Jackson has closed her residence for the winter, and with her sister left to-day for Clay Centre, Kansas, where she will remain until spring.

Rev. E. Roberts, ex-president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, and pastor of the Belleville Tabernacle Methodist church, accepted a call to Brighton.

The Port Hope Guide says: Mr. George Edwards, of Denver, Col., was in town today. He is the editor of one of Denver's newspapers. He went north to Peterborough.

Mr. E. Skitch, Campbellford, District Councillor Royal Templars, is in town today arranging for an address and entertainment in connection with the society on Thanksgiving day.

Dr. W. George Beers, of Montreal, editor of the Dental Journal, and one of the most prominent dentists in Canada, was in town to-day calling up the local members of the profession,

The following paragraph has been taken from the Colton Chronicle California. The Mr. Rose referred to is a member of the firm of Wilcox & Rose, hardware merchants of that city, and a brother of Dr. Rose, of Peterborough :—"Edward H. Rose, the enterprising hardware man, has returned from Honolulu. When Edward temporarily deprived the town of the privilege of enjoying the manifold charms of his presence, we did not expect him to resume himself in these parts before Christmas. But he snuffed the Thanksgiving turkey from afar across the rolling seas and returned this week and those who have been pining under his banishment need pine no more. A significant coincidence of his visit to the Island was the pardon of the Queen Lilliokilani and her restoration to citizenship. If this was due to Ed's diplomacy his visit will mark an era in that Island and will no doubt prove a strong bond of affection between Colton and the sea-girt Isle. We are glad to welcome him back in fine health."

ARRESTED FOR HORSE STEALING.

Alva and Charles Hawley Appropriated a Horse to Enable them to Reach Home.

Special to the Examiner.

Rochester, Nov. 21st.—Alva and Charles Hawley, the young men who stole a horse and wagon last Tuesday morning and drove to Canada for the purpose of getting to their father in Peterborough, were arrested at St. Catharines. They appear to be very repentant. They say they knew no other way to reach their father as they had no money. They drove to Suspension Bridge and the officer permitted them to cross over the bridge without paying any tolls. The boys had been working for Abraham Puffer, of Parma. Their mother lives in this city, and they will be taken before Justice Breese, of Spencerport. Deputy Sheriff O. E. Nichols, who went after them, induced them to return to this country without resorting to legal proceedings. They were both brought back to this city yesterday afternoon and lodged in the county gaol for examination Monday. The lads were known among their associates as Edward and Frederick. Their right names, as given above. Alva is 19 years old, and Charles 17.

ANNA EVA FAY'S CABINET TRICKS.

A FEW OF THE MANIFESTATIONS EXPLAINED.

It is Just as Easy as Rolling off a Log When You Know How the Trick is Done, He Says.

Mr. R. M. Roy, is the white-headed Mahatama of the non-occult. He takes special delight in causing trouble to all the spirits of the past and present who preside over the mysterious "manifestations" of cabinet seances, and throw banjos and tambourines into the air, much to the mystification of a befuddled public. "Bob" used to be a medium himself, but he has seen the error of his ways and now he is telling the people how they are deceived.

"You can be a somnomatic mind reader yourself," said Mr. Roy the other day, "if you only know the way to do the the trick. It is just as easy as rolling off a log when you know how the thing is done. If you have ever seen a medium do this trick at a public performance you will remember that the assistants first distribute among the audience what they call slips of paper. These slips are in reality pads of strawboard or cardboard. The face is a small sheet of clean paper. Beneath this paper is a sheet of carbon paper slightly smaller than the top sheet, and below the carbon is another piece of paper.

"They are not difficult to make. All the materials necessary is strawboard, carbon sheets, strawpaper and ordinary writing paper. In manufacturing the pads the strawboard is cut the desired size. A sheet of ordinary paper cut slightly smaller than the pad is laid on it and over this paper is placed a sheet of carbon. Now comes the only difficult part of the work. The carbon must be concealed and the pad made to look like a solid piece of strawboard. For this purpose the strawpaper of exactly the same shade as the board is employed. It is cut the same size and carefully pasted around the edge, so as not to leave the slightest wrinkle to betray the trick.

"In a large audience several hundred of these pads are used every night. Both sides are loaded with the carbon paper, so that two or more questions can be obtained on each pad. The most difficult part in somnomancy is played by the assistants who obtain the questions from the audience. They are provided with a number of loaded or "fake" pads, and also with a few "straight" ones which are pieces of cardboard not prepared with the carbon. These are for suspicious people who may wish to investigate by cutting or tearing the pad. It is for this class of skeptics the assistants are constantly watching.

"The assistants who travel with a performing medium are all adepts in legerdemain. Their dress coats are provided with capacious pockets in which the written pads are deftly slipped as soon as they have been collected. From the pockets at the same time are taken other pads, so that, to the eye of the audience, it appears that the assistant always has in his hands the pads collected from the audience. The mind-reading trick is usually the last upon the programme. When Miss Fay appeared here her somnolence act was preceded by an entertainment given by a mimic and impersonator. It was explained that this gentleman was introduced to entertain the audience and give the medium an opportunity to rest herself in preparation for the severe test to which she was about to be subjected. That is a good scheme, for the assistant performer generally puts the audience into good humor.

"While he is on the stage the audience for the moment loses track of the writing pads. A bunch of those, presumably those written by the audience, is very carelessly thrown down in front of the stage by the chief assistant, who the withdraws, as he says, to see that the medium is resting.

"As soon as the assistant gets behind the scenes, he slices off the tops of the pads with a knife, takes off the carbon sheets and exposes the copies of the questions on the sheets beneath. He then copies the questions for the medium on small cards, putting the name of the questioner first. The cards are numbered consecutively. An answer is prepared for each question and written on the card. In a town like this a local man is usually provided by the theatre management to give points on local questions.

"The cards being prepared, the medium conceals them on her person, and the assistant returns to the audience with the top sheets of the pads. He picks up the bunch of pads he had left in fron of the audience and then it is an easy matter to do the rest.

"Sometimes the medium is covered with a sheet, or better, a flag, as well as being blindfolded. She has her cards in her hand, and the light from the footlights is usually strong enough to enable her to read them. She calls out, 'I see, or I hear, the name of Smith—John Smith.' 'What does Mr. Smith want?' the assistant asks.

"He asks something about a business enterprise, says the medium. 'Shall I be successful. I think it is, in the new summer-enterprise? Yes, Mr. Smith, you will be.'

"The assistant triumphantly holds up a pad covered with Smith's original writing, and, after reading it, asks Smith if that was his question. The nonplussed Smith arises, bows his acknowledgments and a murmur of wonder runs through the audience. The rest of the questions are drawn out by the spirits in the same way.

"Sometimes the medium is not covered, and she holds her head high in the air, as if looking far out into the spiritland. Her head rests upon the back of her chair. Close to her ear is a small opening. This is the end of a tube which runs through the chair, down a rear leg into a room beneath the stage, where an assistant whispers to the medium the questions and answers.' When the trick is done this way the stage is usually darkened.

"All the people engaged in these affairs are of course very accurate and skilful. A single blunder would upset the whole thing and the spirits would not then be in good mood.

"The manifestations that seem the most wonderful are frequently the simplest. When Miss Fay was here a committee from the audience tied her feet together, tied her hands behind her back and fastened them to a staple hammered into an upright board. They also tied a cloth around her neck, this cloth also being fastened to a staple. Then the cabinet was closed and the ringing of bells and the thrumming of banjos commenced immediately. When the curtain was whisked back there was the medium, fastened just as she had at first. How could she have wrung the bell or touched the banjos? The spirits must have moved them. Of course.

"Now, let me tell you something. If you are ever one of a committee at the performance of a medium who undertakes that trick, either insist on hammering a staple of your own into the board or else tie the bandages that hold her hand and head around the board itself. The staple is the little joker.

"It seems to be a common eye-bolt and ring, such as one may buy anywhere for 5 cents. It passes inspection among the audience and committee, and seems as solid as a chunk of steel. These simple eye bolts are ingenious mechanical devices made by Themplemann, of Chicago. They cost $10 each. The ring which hangs from the eye-bolt is usually bound tightly with cloth. The bandages around the wrists and neck of the medium are fastened not to the eye-bolt itself, but to this ring. At a point near the juncture of the screw and the eye-bolt there is an invisible spring back which, when pressed at a certain angle, opens the eye-bolt and releases the ring to which the medium is tied.

"When the cabinet is closed the medium switches the ring around the eye-bolt until the proper spot is reached, presses the spring and—presto, she is freed from the post. Any slight-of-hand performer can release her hand from a wrist bandage, and the playing of the spirit-worked banjos is thus made easy. With the neck free from the post, the medium may bend down to the table in the cabinet and seize a harmonica between her teeth. The cloth around the ring deadens any sound that may be made by the spring, in the eye-bolt. The ring is so fastened that when released it does not fall down. It remains rigid. Thus it is easy for the performer to throw her head back to the post and snap the ring into place again. It is a pretty trick, and needs an adept for its successful performance.

"The writing from the box is done in the same way. The medium is tied to the staple in the post, releases one hand or both from the wrist bandages and knocks off instruments placed in front of her. You must not suppose that these things can be done in a day or by any one. It requires years of practice for one to become expert in sleight-of-hand. Ask Hermann. He knows.

TERMS OF SETTLEMENT OF THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

THE RESULTS OF A CONCILIATORY POLICY.

National Character of Schools Preserved — Facilities for Religious Teaching — Employment of Roman Catholic Teachers.

The following is the text of the official statement, given out by Mr. Laurier, of the terms of settlement of the Manitoba school question as agreed upon by the Governments of the Province of Manitoba and the Dominion of Canada:

1. Legislation shall be introduced and passed at the next regular session of the legislature of Manitoba embodying the provisions hereinafter set forth in amendment to the Public Schools Act for the purpose of settling the educational questions that have been in dispute in that province.

2. Religious teaching to be conducted as hereinafter provided (1) if authorized by a resolution passed by a majority of the school trustees, or, (2) if a petition be presented to the Board of School Trustees asking for religious teaching and signed by the parents or guardians of at least ten children attending the school in the case of a rural district; or by the parents or guardians of at least twenty-five children attending a school in a city, town or village.

3. Such religious teaching to take place between the hours of 3.30 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and to be conducted by any Christian clergyman whose charge includes any portion of the school district, or by a person duly authorized by such clergyman or by a teacher when so authorized.

4. Where so specified in such resolution of the trustees, or where so required by the petition of the parents or guardians, religious teaching during the prescribed period may take place only on certain specified days of the week instead of on every teaching day.

5. In any school in towns and cities where the average attendance of Roman Catholic children is forty or upwards, and in villages or in rural districts where the average attendance of such children is twenty-five or upwards, the trustees shall, if required by the petition of the parents or guardians of such number of Roman Catholic children respectively, employ at least one duly certificated Roman Catholic teacher in such school.

In any school in towns and cities where the average attendance of non-Roman Catholic children is forty or upwards, and in villages and rural districts where the average attendance of such children is twenty-five or upwards, the trustees shall, if required by the petition of parents or guardians of such children, employ at least one duly certificated non-Roman Catholic teacher.

6. Whereas religious teaching is required to be carried on in any school in pursuance of the foregoing provisions, and there are Roman Catholic children and non-Roman Catholic children attending such school, and the school room accommodation does not permit of the pupils being placed in separate rooms for the purpose of religious teaching, provision shall be made by regulations of the Department of Education (which regulations the Board of School Trustees shall observe) whereby the same allotter for religious teaching shall be divided in such a way that religious teaching of the Roman Catholic children shall be carried on during the prescribed period on one half of the teaching days in each month, and the religious teaching of the non-Roman Catholic children may be carried on during the prescribed period on one-half of the teaching days in each month.

7. The Department of Education shall have the power to make regulations not inconsistant with the principles of this act for the carrying into effect the provisions of this act.

8. No separation of the pupils by religious denomination shall take place during the secular school work.

9. Where the school room accommodation at the disposal of the trustees permits, instead of allotting different days of the week to the different denominations for the purpose of religious teaching, the pupils may be separated when the hour for religious teaching arrives, and placed in separate rooms.

10. Where ten of the pupils in any such school speak the French language (or any laguage other than English), as their native language, the teaching of such pupils shall be conducted in French (or such other language) and English upon the bi-lingual system.

11. No pupils to be permitted to be present at any religious teaching unless the parents or guardians of such pupils desire it. In case the parents or guardians do not desire the attendance of the pupils at such religious teaching then the pupils shall be dismissed before the exercises or shall remain in another room.

Retiring from Business

Stock to be Closed Out

Every dollar's worth of goods to be turned into cash by January 1st,

Our senior partner, after a successful career of over 45 years, has decided to retire from business at the end of the year. In order to effect an adjustment of the partnership now existing, it is absolutely necessary to reduce the stock to the lowest point possible by that time.

The quickest way to reduce stock is to sacrifice profits; even more, to cut prices down, down, down. This has been done, and done thoroughly. It will pay you to visit Toronto and visit this store between now and Xmas; you will be surprised to see how much you can get for a little money. If you cannot come, write. Write for samples, information—anything. Space is limited; we cannot quote prices in this space. We are bound to get the stock down. If goods don't go quick at this week's prices, then down they go again. Remember assortments will be gradually getting broken. Don't delay too long.

All questions cheerfully answered. Letters or orders received before 1 o'clock answered same day.

Nervous Prostration
Complete Recovery by the Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. Hinson, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

CROOKS BOUND TO GET IT.

A Peculiar Series of Thefts of a Young Man's Money Deposited in a Hotel Safe at Napanee.

Napanee, Ont., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—The authorities have caused the arrest of the one-armed man, Ross, who confessed to the theft of over $300 on Monday night from the safe of the Paisley House, and who repaid the money and was allowed to go. The arrest was made at Millbrook and County Constable Sills is on his way to Millbrook with a warrant for Ross' arrest. Ross lives in Cobourg.

Mr. Douglass, the proprietor of the Paisley House, did not have the money recovered from Ross in his possession long. It seems the crooks were bound to have it. Douglas placed the money in the safe and afterwards it got into the hands of Douglass' bartender, Mike McCarney. The money, $330, belonged to Giles O. B. E. Van Blaricom of Deseronto, whose father died about eight years ago, leaving his children $800 apiece. Giles was the youngest son and came in for his money in April last. He received $700, and it has been flying freely since then, although he has been working in a factory in Deseronto. The $330 represents all that is left of the money received in April. He arrived in town on Sunday and after depositing his money at the Paisley House went out to do the town. He was told on Monday night that Ross had taken his money and he went home to Deseronto on Tuesday. He got word to come for the money, but McCarney put him off when he asked for it, and on Wednesday, too, McCarney told Douglass he had paid Van Blaricom. John O'Neill and Mac Miller, two notorious crooks from Kingston, arrived in town on Wednesday afternoon and about dark, accosting McCarney and Van Blaricom, accused them of stealing $330, and McCarney handed over the money to O'Neill. The crooks then took the other two towards the lock-up, and then told Van Blaricom it was a dirty place, and if he would sign a receipt for the money and promise to appear before a magistrate in the morning they would give him $20 to pay his expenses, and he could stay at a hotel for the night and they would write to his mother. Van Blaricom signed the receipt, got the money and the crooks left him. O'Neill transferred the money to Miller. Shortly afterwards Van Blaricom got over his fright and went with Chief Constable Storms to the Police Magistrate, who saw Douglass and told him to take steps to get the money, as he was responsible. Douglass hurried to the station in a rig, found Miller in the caboose of a freight, and Yardman Richardson held the train. Miller was asked to go down to the Paisley House, but went to McCarney's house, where he was surrounded and then he went to the Paisley House, where he handed Constable Hinff $150, saying he got it from McCarney to give to Douglass. Then he was arrested. McCarney was arrested this morning. Miller had $400 on him when arrested. Both of them have been remanded for eight days. O'Neill is at large. He is said to have a record of previous convictions and Miller has a bad reputation. Van Blaricom is held as a witness.

Ross Wanted at Cobourg.

Port Hope, Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Beverley Ross, the one-armed man mentioned in the Napanee despatch to The World yesterday, and who was arrested in Millbrook, is also wanted in Cobourg for stealing an overcoat. He was on the westbound G.T.R. passenger train at Cobourg at 6.30 p.m. on Wednesday, and quietly walked off with a $35 overcoat, which had been left on the seat by a gentleman who had got off for a lunch. Ross walked up here during the night, but was seen by a brakeman with the coat on his arm. He took the early morning train from here for Millbrook to-day. Ross is well connected.

Sheffield Master Cutlers at the Festive Board.

SIR DONALD SMITH WITH THEM.

The High Commissioner Speaks of the Development of the Colonies—Death of Mrs. Scott Siddons—Thirty German Miners Killed—Jameson Undergoes an Operation.

Sheffield, Nov. 19.—The annual banquet of the Master Cutlers' Association was held here to-night. Among the speakers was Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, Government leader in the House of Commons, who spoke on commercial topics, not touching upon party politics.

Sir Donald Smith, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, responded to the toast "The Colonies." He cited statistics showing the development of the colonies, and predicted their forward progress would be greater in a very few years, while at the same time, he said, he hoped their relations with the mother country would grow closer. Sir Donald advocated the establishment of commercial relations as pronounced by the recent Inter-Colonial Conference at Ottawa.

THIRTY MINERS KILLED.

A Disastrous Explosion of Firedamp in a German Colliery.

New York, Nov. 19.—A despatch from Berlin says: A fire damp explosion has occurred in a colliery at Recklinghausen, Westphalia. Twenty-five bodies have been recovered, and forty or fifty men are known to be still entombed.

Later.—All but five of the entombed miners were finally rescued. It is estimated that about 30 were killed.

DEATH OF MRS. SCOTT SIDDONS.

The Famous Elocutionist and Actress, So Well Known in Canada.

Paris, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Scott-Siddons, the celebrated actress, died here to-day.

Mrs. Mary Frances Scott-Siddons was a daughter of Capt. William Siddons, who was a grandson of the actress, Mrs. Sarah Siddons. She married Lieut. Scott, a British naval officer, in 1884, and two years later made her first appearance on the stage in Edinburgh as Juliet. In 1887 she gave readings from Shakespeare in London, and appeared at the Haymarket as Rosalind. In 1888 she gave readings in New York and acted at the Fifth-avenue Theatre. Since that time she has performed in most of the cities of the United States, Canada, Australia and England, appearing mainly in Shakespearean characters, and also as Pauline in "The Lady of Lyons," and as Coralie in "Ordeal by Touch," written for her by Richard Lee.

Mrs Merritt's Funeral.

London, Nov. 19.—The body of Mrs. Alma Merritt, wife of George W. Jameson Under the Surgeon's Knife.

London, Nov. 19.—Dr. Jameson, the leader of the Transvaal raid, who is now confined in Holloway Prison, underwent a surgical operation to-day for the relief of a painful malady, from which he has long been a sufferer.

When they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. Is it not equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor enough. He suffers much, gets little sympathy. At first, perhaps a little heaviness in the stomach, a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn; headaches and biliousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and means that the body is holding poisonous, impure matter that should be gotten rid of. The poison is being reabsorbed into the blood and the whole body. Impurity in the blood may lead to almost any disease. Constipation is the start of it all. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, cure it so it stays cured. No other remedy in the world will do that.

Tobacco Heart

Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, and tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc., are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are true heart and nerve food.

To destroy worms and expel them from children or adults use Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

HYPNOTIZED A PRINCESS.

Artist With Whom Don Carlos' Daughter Eloped is an Ugly Cripple With a Demoniacal Influence Over Her.

Berlin, Nov. 19.—The Berlin police were informed that Don Carlos' daughter, Elvira, who eloped with the penniless artist, Filippo Folchi, from Rome, was hiding in Berlin, but the clue was false. The lovers are probably still in Southern France.

Elvira is not pretty, but has a beautiful figure. Her young stepmother's cruelty and haughtiness drove the Princess from home.

Folchi is an ugly cripple. He exercises a demon-like influence over the Princess.

HEART RELIEF.

Eight Years' Hanging Between Life and Death With Acute Heart Disease—And in 30 Minutes After Taking First Dose of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, Relief Comes—What it did for Alfred Couldry, West Shefford, Que., it Can do for Any Sufferer From the Same Cause.

"I had been suffering from acute heart trouble for over four years. When doctors had tried, and failed to give me relief, I procured Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. In thirty minutes after the first dose I had relief, and although mine was a case of long standing, eight bottles effected a permanent cure, and I firmly believe, after knowing what it has done for me, that there is no hopeless case while this great cure is to be had. I cheerfully sanction the use of my testimony in whatever way it may do the best good." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

For depression of spirits, nervousness and general weakness, Miller's Compound Iron Pills are a sure cure. 50 doses, 25 cents. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10½ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000,00 a year.

A woman's looking-glass does not lie to her. If she looks carefully and owns the truth to herself, she will acknowledge that it shows to her, as it shows to others, a face full of the ugliness of suffering and pain. If a woman wants her mirror to reflect a pain-free face she should take proper care of her womanly self. She should see that the organs that are distinctly feminine are kept free from weakness and disease. By this means only can a woman remain fresh-looking and attractive.

Women may erase from their faces the lines of suffering by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Over 90,000 women have testified in writing to its marvelous merits. It acts directly on the womanly organs. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, and calms and steadies and invigorates the pain-racked nerves. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period. It insures baby's health and makes its advent easy and almost painless. All good druggists sell it.

"I am going to write and tell you the benefits I have received from taking your medicines," writes Mrs. J. B. Clough, Box 203, Lisbon, Grafton Co., N. Hampshire. "I am the mother of a nice baby four and a half months old. He is a perfect child and weighs about eighteen pounds. If you remember I wrote you about a year ago about my condition. I cannot give too much praise to your 'Favorite Prescription' as it saved me a great deal of suffering. I got along remarkably well, this being my first baby."

"Knowledge is power." In a thorough knowledge of the human body lies the power that will at last stamp out weakness of the body and mediocrity of mentality. Dr. Pierce has taken a long look into the future through his "Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is full of just such knowledge as will do the family the most good. This book of over 1000 pages and finely illustrated has had an unprecedented sale. About 700,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 per volume. Now it can be had in paper covers for 21 cents in one-cent stamps. In fine cloth for 50 stamps, customs and postage pre-paid. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A MODERN FLAVOR.

Has Thanksgiving Observance Degenerated, After All?

It seems to be generally held that the "first Thanksgiving" came after the first bountiful harvest by the pilgrims and was chiefly a religious feast, and this is true enough, but this "first Thanksgiving" was not the only one. It took place in 1623, and while all who took part were seemly and devout in their demeanor there was probably no lack of hilarity and honest, hearty laughter. In this it was probably more like the modern city Thanksgiving observance than some rural Thanksgiving doings of the middle of this century and later. In another matter it resembled the modern day—it was marked by what must have been very like athletic sports, for the account of the day by Mr. Winslow, one of the pilgrim fathers, says:

"Among other recreations we exercised our arms, many of the Indians coming among us, and with the rest their greatest king, Massasoit, with some 90 men, whom for three days we entertained and feasted."

Now for the other first Thanksgiving. It was held in 1798 in New York city and was the first observance of the holiday by the national authorities. In the course of the day a dinner was eaten at Fraunce's tavern, at which a number of patriots got shamefully drunk and had a free fight, in which an officer's nose was broken. After that they had so disgraceful a quarrel about a turkey that Hamilton swore, and when Washington heard about it he swore twice.

If this be true, and it seems so to be, then our forefathers were quite as human as the rest of us.

Before Starting.

Mrs. Coopah—Whah' fo' yoh take dat gun, Mr. Coopah? Yoh doan' want no gun to get a Thanksgiving turkey?

Mr. Coopah—Yes, indeed I does, honey. It doan' look so suspishualike w'en I bring um home as I go by Rev. Enos Jones' house.

One Man's Memories.

It's all right to say that the old time Thanksgiving dinners were the best ever eaten and that the features of the day's celebration when we were boys incomparably better than the football and other games that are chief features now. But if you were a country boy 30 or 40 years ago you might remember some peculiarities of the day as then observed that might have been pleasanter. For instance, the sermons which I used to have to attend were tremendously long drawn out and exceedingly dreary efforts, and I used to sit in agony through the hour and sometimes hour and a half consumed in their delivery. Then the dinner. It was a big one at my father's house, and it took days and days to get ready for it. But during all this time of preparation my life was a burden. All the women folks were rushed with work and therefore cross and "touchy," and when I was not kept busy helping them I was being shooed out of the way, so that I should not interfere with the progress of affairs. So many persons were asked to the dinner that we children had to wait invariably, and there were always six or seven of us.

Now, my father was the chief deacon of his church, and the minister's boy was always one of the children who "waited." He was such a mean little chap that we never got on well together while our elders ate, and I generally had to box his ears. Once I "licked him good," and then my father, the deacon, licked me better—so well that I couldn't sit down to eat the cold dinner when it came time. Moreover, I was always so hungry when at last it came time to eat that I gorged myself terribly with the cold food, and my dreams those nights would be awful. I remember that one year, having great faith in the efficacy of prayer, I prayed that next year everybody might forget all about Thanksgiving. When the day was remembered and observed as usual next year, my faith received a great shock, which lasted till I remembered that faith to be effectual must be held by the righteous, and this I knew I was not.

Turkey Always In Evidence.

Gradually the observance of the holiday has spread, until now the day is kept from Maine to California. It has not detracted from the due keeping of Christmas day in the south nor has it interfered with the observance of New Year's day in New York. It has become to the American what Christmas day is to the Englishman and something more. Widely scattered members of families endeavor to be present in order to eat their Thanksgiving dinner under the old rooftree. The turkey, which Franklin wished to make the national emblem in place of the eagle, is always in evidence on Thanksgiving day.

An Aching Void.

Doctor—There, my good man, is something to give you an appetite for your Thanksgiving dinner.

Patient—Yes, but doctor, can't you give me a dinner to go with the appetite?

Catarrh is a constitutional disease and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood.

Let Us Give Thanks.

That is an impoverished soul which cannot on Thanksgiving day lift itself up in praise. This is the festival of households and the festival of commonwealths. Has not God been good to our homes and good to our commonwealths? Then, let us be glad before him and bless his name.

Think of God's mercy to our homes. Are our families unbroken? Are we glad in the love of dear ones left to us? Let us give thanks to the God of households.

Think of God's mercy to our land. Have we been spared the pangs of war, famine and pestilence? Have our fields given rich harvests? Let us give thanks to the God of nations.—Independent.

Thanksgiving In 1771.

In 1771, long before which time Thanksgiving had become an annual custom in New England, the customary Thanksgiving proclamation of Governor Hutchinson met with a very cold reception. The spirit of independence was abroad, and patriotic Americans could find little to be thankful for under the British yoke. Most of the Boston ministers absolutely refused to read the proclamation to their congregations, and several in the country also declined.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Inappropriate Dishes.

Mince pie and plum pudding, wrapped in blue flames, find places on some tables. Really they do not belong there. By right they should be relegated to Christmas, with the fruit cake just a year old, for if there is a New England dish it is the golden pumpkin pie.—Exchange.

You may eat cheap food and not be seriously hurt by it; but you cannot take cheap medicines without positive injury. If you use any substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, you do so at the peril of your health, perhaps of your life. Insist on having Ayer's, and no other.

Facts About Blue-Eyed Cats.

It is a curious fact that blue-eyed cats are invariably deaf. Mr. J. Harrison Weir, a great authority on the cat, once bought a big, white, blue-eyed beauty, which seemed to be every inch a good cat, except that its vocal organ was of such robust power that her cries drove the household frantic. After some strange experiences the problem was solved by this voiceful specimen being taken home by a kind old lady, who was herself stone deaf.

COUGHS and COLDS

In a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

W. C. McCombe & Son, Bouchette, Que., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Gareau of a bronic cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. C. McCombe of a long-standing cold.

Mr. J. H. Hutty, Chemist, 348 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough cure I have found Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefits derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

MUST BE DISSOLVED.

Kidney Disease Can Only be Cured by a Remedy Which is in Liquid Form —Common Sense of Science.

For a disordered stomach or sick headache, pills and powders are not without effect, but when these same remedies are said to cure kidney disease the common sense of science rebukes the claim. This insidious and growing disease was not to be driven from the system unless a medicine is given that will dissolve the hard substance—uric acid and oxalate of lime—that give rise to the distress and pain that is common to all who suffer from kidney complaint. South American Kidney Cure is a kidney specific. It dissolves these hard substances, and while it dissolves it also heals. The Cures effected leave no question of its efficiency. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

AFTER TEN YEARS SUFFERING

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 29TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

CARLOAD JUST RECEIVED AT

ALEX. ELLIOTT'S

Palace Grocery. George Street. - Sole Agent for Peterborough

The following Advertisement written by V. Donoghue, aged 12 years, 326 Simcoe Street, Peterborough, has been entered in Fairweather & Co's Prize Advertisement Contest for Boys and Girls:—

OUT OF SIGHT!

What's "Out of Sight?"
People Ask, Why - -

Fairweather's Fine Furs

Of course, because they keep you warm in

"WINTER."

I.

Hark! Hark! the cutter bells,
Ah! what joy their music tells,
The little children yell and shout
But ah! 'tis sad they can't go out.

II.

We tell their mothers one and all
That if at Fairweather's they call,
They shall receive Furs good but cheap
Which well the children warmly keep.

III.

Then you may bring them to "OUR STORE."
To see our Furs and Hats galore,
And let them see our "REGISTER"
Which marks the amount bought by the purchaser.

IV.

You need not fear they will be cold
If they in our good Furs are rolled
So bring them to "OUR LOVELY STORE"
And buy our Furs and Hats e'er more.

V.

The "REGISTER" that we have got,
Marks on a ticket what is bought,
And when you buy you will receive,
A ticket for the "LOVELY WHEEL"

VI.

Some foolish people oft will say,
You can't take a spin on a wintery day,
Why, what's the odds if you are wrapped,
In FAIRWEATHER'S Coats and Caps.

VII.

Then if the lucky number you get,
You really shall not regret,
Because our Furs are "A REGULAR NEST,"
And because the WHEEL'S the very best.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

No. LXXVIIII.

Mr. John Morley on Popular Culture.

Having delivered himself of those opinions of the study of history, which formed the principal subject matter of last week's column, Mr. Morley proceeds to expatiate on the value of training the mind to the formation of sound opinions and judgments. We are called upon every day to form judgments in moral, political and practical affairs, but there are thousands of people who think that the formation of just opinions is not merely one of the easiest things in the world, but that it requires no training at all, but is a kind of natural endowment of humanity. This is more particularly true of religious judgments and opinions than which none are more difficult to form. To one who has ever remarked the extraordinary self-confidence of people in matters theological, it is by no means surprising that there are 340 religious denominations. "It sometimes seems, says Mr. Morley, "as if Swift was right when he said that mankind were just as fit for flying as for thinking."

Knowledge is worth but little until we have so made it our own that we can reproduce it in precise and definite form. I dare say many of us once or twice in our life time have met with men with a great knowledge of fact on a variety of subjects, who yet appear to be unable to turn their knowledge to account. The truth is facts are only the raw material of knowledge. They must be worked up in the factory of our own brains before we can turn them out as knowledge. "Nobody can be sure that he has got clear ideas on a subject unless he has tried to put them down on a piece of paper in independent words of his own." As examples of the pains those who are really desirous of mastering a subject, are prepared to take, Mr. Morley instances Gibbon and Daniel Webster, who after glancing over the title, subject or design of a book would take a pen and write roughly what questions they expected to find answered in it, what difficulties solved, what kind of information imparted." Another piece of advice, which probably few would have the perseverance to adopt, is, when you have read a good book, to sit down and write a short extract of what you can remember of it. We understand there is a branch of the National Home Reading Union in Peterborough, and we earnestly recommend those members whose eye these words may happen to meet, to make a careful analysis of at least one of the books they are called upon to read.

We said last week that Mr. Morley was distinguished for moral earnestness. In the following extract he touches a higher level than moral and glows with spiritual earnestness. "You may have often heard from others, or may have found out how good it is to have on your shelves, however scantily furnished they may be, three or four of those books to which it is well to give ten minutes every morning, before going down into the battle and choking dust of the day. Men will name these books for themselves. One will choose the Bible, another Goethe, one the Imitation of Christ, another Wordsworth. Perhaps, it matters little what it be so long as your writer has cheerful seriousness, elevation, calm and, above all, a sense of size and strength, which shall open out the day before you and bestow gifts of fortitude and mastery."

Mr. Morley utters two words of warning to readers. First, never to be content with mere aggressive and negatory criticism of the page before them. The page may be open to adverse criticism, but the reader will often find an unexpected profit by asking himself:—"What does this error teach me? How comes that fallacy to be here? How came the writer to fall into this defect of taste? To ask such questions gives a reader a far healthier tone of mind in the long run, more seriousness, more depth, more moderation of judgment, more insight into other men's ways of thinking as well as into his own, then any amount of impatient condemnation and hasty denial, even when both condemnation and denial may be in their place."

The second warning is not to be too ready to detect an inconsistency in an author. What appears to be a contradiction may be another side of the truth. Few great thinkers or speakers have escaped the charge of inconsistency. Language is but an imperfect medium of thought, and truth is very often concealed under a paradox. St. Paul tells us we are saved by faith, he also tells us we are saved by hope, and yet again he asserts that charity is greater than either of them.

Mr. Morley's conclusion of his address we must give in his own language. Addressing himself to the average man he says: "We cannot, like Beethoven and Handel, lift the soul by the magic of divine melody into the seventh heaven of ineffable vision and hope incommensurable; we cannot, like Newton, weigh the far off stars in a balance, and measure the heavings of the eternal flood; we cannot, like Voltaire, scorch up what is cruel and false by a word as a flame, nor, like Milton or Burke, awaken men's hearts with the note of an organ trumpet; we cannot, like the great saints of the churches and the great sages of the schools, add to those acquisitions of spiritual beauty and intellectual mastery which have, one by one, and little by little raised man from being no higher than the brute to be only a little lower than the angels. But what we can do—the humblest of us in this great hall—is by diligently using our own minds and diligently seeking to extend our own opportunities to others, to help swell the common tide, on the force and the set of whose currents depends the prosperous voyaging of humanity. When our names are blotted out, and our places know us no more, the energy of each social service will remain, and so too, let us not forget, will each social disservice remain, like the unending stream of one of nature's forces. The thought that this is so may well lighten the poor perplexities of our daily life, and even soothe the pangs of its calamities; it lifts us from our feet as on wings, opening a larger meaning to our private toil and a higher purpose to our public endeavour; it makes the morning as we awake to it welcome, and the evening like a soft garment as it wraps us about; it nerves our arm with boldness against oppression and injustice, and strengthens our voice with deeper accents against falsehood, while we are yet in the full noon of our days—yes, and perhaps it will shed some ray of consolation, when our eyes are growing dim to it all, and we go down into the Valley of the Dark Shadow."

A Wealth of Variety

Always Found in Diamond Dyes.

Are you looking for variety and beauty, for brilliancy and purity, for durability and fastness of colour? If you are, then use the Diamond Dyes that are specially prepared for home use.

Each colour of Diamond Dyes will give from three to eight beautiful and handsome shades, varying according to amount of goods dyed with the contents of package. There are, in all, only forty-eight colours, but by combining different dyes, they give over one hundred distinct colours and three hundred different shades.

Every package of Diamond Dyes is warranted, and will give perfect results if directions are followed. There are many imitations; avoid them if you are particular about good colours and the safety of your goods. The use of poor dyes means ruin of goods and loss of money.

WILL TEST THE CORUNDUM.

The Hart Emery Co., of Hamilton, have asked the Bureau of Mines, through the Crown Lands Department, to supply them with a sample of the corundum recently discovered in Carlow township, Hastings county. They propose to test it and compare it with the corundum found in North Carolina. Hon. Mr. Gibson, Commissioner of Crown Lands, has instructed Mr. W. W. Roach, manager of the Government diamond drill, to procure some hundreds of pounds of the mineral, part of which will be sent to the Hart Emery Company, while the balance will be retained by the Bureau of Mines for distribution among such others as may desire samples. Corundum is the raw material, so to speak, from which emery wheels, emery powder, paper and cloth are prepared.

Catarrh of Long Standing
Relieved in a Few Hours.

It is not alone the people of our own country, and prominent citizens like Urban Lippe, M.P., of Joliette, Que., and other members of Parliament, who, having used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, pronounce it the most effective remedy they have ever known, but people everywhere are expressing their gratification at the effectiveness of this medicine. C. G. Archer, of Brewer, Maine, says: "I have had catarrh for several years. Water would run from my eyes and nose days at a time. About four months ago I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and since using the wonderful remedy I have not had an attack. I would not be without it." It relieves in ten minutes. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

379 GEORGE STREET.

THE MANAGEMENT OF TOWN STREETS.

Peterborough Not the Only Place Improvement is Called For—The Slipshod Principle Apparently Prevails in Corporations Generally.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review, under the heading of an "Object Lesson," prints the following, much of which can be taken home by Peterborough with good results:

"Mr. McNichol, chairman of the Board of Works, is providing the town with a striking little object lesson. He is following up Mr. Campbell's address on the street improvement by showing at once how our streets should and should not be made. This may seem paradoxical; but it is strictly accurate. Mr. McNichol is gradidg and draining the short piece of street between the court house and the central school. He has made the street the proper width, which leaves a wide boulevard on each side between the old lines of sidewalk and the gutters. He has improved the grade by cutting it down. And, most important of all, he has put a tile drain under each side of the ditches.

If Mr. McNichol were to go a step further, he would show completely the sort of street which Woodstock should have. If he were to excavate the street and macadamize it next spring, his present object lesson would be complete. As it is, he is just showing townspeople what a good country road should be. Its width, its crown, and the method of drainage ought to be just what is illustrated in this case. Then there should be a good coating of gravel or broken stone, thoroughly rolled into a crown that will carry traffic and shed water. If all the streets of Woodstock were made on this principle, we would be doing very well. But still we would only have good country roads in town, and country roads are not the best for a town.

But we will never get even good country roads in this town, simply because we have no one to superintend their construction and maintenance. We will continue to have a succession of town councils that know little or nothing about road-making, and much of the money expended on the streets will always be thrown away. There are only two ways in which we can get good streets; first, by passing a general bylaw, as was suggested in these columns the other day, and thus putting all permanent street making on the frontage tax plan; or, second, the town council, on petition from ratepayers on one or more of the leading streets should take the initiative and begin laying macadam next spring. If one street were macadamized as an object lesson, in a few years there would be a score of them; and we should soon hear the last of bad streets, and the wasting of public money on them.

We advise ratepayers to take a look at Mr. McNichol's object lesson (provided for us at the wrong season of the year, of course) and then just think out for themselves what might be done all over town, if we had a proper system under competent direction.

KEENE.

An Organized Movement for Intellectual Betterment.

A branch of the National Home Reading Union has been formed in Keene, the Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed being chosen leader.

This is an English institution, but has Canadian headquarters in Montreal. Its objects are to unite readers of all ages on a common basis for purposes of mutual improvement by following a course of systematic study of good literature.

There is a prescribed course of study with a very wide option, and the members meet periodically to discuss the portion read, ask questions and read essays on the subject.

If the full number of books sent in are all read, certificates are issued at the end year. The society has been in existence for several years and is eminently useful and practical in its results.

IN THE DARK VALLEY.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have Saved My Life"—This is said by Thousands—Prevention the Safest.

"In the valley and shadow of death"—"Given up to die." There are many thousands of such living in Canada to-day who say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills have saved my life."

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents—which is better than curing.

HALF-PRICE SALE ON SATURDAY.

Get Ready in Good Time!

Don't Be Afraid

It is'nt too soon to leave your measures for your Winter Overcoat or Suit. All that's left of Fall is its "bark."

You must feel shabby and uncomfortable in your old clothes. Heavier garments for thin ones, warm colours for light ones. You have got to change, and you'll feel better right away.

We are willing to wait for slower people than you, but let us tell you fairly: sharper people are getting and enjoying advantages that you do not.

Because we made you a Suit or Overcoat two or three years ago, and it won't wear out, that's no reason why you should'nt have a new one with the latest style in it.

EGYPTIAN QUESTION.

Will the British Expedition Move Forward?

THE SIRDAR AND LORD SALISBURY

Have Been Having Conferences in London and Lord Wolseley Was With Them—Old Women Kill Each Other in Warwick—Rains in India—Other Cablegrams.

London, Nov. 22.—(New York Tribune Cable.)—The Egyptian question must have occupied much of Lord Salisbury's time lately, for General Kitchener has been closeted with him frequently, as well as with Lord Wolseley. Rumor credits the Sirdar with success in convincing Lord Salisbury of the expediency and necessity of continuing the advance from Dongola to Khartoum, but the force will probably halt where it is until spring. General Kitchener returns to Egypt at once to await the decision of the Court of Appeal in the proceedings against the Caisse.

The report that Italy has entered into a secret treaty with Russia is a symptom of the uneasiness caused by the Bismarck disclosures, which have created a general distrust of European diplomacy and excited a suspicion that backstairs intrigues are constantly going on. Germany itself has learned nothing from the debate on the treatties, but it is preoccupied now with a discussion over dueling and the atrocities of military privilege and the necessity of putting an end to barbarous practices, which are contrary to the genius of civilization, while sanctioned by military option and university habits.

The Daily Chronicle has discovered that trusts, combinations and monopolies exist in free trade England. It says: "We have heard talk of the great coal trust. There is already almost a monopoly of bicycle tires, a powerful company controls all the motor car patents it could get hold of and now the London correspondent of an Aberdeen journal announces that a powerful syndicate is about to acquire and work a considerable number of butcher shops in London. Already, he says, shops of the value of $200,000 have been offered. The same capitalists are at work in Liverpool, and there businesses to the value of $300,000 have been offered to them."

One discovery may sometime be brought into view, and plutocracy may be recognized as a great menace to England, just as it has been described by English moralists as the chief social danger of the American Republic.

Mr. Balfour has been blowing hot and cold on both fair trade and free trade. After reminding the Cobdenites at Sheffield that only two countries in the world, Great Britain and Turkey, had adopted their ideas, he administered several side thrusts to Colonel Howard Vincent and other fair traders, who had carried protectionist resolutions at the meeting of the National Union at Rochdale. Having boxed the economic compass without enabling his audience to discover the direction in which his own opinion pointed, he fell back upon German competition and technical education, which now form the common stock of English political oratory. A much better speech was made by Mr. Balfour at Edinburgh the same day on the subject of athletics in school and college, in which he asserted that training of this kind, when scientifically conducted, was as good an education as could be obtained in lecture and class rooms.

TROUBLE ONLY BEGINNING.

The Matabele Revolt Threatens to Break Out Again—The Cattle Plague.

New York, Nov. 22.—A London special to The Times says: "England is just awakening to a realization that her South African troubles have only begun. It is not so much that the Matabeles revolt threatens to break forth again on a larger scale than ever, or that the materials for a fresh deadlock in the Transvaal business are believed to be accumulating at both Praetoria and Berlin. The really serious feature is that detailed information about the rinderpest which is now coming in reveals an unexpectedly terrible state of affairs. The plague is now leaping sixty miles a day. It cannot, so far as now known, be checked by any human device, and must inevitably kill every head of cattle in South Africa. The attempts made last summer to stop its ravages by a wholesale slaughter of native cattle provoked the rising of the blacks, and if they are repeated among the more powerful Basutos, Zulus, and Griquas, who live nearer the coast, they will produce a mutiny against which the combined forces of the Dutch republics and the English colonies will be powerless to stand. The advice now pressed on the Government is to stop killing cattle or otherwise fighting the pest, and instead to use money in taking a census of all the cattle in South Africa and compensating owners, native and white alike, after the epidemic has passed. Unless Dr. Koch, who has been sent out from Germany, and is now nearing Cape Town, can find a way of arresting the progress of the plague, this is probably what will be done. In any event, the rinderpest will alter the whole character of life in South Africa, for to put an end to dairy farming and most other present forms of agriculture in that country will drive the rural colonists by thousands to the towns, where there is nothing for them to do. Cecil Rhodes, it has been announced, intended to sail next week for England to testify before the Parliamentary Committee in January, but the threatened revival of the Matabele troubles may change his plans.

OLD WOMEN KILL EACH OTHER.

A Remarkable Domestic Tragedy Which Took Place in Warwick, England

New York, Nov. 22.—A London special says: A domestic tragedy, which can scarcely be matched among unnatural crimes, is interesting the inhabitants of Warwick. Two sisters, one aged 86 and the other 73, were found dead in their home, where, apparently, they had killed each other in a terrific quarrel. It is known that they often had serious squabbles, the elder one especially being quarrelsome and almost irresponsible. They had begun, apparently, by throwing crockery at each other, one room being littered with broken dishes. Then one had resorted to the tongs for a weapon and the other to the broomstick. Both were considerably injured, but the doctors are inclined to think that death was caused in each case by the violence of their exertions rather than by their wounds. There was no robbery or signs of foul play by a third party.

RAINFALLS IN INDIA.

The Disastrous Drought Has Been Broken in Some Districts.

London, Nov. 21.—The Earl of Elgin, Viceroy of India, telegraphs from Calcutta that a fair rain has fallen along the coast of the Madras presidency up to Masulipatam, which is located at about the centre of the coast line. Showers have also fallen along the coast of the Bombay presidency as far north as Ratnagiri, which is 150 miles south of Bombay. The despatch adds that the price of grain is still rising, and that 161 persons are employed on the relief works that have been started by the Government to avert the effects of famine. The Viceroy makes no mention in his despatch of the drought in the Deccan, which is the greatest territory lying between the Madras and Bombay presidencies, having been checked by a good fall of rain, which had caused a rapid decline in the price of grain in that district, information to which effect was contained in a despatch from Bombay received this morning.

RUSSIA AND FRANCE.

A Solemn Act Accomplished Through an Affectionate Meeting.

Paris, Nov. 21.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day, M. Millerand, Socialist, asked the Government to explain the nature of the understanding between France and Russia.

M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, read a declaration setting forth that the Cabinets of France for several years past had each followed the same line towards Russia, the effect of which had been observed upon the occasion of the recent visit of the Czar, which visit had resulted in cordiality, which the whole world felt. A solemn act, he said, had been accomplished through the affectionate meeting of a great sovereign and a great people. After enlarging upon the enthusiasm of the Czar over the fetes given in his honor, M. Hanotaux said: "I can only reply to M. Millerand by recalling the precise concerted terms expressed by the Czar and the President of the republic at Cherbourg, before the naval officers; in Paris, before the representatives of the Government, and at Chalons, before the military chiefs. The Chamber will appreciate the fact that duty imposes upon me the obligation to say nothing more concerning the entente upon which nobody now dreams of casting any doubt."

SHEEP WORTH MONEY.

They are Claimed to be the Greatest Wool Producers in the World - Niagara Falls Notes.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 22.—(Special).—A car containing 17 head of sheep of the Hampshire and Oxford breeds passed through here yesterday en route from Michigan to Madison Square Garden, New York. These sheep were imported from England last spring and are claimed to be the finest wool-producers ever in America. During the past season they have won thousands of dollars in prizes at exhibitions and have never been beaten. In the group there is a yearling ram, weighing 400 pounds.

Last night a Railway Young Men's Christian Association was formed in the G.T.R. offices.

Ground was broken at Fort Erie yesterday afternoon for the Fort Erie Jockey Club's new race track. A special train left Buffalo at 3 p.m., carrying a number of invited guests and interested parties, to witness the ceremonies. The turning of the sod was done in the rain and the party adjourned to the Tift House, where a banquet was held.

WAS A GREAT BATTLE

Ottawa College Boys are Now the Rugby Champions.

SCORE WAS TWELVE TO EIGHT.

Over 4000 People Wended Their Way to the Rosedale Grounds to Witness the Game, Which Was Played in Several Inches of Snow—Much Enthusiasm Shown.

Toronto, Nov. 23.

OTTAWA COLLEGE 12, VARSITY 8.

The great match for the championship of Canada, played on the Rosedale grounds on Saturday afternoon, between Ottawa College and Toronto University, resulted in a triumph for the visitors.

The columns of steam which rose from the heated bodies of the contestants proved the pillar of cloud by day which led the Children of the Capital out of the wilderness of the possibility of defeat into the promised land of triumph.

The match was played in two or three inches of snow, which fact tended to interfere with brilliant play, but nevertheless the style of the game was rather above than below the average in the Ontario Union. Some supporters of Varsity held that the state of the grounds and the deadened condition of the ball was all in favor of the Ottawa and against the Toronto team. They based this assertion on the fact that the snow and slush interfered with Varsity's usual open game, while aiding and abetting the close tactics customary among the Easterners.

However this may be, as the game went, it was evident to all who know anything about the game that the visitors were a shade the better of their opponents in most respects. Gleason, as centre half, made a better showing than his opponent, Counsell, but that was because Smith, the College quarter, fed him better, and the scrim., assisted by the two wings, gave him a chance to kick. But Gleason is not in the same class with Counsell when it comes to close work. Both can kick as readily with the left as with the right, but Counsell time and time again made kicks where Gleason, had he been so hard pressed, would have dropped on the ball. As regards the other half-backs, Shea and Murphy, neither played like Boyd and Kingstone at the same positions. Kingstone has one fault from which he was not free on Saturday: he is almost sure to kick into the crowd rather than over it. At bucking the line, he has no equal, and many of Varsity's gains in territory were due to his dodges and dashes through the line. He forms a great barrier of protection to the rest of the line.

The fact that the College threw two of their wing men into the scrim. proved a great obstacle to Varsity's scrim. feeding Hobbs, who was perfectly unable to get the ball out. On this account it would be impossible to compare him with Smith, whose work was really done for him by his scrim.

The two backs, Morrison and Belanger, both play a strong, clean game, but Morrison had the most to do and he did it better. He is faster and a better tackler and kicked than the little Frenchman.

On coming to the wing line, barring Caldwell and McKenzie, who were marked by Prudhomme and Green respectively, Varsity had a little the advantage. Campbell marked Quilty, and broke away from him with ease. Campbell played a star game all through, and for a young player is a wonder. Barr and McDougall tackled and followed up well, and proved too much for their marks, Tobin and James, the crack wing of the College. At nearly every stage of the game Bradley marked Foley and got away with ease. Elliott played a hard game from start to finish, and his strong tackles and sharp rushes were marked features of the match.

Taking the two teams together, it must be said there was but little difference in their play. The College were better trained and went into their work with more snap. They are not any more scientific, but they play a more tricky game. They have an art of getting the ball out of the scrim which looked decidedly foxy to the spectators. The way they worked the screw was a surprise to Varsity, who were unable to check it until near the end of the first half. This kind of play made the game look more like an American one than any ever seen in Ontario. Varsity did not try to work the wedge except on one or two occasions. In fine weather and on dry grounds the result would, perhaps, have been different, but the superior training of the Easterners gave them the game in the snow and slush.

Despite the wretched state of the weather thousands of lovers of the great game wended their way to Rosedale to witness the match. From 1.30 till 2.30 o'clock a constant stream of men, old and young, plodded across the Rosedale Ravine bridges, through slush and snow, all bound on seeing the contest. Shortly after play began an estimate of the crowd present placed the number of spectators at about 4000 people. The big grand staud was full to overflowing the club house verandahs were crowded, excited spectators lined up six deep around the enclosure fences and even upon the snow-covered bleachers a few enthusiasts were to be seen.

The great majority of the throng were of course Torontonians, but a contingent of Ottawa ardents were also on hand to "root" for the visitors and answer the college yell which thundered from the throats of our own students.

The betting on the event varied. At first the visitors wanted odds, but it is thought that something like $1000 was finally put up on even terms.

Great interest centred in the match all over the country. Not only the Ottawa, but also the Montreal newspapers had representatives on the grounds wiring the progres of the game to headquarters.

The College won the toss and kicked west. There was very little in the choice, as the wind was dead. Perry kicked off at exactly 2.30 minutes past 2. Belanger returned, and the ball was scrimmaged near touch at the 45-yard line. Elliott made a good kick and followed up so fast that Tobin had to fall on the ball and the ground was saved. Near the college line Varsity got a free kick, which Counsell took, and sent the ball down to McDougall, who gained a few yards. This was a new tactic employed by Varsity, and worked well all through the first half. When the ball went in scrimmage the college began to shove by what is known in football technique as screwing the scrimmage. Varsity did not seem prepared for this, and all through the first half were shoved with great ease. From an offside Varsity got a free kick, but did not gain anything. Kingstone broke through the scrimmage and gained five yards.

An Easterner got his knickers almost torn off, and play was stopped for seven minutes.

On resuming the college got a free kick from an offside in scrimmage. Boyd made a good return, so did Belanger, and but little was gained. For some minutes the play was scrimmage work with very little advantage on either side. Finally Elliott dribbled from a short punt from Bradley and got over for a try. He took the kick, but missed. Time of play 16 minutes.

On the kick off Gleason sent the ball across the field, but it was recalled to scrimmage because Kingstone was not given five yards. From the scrimmage Hobbs passed back to Counsell, who punted for 30 yards from a close quarter.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. THE MANITOBA SCHOOL SETTLEMENT.

The people of Canada, with one accord and without reference to political opinions, express in their references to this question a feeling of relief that so vexed a question so provocative of the disturbance of national harmony has, by the settlement referred to, been closed to the satisfaction of all reasonable persons concerned. The politicians on both sides of opinion, in their interviews with the metropolitan press, figuratively heave a sigh of relief over the settlement of the subject, which has removed its disturbing influence from the arena of practical politics, never to come up again except in the discussion involved in Parliament and the Manitoba Legislature. In this matter Mr. Laurier has certainly kept his promise, that the matter should be speedily settled without coercion and in a spirit of conciliation. If the settlement is received in a similar conciliatory spirit by those interested, then will a most dangerous and vexed question have been removed from the arena of politics, and all moderate men on both sides will hail this conclusion as a distinct step in national consolidation and national homogeneity. There is evidence of a growing popular disposition among all shades of religious belief, in spite of what ministers of more than one denomination are demanding, that our schools should be devoted more exclusively to the imparting of that secular education for which they were designed and maintained by the taxes of the people and the financial assistance of the state.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

During the eleven years' existence of the Farmers' Institute in Ontario, it has shown a remarkable development. The first meetings, twelve in number, were held in 1885. The number of meetings has steadily and rapidly increased, that last year the total number of meetings held was 666. There has been a large increase in the attendance at meetings as well. In 1895 the total attendance at the 308 meetings held in that year was 71,033: last year the attendance was 102,461. When one looks through the annual report, one is struck with the idea of the immense benefit that must result from the attendance of over 100,000 of our foremost farmers—for it is this class that almost invariably forms the audiences at Institute meetings—to listen to expert discussion of matters pertaining to the farming and and allied industries. The report of these meetings occupy about 250 pages of paper covering every department of agricultural activity. They are admirably illustrated and contain untold stores of practical information that tend to keep, as they have helped to place, the Ontario farmer in the front rank. With the ample means for instruction that is placed by the Ontario Government through the Farmers' Institute and other means, one is not surprised that Ontario and farm products take the lead in the world. We are often stigmatized as slow, compared to our bustling "Yankee" neighbours, but in the matter of farming we can give them points and "beat them hollow." In the matter of state assistance to Institutes they are far behind us. The report referred to gives comparative statistics for the year 1895-6, as to Farmers' Institutes, of a dozen of the most important States of the Union, most of them with populations greatly in excess of Ontario, yet the number of meetings held in Ontario are greater by three to one, than those held in the most populous States, and the attendance, with one or two exceptions, almost double. While this is the case (and here is a pointer for those who cavil at the expense put upon agriculture in Ontario) the expense of the meetings is very greatly less in Ontario. The average cost of holding each Institute meeting in the States mentioned is $48, while the average expense of holding similar meetings in Ontario is less than $15. That is, we have far greater results in Ontario at a much less expenditure of money. While Farmers' Institutes in Ontario are doing so much for the farmers that take the advantages they present, there are thousand of farmers who still remain out of the pale of their good influences. We have not space here at present to enumerate the great advantages the farmer derives from the expenditure of a 25 cents fee for membership. But in every neighbourhood there is some progressive farmer who can supply the information and give personal testimony of the immense benefits of Institute membership to the farmer.

THE settlement of the school question, the Ottawa Free Press remarks, was not unfitly announced on Mr. Laurier's 55th birthday. The country will with one voice wish him many happy returns of the day, and hope that he may long be spared to do the state such signal service as he has already, during his brief tenure of office, performed.

OTONABEE COUNCIL.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

All the members present. Moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. Deyell, that the resolution passed at the last meeting of council, agreeing to pay one-third of cost of excavating a ditch through the old Cobourg railway dump, be rescinded, as it was represented that the cost would not exceed $35.00. Mr. Alex. McFarlane was present, stating that he was having the above ditch excavated, and requesting the council to pay part of cost. On motion of Messrs. Weir and Lancaster it was left over to next meeting of council. John O'Leary was present requesting that the road on the 3rd con. line, between lots 31, be raised, as it floods over in the spring. Messrs. Anderson and Lancaster were appointed to investigate and take action. John Bell, on behalf of himself and Wm. Dowdell, requested wire for a snow fence opposite their lots. John Deyell was empowered to deal with it. The clerk was instructed to notify all medical practitioners who may have a practice in Otonabee attending any patient with contagious disease, and do not notify the local board of health that they will be prosecuted. This action is taken, as there has been neglect on the part of some of the Peterborough physicians. The following accounts were ordered to be paid: Joseph Laroch, clearing out ditch through his farm to take the water off base line at duck pond; erecting railing at duck pond, A. and G. Robertson, $5.50; Jas. Robertson, $3.50; Jas. Wood, $350; Jas. Wood, cedar, $3.76; John Morrison, gravel, $12.48; Chas. Greystock, drawing and cutting in culvert, $2.10; Jas. Nelson, raking stones off road, $1; Alex. Conroy, pay for one day's statute labour, 75c.; John Bell, three days employed as sanitary inspector, $5; John Taylor, damages drawing gravel for 1895-96, $4.10.

Council adjourned to statutory meeting on Dec. 15th at 10 a.m.

PURITAN THANKSGIVING.

They Insisted on Religious Services—Opposed to Instrumental Music.

The Puritans, with their regard for the vast importance of sacred things, insisted that religious service should enter into the observance of the day. A picturesque simplicity and a whole souled devoutness linger about the commemoration in the meeting house of colonial times. There were two services a day. Each of the sermons was two hours long, and on Thanksgiving day the preacher was scrupulously conscientious in improving the opportunity which came to him only once a year.

The prayers and the psalms were of corresponding length. The church was provided with square, boxlike pews. The family sat around the four sides, the children being placed with their backs to the minister. A most important functionary was the tithing man, who tapped the heads of the men who fell asleep during the sermon with the ball-like end of his staff of office. The other end had a tuft of feathers, with which he tickled the drowsy women. The old time Puritans were strenuously opposed to the introduction of instrumental music into the church service.

Now and again a violin began to creep in, to the disgust of many of the old preachers, one of whom is immortalized in history by his utterance, "We will now sing and fiddle the Forty-fifth Psalm."

One ventures the opinion that the atmosphere of the old Puritan church on Thanksgiving day was hardly conducive to cheerfulness of spirit. A historian, writing of the Sabbath in Puritan New England, remarks, "The New England congregations piously frose during service time well into this century." The church in Brimfield in 1819 refused to pay for a stove, and a few years later, when a subscription was made to buy a church stove, one old member refused to contribute, saying good preaching kept him hot enough without stoves.—Philadelphia Times.

M'KINLEY'S PREFERENCE.

He Likes Turkey Roasted Brown, With Sausage Flavoring.

I like my turkey roasted, but not stuffed. Now, shades of a man of New England ancestry! Dynamite is too good for such a fellow! But still I don't like my turkey stuffed. I like a 12 pound animal, with lots of fat on him and butter spread all over him. I want him roasted brown. I think it is 20 minutes to a pound of turkey, not counting the first few minutes while he is getting used to the oven. But I don't want anything inside of him. A spiced stuffing ruins the flavor of the meat and gives indigestion.

How do I like him served? Oh, I like him with a string of sausages over his breast as a flavoring and with a lemon for a head. That is a good way to serve a turkey. You can boil the lemon awhile and make it soft, to be sliced and eaten like a pickle if you want to. My turkey is an Ohio bird. I forgot to mention that. Have you ever eaten an Ohio turkey? No? Then you don't know what is to give thanks for your Thanksgiving dinner. Do you want the rest of the menu? No? I am sorry, because I know a good dinner from beginning to end.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing But Dodd's Kidney Pills Could Touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 23—(Special)—Mr. W. P. Jackson, a telegraph operator of this place, has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—"Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal—and took the hot springs course, all to no purpose. I have taken doctors' advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I starting taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes, I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all Lung Troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

FATHER COURTED SON'S BRIDE.

And the Marriage Was Beginning When the Son Appeared—A Wedding that Did Not Take Place.

Geneva N.Y., Nov. 20.—"Henry, I've taken your bride. You don't care, do you?" With these words, Arnold Recklinghausen greeted his son when the latter returned home last night after a month's absence. Henry did care, as the sequel shows.

A few years ago Henry Recklinghausen was married, but he and his wife did not live happily together. Within a few months they separated by mutual consent. Since then Henry has been living with his father, who is reputed to be the wealthiest German in Geneva.

Henry became infatuated with Johanna Black, a comely German girl, several months ago. He courted her openly, and it was generally understood by the friends of both parties that the two would wed as soon as the young man obtained a divorce from his wife. It was to secure evidence which would aid him in the suit that Henry left Geneva shortly after the death of his mother, six weeks ago.

With his son away, Widower Recklinghausen sought solace from Johanna, and, receiving her sympathy, he quickly forgot his grief. Johanna, for a time, at least, transferred her affections from son to father. The transfer was so complete that she agreed to marry Recklinghausen senior. It was mutually agreed between the two to have the marriage ceremony performed last night.

That it was not was neither the fault of the bride-elect nor of her elderly lover. It was due entirely to Henry, who returned unexpectedly to Geneva, and entered his father's house at the very moment that Rev. Mr. Burkhardt of the German Church was about to begin the marriage service. Upon perceiving Henry, the girl gave a scream and turned, so that she fell fainting into the young man's arms. Widower Recklinghausen was the first to recover his speech, and, turning to his son, he briefly explained the situation.

Henry left the house, taking Johanna with him. There were about 40 guests present, but they quickly departed with the clergyman.

A similar case occurred in Toronto some years ago, but in the Toronto instance the father really married the son's sweetheart. From the day of the wedding to the time of the father's death the son and father never exchanged a word.

Immigration Inspector O'Brien at Niagara Falls Sends Back Two Canadian Families.

Niagara Falls, Nov. 20.—Immigration Inspector Maurice O'Brien yesterday sent back to Canada two families who tried to come into the United States at this port. One family consisted of a man, his wife and six children. They hailed from St. Catharines and were on their way to Lockport.

Another family of Germans, from Berlin, Ont., consisted of an old man and his wife, their daughter and her six children. The daughter claimed she had a husband in Buffalo, where they were bound, but inquiry failed to locate him. They are still on the Canadian side. This is about the season that the yearly exodus from Canada to this country begins.

GRADUATED AS NURSES.

Many Who Have Stood the Hard Work at the General Hospital Get Their Reward.

Toronto, Nov. 21.

The annual graduation exercises of the Training School for Nurses took place last evening in the large theatre of the Toronto General Hospital. The event was the most successful one held in years. The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion and presented a very brilliant appearance. Twenty-one of the pupil nurses who had passed the required examinations received the certificate and badge of the school.

Following is the graduating class which was rewarded in the above manner: Misses Mary Dougal, Owen Sound; Mary Playter, Newmarket; Jessie Watson, St. Catharines; Alice E. Stewart, Stratford; Mary Williamson, Hagersville; Hattie Marshall, Toronto; Henrietta McKim, Toronto; Edith M. Fisher, Seaforth; Sadie H. Gladstone, East Toronto; Harriet Mulholland, Toronto; Elizabeth M. Fraser, Lakefield; Elizabeth Widdifield, Picton; Mary G. Church, Merrickville; Mary Phillips, Newmarket; Grace Wilson, Goderich; Phoebe Burkholder, Hamilton; Ida Anderson, St. Thomas; Mary Allen, Toronto; Olive Bentley, Sutton West; Eliza L. Sewrey, Barrie; Mary E. McClelland, Parry Sound. The presentation of certificates was made by Dr. O'Reilly and Mr. O. A. Howland, M.L.A., while the badges were given by Drs. J. F. Ross, McPhedran, Sheard and A. H. Wright.

The remaining program under direction of Mr. Walter S. Lee, consisted of addresses by Revs. G. M. Milligan and Louis F. Jordan, a song by Miss L. Craig, recitation by Mrs. Ross, violin solo by Miss Kerr, and the report of the school read by Miss Solvely.

This report indicated, among other things, that probationers would henceforth remain on duty in the hospital for three years. There had been 500 applications for admission into the school, and of these 28 only had been accepted. Five had been dropped from the roll for various reasons, and there are still 62 nurses attending the school.

Among others there were present: Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Lee, Dr. and Mrs. O'Reilly, Miss Thorburn, Inspector R. Christie, Dr. Nevitt, Mr. O. A. Howland, M.L.A., Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Miller, Rev. A. H. Baldwin and Drs. Cassidy, Nevitt, McPhedran, J. F. Ross and Milligan, Dr. and Mrs. Spence, Dr. and Mrs. Sheard.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monopoly.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, and got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and got a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

WAS A GREAT BATTLE.

Barr followed up well and saved the ground. In the scrimmage which followed, Varsity was shoved easily. Smith, the great college quarter, heeled back to Gleason, who made a pretty punt, but Tiny was ready and returned. It was returned, and he sent back to Tobin, who passed back and Counsell did the same, and but little ground was gained for either side.

Considerable scrimmage work followed now for some minutes, with but small advantage for either team. From heel out by Smith to Gleason, who kicked, the oval was sent to Varsity's 25-yard line, and when it went into scrimmage Varsity began to shove. A free kick was given the white and blues from an offside in scrimmage. Counsell took the kick; Gleason tried to return, but McKenzie broke his wing and saved the ground. It looked as though the college was beginning to loosen up, but Gleason got a chance for a punt and Boyd was forced for a touch in goal. Score 4—2.

This gave the college heart, and the play was fast and fierce for some time. From the scrimmage Counsell made a fine punt, but Gleason made his mark. Joe McDougall returned to Barr, who broke his wing, passed to Elliott, who did the same, and gave the pigskin to Campbell, who dribbled for 30 yards.

Ottawa began to work the mass play with great effect, and by screwing the scrimmage gained considerable territory. From a good deal of this kind of play Counsell got in a punt, which Gleason returned, and an offside play gave Varsity a free kick. The oval was passed back and forth by Counsell and Gleason, Boyd and Tobin with Kingstone forming a mighty protection to his two colleagues. Finally Barr broke away with a dash, but the ball was slippery and a Garnet forced him to drop, but before giving the ball "Biddy" laid his man low and the play was stopped five minutes to let him come to.

On resuming play Varsity got a free kick and Counsell gained 40 yards by sending the pigskin into touch. On the throw-in Campbell blocked his wing and Caldwell and Kingstone carried the oval right across the field, but gained little. On scrimmaging the ball at the 5-yard mark, Smith fumbled and Barr dashed through for five yards before Shea rode him down. From the scrimmage the ball went into touch, and from the throw-in Shea made a beautiful run and dodge from Caldwell, Kingstone and McDougall, gaining 20 yards on the run. Counsell got a chance for a punt from the heel out and made his gain of 25 yards.

The College scrim got offside and Varsity secured another free kick. Counsell sent the ball diagonally across to McDougall, who ran and dribbled for 30 yards, making one of the prettiest plays ever seen on a football field. In the scrimmage which followed Varsity was shoving. Smith at quarter was playing a star game. From the scrimmage Gleason broke through for a run. Counsell and McDougall did good blocking work, but could not stop a try. Tobin missed the kick. Score, 8—4.

When play began again both Boyd and Counsell muffed, and the ball went into touch on Varsity's 25-yard line. On the throw in Varsity got a free kick, but gained nothing, owing to Gleason's quick return. Varsity got another free kick from the scrimmage and Counsell sent the ball into touch at the 45-yard line. It was scrimmaged at 15 yards. Gleason broke through and gained 5 yards before McKenzie dropped on his neck. Counsell made a beautiful return, from a muff of Boyd's, by a long kick within very close quarters. The play was a series of passing back and forth now for some time with the ball gradually working toward Varsity's line. Finally Gleason broke away for a try, which he did not convert. Score 11—4.

From the kick off Kingstone made a good dash and gained 10 yards. The ball went to touch, and was scrimmaged at the 25-yard limit. Smith hurled back to Gleason, but he could not kick, as Campbell rode him down, and dribbled the ball near the line. It was sent over, but Belanger relieved by a long kick. Kingstone got away by some brilliant dodging and warding off and gained about 20 yards. He was hurt a little, but soon went on with the game. By dribbling and kicking on the part of Counsell and Boyd the oval was carried back to the college line, and was there when time was called for the first half.

After a rest of 15 minutes the two teams went into their work with grim determination to do or die. No changes were made in the personnel. On going into play Varsity was given a free kick, but did not gain more than 10 yards. Varsity began to work the throw-in trick now with a good deal of effect. Campbell broke for 10 yards, but Gleason returned to the 25-yard line. From the throw-in he broke through again, but Campbell stopped him. Counsell made his mark from the bedout, but did not gain, owing to Gleason's return. Dodds had his head crushed, but stayed in the game. From the scrimmage Gleason made a pretty kick with his left. Counsell caught, but passed to Boyd, who was forced to rouge. Score 12 to 4.

From some pretty passing back and forth by Counsell and Gleason the college worked the ball back to Varsity's line. Gleason got another kick, but Counsell made the finest relief ever seen on a gridiron. Several men were on him, but with his left hand he fought them until he could get in his kick, which he did with such force that the ball was sent to the 50-yard line. Any one but Tiny would have rouged.

Barr and Elliott followed up well, and the gain was saved. From the scrim. Varsity got a free kick, but it was of no use, as the forward line could not follow up fast enough. Gleason returned the ball and Counsell made his mark. Gleason sent it back, and Kingstone made his mark and gained 40 yards by kicking into touch. Gleason and his quarter whittled 15 yards off this by some pretty combination work, but Campbell watched his chance, and ran 20 yards before being stopped. After a series of scrimmages, in which Varsity had the best of it, Barr made a dash for 20 yards before Boucher nailed him. More scrimmages and several free kicks followed for Varsity, which were of little use, as Gleason was allowed to return. The college began kicking into touch to kill time, as the ball was getting dangerously near the line. Finally Gleason got a good chance to kick, the wings followed up fast, and the pigskin was sent over Varsity's line, but Counsell, after doing some hard fighting, got in a punt and relieved. Varsity began to press hard. From the scrim. on the 45 yard line, Counsell made a long punt, which Elliott saved by following up fast. Scrim. followed on the college 25-yard line. Hobbs passed back to Connsell, who kicked around the crowd, giving Elliott, Campbell and Kingstone a chance to follow up, which they did, and Courtney got the try, which Elliott failed to convert. Score, 12—8.

For about 15 minutes a good deal of scrim. and return work was indulged in. Finally, a series of that kind of play let Varsity get the ball in the college quarters, and a desperate fight was made to get it over. For 10 minutes it was just on the line, and a little luck on Varsity's side would have tied the score, or, perhaps, given them the game. Inch by inch the plucky fellows forced it up, inch by inch it was fought back. Every man on both teams knew it was a critical moment, and worked coolly and carefully, but with all his ability. Hobbs seemed unable to get his bones on the pigskin. Finally the College got a free kick, which was well followed up. Gradually it was worked back to Varsity's line, and when time was called it was on the 25-yard line. Final score: Ottawa College 12, Varsity 8.

THIEVES CAUGHT.

Buffalo Detectives Gather in Two Brothers Who Admit Having Robbed a Chicago Jewelry Firm.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 22.—The two men arrested in the postoffice by Detective Sergeants Devine and Sullivan, after a desperate fight last night, weakened this morning, when placed "on the rack" at Police Headquarters, and admitted that they were George and Arthur Hawkins, the brothers wanted in Chicago for holding up and robbing the jewelry firm of Hermann & Co., on the eighth floor of the Masonic Temple in that city, on the afternoon of Nov. 5. All but a few of the diamonds and other precious stones stolen and remaining to be accounted for, were recovered in a room in the house at 128 West Eagle street.

The thieves arrived in Buffalo from Cleveland on Saturday morning and rented a room at the above address. They had the stolen jewels with them, several stones of which they had pawned in Detroit and Cleveland. After taking possession of the room, they placed the gems in the bottom of a cold comnode, and covered them with several soiled handkerchiefs. Then they went out and finally walked down to the postoffice to get their mail. There they met the detectives and were arrested. Arthur, who is 22 years old, and the youngest of the brothers, when questioned, acknowledged that he and his brother were the men who robbed Jeweler Hermann; said that he realized the fact that he was caught, and was ready to admit everything.

A CORNER IN TURKEYS.

U. S. Syndicate Said to be Organizing to Scoop in Canadian Poultry for the English Market.

Detroit, Nov. 20.—A despatch from Chatham says that a syndicate composed of Elliott & Co. of Detroit, Hallman Bros. of Grand Rapids, Willmore & Wells of Cleveland and T. Cory & Co. of Petrolia, is trying to corner the Canadian turkey market. The fowl are for shipment to England, and top prices are being paid. The syndicate, it is said, between the present time and Dec. 10 intend to corner the Ontario market, and, if need be, extend their field to Manitoba and British Columbia.

Bishop Keane's Successor.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 20.—The announcement is made here this morning that the holy father has appointed Rev. Dr. Thomas J. Conaty, rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Worcester, Mass., to succeed Bishop John Keane as rector of the Catholic University at Washington, D.C. Dr. Conaty is about 40 years of age.

IN THE DARK VALLEY.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have Saved My Life"—This is said by Thousands—Prevention the Safest.

"In the valley and shadow of death"—"Given up to die." There are many thousands of such living in Canada to-day who say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills have saved my life."

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents—which is better than curing.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY:

ASTHMA FOR YEARS.

"I have suffered very severely from asthma for over twenty-five years," says R. G. Moore, of Hamilton. "If I ventured away from home the change of air would bring on such bad attacks that I was afraid I would suffocate at times. A short time ago I found it necessary to go to Paris, Ontario, on business. On the way my old enemy attacked me with great severity. As soon as I got to Paris I went to Armitage's drug store and bought a bottle. It relieved my Asthma, and although I have been away from home several times since, I experienced no more trouble. I regard my quarter as well spent, and intend to send some more after it."

A PREVENTATIVE OF COLDS.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from severe colds for a long time," says Miss Hattie Delaney, of 174 Crawford street, Toronto. "Usually at this season of the year I did not know what it was to be free from them. Nothing did me much good until I got a bottle of Chase's Linseed and Turpentine. It not only cured my cold, but I have not had another since. I ascribe the credit wholly to Dr. Chase."

A BANKER'S EXPERIENCE.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes Manager Thomas Dewson, of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne avenue, Toronto. "It proved very effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

A CROUPY COUGH.

"My little boy had a bad croupy cough," says Mrs. Smith, of 256 Bathurst street, Toronto. "My neighbor, Mrs. Hopkins, recommended me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I did so, and the first dose did him good. One bottle completely cured the cold. It is surprising the popularity of Chase's Syrup. It appears to me it can now be found in every house."

PROVED MOST EFFECTIVE.

"I used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for severe throat trouble," writes Mrs. Hopkins, of 254 Bathurst street, Toronto. "It proved most effective. I regard it as one of the best household remedies there is. It is easy and pleasant to take and drives out the cold with surprising celerity."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine soothes and heals the affected parts, relieves the over-charged membrane, relieves congestion of the air passages; arrests the progress of fever and inflammation. It is prepared from the finest demulcents and expectorants from the prescriptions of Dr. Chase, and is specially effective in Croup.

MARK LOCKINGTON COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARIZING THE MORGAN HOUSE.

The Preliminary Hearing Took Place This Morning—Bail is Refused—The Welsh Case Comes up on Wednesday Morning.

The police court was crowded to the doors this morning, as it was known that Mark Lockington and David Welsh were to appear before the Magistrate charged with the serious crime of burglarizing the Morgan House.

Welsh appeared first, but as he had not consulted his counsel, Mr. Daniel O'Connell, his case was enlarged until Wednesday, and his bail fixed at $1,000.

The case as against Lockington was then brought up. Fred Lund, one of the Morgan House bartenders, was the first witness. He testified that he had locked up the bar-room on Tuesday evening last and described the location of the bar with the side door, half glass, leading into the yard. On Tuesday night he had seen by the cash register slip that there was $32.40 in the till. He had not counted the cash. He was roused shortly after one o'clock by Mr. E. W. Cox, who was staying in the hotel and was told there was something wrong down stairs. By the time he got down Mr. Cox was there and also James Gordon, the night watch. The glass in the side door was broken, the bolt drawn and the door open. The till of the cash register was on the floor and $19.90 was scattered on the floor.

FOR THE NIGHT,

The witness knew Lockington personally, as he had at one time been a yardsman at the hotel. He was in the bar on Tuesday evening, at about 10.45 o'clock, with some other man whom he did not notice. Lockington paid for the drinks. Both were apparently sober.

Cross-examined by Mr. F. D. Kerr, counsel for the defence, the witness stated that he was the last one to leave the bar Tuesday evening. The cash register till was easily opened, as the drawer flew out whenever a key was pressed. During the day the bar was always in charge of some one. Some of the bills taken were Lower Canadian ones. If the burglars had knocked down several keys in opening the drawer it would have totalled up a large amount of money on the registered slip. Either he or John Jay, could take money from the till without the register slip showing it.

THE OTHER BARTENDER,

Re-examined by County Crown Attorney Wood, the witness stated that he had taken no money from the till during the day.

Re-examined by Mr. Kerr, Mr. Lund stated that at times he might make mistakes in change, but the register made no mistakes.

James Gordon testified that he was night watchman, and was on duty on Tuesday last. Found something wrong with Morgan's hotel. He saw a person on the east side of Water street, opposite the Ontario Bank. He was at the Bank of Commerce building at eight minutes after one o'clock. He found the side door of Morgan's hotel closed but not fast. He went inside and attracted the attention of those within, and found things as described by the previous witness. The person he saw opposite the Ontario Bank had a dark overcoat and umbrella.

To Mr. Kerr—A person came behind witness, and while he was in Hall & Gilchrist's yard this person passed and went into Leary's stable yard. He did not know who the man was he saw opposite the Ontario Bank.

To Mr. Wood—It was only about three or four minutes after he saw the man opposite the Ontario Bank that he reached Morgan's, and Mr. Cox entered the bar about three minutes after witness.

E. W. Cox testified that on Tuesday night last he was staying at the hotel. His bedroom was over main entrance of hotel. He heard a noise that roused him from a partial sleep, and then after listening he heard a crash like a broken pitcher. While he was listening the clock struck one. He also heard footsteps coming out of the yard and upon the sidewalk; the footsteps came west. Raised window and looked out, but at that time the person had disappeared round the corner, of Water street. He could see plainly, there was an electric light opposite. Later he saw Lockington on walk in front of bar door, going west. A very short time elapsed from the time the street at this point was clear till he saw the prisoner. He could not have walked from the lane in the time he took to appear before the bar door, after witness saw the street clear. Witness watched Lockington till he had crossed George street going west. Witness then described his visit to the bar. Helped Lund count money and reckon up register slip. Both were correctly done.

To Mr. Kerr—We both counted the money and the result was as Lund stated. About half a minute after hearing the sound of breaking glass he heard a louder crash and listened for further noise—perhaps two minutes—and then he heard footsteps, he thought, going west. At once he heard the footsteps he got up and raised the window, looked west and saw no person, except the one he had mentioned, and looked east without seeing any body. Then he looked west and looked east again. From the time of looking east first was less than a minute. When he first saw the man coming from the east he was in front of the bar door. He thought he had on a sack coat. Thought he wore a black hat. Had dark clothes and a dark hat. Saw his face and knew him. When he first heard steps he thought they were on the board walk leading from the side door of bar to the street.

Geo. I. Roesel, Chief of Police, testified that he arrested Lockington at Wm. Hall's on Hunter street, over the marble works at the creek. It was about 2.30 a.m.; he was not undressed. He searched the prisoner; found two 5-dollar bills, one 2 dollar bill, one 1-dollar bill, 55 cents in silver and 25 cents in coppers. He said that "Croft could account for his having the money." He was warned that what he might say would be used in evidence against him. He said, jokingly, the next morning that he might as well plead guilty and get five or ten years, as he was not of much use outside. Then the chief said to him that he had made a bad mess of it; he (the chief) would not have upset the till and left the largest part of the money. He said that he wasn't as handy with one arm as he (the chief) and Stewart would be with two.

To Mr. Kerr—When he arrested Lockington the latter was not sober.

William Hull, in whose house Lockington was arrested, testified to the fact that the prisoner boarded with him off and on when he was out of work. He had not been around lately as he was working at the Croft House. It was two o'clock Wednesday morning when he admitted him to the house on the day of the arrest.

The next witnesses were brought to prove the fact that the prisoner had little or no money just previous to arrest.

S. R. Armstrong, town and police court clerk, testified that Lockington had stated that he was unable to pay his statute labour tax and had applied to the council for its remission.

Wm. McCallum stated that the prisoner had a meal at his restaurant a week ago Wednesday and stated that he had no money to pay for it.

The crown then closed its case.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, counsel for the defence, said that no case had been made out. There was no direct evidence to connect Lockington with the robbery. None of the money found on him had been identified as that lost from the bar.

The magistrate stated that evidence had been submitted showing that a window had been broken, a door opened and the till interfered with. It was also shown that $12 50 was missing. A larger amount of money than this had been found on Lockington's person. He was seen immediately after the robbery on Hunter street, and yet an instant before he was not there. The presumption would be that he came out of the Morgan House yards. All that was sufficient evidence to commit the prisoner for trial. He refused to accept bail.

HUNTING NOTES.

Quite a number of bears were shot by hunters this season.

All the hunters say that it was miserable weather for hunting.

A hunting party coming from the north last Saturday brought down three black bears.

It is said that those deer hunting in Haliburton did not meet with their usual success this season.

It is a matter for congratulation that while many accidents are reported the numerous Peterborough hunters escaped any serious misfortunes.

On Nosey's Creek Mr. Noxon Harris will again have a good gang of men at work for the Davis Kennedy Co.

Routley's Closing Out Sale.

Crowds are being attracted by the great closing-out sale of C. H. Routley's stock of fancy goods, stationery, crockery, china, lamp goods, trunks, valises, wall paper, etc. This sale is a bona fide one, as the business must be closed up before the 31st December. Mr. Routley also offers for sale his commodious brick residence, No. 416 Stewart street, modern design and equipment in every respect. Furnace, hot and cold water, electric light, bath, etc.; brick driving shed and stable. Also dwelling, No. 274 Hunter street, well situated. Also, buggy, phaeton, cutter, harness, etc.

South Harvey Elections.

The new plan of electing county councillors is being talked about. It may be desirable for thickly populated counties, but in such divisions as ours, for instance, which has the townships of Harvey, Galway, Cavendish, Burleigh and Candoe, the district is too large and scattered. Our reeve, Robt. Shaw, is going to have a run at it, and I suppose the reeve of each municipality will do the same. Two of them can be elected, and no more. Councillor Shearer will run for reeve, and so also will Councillor Dewdney. I hear, too, that some would like to bring out Mr. Henry Seymour. He would run well in the north, and would have friends on this side.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

High Class Concert.

Miss Mabel Chambers, daughter of Mrs. Chambers, the well-known Peterborough vocalist, has been abroad for several years studying music, is in town, arranging for a high-class concert to be held in the opera house on Dec. 3rd. She will be assisted by the best local talent, and is accompanied by Miss Belasco. A Montreal exchange speaks as follows concerning the talented young ladies: A large and thoroughly appreciative audience was present in the Association Hall last evening, when two Montreal young ladies, Miss Mabel Chambers and Miss Bertha Belasco, who for several years past have been studying music abroad, made their initial bow to a Montreal audience. Both young ladies received a flattering reception, and deservedly so, for their talent has had the best of training in Europe. Miss Chambers is the possessor of a remarkably sweet and flexible soprano voice. Her upper notes are particularly fine, and she sings with much artistic expression. Miss Belasco is a pianist of great ability and, with Miss Chambers, will be a decided acquisition to musical society in Montreal. Her rendition of Chopin's Etude A Flat and Etude F Flat and Liszt's Nocturne were rapturously encored. She is also a most sympathetic accompanist. Miss Chambers' numbers were Mendelssohn's "Zuleika," Greig's "Slumber Song" and "Love Has Eyes," by Bishop. All three showed her finely cultivated voice to advantage and an encore was demanded. Professor Goulet had to respond to an enthusiastic encore for his rendition of the "Intgans Tasse." Mr. A. Hodgson is too well known to need much praise, but it is sufficient to say that he was particularly happy in choosing Schubert's serenade, "Oh! That We Two Were Maying," for it suited his voice admirably. Miss Chambers was also heard in the aria "With Verdure Clad," which was beautifully rendered. The programme opened with Greig's sonata for piano and violin by Miss Belasco and Prof. Goulet and was charming. Mr. Emery Lavigne and Mr. J. Henry Robinson, Montreal's two favourite accompanists, played with their usual good taste.

Tobacco Heart

Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, and tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc., are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are true heart and nerve food.

HO! NED!

A Forgotten Hero—An Incident of 1885.

MR. EDITOR,—The subject of Batoche has been so thoroughly threshed out that one ventures at this late date only with much diffidence to revive memories of those stirring days. But honours were so easy for some officers whose names appeared in general despatches that the temptation is natural to present for local drill shed chat the name of a real hero who was with us, but whose praises have never been sung. The name will be new to most members of your battalion, although long since safely embalmed in the hearts of the Peterborough, Belleville, Campbellford and Lindsay men of 1885.

Residents of the effete east, who have not seen some western life, will wonder what manner of man it was who was known to us more travelled ones as "Ho! Ned!" But the explanation is simple, the custom in that country being, when it is desired to attract the attention of a person not just at hand to add the prefix "Ho!" and then intone the combination as loudly as deemed necessary. Ned, the ubiquitous and indispensable mate of our "troopship," the Northcote, was ever in demand, and the cry "Ho! Ned!" rang so constantly in our ears that we soon associated him with none other than this hybrid name.

Ned had just graduated with honour and a war medal from the corps of Canadian Voyageurs to whom had been entrusted, in the Soudan campaign for the relief of Gordon, the transportation of the boats and stores for the required distance up the river Nile and over its perilous and almost impassable cataracts. He made his first bow to us from the deck of the Northcote at Saskatchewan landing, about forty miles north of Swift Current on the C.P.R. So large a steamer having never before, as we are told, navigated the Lower Saskatchewan to such a distance, Ned was much elated over the successful result of this pioneer attempt.

The steamer and floats (barges) alongside having been loaded and headed down stream, Ned was at once and constantly, while we were shipmates, very much in evidence, our beau ideal from the start. For the recruit there is always a halo about the soldier who has really and truly had his baptism of fire, especially with the troops of Her Majesty's army. Here was our own adopted Ned who had seen service with the colours in Egypt; who had been where Arabs, crocodiles, enteric fever and shot and shell were more regular and abundant than army rations, whose tunic had faded beneath the African sun and been torn by jagged rocks! All gave him a pre-empted title to our hero worship. And then again his handsome, manly face, sturdy and well set up figure, soldierly bearing and modesty withal, strengthened his claim to distinction. But when, on further acquaintance, we took our paragon out from the imaginary glass case in which we had at first enshrined him, all the foregoing virtues were found to be excelled in degree by his expert and familiar acquaintance with such things of the earth, earthy, as proclaim the true "Tommy Atkins."

Ned could move for a distance of about an inch a hoop of the keg of hospital whiskey, bore a gimlet hole where the hoop had been, extract a sample and defy the surgeon's vigilance, noiselessly and with the utmost neatness and despatch. To plug up the hole and restore the hoop was "dead easy." Malaria, rheumatism and bilge water had thus no terror for us. To add any desired quantities to our regulation rations of tea and sugar was child's play to him. In draw-poker he found a never failing and congenial method of adding to his income. And as to the knowledge of navigating the Norabcote, whose ways as will be seen, were peculiar, the Midland detachment, Gatling Howard and his gun, and several hundred tons of supplies might, without him, not have reached Batoche in time to be of service, except by special arrangement with the enemy.

No complaint can be made of the lower Saskatchewan as regards its length and breadth; but as to depth, a heavy dew or vigorous moistening with a lawn sprinkler would afford about as practicable a channel for a steamboat as did the natural watershed in the spring of 1885. As the Northcote and her consorts called for at least eighteen inches of water, navigation would necessarily have been difficult, but add to this inconvenience that of sandbars at every few hundred yards and it will be admitted that Ned was kept busy defending us from the perils of those that go down to the sea in ships. Seated on deck at the bow, leg suspended in mid-air, he held a pole, at the further end of which certain numbers of feet were marked off by means of pieces of red flannel. This pole he would regularly plunge into the water and as regularly announce the result in rhythmic baritone for the information of the wheelhouse. "Three feet," "four feet full, five feet scant," or "no bottom" were the ever varying quotations, anything over five feet implied "the dark, unfathomed caves of ocean." But despite all Ned's experience and vigilance, sandbars would assert themselves so frequently, sometimes, indeed, so very promptly after the audacious announcement that there was no bottom that our progress, when not slow, was nil. The Northcote was supposedly amphibious. In order that she might extricate herself when necessary from the gentle embrace of mother earth, she was equipped forward with two giant upright poles overhanging the water. From the top of each, a rope led through a pulley on deck to the engine. Starting the engine the ropes would tauten and, in theory, lift the steamer bodily over and beyond all troubles of terra firma. It was only a theory, however, the utility of which might possibly have been demonstrated had the poor, wheezy old engine been equipped with proper fuel; but the scout supplies of dozy cottonwood, cut and carried with some little profanity by the soldiers when it, the wood was to be found, could but seldom develop the necessary energy. It, therefore, often fell to the lot of the poor red coats to pile overboard and reinforce the engine and the theory with good brawn and muscle. When that did not suffice, the cargo must be unloaded and carried ashore, the bar passed and the goods reloaded. Amid all such miseries, and many more, and the disappointment at the delay in getting to the front, Ned's endless work and happy ways made him a typical Mark Tapley and an inspiring example.

Two weeks of this luxurious summer outing on the river brought us to Fish Creek, where we joined the column under General Middleton, which had, a few days before, met the enemy at that place with doubtful result. The Northcote, C School of infantry and, of course, Ned proceeded to Batoche, whither we followed afoot. Here the scenery was beautiful, the air fresh, every condition for a pleasant summer resort was at hand and our reception by the natives fully as warm as could have been desired. But they are practical jokers, those fellows, and we don't play in their back yards any more. But thereby hangs the tale with which, after so lengthy a peramble, we will dismiss "Ho Ned."

The orders, I heard, were that the Northcote should proceed a distance down the river, await a signal from the column ashore and then advance abreast of Batoche, where the men of C School could pepper the enemy. By some mischance, the machinery went amiss or the fuel gave out and the steamer drifted down stream afoul of the Batoche ferry cable. The vessel could only be liberated by lifting the cable and passing under it. This was accomplished, and the drifting allowed to continue to a distance where, with greater safety, repairs could be made to the smokestack and attachments injured by the cable. Arrived there and anchored, who was to go aloft, make repairs and probably be filled as full of holes as a colander? Who would leave his little Mimsey for some other Gogo? Ah! no! Life is said to be sweet. The crew, one by one, politely but firmly declined; all but "Ho! Ned!" who stripped off his tunic and placed it on the end of a pole, and fastened the pole so that the tunic would be visible ashore and concentrate the enemy's fire. The tunic was instantly shot through and through, while Ned rushed aloft, did his work quickly and well, and miraculously returned safe, sound and laughing.

Ned had none of the inducements to gallantry offered to enlisted men. There was in view no Victoria Cross, pension or funeral with military honours. He simply "seen his dooty and did it then and thar."

UNEXPECTED DEATH OF THOS. TELFORD.

HE PASSED AWAY ON SATURDAY EVENING LAST.

Although He has Been Unwell for the Past Four Years and Quite Ill at Times Since Last January, his Death Comes as a Great Shock to the Community.

The death of Mr. Thos. Telford occurred on Saturday evening last at twenty minutes to eight o'clock, and in his demise Peterborough county lost one of its oldest residents.

Thos. Telford, deceased, was born in Leitholm, Scotland, on January 6th, 1822. He was a member of the Presbyterian church since the early age of 16. He was married at Leitholm on Oct. 20th, 1844, to Jane Ingles, of Crossrig, Scotland, who is seven months his senior and still survives him. To their union nine children were born—six girls and three boys. Of these 6 are still living—four girls and two boys: Mrs. R. Foster, of Peterborough; Mrs. Jos. H. Lowe, of Emily; Robert, of Peterborough; Mrs. W. H. Foord, of Peterborough; Mrs. Richard Record, of Ashburnham, and Thos. G., of Rochester, N.Y.

In 1848 the deceased and his wife came to America, first settling in New York City for a short time. They then came to Peterborough county, where Mr. Telford followed his trade as mason for nine years, then moving to a farm in the township of Eanismore, where 33 years were spent. Six years ago they retired to Peterborough, where they lived at the time of his death.

The deceased, who was an elder brother of the late Wm. Telford, of Smith, the poet, was widely known by reason of the fact that for the past eighteen years he has been connected with the Meteorological Service of the Province of Ontario, being appointed in 1878 to an office requiring him to keep track of the rainfalls as they occurred. In 1890 he was supplied with the necessary instruments, and since that time has kept a most accurate record of the temperature, and to him the town owes a debt of gratitude for the faithful manner in which he discharged his duties, as proven by the reports which were furnished in the evening papers, with a regularity which

WAS MOST GRATIFYING.

The record was actually kept until Sunday evening, when the last entry was made in the register.

The deceased was one of the organizers of the local branch of St. Andrew's Society thirty-four years ago and since that time has been an honoured member in good standing and has occupied the presiding chair for several years. He was also the secretary-treasurer of the Eanismore branch of the Patrons of Husbandry for six or seven years.

Whilst residing in Eanismore Mr. Telford was elected to the office of councillor for two years and afterwards held the position of township clerk for five years. He was appointed a justice of the peace in 1876, and for seven years was the secretary treasurer of Myrtle cheese factory.

Whilst living on his farm in Eanismore, the deceased at the same time pursued his avocation as a mason and under his direction the Hilliard mill was erected, as well as a large number of the most substantial residences in Smithtown. The English church in Lakefield was also erected by him.

Mr. Telford was a member of the Presbyterian church since the early age of 16 years, and at the time of his death was connected with St. Andrew's church, town.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, No. 38 Paterson street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery. The pallbearers will be the two sons of the deceased and his four sons-in-law, all of whom, together with his daughters, are in Peterboro ugh.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Jeremiah Corkery.

On Sunday Margaret Kelleher, relict of the late Jeremiah Corkery, entered into rest at the age of 73 years. The deceased lady was a native of County Cork, Ireland. She came with her husband to Canada forty years ago and settled in the south ward, first occupying a house on George street, which has since been burned. In the fall of 1878 death deprived her of her husband. She has been an invalid for many years, suffering from rheumatism, but her last illness was of only one week's duration. She leaves six direct descendants to mourn her loss, Messrs. John, Thomas, Peter and Miss Corkery, town, and Messrs. James and Michael Corkery, residing in the Parry Sound district. The late Mrs. Corkery, by virtue of her long residence in town, had a wide circle of acquaintances, who, with the community in general, held her in very high esteem. The funeral takes place tomorrow (Tuesday) from the family residence, 169 Perry street, at 3 o'clock p.m.

Death of the Widow of the Late Dr. Coulter.

The following obituary is taken from the Blue Rapids (Kansas) Times of Nov. 12th: The people of Blue Rapids and vicinity were shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Wm. Coulter, which occurred at the family residence, Genesee street, Tuesday, 3rd inst, at 10 p.m. She was surrounded by her husband and all her children living in Blue Rapids, and died quietly in the arms of her daughter, Mrs. Laughlin, who has been devoted to her attendance during a period of nearly two years. The bereaved husband and family have the sympathy of the entire community in their affliction. Mr. Coulter has been a resident of Blue Rapids for 22 years, coming from Peterborough, Ontario, Canada. She was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1826, the only daughter of an officer in the British army, and removed to Canada in 1841, when her father had retired from active service. She was married in 1843 to Dr. Wm. Coulter, of Peterborough, Canada, a practicing physician and druggist of that place, and reared a family of ten children, all but one of whom are living to-day. Her sons, Doctors C. L. Coulter, of New York city, and Harold L. Coulter, of St. Joseph, Mo., who was absent in Utah at the time of her death, were unable to arrive in time for the funeral. Mrs. Coulter had suffered from dropsy due to endocarditis, during a period of two years. Her first attack responded readily to treatment, and she had been enjoying fair health until about ten months ago, when she was again attacked. Everything that medical skill could do was done by her physician, Dr. Plehn, whose diagnosis and treatment of her case has been confirmed by the best physicians of St. Joseph and her son, Dr. Coulter, of New York. Mrs. Coulter had just returned on Saturday evening, the 31st ult., from a visit to her son, H. B. Coulter of St. Joseph, and while feeling fatigued from the effects of her journey, no serious results were anticipated. She was conscious until seven o'clock Tuesday evening, when her breathing became difficult and she quietly passed away. The funeral service took place on Friday at 2 p.m., at the family residence, and was conducted by Rev. W. N. McHarg, assisted by Rev. F. Dametz. The members of the Methodist choir sang appropriate hymns. The casket was covered by beautiful floral offerings from loving friends. The remains were interred in Prospect Hill Cemetery.

Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Georgina Island Indians and Fishing Privileges.

DISPUTE OVER MINING MACHINERY

British Columbia Firm Wanted to Get in a Chicago-Made Tramway Free of Duty But it Didn't Work—Jamaica Man Searching for Agricultural Knowledge.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 20.—The Indians of Georgina Island, Lake Simcoe, have asked permission of the department to use gill nets during the close season for the purpose of catching fish for domestic use. As Lake Simcoe is one of the famous pleasure and angling resorts of Ontario, the Fisheries Department has prohibited the use in it of nets of every kind. Two years ago the Indians, on the representations of the Indian Department, were allowed to use gill nets during the close season for catching fish for domestic purposes. It was found, however, that the concession was grossly abused, large quantities of fish being shipped to market. The department does not propose to allow a repetition of such action, and has simply granted permission to the Indians to use trolls during the close season, this method of fishing furnishing them with ample supplies of food.

Rev. W. Sims, principal of University College, Jamaica, who has been commissioned by the Governor of that colony to enquire into the system of experimental farms and agricultural colleges in Canada, arrived here to-day and saw the leading officers of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Sims will visit the experimental farm to-morrow, and then go on to Toronto and Guelph. The Jamaica Government purposes establishing an agricultural college and dairy schools, and Mr. Sims secured some valuable information from Prof. Robertson and Statistician Johnson.

An interesting dispute over the importation of what is alleged to be mining machinery has arisen between the Lillooet, Fraser River and Cariboo Gold Fields Company and the Customs Department. Under the tariff mining and smelting machinery of a class or kind not manufactured in Canada is admitted duty free. Under this item, which is usually liberally interpreted by the department, large quantities of mining machinery have been so imported into the Dominion. The Lillooet Company is anxious to bring in what is known as an Otto tramway to be utilized for conveying quarts from the company's mines to the concentrator. It is classed by the shippers, a Chicago firm, as "machinery," but the department can hardly see it in that light. The shippers have made the customary declaration that the tramway is "machinery of a class or kind not made in Canada." The department, however, holds that it is made in Canada and quotes the names of three different firms turning such "machinery" out.

Mr. R. F. Holterman of Brantford, secretary of the Ontario Beekeepers' Association, had an interview to-day with officials of the Inland Revenue Department on the subject of inspection of honey. The association desires that the departmental inspection should be conducted on practical lines, and to that end Mr. Holterman invited the chief analyist, Mr. MacFarlane, to attend the meeting of the Provincial Beekeepers, to be held shortly in Toronto. The Controller has given his consent, and Mr. MacFarlane will attend the gathering.

The steamer Ida sank in the Rideau Canal locks this morning. She had to cut through some frozen sawdust at the foot of the locks, which tore holes in her sides. When the vessel sank the water was at once let out and carpenters repaired her so that the boat was able to reach her wharf to unload: 65 barrels of sugar were destroyed by the water getting to them.

The assistant engineer of the Soulanges Canal, Mr. Allison, has been dismissed. It is said he was responsible for the late trouble between the department and the contractor, Mr. Stewart.

The Postmaster-General is contemplating a re-arrangement of the work done by the staff employed in the Montreal postoffice. Mr. Sweetnam, Postoffice Inspector, has been investigating the facts. Mr. Mulock has had his attention directed to other cases of stamp vending, similar to Toronto, and these have been summarily dealt with, the contract being usually handed over to the party who does the actual work. One stamp vending case was discovered at Halifax.

The Bristol iron mine, in which a number of Ottawa capitalists are interested, has filled a contract with a Pennsylvania firm for a thousand car loads of ore. They expect to make another big shipment next spring.

Messrs. E. A. C. Pew and F. P. Brazill of Toronto were here to-day and closed an important deal with two Ottawa men, Messrs. Desjardins and Pigeon, by which they acquire a splendid mica property. It is situated three miles from Gracefield on the Gatineau Valley Railway, and consists of some 200 acres. The price paid is not mentioned. A dozen men are engaged in the mine and 16 openings have been made. Mr. Horace Thorne will be the head of the new syndicate, which will place the property on the market.

Rescued From the Deep.

London, Nov. 20.—The Norwegian brig S. N. Hansen, Captain Rasmussen, from Apalachicola, which arrived at Garston to-day, brought to port three of the crew of the American brig Mary T. Kimball, Captain Powers, from Mobile, August 29, for Guatanamo. The men were picked up on Oct. 3 in lat. 29n., long. 74w. The Kimball foundered Sept. 22, and her captain and four of the crew were lost.

BURNETT GOES BACK.

Attorney-General Hardy Consents to His Being Handed Over to the Officer From Louisville, Ky.

Napanee, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—Officer W. R. Brown arrived on the train this morning from Louisville, Ky., to take back with him James Burnett, alias Robert Stone, wanted in Louisville on a charge of murder. Jailer Van Luven refused to surrender Burnett without an order from the County Judge. Officer Brown, Consular Agent Templeton and County Attorney Warner applied for the order, but Judge Wilkinson refused to grant it, whereupon leave was asked from the Attorney-General to surrender Burnett. The Attorney-General wired back to hand the prisoner over to the United States officer if he was willing to go. Burnett left for Louisville this afternoon in charge of Officer Brown.

The oldest Masonic inscription in America was found at Annapolis, N.S., recently by Mr. R. G. Haliburton, formerly of Ottawa, a gentleman celebrated for scientific research. The inscription, which is upon stone, and bears the date, 1606, has been lent by its owner to Mr. Sandford Fleming, who has deposited it at the Canadian Institute in this city. For years the curio was supposed to have been lost. Mr. Haliburton, who is staying at the Rossin House, proposes handing it over to some responsible Masonic institute which will undertake to properly treasure it.

TURNED OUT A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Davenport Was Robbed of $8000 and Now Gets Back $27,000 for It.

The Dalles, Oregon, Nov. 20.—Over 20 years ago Louis Davenport of Mosier was robbed of $8000 worth of gold dust. Recently a stranger came here, hinting that he might make a disclosure about the theft. The man visited Mr. Davenport at Mosier last week, and yesterday, as a result of that visit, Mr. Davenport came to this city. The man who picked up his grip containing the $8000 in gold dust was known to this stranger. Some time since, realizing that he was approaching the grave, the thief made a will in which he provided for the repayment of the $8000 with interest at legal rates from the day it was taken. The ill-gotten money prospered in his hands, and to-day amounts to over $27,000, which will be paid to Mr. Davenport.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10¾ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000,00 a year.

Ill-health is the "Sword of Damocles" that hangs suspended by a slender thread above the heads of thousands of men. In the end-of-the-century rush and crush, men forget and neglect everything but money-getting. They forget that the facility for money-getting is in the long run dependent upon a sound mind in a sound body. The man who is too busy with his business to spare a moment to look after his health, will eventually lose both health and business. A man may be in too big a hurry. The man who would be permanently successful should take time to eat, time to digest his food, time to sleep, and time to look after the most precious endowment—his health.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best-known medicine for the overworked man or woman. It keeps the system toned up. It makes the digestion perfect, the appetite keen, and the bowels regular. It makes blood—pure, rich, life-giving blood—and lots of it. It builds flesh and muscle. It invigorates the nerves. Thousands have testified to the benefits derived from its use. Druggists sell it.

"I have used quite a number of bottles of your medicines and have received a great deal of benefit from them," writes Urban Howell, Esq., of Tillmanville, Wayne Co., Pa. "In 1880 I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it cured me of the salt-rheum so that it did not break out again."

"The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" is a well named book. It is all that its title implies. It has proved a daily help in over a million families. The book contains 1,008 pages—over 300 illustrations. 680,000 copies of this book have been sold at $1.50 each. Now an edition, in heavy paper covers, is to be given away to whoever will send 21 cents in one cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. A copy in cloth binding may be had for 50 stamps.

PROF. HUGO'S THANKS

BY DAVID A. CURTIS.

[Copyright, 1896.]

It was a cry for help.

Professor Hugo laid down his geological hammer and put the specimen he had just chipped off carefully away in his knapsack, and then straightened up, listening. He never did anything in a hurry.

Again the cry sounded. It was a girlish voice, and it sounded from down the mountain. He was half way up the side. "Help! Help! Quick!"

"I better go, maybe," muttered the professor in his queer German speech, and then he raised his voice and shouted: "Fear not! I come!"

One could not say he hurried even then, but there was no hesitation, and there was not a misstep.

Presently he stopped and listened. Hearing nothing, he called out: "Where you are now? Call out to me again!"

"Right here. Oh, come quick!" answered the voice only a few yards to the right. Stepping around a bowlder that was lodged on the mountain side, he saw a young girl lying flat on the grass. Before she could speak he understood her peril.

She was almost at the edge of a cliff not less than 40 feet in height, and below her was a mass of jagged rocks. The slope on which she lay was steep, and the short grass that covered it was so dried and burned by the sun that it was as slippery, almost, as ice. Moreover, the soil in which it grew was hardly more than a sheet of forest mold over a smooth rock, and there was no chance for her to get even a slight hold by digging her fingers into it.

"You are hurt? No?" he asked quickly.

"No, sir," answered the girl as coolly as if she had been lying on a sofa. "But every time I try to move I slip a little nearer the edge, and there is nothing to keep me from falling over if I slip any farther."

"That is right," said the professor, "and it is good for you that I hear. Lie still now, and I will soon up get you."

It was not so easy, however, as it looked and as he at first thought it was. On either side of her he could get within some 20 feet of where she was without venturing on the treacherous grass himself and so losing his own foothold. But, though he could have held out a stick or improvised a rope that she could reach across that distance, it would not do to pull her along the edge without some stay from the upper part of the slope, and that was fully 30 feet above her.

"I could go for a rope," he said presently, after he had studied the situation a moment, "but how far away is some house? I do not know."

"It would take you an hour to go and get back," said the girl. "Can you not do something else? If I had only a little thing to hold on to, I could crawl back, but I dare not"—

"No, no, Franklin!" interrupted the professor. "You must lie still. I will something do."

Opening his knapsack, he fumbled inside of it for a moment and drew out a stout gray flannel shirt. This he tore into strips, and, knotting the strips together, he had in a little while a string long enough to reach across the dangerous slope. As he worked he chatted with the girl, who was cool enough now that some one was near to aid her.

She had been picking berries, she told him, and, although she knew the ground well and understood how treacherous the grassy slopes were, after the late summer sun scorched them, she had slipped from pure carelessness, and, falling, she had slid out of reach of the bushes. Struggling to rise, she had slipped farther and farther toward the edge until she realized that her only chance of safety was to lie still and call for help.

"And I was so thankful when I heard you answer," she said, "for I did not know but I would have to lie here till they missed me at home and came out to search for me."

"Yes, it was good that I study the rocks today," said the professor. "But now lie still some more till my rope shall touch your fingers. Then do not too hard pull it, for it is not so strong. But it will help you a little, and you can up the hill creep carefully." And he tied a small stone to one end of the string and slid it down toward her till she grasped it, he holding the other end.

It was very easy then for her, having something to steady her, to make her way upward to where he stood, at the edge of the slope, holding the string firmly. All went well till she came within reach of his outstretched hand, when, as he stooped to lift her to her feet, his own footing gave way, and he fell headlong beside her on the slippery grass.

He strove in vain to stop himself, grasping frantically at the grass, which broke as he clutched it. Carried swiftly by the momentum of his fall, he slipped smoothly down to the very edge and over it, falling, with a loud cry, sheer over the cliff.

The girl called out twice, but there was no answer, and with a terrible fear lest she should find only a lifeless body she hastened around by the nearest practicable way to the foot of the cliff.

He was not dead, as he found immediately. But when he tried to rise he could not.

"My leg is broken," he said, "and I am bad hurted on my inside. You must now to me bring help, for I am as you were."

"Yes, yes," answered the girl. "I will go. But how can you stay alone? It will be more than an hour before I can get anybody here who can carry you to the house."

"Ach! That is bad," said the professor. "But I will do as I can best. If you will look my knapsack in and give me the little flask there, I can wait, but be not longer as you can help."

"I will be as quick as I can," said the girl after she had brought the knapsack to him and given him a drink.

It was a long hour for the poor professor, and before it was over he had fainted, despite his flask, so that when John Bascom came back with his daughter he shook his head gravely, fearing that his help was too late. He could do nothing, however, but wait till his son should come up with the neighbors, for whom he had sent. And when they had carried him to the Bascom farmhouse and the village doctor had come and examined him and set his bones they found that they would have him to care for for several weeks.

"It seems kind o' hard it should be so, Maria, bein as you've got about all to do 't you can stand," said Mr. Bascom to his wife, "but I don't see as 'twould be decent not to care for him."

"Why, we've just got to, John," said Mrs. Bascom. "And dear sux knows we can't grudge him nothin. If it hadn't 'a' been for him Ella might 'a' been killed."

But if the Bascom household was poor in worldly goods, as it certainly was, and if it was a serious tax on the family purse to provide the medicines the sufferer needed and a drain on the strength of the mother and daughter to nurse him as assiduously as they did, no hint of these facts appeared. The professor was not allowed to want for anything that could be had, nor did he see any but a cheerful countenance in the house. He was not blind, however, nor was he backward about asking questions when he recovered sufficiently to talk.

He went straight to the point with a directness that would have seemed grossly impertinent in a neighbor, but which appeared childlike simplicity in this queer foreigner who spoke such twisted English.

"What for do you stay where the land so poor is?" he asked one day. "You are a farmer. Why do you not sell and to the west go? There you will do better as here, where your fields are all tipped on one side up and rock full."

"Well, I've had a sort o' hankerin to go west for a long spell," said Mr. Bascom, "but 'tain't so easy to sell when there ain't anybody seekin to buy. I stay here because the farm's mine, an there ain't nothin else that is. I never could get forehanded enough to make a start, and it's all I can do to make a livin here."

"But the boy," said the professor, "will he all his life stay here also and be poor?"

"No!" exclaimed the father almost angrily. "Not if I'm spared long enough to care for his mother till he gets a start. He's bent on schoolin, and his mother and I are goin to see't he gets it. He'll have to work his own way, though," added the old man, with a little sigh. "We can't help him much."

"Yes, that is good," said the professor. "It is better as a boy his own education get."

And after that he talked with young John. The boy was shy at first, but under the professor's blunt questioning he soon warmed up enough to talk of his ambition. He wanted to be a civil engineer, he said, and the professor found that he had laid a good foundation for an education in the village academy and had bought and mastered a few good books.

Moreover, he was observant. One day when the professor was almost well he was looking over the specimens in his knapsack when John came and looked on. "There's a good deal of that kind of rock on the east side of the farm," he said, pointing to one of the chips.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ALWAYS CURE

AFTER TEN YEARS SUFFERING

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 29TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

DEATH OF MRS. GILBERT SCOTT, OF KINMOUNT.

The death of Mrs. Gilbert Scott of Kinmount, robs that village of one of its most respected and beloved citizens. Mrs. Scott had been suffering more or less from illness for the past couple of years, but the death of her eldest son, the late Searle W. Scott, last spring, gave her such a shock that her hold upon life seemed to gradually weaken ever since. Her sufferings were severe, but they were borne with Christian patience. She passed away peacefully on Sunday evening, November 15th, at the age of 68 years and 10 months surrounded by a large and devoted family, whose loving hearts and tender hands waited unceasingly upon her. They truly appreciated her worth and sincerely mourn her death.

The funeral took place on the following Tuesday, and was very largely attended, the people of Kimount and surrounding country turning out almost en masse, and there were many present from more distant localities.

At two o'clock the solemn procession was formed and the body, carried by six of Kinmount's most prominent citizens, was carefully borne to the Episcopal church, followed by mourning relatives numbering nearly forty persons; arriving at the church it was met by Rev. E. Soward, who read the beautiful burial services of the church and delivered an excellent address for the occasion, speaking most feelingly of her personal worth and example. On the arrival of the funeral cortege the church was found to be already half filled with female sympathizers belonging to the village and neighbourhood, and it was soon filled to overflowing, the great bulk of those in attendance remaining outside during the service. A large and efficient choir was in attendance, who rendered the hymns in solemn sweetness; Miss Graham at the close sang a solo, "Tired," very effectively and sympathetically. The covering of the glass top of the casket having been removed gave those present the opportunity of taking a last fond look at the still face. During this period the choir sang several beautiful hymns, at the conclusion of which the pall bearers transferred the body to the hearse, which stood awaiting its reception in front of the church. The procession re-formed, marching to the Kinmount cemetery, where all that was mortal of the beloved wife, mother and friend were solemnly and affectionately deposited in the bosom of mother earth.

GALWAY.

From our own Correspondent.

The municipal council of the Township of Galway met at the usual place on Nov. 12th, pursuant to adjournment. Members all present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. On motion, arrears of taxes on lot 23, concession 10, was reduced to $5.59, and M. O'Brien allowed to work out the same on road leading to the said lot. On motion the Clerk was instructed to notify the County Treasurer that the Collector paid by order of council $36 92, arrears collected on lot 4, concession 4, and owed by this Council to M. Mansfield. On motion, the following are to be the polling divisions: From lot 20 east and north of Swamp lake, Cavendish included, poll to be at Austin J. Ford's; and from lot 21, west to the boundary, and south of Swamp lake included, poll to be at Mrs. Hartnett's, with nominations as usual. On motion, Daniel Sheehan was appointed Collector and Assessor for the year 1896-97, salary to be $29.75. Bylaw No. 177 received its several readings and was signed and sealed. On motion the Council proposes to sell at its next meeting lot 23 concession 12, lot 30 concession 18, and several other lots held by the Municipal Council. Parties interested should govern themselves accordingly. On motion, Council adjourned to meet on Dec, 15th next.

THE TRADE RETURNS

Substantial Increase Shown for Four Months.

EXPORTS INCREASED LAST MONTH

But Imports Fell Off a Million—A Reduction Also in the Amount of Duty Collected—Who Will be Surgeon-General of the Militia?—Other Ottawa Items.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—Trade returns for four months of the current fiscal year show an increase in exports amounting to $4,727,000 and imports of $2,163,000. For the past month the exports increased $1,469,000. The imports, however, fell off $1,095,000. There was a reduction in the amount of duty last month of $186,000, making the total revenue from customs for the four months $123,000 less than for the corresponding period last year.

The Free Press has some references to the vacant position of Surgeon-General of the Canadian militia. It says that Dr. Ryerson of Toronto is the only officer properly qualified to perform the duties, but his age and length of service are such as to hardly entitle him to the post. Dr. Borden's name is also mentioned for the office.

Mr. Justice Rose held a weekly sitting of the High Court yesterday, when the appeal of the County of Carleton from the award of the arbitrators fixing the amount to be paid by the city of Ottawa for jail and jury expenses for the next five years was argued. At the conclusion Judge Rose dismissed the appeal, basing his decision on the case of the County of York v. Toronto. The result of the arbitration is a net sum to the city of $2000 a year for the next five years.

The Customs Department has given its decision in the application for free admission of a wire tramway for use at the mine of the Lillooet, Fraser River and Cariboo Gold Fields Company. It is held that the tramway does not come under the category of mining machinery, but of transportation, and is therefore dutiable.

Messrs. Reford & Company, steamship agents in Montreal, telegraphed to the Marine Department yesterday asking that the buoys on the St. Lawrence might remain out a little longer in order to enable their vessels to get away to Europe with safety.

Rev. Mr. Horner, leader of a sect known in this section as the "Hornerites," and who applied to Parliament last session for an act of incorporation of the Wesleyan Methodist New Connection body, which request was refused by Parliament, now gives notice of application for incorporation of a religious body to be known as "The Holiness Movement" (or church).

Application is also being made to Parliament for charters to two roads in Southern British Columbia.

The deposits in postoffice savings banks last month exceeded withdrawals by $20,000.

The Government have had the lecture which Capt. Lee delivered in the different military camps this year printed and sent to officers of the force, in order that they may learn all about "mobilization," or how a military force should take the field.

Some 60,000 acres of swamp lands in Manitoba have been surveyed this year and set aside for purposes of the province.

Letters patent for incorporatioin have been granted to the S. S. Ryckman Medicine Company.

The Bridgburg and Black Rock Ferry Company have also been incorporated by letters patent.

Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson returned to the city yesterday.

Sir Oliver Mowat returned to the city last evening.

From present appearances Gen. Gascoigne will not be able to take part in the Thanksgiving review at Toronto. He is under a promise to inspect the crack 43rd Battalion on that day.

The Grey Nuns have made an offer to the corporation to take over the Porter's Island Hospital and undertake to handle all cases of contagious diseases in the city.

ONE TRUST STRANGLED.

Collapse of the Great Wire Nail Monopoly Which Has Levied Tribute for a Year and a Half.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—A morning paper says: The great wire nail trust, which has levied tribute on the people of the United States and Canada since June 1, 1895, has collapsed, and will endeavor to wind up its affairs Dec. 1. Sales agents, representing mills within the pool, were yesterday scrambling to sell nails at $1.70 per keg in Chicago, which is precisely $1 below the trust's regular price, and jobbers were selling in lots of from one to 1000 kegs from store at $2 per keg. Before the end of the present week the price will undoubtedly be down to $1.25 per keg, or within 30 cents of the lowest price they ever sold here. The trust is thrown up both hands, and in a circular to the jobbers gives them liberty to sell at any price they please. Troubles have multiplied on the trust's head very rapidly during the last eight months. In that time the money which poured into its coffers during the early months of its career has had to be used to buy up at round prices the opposition mills which sprang up on all sides, as well as to meet a multitude of other expenses. Not the least of these was the maintenance of a regular force of inspectors almost as large as the Government secret service, to keep the members of the pool in line.

A $500,000 WINDFALL.

Mr. Covington, an Old Man Living in Stouffville, Has Just Been Notified of His Big Legacy.

Toronto, Nov. 22.

Word reached the city yesterday that an old man by the name of Covington, who was for years section boss on the Midland at Stouffville, Ont., has just been notified that his sister in England died the other day, leaving him a legacy of $500,000. The old man has been for some time in reduced circumstances, and the bequest means a sudden and tremendous bettering of his fortunes.

Four children share the benefit of the big legacy—two sons, William and Walter, proprietors of The Stouffville Free Press, and the unmarried daughters, Addie and Martha.

FOULLY DONE TO DEATH.

A Young Man Found Dying in the North End of Montreal.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—A mysterious case, in which it is believed a man was foully done to death, has been reported to the police. Thomas Cummings, a young man living on Canning-street, left his home yesterday morning and a few hours afterward was found in an unconscious condition in the north end of the city. He was brought to the hospital, where he lingered until the evening and expired. The man had evidently been the victim of foul play, having been brutally kicked. An inquest will be held.

WHOLE FAMILY INSANE.

Death of One of Their Number Sends Them Into Religious Delirium and All are Arrested.

New York, Nov. 22.—On the complaint of Father Dietrick, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Justice Bray of Vineland, N.J., yesterday issued warrants for the arrest of an entire family of religious fanatics, who broke up the services in the church last Sunday. The whole family are believed to be insane over the death of a member several months ago.

Since then they have been holding continual meetings of song and prayer on the grave and on the church steps. They even neglected to harvest their crops on their farm. Last Sunday they entered the church during consecration and turned the meeting into an uproar by their cries and peculiar actions. The family believe the eldest son, Louis Jorio, inspired by the Virgin Mary.

Officers arrested the father and two sons on the church steps this morning. When Justice Bray sent them to jail Louis, "the inspired one," produced a Bible and sang weirdly in the court room while the father and the other son danced about him.

Officers with difficulty removed the fanatics to their cells.

When Louis was searched a dagger was found concealed in his clothing.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucassus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

Get Ready in Good Time!

Don't Be Afraid

It is'nt too soon to leave your measures for your Winter Overcoat or Suit. All that's left of Fall is its "bark."

You must feel shabby and uncomfortable in your old clothes. Heavier garments for thin ones, warm colours for light ones. You have got to change, and you'll feel better right away.

We are willing to wait for slower people than you, but let us tell you fairly: sharper people are getting and enjoying advantages that you do not.

Because we made you a Suit or Overcoat two or three years ago, and it won't wear out, that's no reason why you should'nt have a new one with the latest style in it.

OUR OTTAWA BUDGET

The Metric System of Weights and Measures.

NO TWO-CENT POSTAGE RATE YET.

The Postmaster-General Takes a Pointer From the Uncle Sam's Experience—Gen. Gascoigne Doesn't See What All the Fuss is About Over These Promotions.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—(Special.)—A circular of the British Board of Trade announces that a bill will be re-introduced at the next session of the Imperial Parliament to make the metric system of weights and measures permissive in England, leaving for future effort the compulsory introduction of the system as was recommended by the Select Committee. Petitions asking for compulsory introduction of the metric system in Canada some time ago were plentifully showered upon the Department of Inland Revenue, but when interpellated in the House last session upon the subject, Sir Henri Joly, the Controller, announced that it was not the policy of Government to accede to the proposition for the use of the metric system being now permissive in this country.

From present appearances there is little prospect of the Postmaster-General acceding to the request of the Montreal and other Boards of Trade for a reduction of the internal postage rate to two cents. Officers of the department have been looking into the matter and have come to the conclusion that if penny postage were instituted it would swell the deficits of the department by about three-quarters of a million, or a million and a half all told, for the year. When the United States Government adopted the two cent rate there was an annual surplus as a result of the workings of the Postal Department. As soon as the rate was reduced this surplus was converted into a deficit amounting last year to over $9,000,000. The United States Government officials thought a reduction in the cost of postage would be met by a corresponding increase in correspondence, but it seems that they were mistaken in this calculation. Evidently the country had about reached the maximum amount of letter writing. Because people could send three letters at the former cost of two, it has not followed that three letters have been written. There has been no corresponding increase in the amount of letter writing, thus accounting for the annual deficit. The Canadian Government, profiting by the experience of the United States, does not propose to make any change in rates of postage, which, as things now stand, would simply mean putting money into one pocket and taking it out of another.

General Gascoigne had a talk with the Minister of Militia to-day regarding brevet promotions of officers of the permanent corps.

In the course of a conversation with your correspondent the General said he could not understand the reason for the outcry against the recent promotions. Personally he held the view that it was only fair and just to give the permanent corps a position equal to that of the active force. The chief duty of officers of the permanent force was as instructors, and for this reason it was only right to place those officers in a position nearly equal to those they would be called upon to instruct. It must be borne in mind, moreover, that the chances of promotion in the permanent corps were much smaller than was the case with the active force. When the matter was better understood he thought the active force would see the justice of the recent action of the department. As far as he was aware, the promotions had been made simply on the ground that he had stated, viz., to raise the status of these officers as instructors. It must be borne in mind that all the officers promoted possessed first-class grade A certificates, and personally he (the General) would not be sorry if the Minister gave the brevet rank to all officers of the active militia who possessed such qualifications.

No official confirmation of the report that the Government has decided to purchase the Baie des Chaleurs Railway can be obtained, but it looks very much like as if the step were in contemplation. Mr. Ridout, one of the engineers of the Railways Department, and Mr. Beauchemin, a Quebec engineer, are at present examining the road. If the Government decides to buy it will be operated as a branch of the Intercolonial.

Notice will appear in The Canada Gazette next Saturday of application to Parliament for a charter to build the Fort Frances and Pacific Railway, a line projected from Wabigoon, on the C. P. R., through the Manitou country to Rainy River, and touching at nearly all the chief mining camps. Electricity will be the motive power used, and it is expected to generate it by means of the splendid water powers along the route.

A deputation representing the Ottawa Typographical Union waited on Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State, on Saturday, and made some suggestions regarding the employment of printers in the Governent printing bureau. What the delegates principally desired was that about one hundred of the hands in the bureau should be made permanent, so that they would not at any time be liable to be laid off when a slackness of work came on. They held that the balance of the staff would be extra hands, and that when any men were suspended for a time for want of work they should be drawn from the extra hands. Mr. Scott promised to consider the matter.

With reference to the proposed action of the Toronto committee charged with the arrangements of the International Epworth League to invite President McKinley to Canada next summer, it is pointed out that it is contrary to the constitution of the United States for the President to leave the country during his term of office, hence it is altogether unlikely that the invitation will be accepted.

EXIT SPANISH HOPES.

General Colazo Says, With the Valuable Aid of the United States, the Cuban Cause Will Triumph.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 23.—Gen. Colazo writes to his family in this city from Santo Tomas, Eastern Cuba, saying: "The excellent and intelligent way with which our friends in the United States have worked and the rapid arrival of expedition after expedition means the exit of all Spanish hopes.

"I cannot give exact figures, but can say we have at least 23,000 fully equipped men and 3000 more properly drilled ready to take their places in the army as soon as we have means to arm them. In the last revolution of ten years we never had more than 8000 men armed, and we were always short of ammunition. Now we have three times as many men, a plentiful supply of ammunition and a perfect faith in our ultimate triumph.

"It seems the Spanish have lost all hope of ruling here, but they believe in accumulating forces in the Vuleta Abajo (Pinar del Rio) district. They are going to pacify the island in sections. They will soon find out their mistake. Each locality has its own forces, thoroughly acquainted with the country they defend, always on the watch and fighting independently wherever they are most needed."

NIAGARA FALLS NOTES.

New Industry Family Nearly Asphyxiated by Coal Gas.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—The Niagara Falls metal works are putting in a mayyenble iron foundry, the contract for which is let to Newman Bros. of St. Catharines. These works for the manufacture of harness hardware, are the largest of their kind in Canada, and it is a new industry at this place, having only been in operation a few months. Additions and extensions are rapidly being added to the plant, and the works are promising a big industry.

William Webb, a carpenter, while at work on a new residence being erected on Queen street, fell from a scaffolding this morning and sustained serious internal injuries.

Alfred Smith, wife and three children of Niagara Falls South, were almost asphyxiated by coal gas while asleep last night. The whole family would probably have died had not the eldest son regained enough consciousness to realize the situation and admit fresh air to the house. They ... since been very ill.

MOTHER-IN-LAW CASE

The Trial of Lady Tina Scott in London.

GREAT CROWD IN THE COURT ROOM

Sir Frank Lockwood Outlines the Prosecution's Side and Vigorously Denounces the Alleged Effort to Extort Blackmail Prince of Wales at Blenheim.

London, Nov. 23.—The trial of Lady Tina Scott, mother of Countess Russell, and the other defendants, Cockerton, Kast and Aylott, upon a charge of criminally libelling Earl Russell, Lady Scott's son-in-law, began in the Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, this morning. The court room was crowded, most of the spectators being persons well known in fashionable life. Sir Frank Lockwood, Q. C., for the prosecution, stated that Kast and Aylott were cabin boys on board Earl Russell's yacht in 1883 and that Cockerton was the engineer of the vessel. Since that time the Earl had never seen any of them.

Counsel then referred to the Earl's unhappy marriage and the disgusting charges which had been brought against him by Countess Russell at the instigation of her mother, Lady Scott, upon the reputed statements of the other defendants, Kast, Aylott and Cockerton.

Sir Frank Lockwood, continuing, called attention to the action at law which Countess Russell had brought against her husband, Earl Russell, more than a year ago for the purpose, as alleged, of obtaining a restitution of her conjugal rights. This litigation, he said, had been incited by Lady Scott, and, though its ostensible object was the restoration of Countess Russell's marital rights, the real purpose was to extort money from the Earl.

At this point in the argument of the counsel for the prosecution Lady Scott became greatly agitated and smote the front of the dock violently with her hands.

Continuing his remarks, counsel declared that no woman could be so base as to desire her daughter to resume cohabitation with her husband if she believed that the charges of immorality and cruelty which Countess Russell had brought against the Earl, and which had not been supported by the evidence in the Countess' original suit for judicial separation, were true.

Sir Frank Lockwood then read statements made by the prisoner Kast, alleging the commission of an indecent act by Lord Russell on board his yacht on the night of June 19, 1883. Earl Russell, he said, could prove that on the night in question he had slept in Winchester and did not go on board his yacht until June 20. Proof of Lady Scott's animus and tendency toward blackmail, he said, was shown in the fact that circulars containing the terrible charges against Earl Russell were sent to the masters of the schools in which Lord Russell was educated. Counsel gave another instance of the falsity of the charges by showing that when Earl Russell took measures to bring Kast and Cockerton to justice they were examined privately as to the time and place of the acts alleged and they were obliged to withdraw their accusations. Sir Frank Lockwood concluded by saying that the whole affair was a horrible conspiracy instigated by wicked women's wit.

At this point in the proceedings Lady Scott was permitted to leave the dock upon the understanding that she should not be permitted to communicate with any one of the witnesses in the case.

Sir Frank Locwood, resuming his argument, said that Lady Scott first came into communication with Cockerton, Kast and Aylott in November, 1895, when blackmailing designs were arranged with Countess Russell. Then, he said, Kast's brother wrote to the Earl, saying that an agent of Lady Scott was searching for his brother, who was in the army in India, with a view of getting his assistance in making charges against His Lordship Earl Russell immediately consulted his solicitors, who wired Kast warning him that he was being made a catspaw in the concoction of filthy charges.

It was eventually ascertained that Lady Scott's agents bought Kast out of the army in India and supplied him with money. While in Bombay Kast wrote to a private in his old regiment saying that he was staying at the best hotel in Bombay, with seven rupees a day and everything found except strong drinks. In fact he was "doing the heavy" at no expense to himself. It would be proved, Sir Frank Lockwood said, that Lady Scott's detective, Smith, had supplied Kast with money.

THE RICE FAMILY.

Father and Son Are Apparently On the Road to Recovery—Others at Work Again.

Bowmanville, Nov. 23.—(Special.)—The unfortunate family of Elijah Rice, Long Bault, who were suffering last week from religious mania, are now greatly improved, with every prospect of a complete recovery. Dr. J. C. Mitchell, Enniskillen, the family physician, has received a communication from C. K. Clarke, M.D., medical superintendent of Rockwood Hospital, Kingston, in which he states: "I am pleased to be able to report a very decided improvement in the conditions of Mr. Elijah Rice and his son Lewis. I have every expectation that they will both soon be well again. Lewis' head wounds have healed nicely. There was a small abscess in connection with the cut at the vortex, but it is healing. They have both slept every night, and all night, since the first without any hypnotic. They have conversed with each other a few times."

Dr. Mitchell states that Mrs. Rice is improving, and the other members of the family at home are now apparently as well as ever, and are carrying on the farm work as though nothing unusual had occurred. The public will be glad to learn of their probable complete recovery.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES PREVENTION.

When the Provincial Board of Health, as well as the local Boards, were formed and began actively to interest themselves in the taking of precautions to prevent the spread of contagious diseases by placarding houses where the infection existed and by insisting on isolation as complete as possible, there were found those who claimed to regard such a course of action as an interference with the liberty of the subject; but now we find quite an opposite state of; sentiment existing in the public mind. If local boards of health, or in their absence, township councils, neglect the duty of looking after proper isolation and kindred precautions, public outcry is at once raised. In Fitzroy township, Carleton county, farmers and others are expressing the liveliest indignation over a neglected case of diphtheria. A member of a poor family contracted the disease away from home, and the board of health did not take steps for isolation by sending the patient to a hospital instead of allowing him to be taken home. The consequence was that other members of a family of seven took the disease and four died. Even in the prosperous community where the infected house stood could there be found any neighbour or nurse to assist in caring for the afflicted family, the only attention being that given by the local doctor on his twice-a-day visits. The consequence of this non-action on the part of local authorities was that, instead of the disease being confined to the single patient in the isolation ward of a hospital, the whole family was attacked and four have since died and there is danger of the dreadful disease spreading to other homes in the vicinity. In a deadly disease like diphtheria complete separation from healthy households is the first consideration and primarily on physicians, but equally so on boards of health and township councils, rests the responsibility of taking the steps indicated. As a rule, and it is so in this vicinity, physicians do their share promptly, reporting such cases to the authorities. But it seems that this is not always the case. At the last meeting of the township council of Otonabee the clerk was instructed to notify all physicians having a practice in that township, whether resident or not, that they will be prosecuted if they fail to report the existence of contagious diseases, occurring in their practice, to the local board of health. We expect physicians, who are, from their special knowledge, supposed to be most deeply impressed with the necessity of isolation and kindred precautions, to take the lead in protecting the public, but in country practice, with the difficulties of prompt communication, it seems inevitable that there should be, if not neglect, some delay, but even this delay should be reduced to a minimum. It cannot be impressed to strongly that in the case, especially of the dread diphtheria, prevention is better than cure, and no householder, who is visited with a contagious disease, should object to having his place properly placarded, so that exposure to the infection may be avoided, and the danger of numerous deaths averted.

THE Chicago Herald declares in the event of war with Spain, that the American navy is enormously superior to that of Spain in a "stand-up fight"—and a lie-down fight, too. If a Spanish ship should run against the formidable warship Texas, at the bottom of a harbour, she might get dangerously hurt.

THE St. Thomas Journal has the following to say in reference to the new County Council Act:—"The new Act reducing the membership of the county councils will effect a large saving and result in business being more satisfactorily and expeditiously transacted. It will, we believe, result in raising the standard of county councils by the election of stronger men. The fact that a councillor is elected for two years, and does not require to serve in any of the minor municipal bodies, will result, we believe, in securing men of higher attainments and better equipped to serve the public. There are many such who would serve in the county council, but who were not obtainable under the old system because they objected to first serving in the village or township councils. As the standard of ability of members of the Provincial and Dominion Legislature is higher than that of municipal councils, so will, we believe, under the new Act the standard of county councils be raised above that of minor municipal bodies."

A GOOD POSTAL IDEA.

An interesting suggestion is made by a correspondent of the New York Herald, who says that in England, when one has a large number of letters or circulars to mail at one time, he need not be at the trouble of affixing a stamp on each one of them, but may carry them to the post office, pay the postage due on the whole, and pass them in. No postage stamps are affixed, but the office simply stamps them "Paid," and they are forwarded.

This is an idea very well worth the consideration of our own post master general.

The post office clerks have to mark each envelope already, in cancelling the stamps, so there would be no extra trouble for them, while it would save business offices the time and trouble of pasting stamps on each separate letter or circular.—Ottawa Journal.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The weather is delightful here at present and the roads are drying up nicely.

The Government yacht, "The Empire," went through here on Tuesday. She towed a scow load of timber (furnished by Mr. C. Young) to Burleigh, where the Dominion Government is going to build some piers this fall.

There was a large black bear seen about a mile south of the Point this week. A member of the Pointers went out armed to the teeth to capture Mr. Bruin, but the last accounts are that no bear could be found.

Large numbers of hunters are going through here every day on their return from the back country with their deer and camping utensils. The settlers north of here say there were more deer captured last season than this fall. They don't approve of the new game laws, as there are a good many wounded deer left in the woods.

The steamer Mary Ellen is still running between Lakefield and Stony Lake, but Capt. Scollard will soon have to vacate the post for a warmer one.

There is some talk of a literary society being organized here. It would be a benefit to the people here, and would help to shorten the long winter nights.

A large deer was seen "a mile" from here this week. I don't see why hunters go so far away over a rough country when deer are so near. "See the Point!"

THE MAID OF TYRONE.

She Had Two Who Wanted Her Hand—The Second Man Got Her After a Struggle.

Tyrone, Ont., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—No sooner had the sad episode of the Rice family passed than another less shocking, but more amusing, has convulsed this community. About 15 years ago there left her native County of Tyrone, Ireland, a strapping, fine-featured young girl, named Margaret Jane Limestone. After a year spent in service in Toronto, she came to this neighborhood, where are living with Darlington farmers several others who emigrated to Canada from her native county. For the past 12 years Margaret Jane has lived with Mrs. Wesley Clemens, one of the best farm houses in West Durham, where she has received a thorough training in modern Canadian housekeeping. Her mistress was very fond of her and would gladly have kept her for many years to come. Maggie is possessed of an endless fund of wit and a peculiarity of her jokes is that she has never been known to repeat a joke or witticism, but always has a fresh one to suit every occasion. A short time ago a young Englishman from Cartwright, some 10 or 12 years Margaret Jane's junior, began to make love to the Maid of Tyrone. He was considered as green as a May meadow, but pressed his suit with uncertain success until finally Margaret Jane began to show signs of capitulation. The season's farming operations being about over, William Hurlberry came into the neighborhood to visit and succeeded in getting Margaret Jane to consent to wed him. She gave her mistress quitting notice and last week, when all arrangements were completed for the wedding at her brother James' on Friday night, Hurlberry borrowed a horse and carriage from Mr. W. H. Pollard, Salem, to take Margaret Jane to Bowmanville to secure a license. One condition was, when getting the horse from Mr. Pollard, that he was to get a shoe re-set in town. This William had done, and somewhat surprised Margaret Jane by asking her to pay 15 cents demanded by the smith. They next proceeded to the issuer of marriage licenses and made the necessary declarations and the license was filled out and presented to William, accompanied by the words, "Two dollars, please." Here Margaret Jane got another surprise, when William said, "she" will pay the money. Margaret Jane paid the money, but when they left the office, William got the most eloquent dressing down he ever received. On the way home they discussed the matter warmly, and parted that night with a decided coolness in the realms of cupid's dominions. At 6 o'clock Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Clemens and a houseful of other friends met at Mr. Limestone's to witness the nuptial event. The hour arrived, but the bride came not forth and he did not come either. William had deceived her. He said he had money. He four cents left from his season's wages. The minister christened two children, the company ate the wedding dejeuner and, after a social chat, departed. There was a young man lying dead near the Limestons that night, or William would have had the warmest reception ever accorded a newly married man in this village.

The sequel to this interesting episode is, that next day William came round again, and, after earnest persuasion and a promise to retrieve the past and act a manly part, Margaret Jane consented to take him for better or for worse, and as the village minister had gone to Oshawa, off they trudged on foot to Hampton, five miles away, where Rev. E. E. Howard made the twain man and wife and Mrs. Hurlberry's 12 years' earnings will suffice to keep the wolf from the door until William gets a situation.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing But Dodd's Kidney Pills Could Touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 23—(Special)—Mr. W. P. Jackson, a telegraph operator of this place, has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—"Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal—and took the hot springs course, all to no purpose. I have taken doctors' advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I starting taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes, I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

Tobacco Heart!

Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, and tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc., are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are true heart and nerve food.

A MARVELLOUS RESCUE.

Paine's Celery Compound Brings Deliverance After All Other Means Fail.

The poor, weary, diseased and half-dead men and women who are deceived every day by the false representations of patent medicine vendors deserve our pity and sympathy.

These deluded mortals, influenced by false statements are led to use medicines that are worthless, having no curing virtues, and that are often dangerous to human life.

Fortunately for suffering humanity there is one truly scientific remedy that has proved its power over disease in thousands of cases after all other means had failed—even when the sufferer had almost reached the portals of the grave. The ever-reliable life-giver is Paine's Celery Compound, a medicine that has more grand cures to its credit than all other combined medicines can show.

The following thankful statement is made by Mr. P. J. Kilbride, postmaster at Inverness, Prince Edward Island. He says:

"I now write you about Paine's Celery Compound, having just finished the fifth bottle. It is impossible for me to say sufficient, or find words strong enough to praise Paine's Celery Compound as I ought.

"To-day I feel myself a new man. Six months ago I was on the brink of insanity; my nervous system was completely broken down; I could not sleep more than one or two hours at night, and often did not sleep for four nights in succession. Oh! I never can describe the agony I suffered. I was almost reduced to a skeleton; could only work an hour, when I was so fatigued I would be obliged to lie down and rest before I could resume work.

"The use of your Compound has given me rest and sweet sleep, and I can now work all day. To tell the honest, candid truth, I have not felt so well for fourteen years. When I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound my weight was 144 pounds; now I weigh 168 pounds. I am gaining in flesh every day; my friends are all surprised at my wonderful cure and changed appearance. Oh! if I had only known of this life-saving remedy years ago, I would have escaped many days and nights of terrible pain and agony. Thank God, the terrible times have passed, I hope never to return. How I wish I could reach the ear of every man in Canada—those who are suffering as I once suffered—how I would plead with them; yes, on my knees I would ask them to give Paine's Celery Compound a fair trial; and I feel confident they would bless me afterward for my recommendation.

"I am now in perfect health through no other agency than Paine's Celery Compound. You may use this statement as you choose."

MOTHER-IN-LAW CASE.

Calling attention to the assertion of the defendants that after Kast had left Earl Russell's yacht, His Lordship had sent him a postal card, addressing him as "Dear Fred," inviting him to join the Earl's yacht as cabin boy, Sir Frank said: "I shall call as the first witness Earl Russell himself, who will show that the dates involved in the accusations are impossible and the facts alleged improbable. Meanwhile I ask Your Worship to hold the defendants hand and foot until this case is fully heard."

The male defendants were not allowed out on bail, but Lady Scott was permitted to go out on bail with the understanding that she was to have no communication with anyone connected with the case except her counsel.

The greatest interest is being taken in the case, and crowds of people sought admission to the court room today in vain, the court being packed to the extreme limit of its capacity.

ROYALTY GOES TO BLENHEIM.

Marlborough House Will Be a Blaze of Glory in Honor of the Heir-Apparent.

London, Nov. 23.—The Prince and Princess of Wales left Paddington station at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Woodstock to pay a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough at Blenheim Palace. Their Royal Highnesses were accompanied by their daughters, Princess Victoria of Wales and Princess Maud of Denmark, and Prince Charles of Denmark, husband of Princess Maud. The town of Woodstock was beautifully decorated with flags, banners, triumphal arches, etc., in their honor, and the grand avenue in Blenheim Park was lighted by electricity. The program for the entertainment of the royal guests is a brilliant one. The Prince and Princess of Wales and the other guests will remain a week, during which time there will be a succession of fetes, torchlight processions, etc. In addition to this, the Prince will make shooting excursions into the Blenheim game preserves daily. Owing to the recent death in New York of Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt, grandmother of the Duchess of Marlborough, the annual county ball will be abandoned, but public celebrations will continue throughout the week, including a grand reception given by the Duchess of Marlborough on Friday, at which most of the leading aristocrats will assemble.

The Prince of Wales' special train, with the Royal visitors, arrived at Woodstock at 6.40 p.m., and was met by the Duke of Marlborough, who was awaiting the visitors at the station. A crowd of people assembled outside. The Royal party were received with cheers as they made their way to the carriages, in which they were driven to Blenheim Palace. The carriages were escorted by the Mayor and the Town Council on foot, and the Woodstock fire brigade acted as a guard of honor, marching behind the carriages to the gates of Blenheim Park.

The Prince and Princess of Wales were enthusiastically cheered by the people who lined the roadway. Among the guests other than those of the Royal party were Lady Randolph Churchill and Mr. and Mrs. George N. Curzon.

THE WHEAT OUTLOOK.

Australia Buying From California—Farmers Spoiling the Market.

London, Nov. 23.—The Mark Lane Express to-day, commenting on the wheat outlook, says: "We expect that the decrease of the French wheat acreage in 1897, owing to the lateness of the seeding season, will be much larger than any increase in this country. The sowings of azima wheat in Russia are now admitted to be smaller than usual, but the rise in prices has stimulated Russian markets, and if the line of spring Ghirka sowings is likely to offset the azima deficiency, injury has been in any event already done and there cannot be wheat available for export prior to April, 1898. Australia is importing California wheat and has no surplus available for shipments to Europe."

Commenting upon the past week's markets, The Express says: "The farmers are spoiling the market by oversupply. We suggest that a central chamber organize a society of wheat growers, pledged to sell only in such quantities as the situation demands. The advance of 2s 8d in the price of wheat in Paris since the end of October is a matter of some importance, as France has hitherto been boasting that she has a well supplied market. If the purchase of foreign wheat by France increases, the situation will become much stronger. The wheat on passage to the United Kingdom on Saturday totalled 2,100,000 quarters, whereof Russian wheat was 320,000, North American 260,000, South American 100,000, California 290,000, Indian and Australian nil, elsewhere 70,000. The maize market has been against holders at Mark Lane, Hull, Liverpool, Bristol, Glasgow and Leeds, but the decline does not exceed 6d per quarter. There are now 1,040,000 quarters on passage to the United Kingdom, against 551,000 in November, 1895."

THE SUGAR INDUSTRY.

A Conference Talked of, as the Matter is Becoming Very Acute.

London, Nov. 23.—A representative of the United Associated Presses obtained an interview to-day with Mr. Neville Lubberek, who is at the head of the Colonial Company, the leading West Indian sugar firm, upon the subject of the necessity of sending a commission to the British West Indies to inquire into the critical condition of the sugar industry, the advisability of which the Colonial Office is now considering. Mr. Lubberek said that the present indications were that a conference of some kind to discuss the situation would be held shortly, as the question was becoming very acute. Germany and Austria, he said, were quite prepared to enter into an international agreement to regulate the product of sugar, but in the meantime the British Government maintained its old attitude. The proposed commission, Mr. Lubberek thought, would have no effect.

JAMESON IS VERY SICK

And the Probability Is That He and Col. Willoughby Will Be Released.

London, Nov. 23.—The official report upon the physical condition of Dr. Jameson, who, with his associates in the Transvaal raid, Major Sir John Willoughby, Col. Reginald Grey, Col. H. E. White, Major R. White, and Captain Henry F. Coventry, are serving various terms of imprisonment for their part in the invasion, shows that he is much worse, and point to his early release, and the same is true of Major Willoughby. Both are suffering greatly from the effects of their confinement.

KITCHENER'S INSTRUCTIONS.

The Dongola Expedition Will Move Forward to Berber and Khartoum.

London, Nov. 23.—Gen. Sir R. H. Kitchener, commander in chief of the Egyptian army, started on his return to Cairo to-day. Gen. Kitchener has had daily conferences with the War Office for the last fortnight, and returns to Egypt with instructions to have everything in readiness for the Anglo-Egyptian Nile expedition to advance from Dongola to Berber and Khartoum in March next. The expedition will be strengthened by the addition of an armed steamer.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT ILL.

Taken Suddenly Sick When About to March out the Troops.

London, Nov. 23.—The Duke of Connaught, chief in command at the Aldershot camp, and completed arrangements for the periodical march out of the troops from Aldershot, when he was taken suddenly ill to-day, and Major-General Bengough has been summoned to take command in his stead.

Wary About Protection.

London, Nov 23.—The Times, referring to the Colonial Cable Conference now sitting in London, expresses the belief that both the Pacific cable and steamship service projects are well on the way towards realization. In noting the tendency of South Africa and Canada in the direction of free trade rather than protection, The Times says: "These are signs of the times deserving a careful consideration, and give occasion to pause before too hastily associating Imperial sympathies with the acceptance of the principle of fiscal protection."

Thief Scared by His Booty.

Columbus, O., Nov. 23.—The valise containing $3000 worth of jewelry, which was stolen from Mr. Klipper, a New York traveling man, at the Union Depot last night, was found to-day by the police on the stairway of a business block. Its contents were intact. The police theory is that the grip was stolen by a petty thief who bagged larger game than he could manage with safety and decided to leave it on the stairway to get rid of it.

400 DESERTED WIVES

The Divorce Mill in Kansas is Turning Out a Sad Crop at Topeka Full of Distressed Women.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—A special from Topeka, Kas., says: The officers of a Topeka charitable institution have made the remarkable statement that there are over 400 deserted wives in this city, and that every day adds to the list of the deserted or divorced women who appeal for work or collect funds with which to buy bread for themselves and help their children. In a city of 35,000 inhabitants. The divorce mill in Topeka is running on steadily. Every week divorces are being granted to men and women, incompatibility of temper being the general charge.

WEYLER HAS FAILED.

That is Currently Admitted in Havana—Spanish Officers Hit.

Key West, Fla., Nov. 22.—Passengers who arrived from Havana last night report that it is currently admitted that Weyler has failed in his campaign against Maceo. Weyler's marches have been on foot and his soldiers have suffered great hardships. In consequence 3500 soldiers have been sent to Candoria. Most of Weyler's staff are ill and are returning to Havana. He is also falling back and will soon be near Artesima, which he claims is a better base for his operations.

Gen. Pando, who is coming with new reinforcements, is indicated as Weyler's probable successor in Havana, and considers the outlook gloomy.

It is said the town of Victoria, in Santiago province, is being attacked by the rebels. The train starting from Cardenasis was obliged to return on account of the large masses of rebels crossing the line, supposed to be the vanguard of Gomes marching west.

BIS HEAD CLEFT ASUNDER.

Remarkable Accident to a Sportsman in the Pennsylvania Mountains.

Cedar Run, Pa., Nov. 22.—While hunting pheasants on the mountain side near here yesterday Joseph Champaign had his head cut off by a rolling stone in a most remarkable manner. His 10-year-old boy and two playmates were up the steep mountain side about 50 yards tum' ' rocks down its precipitous sides in order to see them splash into the creek. A big stone started by young Champaign on its downward course struck the elder Champaign and knocked the back of his head off as clean as though it had been cut with an ax.

Ferris Wheel Inventor Dead.

Pittsburg, Nov. 22.—George W. G. Ferris, inventor and builder of the Ferris wheel, died here to-day of typhoid fever. His illness is said to have been brought on by worry over business matters.

FIGHTING CHRISTIANS.

A Battle of Factions at Bay City—Clubs Played a Prominent Part in the Free-for-All Melee.

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 22.—St. Stanislaus parish, which has at intervals for two years been the scene of trouble over the despotism of its favorite priest, was the battleground for seven hours to-day of two factions into which the parishioners had divided. When the trouble ceased this evening one policeman and about twelve of the church members had been injured, but none very seriously.

The trouble started at high mass, when Father Bogacki announced that the anti-Matkowski faction could not examine the church accounts as they had announced they would do. Eighty men left the church. When mass was over a great mob had gathered about the vestry door, and refused to permit the pastor to return to his residence. Father Bogacki's adherents came to his rescue, and there was a free-for-all fight. The forces of the pastor were subdued owing to lack of organization, and clubs. When the police came they clubbed a way for Father Bogacki, had him landed upon the rectory steps, when the anti-Matkowski faction made another charge. Priest and officers were driven back into the vestry. Here Father Bogacki remained a prisoner until about 7 o'clock this evening, when Frank McPhillips, editor of The Tribune, learning that threats of dynamiting the church had been made, drove to the scene and persuaded Father Bogacki to quietly leave the building with him. After the priest departed the mob dispersed.

IN THE DARK VALLEY.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have Saved My Life"—This is said by Thousands—Prevention the Safest.

"In the valley and shadow of death"—"Given up to die." There are many thousands of such living in Canada to-day who say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills have saved my life."

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents—which is better than curing.

BUTLER FOUND GUILTY.

But the Case is a Peculiar One and Stands for Judgment.

Yesterday afternoon John Butler was brought before the magistrate, charged with stealing a bag of clover seed from the Huffman House barns, but when he appeared the charge of the larceny of some oats from Wolstenholm's livery was preferred against him, also.

The latter charge was taken up for investigation first. Butler acknowledged taking a couple of feeds of oats from Wolstenholm, but stated that he had no intention of stealing them, but simply took them for his horse, intending to replace them as soon as he purchased a supply. He keeps his horse in Wolstenholm's barn and stated that he had a quantity of oats, but becoming mixed with some bran they were unfit for use. He had offered to settle for the oats but Wolstenholm wanted to charge him $15 for the two gallons.

Wolstenholm's story was that he had been missing hay and oats from his stable for a long time and in order to catch the thief, he stayed up all night in the barn. In the morning he saw Butler take a feed of oats for his horse. He said nothing at the time, but the next night got his man to sit up with him. The same thing happened again, and the two men came forward and accused Butler of stealing the oats. He acknowledged taking the two feeds, but no more. Wolstenholm thought if he had taken two gallons he was responsible for all that had been missed from the barn and accordingly asked him to give $15 to square the account.

Butler was found guilty of stealing the oats, but judgment has been deferred until the other charge against him has been investigated.

A PECULIAR COINCIDENCE

Which May Have a Rather Disagreeable Sequel for a Beggar.

The police are hot on the trail of a supposed crook, who through an odd coincidence, was enabled to "do up" Mr. W. McCallum, the George street restaurateur, for the sum of $11.22.

The occurrence happened in this way: A stranger who has been begging in town for the last day or two, entered the office of the Light and Power Company this morning and asked for assistance, stating that he wished to buy something to eat. Mr. Beale gave him an order on Mr. McCallum for a meal, and the man took the note to the restaurant.

It happened that Mr. McCallum was expecting the Light and Power Company's collector around and had placed the amount due the company ($11.22) in an envelope.

The order for the meal was given to Mrs. McCollum, she being told by the stranger that it was from the Light and Power Company.

She went in the rear apartment to her husband and told him that a man from the company was in the store. Mr. McCallum thought it was the collector and told his wife to give him the money in the envelope and get him to sign a receipt. The money was accordingly handed the man and the note which he brought was not read until some minutes after his departure. One of the assistants, who was in the store at the time the money was given the man, was immediately despatched to the C.P.R. station to see if he left on the noon train, and she saw him board the express.

By this time the police department had been placed in possession of the facts of the case and a message was sent to Norwood to arrest and detain the stranger at that point. He is described as wearing a slouch hat, brown overcoat and light stripped trousers. His eyes are said to be rather inflamed and he has a very pointed chin.

A telephone message was received at the police station at about two o'clock to the effect that a man answering the description had been placed under arrest and would be held until sent for. Chief Roesel went down on a freight train during the afternoon and is expected back this evening with his prisoner.

The co-incidence of there being money awaiting the call of the collector and the fact of the man coming in with the order from the same office is indeed peculiar.

The Myra Collins Company.

The cutest little creature in the way of an actress in Canada is Miss Myra Collins, the star of the Myra Collins Comedy Company that last night opened a week's season at the opera house, which was jammed to the doors—fuller than an omnibus, for there wasn't "room for one more." The play was "Little Miss Thompson," written especially, as are all the plays with one or two exceptions, to be presented this week, for Miss Collins by Mr. J. H. Slater, a member of the company. It is a sparkling composition, and the chief sparkle was the bright, pretty, piquant, vivacious and naive Myra Collins, who took the role of "Little Miss Thompson" with great success. She is petite, pretty as a picture, and has the rare art of knowing how to act without over-doing it. She was ably supported by a well-balanced company. Mr. J. H. Slater, the stern father, as well as the father of the play, was just in his place. Will T. Hodge presented the character of "Lamb" in first class style "for a lawyer." Frank Halstead was an excellent villain. J. Moy Bennett as "Frank Mayfield," presented his character creditably, and Misses Alma E. Lewis and Edna Wallraven in their respective characters were well up to the mark. Dan Simons got a cyclonic reception. He was up to the top notch in "Bridget Malone," and was a slick "Solomon Slick." But in his singing and terpsichorean gymnastics he brought down the house and nearly brought down the stage. Dan took like hot cakes last night, and had to come back again and again, and would have been coming back yet, if he had not turned himself into a mule, thus earning a right to be obstinate and refusing to come on again. The other specialties, including the songs of J. M. Bennett, Will Hodge, and the double song by the latter and Miss Collins were immense and had to be repeated every time. Mr. Kellam's songs, especially his patriotic songs, were splendidly sung, and he was repeatedly recalled. In fact the immense audience was so delighted that they would have encored the play itself if such a thing had been possible. The Myra Collins Company present a bill of clean, crisp, sparkling entertainment, and they will fill the opera house every night this week. To-night the play will be a pure comedy, bristling with fun from curtain to finish.

APPOINTMENT OF A SCHOOL INSPECTOR.

MR. DUNCAN WALKER, B. A., OF BROCKVILLE, GIVEN THE POSITION.

A Special Committee Reports Most Favourably Concerning Him—He Was the Mathematical Master of the Brockville Collegiate Institute.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening for the purpose of appointing a successor to the late W. H. Wherry, School Inspector.

Dr. Burnham presided, and the other members of the Board present were Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, W. H. Hill, J. J. McBain, J. J. Hartley, Henry Denne, Peter Hamilton, Jas. Edgecombe, Dr. Caldwell, Robert Fair, John McKee and W. B. Bamford.

THE COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS,

through it chairman, Mr. W. H. Hill, reported as follows:

Your Committee on Appointments beg leave to recommend that Mr. Duncan Walker, B.A., be appointed Inspector of the Public Schools of the town of Peterborough at a salary of $1,100 per annum, service to begin January 1st inst.

Your committee took the precaution to make the fullest enquiry respecting the fitness of Mr. Walker for the position, and as a result of such enquiry, your committee believe that he is in every respect qualified to perform the duties required of him as a Public school Inspector.

Adopted.

Mr. Edgecumbe thought if each principal reported for his own school, the respective statements could be compared and an idea gained of the merits of the teachers in the different grades. If this was done there would be no need of an Inspector.

Mr. Hamilton pointed out that this would mean appointing five inspectors, instead of one, as if the principals had to make up these reports it would take up their time to an extent as to cause them to neglect their classes. To carry out the school system successfully, as it was now arranged, it was necessary to have one head.

Mr. Hill thought that when the new Inspector took office he should be instructed exactly as to what was expected of him. If a teacher was not satisfactory, he was supposed to report to the Board, and at the end of the terms in April, June and December, that teacher would know what to expect, having been informed of the report.

THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE, which was appointed to look into the private character of Mr. Walker, reported as follows:

Gentlemen.—In accordance with your instructions, your committee beg leave to report that as instructed, we visited the city of Brockville and personally made full enquiries regarding Mr. Walker of that city, who has been an applicant to become our public school inspector and we personally received the desired information from many and various reliable sources, which we are pleased to be able to report have all been most favourable and strongly in Mr. Walker's favour. He bears a high reputation as being a man of not only good ability, but of good character, good principles and good moral habits, all of which your committee consider as being very important elements to have, more especially for a man holding the position for which he has applied. From all the information we received from those who know him best, he is not only considered, but admitted, to be a gentleman in every respect so far as we have been able to learn. We were unable to discover or hear anything unfavourable of him, and after due care and consideration on our part, your committee feel justified in recommending Mr. Walker as being a suitable man for the Board to appoint for Public School Inspector.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. J. McBain,
Chairman.

Adopted.

[Mr. Walker, who is a native of the west, has had an extended experience in educational work in both Public and High schools. He graduated from the Chatham Collegiate Institute in 1887, and after teaching four years in the Public schools of that county, took an honour course in the departments of Mathematics and Physics. After a course in the Toronto School of Pedagogy, in which Mr. Walker took a deep interest in all questions relating to the theory and practice of education, he taught in Deseronto High School, and at a later time in the Brockville Collegiate Institute, as mathematical master, from which place he now comes. From the selection of Mr. Walker the best can be confidently expected from the record he bears as a teacher and a cultured gentleman.] He will enter upon his duties next January.

SOME RESOLUTIONS.

It was moved by Trustees Hamilton and Denne that the principals of the different schools be requested to furnish the Board with a full report of the standing of the different pupils in the schools after the different terms that each pupil has been in such room.—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. Ferguson and Bamford, it was resolved that the treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque to Henry Denne, collector, for $131.75, being taxes on the Menzies property, and a cheque for $12.16 to H. Sheppard, being balance of rent in full to December 1st and the Board's proportion of taxes for 1896 and that hereafter the treasurer be instructed to pay the rent quarterly as called for in the lease.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

A NEW C. O. F. LODGE

Instituted in the Northern Village—Loyal Lakefield is the name.

A new lodge of the C. O. F. was instituted in Lakefield last night. Loyal Peterborough sent a good contingent of brethern to take part in the proceedings. Bros. M. A. Jamieson, N. G., W. Creamer, V. G., and Boyd, Keenan, Thorndyke and Lathangue. There was a good turn out of the candidates to be initiated and after the impressive ceremony of initiation of the candidates, the election of officers took place, other business of a routine nature had been disposed of and all the officers were installed, the proceedings terminated in a happy manner. The brethren dispersed to the diningroom of Mine Host, Bro. Munroe, where a sumptuous spread was awaiting them and it was an elaborate spread, too, and was heartily partaken of. Toasts were the next order. Bro. Claire, M.D., proposed the toast of the new lodge, heartily honoured and responded to by Bro. Braden, the newly-appointed N.G. of Loyal Lakefield. Bro. Chittick, the new V.G. of Loyal Lakefield, proposed the toast of the sister societies, responded to by Bro. Jamieson, N.G. of Loyal Peterborough, in his usual happy manner, congratulating Loyal Lakefield on its inauguration, and urging the brethren to work with energy, and success would be theirs.

Bro. Webster proposed the toast to the visiting brethren, and was responded to by Bro. Creamer, V.G., of Peterborough, who complimented Loyal Lakefield, and also urged the members to work with a will and to stand shoulder to shoulder.

Short speeches were made by Bro. Thorndyke, Keenan, Boyd and Lathangue. Bro. John Craig, of Loyal Peterborough, also made an excellent speech and felt proud to be present at the opening of this new lodge, as being a citizen of the village he would take an active interest in its success and would do everything in his power to further the order in the village.

This concluded the entertainment at mine host Bro. Munroe's, and all repaired to Bro. Craig's, where all were hospitably received. Bro. Craig does nothing by halves but is whole souled in his generosity to his guests. He made every one feel at home and after partaking of refreshments which had been provided, the brethren separated "Glad to meet, sorry to part, but hoping in the near future to meet again and spend another pleasant night.—Com.

There is hardly anything more refreshing than a cup of good Tea. But then really good Tea is scarce and that is why so few understand the invigorating qualities of the herb. One of the most experienced "Tea-tasters" selects our best brands of household Teas. If you will try them in preference to what you usually use you will soon detect the difference and understand how refreshing a cup of good Tea really is. Prices according to quality.

THE THREE CHARMED LEAVES.

ANNIE GEMRANS.

Cuthbert, a knight of ancient lineage,
Was sore bereft—thus mourned he grievously:
"Dead art thou, oh my Thirza, whose dear smile
Lured me with passing sweetness on to win
My golden spurs. Dead art thou, my beloved,
In whom I find the fulness of myself.
Like a shorn tree beaten by scathing storms
I bend above thee, stript of my summer verdure
Sweet thou now bare am I, Thirza, oh Thirza!
Go, Reverend Father—go—get thee hence—all—
I would be left in peace. I will not that ye lay
My loved one in yon coffer hewn, a sorry bed
For these her tender limbs. I will not
That ye case her in those cruel walls
With yonder stony coverlid, prisoner from me
All alone and still—my fair, dead Thirza."
Then they about him turned and left him
In the cavernous crypt, kneeling, sorrow-stricken
By the shrouded bier.

Day waned,
The sun-tinged gloaming deep and into night,
All timorous things sought cover. They that loved
Darkness weirdly roamed and dews distilling
Chilly lay on fallen leaves. Then in the heavens
The large round moon arose and soundless rode
From east to west, making black shadows flee
To ghostly nooks, and traversing the gr.ted arch.
Anon her pearl-white beams crept through the pillared gloom,
And far athwart the bier and the bowed head of Cuthbert.
Headless was he, his plum-ed barret cast away,
Baldrick awry, and wealth of ruddy hair
Loosed from its golden fillet fallen o'er his face
Pallid with woe.
Lo through the dismal sounds
Of echoing sighs a subtle voice melodious speaks,—
"List ye, oh son of Cuth, the brave, list ye."
Strange is the vision which his wan eye sees
As half reluctant doth his haggard brow upraise;
On the damp spot of earth now by the moonbeams
Changed to silver radiance, stands a lady bright,
Fairer than the lustrous beauty of a spring-time dawn
Is she, robed in a ebony mantle, soft
As sun-kissed clouds, and in her hands a slender sceptre
Tipped with a jewelled sphere.—Again she speaks—
"I am thy sponsor, and thy piteous grief
Toucheth my love full sore, therefore I am come
To aid I may comfort thee; hear then
For thy dead Thirza's sake. There are charmed leaves,
Which if thou seek'st they shall restore thy spellbound breath.
I may not tell thee what they are nor where they grow.
Save that perpetually green they be although
All else be sere. Three moons may rise but if the third
Shall wane ere thy return then doth their virtue cease.
Three mayst thou bring, no more, and strew them
O'er thy dead." Then raising high the sceptre in her hands,—
"Lo here I make three signs to aid thee; thus,
That thy vision may be keen, I touch thine eyes:
Thus, that they may swift and tireless be, thy feet;
Thus, on the air this secret sign, that when Thou pullest forth thy hand thou mayest hear
Each softly speak—'I am thy quest; pluck me.'"
Then bending o'er the sweet, pale face of her upon the bier,
She lightly dropt a gentle kiss upon the pure, white brow,
"Thus, too," she said, "I stay the grewsome work of death Till thy return. Go, then, and know that I thy blessing am."
The gentle cadence of her voice was stilled and she
To Cuthbert's wondering eyes appeared no more.

Then Cuthbert to his feet up-sprang, with heart of hope,—
He also kissed the still, dead face, and o'er her drew
The spotless winding sheet with sacred love.
"Farewell, oh Thirza! for a little space farewell,—
I go to seek new life for thee and me.
And as a belted knight I am, I vow,
That do these woud'rous leaves grow upon mountain heights
Where the fears to climb, fear will not I;
Grow they at crater's mouth, the sulpha'rous fires I'll brave;
Deep in recesses of the earth are they,
The darkest depths I'll reach; be they midst
Wild beast's lair, so will I read his heart
That they I may obtain; pierce heaven, fight for
And vanquish ill I will return to thee."

Twice did the moon, red eyed, ride veiled in Autumn mists,
Nor lit the gloomy world; but the third night
Through pure translucent air her full orb shone,
Revealing the lone path that Cuthbert trod
With hasty mien, that he might come again to Thirza.
Kind death had laid no blighting hand on his dear spouse,
And e'en the mournful Asphodel that wreathed her hair
Had withered not. Forth from his breast, all love a-hungered,
The fateful charms he drew and laid them tenderly
On hands and heart and silent up-turned face.
Then watching, stood absorbed with bated breath.
He sees a tremour—hat and a scant sigh he hears,
And roseate as the dainty flush of infancy,
The crimson tide again begins to flood
The empty veins. Slowly, as waking, lift the waxen lids
Above those dark blue eyes, which filled with Shadowy light, in strange amaze meet his.
His strong right arm, all trembling now, lifts her dear head
From her low pillow to his breast. The silken shroud
Falls back, the yellow hearted wreath unheeded drops,
While the rich masses of her sunny hair unbound,
About her spread their shining clustering tendrils.
Ah, greater cannot be the happy love, that Welling from his throbbing heart, with mists of weakness
Dims his eye and pales his bronzed cheek, that sets
His iron sinews vibrant and his breath all fluttering
In his throat. With tender voice and deep, he saith,
"Art truly living, dear one, speak, that thy fond voice
May make me sure. Speak, Thirza, speak, I wait to hear."
Sweet, as the sound of some far distant Angelus,
She makes reply, "Beloved, see I thee again;
My Cuthbert unto whom I bade farewell
When that dread chill crept o'er my heart and froze my breath.
Take me from hence, dear lord, leave me not here
Among the dead—I am thy living Thirza."
One rounded arm she cast about his neck,
And to his bearded lips she pressed her own.
Then in his arms, lest her bare feet should wounded be,
Or soiled by noisome thing, he bore her
Through the pearl white moonlight home,
Home to her bower within his castle walls.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucassus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

BETHANY MISSION.

Address on Mission Work on the Dark Continent.

Bethany Mission was filled to overflowing Sunday night to hear Mr. Gabriel McGuire, a missionary who has been for five years in the interior of Africa, speak on missionary work in the Dark Continent. Mr. McGuire spoke at considerable length of the success attending the labours of uplifting the dusky natives from fetish and witch worship to a better way of worship. The place where he was stationed was almost equidistant from the two oceans, and here a brick church capable of holding 1,000 people was built, besides a house for the accommodation of the teachers, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Walbrook, who were also engaged in the same work in Africa, were present and, with Mr. McGuire, sang a hymn in the language of the natives.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES.

The notices in St. Luke's church Sunday had reference chiefly to the Advent season, which commences on Sunday next. On the Sunday mornings there will be a series of short sermons on the Prophet of Israel. The Sunday evening course will be on "The Preparation of the World for the 1st Coming of Christ."

1. The Preparation of the Heathen World, Greece.
2. The Preparation of the Heathen World, Rome.
3. The Preparation of the Written Word, the Jews.
4. The Preparation of the Spoken Word, John the Baptist.

Sunday next, being the first in Advent, is the annual occasion of the united Communion of the church workers of St. Luke's. There will be two celebrations—the first at 8.00 a.m. and the second at the close of Morning Prayer.

The country branch of St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary will be organized at Mrs. Chas. Curtis residence to-morrow afternoon.

The annual tea and sale of work will be held in St. Luke's school house on Thursday, Dec. 3rd.

On Friday evening next, at 8.00 p.m., the monthly preparatory service of the Communicants' class will be held in the school house.

Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed has organized a branch of the National Home Reading Union in Keene.

Mr. D. Spence will give his lecture on "Bells," in St. Luke's school house, at an early date.

CURLIANA.

The Lindsay curling club is known in every curling town in Canada, and in fact in the whole of curling America. It becomes of age this year, and it has decided to celebrate the twenty-first year of its existence by holding a large bonspiel in the town. An energetic committee has the matter in charge. It is too early yet to give particulars, but the committee have decided that there shall be two competitions at least—a double rink competition, open to all clubs, each club to be allowed to enter only two rinks in this competition; also a single rink competion, in which no restriction is placed upon the number of rinks that may enter from one club. The date selected is the week beginning Monday, Jan. 18th next. The secretary of the committee has been instructed to order sixteen pairs of best Red Hone stones. Eight pairs of these stones will be given as a prize in the double rink contest. Suitable other prizes will be given. The large skating rink has been secured, and if more accommodation is required, it will be procured. There will be no entry fee connected with the contests. Visiting curlers will be met at the station, and their stones moved from and to the station, and from one rink to another, as the drawing requires, free of expense. Brooms also will be provided. In short, everything will be done to make the curlers perfectly satisfied with all the arrangements. The committee are in communication with the railway authorities, and a special rate is expected. The club is anxious to make this bonspiel one of the largest and best that shall be held in the province for many a day. It has been rumoured that a rink or two from Winnipeg may take a trip east this winter. The Winnipeg clubs have been communicated with and have been invited to arrange their trip east so as to be present at the bonspiel. It is possibly too much to expect any clubs from the States to be present, but if Brother Bucknell, of Detroit, can induce a rink from Detroit to come, with any other rink from the other side of the border, they will be welcome. The committee has extended an invitation to all curling clubs to send rinks. Sufficient accommodation will be secured to run all the games off quickly, and some very keen sport and good ice are guaranteed if the weather is at all suitable. It is the intention of the club to send circulars to the secretaries of all the clubs in Canada very shortly, giving full particulars.

Nervous Prostration
Complete Recovery by the Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

TALE OF AN OPEN DOOR

There really was no telling how long she had been living there all alone except for the two servants. Even the servants themselves could not have told. Susan, the cook, if you had asked her about it, would have said:

"Law, chile, don' ask me no sech questions. I'se been shet up in dissher house so long I'se got plum moldy."

And if the years had not left mold on the mind and the heart of the lonely old woman in the upper rooms it was not because the time had been too short. People wondered what kind of woman she could have been when she was young, but that did not really matter. They all knew very well what kind of woman she was now. Not that she was so very old, either. She had simply made herself old by sitting alone and shutting out the sunlight and thinking hard, bitter thoughts and getting wrinkles in her face and gray in her hair. Any one can do that who tries very hard, but whether it is the best thing to do, that is the question.

Imaginative people said that she had been imbittered by a great disappointment long ago and that it had turned her into a sour, gloomy old recluse, hating the world and everybody in it, but, after all, when you came to ask about those stories, they were all hearsay.

Of the two servants in the kitchen, one was Susan, who knew just when to do everything and just how to do it, because she had done the same things at the same time every day during all those years when she was growing "moldy." The other was Jane, the housemaid. Jane had been there only six years, and Susan told her every day that if she didn't quit "disremember-in" everything that she was told she would certainly "git her walkin papers."

Perhaps the threat had been repeated too often and had lost its effect. At any rate, Jane went on "disrememberin" with the calmness of perfect confidence in her safety and left doors open and forgot to lock gates and was altogether a trial to the methodical Susan.

Year after year this old woman had been alone. She had a great, fine house, but she lived in a little corner of it. She had great quantities of money, but she used very little of it. She had no friends, or, if she had, she never saw them. In all Susan's recollection of her she had never done anybody a kindness. The servants had orders never to feed a tramp, and as for giving money to beggars, why, dear me, such a thing was never dreamed of.

But it was Jane that ended it. Jane had gone out to the coalhouse and had come in with a scuttle of coal, and perhaps it is needless to state, knowing what we do of her, that she left every door open on her way up stairs. As she set the scuttle down in the corner she heard the well known command:

"Shut the doors as you go back, Jane."

And she gave the stereotyped reply:

"Yes, Mis' Arnam, I ton to it."

So she went back, shutting all the doors, but it was too late then. The mischief was done. Something had whisked into the room before you could think, and before the echo of Jane's footsteps had died out of the room there was the roundest, funniest gray kitten running up Mrs. Arnam's dress and scrambling into her lap. Once there, it looked her in the eyes, stretched out its soft little paws and mewed in the most wheedling, caressing manner known to kittenhood.

The old woman did not throw the kitten down, or push it down, or shut it outside the door. She started to do all three, but instead she only sat there, looking at the little ball of gray while it closed and unclosed its paws on her folded hands.

"Well, what do you want?" she said presently.

The sound of her own voice startled her. It had been so long since she had heard it except in giving orders to the servants.

There never was such a kitten. The moment she spoke to it, up it went, hand over hand, over the bosom of the black dress, and before the old woman could move a finger it was actually rubbing its pink nose on her very chin. Not only that, but it mounted upon her shoulder and purred in her ear and smoothed its silky side against her cheek and actually clawed at her hair and tumbled down into her lap and ran back to her shoulder again as though it were the greatest fun in the world.

Something stirred in the stern, silent, grim old woman. The touch of a living creature against that withered face went deeper than the face. She raised a hand and stroked the kitten and spoke to it gently.

Such a frolic as that kitten had! How it caught her hand and pretended to bite her fingers with its ridiculous little teeth and to scratch them with all its claws at once! How it scampered about, playing hide and seek with its own tail! How it swarmed up the curtains and the table covers and looked at itself in the glass and rolled itself up in the Persian rug and enjoyed every minute of the time! In short, if ever there were a kitten that just simply took possession of a room and made itself thoroughly at home there, this was that kitten.

When Jane went up stairs to announce the next meal, as was her custom, she returned to the kitchen almost tottering and with distended eyes.

"I bleebe Mis' Arnam done gone crazy!" she cried. "She sottin up dere wif a kitten in her lap, an she say for you to fotch her dinner up to 'er an a sasser o' milk for de kitten!"

"G'way from here, niggah!" cried Susan, and she hurried to her mistress' room to disprove Jane's story. She returned with slower footsteps and a frightened face. Mrs. Arnam had said to her:

"Yes, I want my dinner here, Susan, until the kitten gets used to the house. I have never had a kitten before. I don't know why I have never thought of it."

"Dey's somefin wrong wif Mis' Lizbeth," said Susan when she had gained the sacred precincts of the kitchen and Jane had assured her that she "sho'ly did look pale. Long as I been stayin here, she ain't never et in her room yit, an now she gwine ter eat dere on account ob a measly little cat."

On the second day a queer thing happened. The kitten had performed what it considered a great feat, and Mrs. Arnam laughed. The sound of the laugh frightened her, and it sent the kitten skurrying under the bed. It came out presently and growled at her as a gentle intimation not to try that any more, and that made her laugh again. Jane, sweeping in the next room, heard it, and left her work unfinished to tell Susan, but Susan scornfully warned her not to come "tellin her no sech trash." There were bounds beyond which Susan's credulity could not go.

Of course Jane left the doors open again before a week was out. She declared that she "shet ebery one ob 'em." But she must have left them open, for how else did the kitten get out? At any rate, before any one knew it, the kitten was gone and was not to be found anywhere about the house.

When mistress and servants had searched everywhere in vain, Mrs. Arnam shut herself up in her room again and sat down before the fire. The little creature that had distracted her thoughts for a few days and had made her forget herself was gone, and once more she was a lonely old woman—more lonely and miserable than she had been before. She sat there looking at gloomy scenes in the glowing coals until she could endure it no longer, and then she arose and walked about the room and finally threw up a window to get rid of the choking pain in her throat. And when she leaned out into the cold air, what do you think she saw? Just below her, seated on the doorstep, was a ragged little boy, with her kitten in his arms.

In a moment she was down stairs and had the door open and had frightened the child so that he could do nothing but stand and stare at her.

"What are you doing with my kitten, little boy?" she demanded grimly.

"'Tain't your kitten! It's mine!" he replied, clasping it closer.

"How did it happen to be yours, I should like to know?" asked the angry old woman.

"It was borned mine," was the simple explanation, and then the woman's heart sunk. She had never once thought that the kitten might be somebody's property before it came to her, and now, behold, she had had no right to it from the first.

She was about to go in and close the door, but she paused to ask coldly:

"What were you doing on my doorstep?"

"We was a-warmin ourselves," said the child, and this reminded him of his own discomfort, so that he began to shiver and to shrink together.

Truly, it was a bitter day. Even in that sunny nook the cold was intense. The child was blue with it. She had not noticed that before.

"Come in and warm at my fire—you and the kitten," she said.

Now what had come over her? What magic spell had been working on that hard old heart? She sat in her armchair, watching the child thaw and grow rosy red in the grateful warmth, as he sat on the hassock before the fire. There was no sound in the room but the soft crackling of the burning coal and the gentle purring of the kitten, and after awhile the child began to nod. Overcome with drowsiness, he slipped down to the rug at last and stretched himself out there, and when the kitten crept into his arms he murmured:

"It always sleeps wid me—to keep me warm."

After awhile the old woman arose softly and covered both the sleepers with blankets and slipped a pillow under the child's head. Poor little tossed curls. How pretty they would be if they were brushed! The withered hand touched them softly. When had that hand ever been laid on a child's head before? And then, as though ashamed of such weakness, she sat down again and resolutely looked into the fire. What was this child more than any other? There were hundreds of such children in the streets—born thieves, every one of them, ready to repay kindness by stealing anything they could lay their hands on.

But it was no use. She couldn't keep from looking at the child, and somehow it did seem pleasant to hear his soft breathing in that room, that had been silent so long. And after she had watched and listened awhile she went out into another room and opened a drawer that had been shut I don't know how many years and took out—a child's cloak—a long, warm cloak, that would surely cover that little figure in the other room from head to foot.

She looked at the cloak a long time, and once she rolled it up and put it back again, but then she took it out in a hurry and went and sat down, with it on a chair beside her. Ah, surely, that was a genial fire. That icy old heart of hers was thawing before it, as the snow thaws on the southern slopes in spring.

And in a little while she made another journey to the long shut drawers and brought out piles and piles of clothes—good ones, too, that might have been for the child by the fire—and shoes, too, wrapped in oiled silk, as though they were made of gold, and the jauntiest little hat you ever saw. And then, awhile later, she touched her bell and summoned Jane, and, disregarding Jane's amazed stare, said:

"Give this child a warm bath, Jane, and put these clothes on him, and then bring him here."

The little fellow was pretty in his new clothes despite the thin face that had been blue with cold that morning. And what pretty curls those were, just as she had thought they would be! The kitten took him for a perfect stranger and went under a chair and growled at him. How he laughed at that—a thin little laugh that brought the tears to her eyes. Oh, it was wonderful how those eyes of hers were improving! And yet she did not say a word to him except to ask him where he lived. And then she told Jane to take care of the boy and the kitten until she came back, and she wrapped herself up and went out.

She was gone a long time. When she came back, her eyes were bright and moist and looked almost like a pair of new eyes. She sat down and took the child and the kitten both in her lap.

"Little man," she said, "I've been to see your uncle and aunt. They've had sickness and haven't been able to take care of their own children. And so I'm going to send them all, the whole family, out to a great big farm of mine, where they'll get well and make a living, and you are going to stay with me and be my little boy."

The child contemplated her with serious eyes. After awhile he asked doubtfully:

"An the kitten too?"

"Oh, yes, indeed," cried the old woman, "the kitten too."

They had supper there together afterward, all three of them, and such a hungry boy as that was, and what a pleasure it was to see him eat! Why, this rich old woman, shut up in her own gloomy thoughts, had never dreamed there could be a child as hungry as that in all the world!

And, afterward, when the little fellow insisted on wearing his new shoes to bed, Jane and Susan had to be called up to see that, and they made a regular holiday of it. I don't know how many years it had been since those old walls had echoed to such laughter. When Susan saw that grim, austere old woman actually persuading the child to let the shoes lie in a chair where he could touch them, and when she saw her put the kitten into his arms, she remarked to Jane in an awestruck whisper:

"Hit do 'pear to me like de merlennium mus' be jes' roun de corner."

And that wasn't the end of it! No, indeed! Why, the very next day a certain minister, whose work lay among the poor and destitute, received a summons to call on an old woman who had refused to see him when he had called at her door once before. And when he went, there she was with a small boy and a kitten, and there was a radiance in her face that did not come from the fire light as she said:

"I have just found out what poverty is. You see a great deal of it, I am told. Next Thursday will be Thanksgiving. I have not observed it for many years, but all that is changed. I want you to take this money and see how far it will go in giving all the poor you know a little supply of fuel and a good Thanksgiving dinner. And will you come back to me when that is gone? I want the dinner to be a good one, mind, a regular, generous, old fashioned Thanksgiving dinner."

Oh, it was a great time in that old woman's life; but that was not all, for she sent for an architect that very evening and began to talk over plans for a home for homeless children, and while she talked the child was leaning against her knee and she fondled his thin little hand. After the architect was gone she still sat there musing. Late as it was, she said to herself, she might still atone for her idle, selfish, lonely life.

And that was not all yet, for when Jane came to the door and said, with a broad grin spreading all over her face, "Somebody to see you, Mis' Arnam," she did not hear until the somebody came in and stood beside her and asked:

"Mother, can you forgive me yet?"

She must have been dreaming of him, for she looked at him as though he were part of the dream—this handsome man, with a mouth as firm as her own—but in a moment she had awakened and was in his arms, crying out to him while the tears rained down her cheeks:

"Oh, Dick, my little boy, my own little lad, don't ask forgiveness of me! I need it so much more!"

And there was Susan's face in the doorway, illuminated with a radiant grin; for had she not known where Mas' Dick was this long time? And had she not gone to him that very morning and told him?

"Mas' Dick, now's yo' time to make frien's wif yo' ma, for she sho'ly is like anodder 'oman!"

And there was the little boy in Dick's arms before you could think, and friends with him from the very first minute, and there was the kitten running up the table cover and tumbling down again and making a perfect whirligig of itself in that mad pursuit after its own tail, and altogether there never was such a happy time.

Susan began that very evening making preparations for the most delightful Thanksgiving dinner that ever was eaten, and while she worked she chuckled with delight and took all the credit to herself because she had brought Mas' Dick home in the very nick of time.

But then, there was the little boy who had melted the hard old heart ready for Dick's coming and there was the kitten which had brought the little boy and there was Jane who had left the doors open for the kitten, and so—

But what does it matter how the Thanksgiving got into the house, so that it came? —Philadelphia Times.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10½ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000,00 a year.

The drowning of a woman is a shudder-some sight. Yet it is swift and comparatively painless, and blissful, compared to the pain and agony suffered for many years by many thousands of women. Most of the suffering endured by women may be traced to one great, aggravating set of disorders. The woman who does not take proper care of the organs distinctly feminine is sure to be sickly, nervous, fretful, and racked with pain. She is unfitted for wifehood and motherhood. Every woman owes it to herself to be strong and healthy in a womanly way. She may insure this if she will use the proper remedy.

The greatest of all medicines for weak and suffering women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon the delicate organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. It makes them healthy and vigorous. It cures all weakness and disease. It allays inflammation, soothes pain and stops weakening drains. The nerves become steady, and calm, and health resumes its natural sway throughout the system. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood. Over 90,000 women have testified to its marvelous virtues and all good druggists sell it.

Ignorance of her own physical nature is responsible for a great deal of the pain and suffering that woman undergoes. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is the best medical book for the home. It is now on the bookshelves of over a million American households. Several chapters of the book are devoted to the diseases and weaknesses of the organs distinctly feminine. Every woman should read it. It contains over 1,000 pages. Any one may obtain a paper-covered copy, absolutely free, by sending 21 one-cent stamps to cover the cost of customs and mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. If a handsome, durable cloth binding is desired, send 50 one-cent stamps.

PROF. HUGO'S THANKS

BY DAVID A. CURTIS.

The professor started a little, but he spoke as deliberately as usual. "You shall show to me that east side," he said, "when I can climb those hills some day."

"I guess you can get there now," said the lad. "It isn't much of a climb, and there's a smooth path."

So they went out together, and the professor's eyes gleamed when he saw the ledge John pointed out. He said very little, though, and after he had taken some measurements and collected a few specimens they went back to the house.

Next day he said he was going away, and he asked Mr. and Mrs. Bascom how much he owed them for his board and his medicines.

"Land sakes, professor," said Mrs. Bascom, "you don't s'pose we could take your money, do you? What little we've been able to do for you is little enough for what you did for us." And the farmer himself spoke as earnestly, so the professor said no more about money. In fact, he seemed so well pleased that Mr. Bascom remarked it when he was alone with his wife.

"'Pears to me that there Professor Hugo's almighty skimpy about money," he said. "He was tickled to death 'cause most when he found he didn't have to pay nothin."

"John Bascom," exclaimed the good woman, "you don't mean to stand there and tell me you would take money from the man that saved your own daughter's life?"

"Don't be a fool, Maria. 'Tain't likely I would, but I'd 'a' thought more of him if he'd 'a' tried a little harder to pay."

But there was another one in the family who had no such thoughts. When Ella Bascom bade the professor goodby, she said, "I never have really thanked you as I want to, and I don't s'pose I ever can, but I want you to know that I never can forget what you did and what you have suffered for me."

"Pish, pish!" said the professor carelessly, though he was well pleased. "It was nothing only my own stupid foot that all the trouble made. And I did for you very little. Only I am glad, fraulein, that I study the rocks that day." And he kissed her goodby.

It was several weeks, however, before Thanksgiving day came, and in the interval, as the hard New England winter came on, things went badly with the Bascoms. Ella developed a slight cough, that made her mother turn pale when she heard it. She had learned to know how easily consumption attacks young people in the rigorous climate of upper New England, yet she dared not speak to Mr. Bascom about sending the girl south for the winter. The means were lacking. The crops were poor. One of the two pigs they had fattened died before killing time. Mr. Bascom himself, growing old before his time, seemed no longer able to look on the bright side of anything, and the anxious wife and mother could only pray a little more earnestly and a little more frequently than before. To work harder was impossible. And John could only study later and rise earlier to make up for his father's failing strength. Nothing was heard from the professor, and, as the family realized more and more every day how heavy the odds were against them, they ceased to talk and almost ceased to think much about him. He had saved them from a great sorrow, he had been a great care and a burden for a time, and then he had passed away to be only a memory.

It was therefore entirely a surprise when, a few days before Thanksgiving, John brought home a letter from the village postoffice addressed in a queer foreign handwriting to Miss Ella Bascom.

"It must be from the professor," she said, and after they had all agreed to this and had examined the envelope and the postmark and had wondered sufficiently about what he could have to say, as people do who do not often receive letters, she opened it.

MY DEAR LITTLE FRAULEIN—I have not forgotten that you asked me to go to see you again on Thanksgiving day, and I will go. I will to see what is the great holiday of the American people in the American people's home.

Your brother John, he is a good boy, and he will be a good man. He will give thanks, maybe, that I did get him a place in New York where he can study and be an engineer and will earn money—not very much, but enough.

Tell your papa I have, maybe, some good news for him, and tell your mamma since I come to dinner I have the great liberty taken to send my dinner. And I kiss your hand. HUGO.

Such news was too wonderful, and yet it was tantalizing. There was no end to the speculating, and it was later that night than it ever had been before when the Bascoms went to bed.

The next day, however, brought a still greater surprise. Word came from the railway station, two miles away, that there were several large cases there for Mr. Bascom, expressage paid. The old gray horse was astonished enough at the speed at which he was rattled along, but his feelings were nothing to those of the family when the cases were brought home and opened.

If there was anything known to the grocery or delicatessen trade that wasn't represented in those cases, it was because the professor couldn't find it. And there was the biggest turkey Bascom ever saw, with a box of fresh vegetables, and everything else needed to cook with it. And of everything else there was enough to last all winter.

Mrs. Bascom was stunned. She could say nothing, but the children made up for her silence, and Mr. Bascom, after he had recovered a little from his bewilderment, said, "Well, Maria, if that's the professor's dinner, he must have a leetle the best appetite of anybody I ever knowed of."

Next day the professor came himself, fatter than ever and jollier than they had ever seen him. "It is nothing," he said when Mr. and Mrs. Bascom undertook to remonstrate with him for sending them such a wealth of stores. "It is nothing. I have never your Thanksgiving kept before, and I thank you so much for your to me kindness when I was suffering."

THE PROFESSOR'S DINNER.

"But you said you were a poor man?" said Mr. Bascom.

"Ach, yes! They call me in the city poor, but always I have a few thousand dollars."

And again they sat up half the night discussing John's future, which now depended on himself. And only the mother remembered to cry silently even while she reproached herself for ingratitude, because there was in all the good fortune no way yet open for sending Ella away from the winter storms. But the next morning, when the mother and daughter were in the kitchen and John was busy outside, the professor said:

"I wrote in my letter, Mr. Bascom, I have some good news for you maybe. It was this: Your son John he showed me good stone on your farm. It is for building most excellent. It is the stone for which I was looking when the little fraulein for help called. I have in one great quarry company a small interest, for I am what you call stockholder, and for them I was looking. They want that kind of stone. So when I returned to the city I said, 'The stone is found.' Then they would to send somebody to buy your farm cheap, and I said no. When they were angry, I said: 'Very well, gentlemen, then I tell you nothing. You go and yourself find the stone.' So they were angry some more, but I make them offer you $10,000 for your farm or a contract for $1,500 a year. It is better you take the contract, I think, so I have the paper, and if you sign they $1,000 bonus pay you." And he produced the paper.

And that was how the Bascoms spent the happiest day they ever had and the professor saw his first Yankee Thanksgiving.

To Boil a Boned Turkey.

When it is stuffed, roll the fowl tight in a piece of cheesecloth and tie firmly with twine to keep secure and in shape. Place in a stock previously prepared by putting the bones in cold water with some herbs, an onion peeled and stuck with a dozen cloves, a carrot and a turnip sliced. Boil the turkey gently four hours at least, then take it out and remove the cloth and place on a dish. Strain the stock, remove the fat and set over the fire. Add 2 ounces of gelatin dissolved in cold water. Strain the liquid jelly through a fine sieve over the turkey. When cold, garnish with parsley or cresses and sliced lemon.

To make oyster sauce, put a pint of small oysters, with their liquor, into a saucepan and heat them to boiling point. Skim out the oysters and add to the liquor 1¼ cups of milk, and when it is boiling add one-third of a cup of butter creamed with three tablespoonfuls of flour. Season with salt and cayenne pepper, and let the sauce boil up once. Then add the oysters, and it is ready to serve.—Exchange.

A cup of muddy coffee is not wholesome, neither is a bottle of muddy medicine. One way to know a reliable and skillfully-prepared blood-purifier is by its freedom of sediment. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is always bright and sparkling, because it is an extract and not a decoction.

THE PRIEST WAS FINED.

Judge Cimon Says Cure Theberge's Apology to Mr. Chaput Was Insufficient—The Fine Goes to an Hospital.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Hon. Judge Cimon has condemned Rev. Cure Theberge of Varennes to pay $50 damages and costs for having told one of his parishioners, Mr. Chaput, that he had stolen his confession, meaning that he had misrepresented a certain case to his confessor. The court said that no greater insult or wrong could be preferred against a Catholic, and, although the parish priest retracted in the pulpit, this was not enough. The apology was as follows: "I retract and I withdraw my words for the simple reason that God alone knows the conscience of each man." His Honor said that the parish priest should have added: "I have no reason to believe that Chaput stole his confession." In the retraction made by the cure in the pulpit he left a doubt as to Chaput's pretended fault. "God alone knows," he said. The plaintiff, Mr. Chaput, declares that he did not want the priest's money, but would contribute the amount to the hospital at Varennes.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease. It may lead directly to consumption. Catarrh is caused by impure blood, and the true way to cure it is by purifying the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh because it removes the cause of it by purifying the blood. Thousands testify that they have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOod's Pills are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

RULES.

1. Every month during 1897, in each of the 5 districts, prizes will be awarded as follows:

The 5 competitors who send in the largest numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside, will each receive, at winner's option, a lady's or gent's Stearns' Bicycle, value $100.

The 5 competitors who send in the next largest numbers of coupons from the district in which they reside, will each receive, at winner's option, a lady's or gent's Gold Watch, value $25.

2. The competitions will close the last day of each month during 1897. Coupons received too late for one month's competition will be put into the next.

3. Competitors who obtain wrappers from unsold soap in dealer's stock will be disqualified. Employees of Messrs. Lever Brothers, Ltd., and their families, are debarred from competing.

4. A printed list of winners in competitor's district will be forwarded to competitors 21 days after each competition closes.

5. Messrs. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the award of Messrs. Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

CHIEF OF POLICE MEAFORD, ONTARIO

Reports the Wonderful Cure of His Wife.

FOR YEARS A SUFFERER

From Stage to Stage of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys—Another Victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Meaford, Nov. (Special)—Mr. R. Dealy, Chief of Police, at this place, whose character as well as position would stamp his statement as credible, was seen by your correspondent, and in speaking of his wife's sufferings and cure said:

"My wife had been for years a victim from stage to stage of Bright's disease of the kidneys."

"This went on in spite of the best medical treatment as well as other prescribed medicines until we lost all hope.

"At last I was told of the wonderful cures made by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I concluded to procure a box and give them a trial."

"From the first box we could see improvement, and only three more boxes were required to complete her cure.

"I am not surprised to hear and know of so many cures made by Dodd's Kidney Pills since so serious a case as this has been so promptly cured. Every ache and pain seems to disappear when they are used."

A DOUBLY FORTUNATE ACCIDENT.

Mr. Zenas Black is a farmer living on the 4th concession of King. Last spring he broke his knee-cap. It set stiff. The family physician told him the knee would have to be broken again if he desired to walk, but he is walking well now, and it came about in a rather peculiar way. Last week a cow nearly choked to death in eating a turnip. All hope of saving the beast was despaired of, and Mr. Black's son decided to kill it, so that its flesh would be fit for food. He took an axe and felled the beast. Mr. Black was standing beside it, and could not get out of the way when it fell, so that it fell on him and broke his knee again. The stroke of the axe did not kill the cow, but it sent the obstruction down its throat. Now the cow lives and Zenas Black is a well man.—Toronto World.

Easy to Dye.

Old Suits and Gowns Readily Made to Look Like New.

A user of the wonderful Diamond Dyes writes as follows:—

"I have had great success in my first attempt with Diamond Dyes. My husband had a suit of summer clothes the colour of which did not please him. We used a package of Navy Blue Diamond Dye, following the directions, and the suit was soon transformed to a sedate, genteel colour, making it as good as new."

For years Diamond Dyes have been the standard dyes for thousands of homes in Canada, where their ease of use and reliability have made many an old suit or gown look like new.

Ask for the "Diamond," use only the "Diamond," and success will surely attend your work.

A WORTHLESS CHEQUE

Which Young Fleming Tried to Pass in Toronto.

HE USED MR. GOODERHAM'S NAME.

It Was a Clumsy Attempt, and the Bank People Spotted the Bogus Paper—While Walking With a Detective the Young Man Owned Up.

Toronto, Nov. 24.

A daring and unsuccessful attempt at forgery was made in the Bank of Toronto yesterday afternoon.

About 2.30 a well-dressed, respectable-looking young man entered the bank and presented a cheque, to which was attached the signature of George Gooderham. The amount of the cheque was $2700, and was made payable to H. P. Linscott. The word "order" on the cheque was scratched out, and "bearer" substituted. The clerk saw at once that it was not Mr. Gooderham's signature. He entered into conversation with the young fellow, and in the meantime the police were quietly communicated with. Detective Davis arrived in a few minutes and questioned the young man. He said that he had been given the cheque to cash by Mr. Linscott, to whom it was made payable. Mr. Linscott, he said, was manager of the Toronto branch of Bradley, Garretson & Co. of Brantford, the book publishers, who had offices in the Medical Building, Bay and Richmond-streets. His own name he gave as Charles S. Braten, 34 Wood-street, Kingston, and that he was the agent in that city for the Brantford firm.

The detective and the bank officials were inclined to believe the story told, and instead of at once taking the young man to Headquarters, Davis asked him to walk over to Linscott's office. Braten agreed to this, and when about half way there he stopped and told the detective that there was no use going any further; that he had forged the cheque himself, because he wanted money badly, and thought that was a good way to get it. He was then taken to Headquarters and Mr. Linscott was sent for. He denied all knowledge of Braten, who was locked up on a charge of forgery and attempted fraud.

When the prisoner was searched a letter was found on him written on Palmer House letter paper. It was dated Nov. 23, and addressed "Dear Joe—Arrived just now; will be here till 5 p.m. Will call on you at Foresters' Hall on Wednesday noon. (Signed) B. C. Davis."

There were also some receipts: Lindsay Collegiate Institute—W. Fleming, Reg. No. 55, has paid two dollars class fees for May, 1896. (Signed) J. T. Harrington.

He had also a number of Dominion Bank blank cheques.

The Police Department think Braten may be the same young man who is wanted on the charge of committing some minor forgeries in the vicinity of Toronto.

After being in the cells for some time the prisoner sent for Barrister W. G. Murdoch, who has taken charge of the case. The young man is W. Hector Fleming, a son of David Fleming, contractor, of Bewdley, Northumberland Co. He has been for some time studying dentistry with Dr. Herman Hart of Lindsay. He left there yesterday for the purpose of visiting friends in Port Hope, and was going to spend Thanksgiving day at home. His brother, who is attending a college in this city, was at the Police Station last night. He said he could not understand his brother's actions. The father was wired for last night, and will arrive this morning.

When Mr. Murdoch visited his client he saw that he was ill, and immediately summoned Dr. Bingham, who prescribed for him. Young Fleming is at present showing symptoms of typhoid fever. He has completely broken down, and talks in a rambling manner, offering no good excuse for committing the offence which landed him in the Police Station. As far as the brother knows the prisoner never had any dealings with the firm of Bradley, Garretson & Co.

IRISHMEN WORSTED.

A Mob of Huns Get Mixed Up in a Row With Them at Cleveland and Nearly Killed a Number.

Cleveland, Nov. 23.—A riot occurred here last night between a score of Hungarians and as many Irishmen, in which many men were stabbed. Dirks, knives and clubs were freely used and nearly all of the combatants were more or less injured. Two men were taken to the hospital in a dying condition, two others cannot survive their wounds and seven others are dangerously wounded. It is probable that the entire population would have been wiped out had it not been for the police. A patrol wagon packed with police officers dashed into the crowd of battling men. There was a rush to escape and nearly all who were not too severely wounded to run got away. The police found lying on the battlefield James Carter, who was stabbed in the head, and had his skull fractured; his father, Sylvester Carter, 20 stabs; Billy Malley, 12 deep stab wounds and head supposed to be fractured; Adam Sherman, stabbed three times; John O'Neil, stabbed in face and back; Henry Schaefer, clubbed into insensibility; William Zocher, cut in the head and injured internally. The police arrested Joseph and John Sprnada, Michael Zebrek, John Koushier, Anton Ballash, Michael Zirks and John Spouster. They were locked up and charged with rioting.

TWO ALLEGED ROBBERS.

"The Prussian" and "Hamburg Lewis" Caught With Evidences of Having Robbed a Montreal Firm.

New York, Nov 23.—William Whitall, alias "The Prussian," and Lewis Meyer, alias "Hamburg Lewis," two alleged members of the gang of burglars captured in this city last week, were arrested yesterday. A search of their room on Eldridge-street revealed a quantity of stolen property, including some jewelry manufactured by a Montreal jeweler doing business on St. James-street, that city. The detectives believe the property is the proceeds of a robbery committed in Montreal or some other part of Canada. The prisoners are new to the police of this city. The detectives say they belong to a gang that travels over the country committing depredations. Sixteen pawn tickets, representing clothing and silverware, were also found in the prisoners' room. The prisoners were taken to court this morning and remanded.

Slavery in the New Hebrides.

Sydney, N. S. W., Nov. 23.—Advices that have reached here from the New Hebrides show that natives of the islands are being sold to the masters of trading vessels at from £6 to £16 apiece. Some of the natives so sold are subjected to great cruelties.

A Quebec Minstrel Dead.

Woonsocket, R. I., Nov. 23.—News has been received of the death in Downingtown, Pa., of James M. Janson, a well-known vocalist. He was connected with the Primrose & West Minstrel Company, was a native of Ste. Rosalie, Que., aged 40, and leaves a widow and one child.

An Abandoned Vessel.

London, Nov. 23.—The British brig Strathmuir, from New York, which arrived at Londonderry to-day, reports that she passed in lat. 43, N. long. 41 W., the Norwegian barque Nordlyset, from Halifax for Londonderry, abandoned and waterlogged.

FROZEN IN A KANSAS BLIZZARD.

John M. Moran, Once Proprietor of The Stratford Herald, Meets Death in a Storm.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 23.—Word was received in Windsor to-day that John M. Moran had been frozen to death in a Kansas blizzard. He was formerly proprietor of The Stratford Herald and teacher of the Collegiate Institute, and was later inspector of schools for South Perth.

Twenty-seven Poles arrived from Detroit this morning on their way to Smith's lumbering camp at Ruscomb station, where they are going to work for the winter. They brought with them all their tools, clothing and even some provisions, but the customs officers refused to allow them to pass without paying duty on everything. As the duties on the different articles ranged from 25 to 35 per cent., it meant quite a sum, and the Poles refused to pay. Their belongings were taken off the wagon and piled in an alley until Smith, who had been telegraphed to, paid the duty and sent in a team to cart out their goods. A Pole threatened to throw his tools into the river. He was told that he would have to pay duty just the same or be arrested. This is the first time a duty on laborers' tools has been charged. It is thought it is done in retaliation for the Corliss bill.

Get Ready in Good Time!

Don't Be Afraid

It is'nt too soon to leave your measures for your Winter Overcoat or Suit. All that's left of Fall is its "bark."

You must feel shabby and uncomfortable in your old clothes. Heavier garments for thin ones, warm colours for light ones. You have got to change, and you'll feel better right away.

We are willing to wait for slower people than you, but let us tell you fairly: sharper people are getting and enjoying advantages that you do not.

Because we made you a Suit or Overcoat two or three years ago, and it won't wear out, that's no reason why you should'nt have a new one with the latest style in it.

ON DECEMBER FOURTH

The Case of Mrs. Sternaman Will Be Decided.

THE LAWYERS ARGUED YESTERDAY

And Commissioner Fairchild Will State on the Fourth of Next Month Whether the Accused Woman Shall Be Brought to Canada to Be Tried for Murder or Not.

Buffalo, Nov. 24.—The usual number of spectators and interested persons were present in the Federal Court this morning to hear the summing up of the Sternaman case by Lawyer Thayer for the defence and Lawyer C. J. Thomas for the Canadian Government. Immediately after the arrival of Mrs. Sternaman, Lawyer Thayer said he did not propose to descend to the trial before a jury. He agreed that not a single fact had been shown by the prosecution that Mrs. Sternaman was in the slightest way guilty of poisoning either of her husbands. He quoted from the Federal reporter in regard to the evidence which is necessary before a person can be extradited. He also quoted from Chief Justice Marshall's rulings in reference to the celebrated case of Aaron Burr. Lawyer Thayer said that the evidence pointed all in one way, and that was to the innocence of Mrs. Sternaman. He then referred to the case in general, and showed the fidelity of Mrs. Sternaman to her first husband, Mr. Chipman, and spoke of the loving qualities of both husband and wife. He then referred to the entrance into the family of George H. Sternaman, as a boarder, by the request of Mr. Chipman. At the mention of her first husband's name Mrs. Sternaman broke into sobs.

Lawyer Thayer asked the prosecution if $215 insurance would instigate a woman to murder her husband, who had lived with his wife without a quarrel for ten years, and paid her $2.75 every day. He argued that if there had been any intimacy between Mrs. Chipman and Sternaman, her second husband, before the death of Chipman, it would have been noticed by Chipman's mother, who lived with them. On the witness stand Chipman's mother denied that any such proceedings took place before the death of Mrs. Sternaman's first husband. The only testimony brought out in the examination that Sternaman disliked Chipman was that after Mrs. Sternaman had uncovered Chipman's picture Sternaman covered it up again.

After reviewing more of the evidence Mr. Thayer attempted to show that Mrs. Sternaman neglected to pay the premium on her husband's life insurance, thereby exploding the theory that she had killed Sternaman for the insurance money. He referred to Sternaman's mother as an old woman with a trumpet.

The protracted hearing has at last come to an end. United States Commissioner Fairchild listened to-day to the summing up of the evidence for and against extradition and will reserve his decision until December 4th at 10 a.m.

The small court room was not overcrowded yesterday. In addition to the usual number of friends and relatives of the defendant, her two little boys were present. They are bright-looking children. They seemed to but half comprehend the serious nature of their mother's position. Both were dressed alike, having on neat grey suits, shirts with large black collars and big bow neckties. Mrs. Sternaman, although she kept her feelings under perfect control, looked paler than usual, and her eyes seemed to have a heavy appearance, as if caused by much weeping.

The morning session was greatly delayed on account of a misunderstanding on the part of the United States Marshal as to when the defendant was to be brought into court. The time for the session to begin was 10 o'clock, but it was nearly 11 o'clock before Mrs. Sternaman appeared and Attorney Thayer began to sum up for the defence. He made a long argument. "It is necessary, under our law, that those wishing extradition in all cases, under the treaty of extradition, should not only be competent, but full and satisfactory, sufficient to warrant a conviction in the judgment of the magistrate."

At 12.15 o'clock a recess was taken until 2.30 p.m., when Mr. Thayer continued his summing up.

After thoroughly going over the entire situation, dealing with the loving relations between the defendant and her two husbands, he read a letter written by Mrs. Elizabeth Sternaman, mother of the deceased George H. Sternaman, showing, as he declared, the miserly nature of the 'old woman' in demanding from the helpless defendant money for the board of her own son during his illness, and also money for his brothers, who, the mother claimed, had put themselves out by running errands for the deceased. Is it any wonder that Mrs. Sternaman did not tell this mother-in-law how much insurance she was to get, knowing the penurious nature of this accuser of innocence?" asked Mr. Thayer.

He closed by saying: "They have not only failed to prove the defendant's connection with Sternaman's death, but have failed to prove that it was caused by arsenic poisoning, owing to the shattered testimony of Undertaker Snyder, who don't know whether he embalmed the body or not."

Mr. Thomas took the floor at just 3.10 o'clock and summed up for the Crown. He started by quoting from the American and English encyclopedia law on matters of extradition, but the Commissioner informed him that he was familiar with the subject and the text quoted. The interesting part of his short address before the court was the way in which he contradicted the statement of Mr. Thayer that the failure to find arsenic at the post-mortem by the use of the Marsh test was conclusive that the arsenic found in parts of the body of Sternaman six weeks later was put there by the undertaker in the process of embalming.

Mr. Thomas re-read the testimony of Dr. Phelps, who said that he still believed Sternaman died from arsenic poisoning, even if the Marsh test failed to find any arsenic at the post-mortem held by Drs. Park and Harrison, because most doctors are incompetent to perform properly such an operation, as it required the work of an expert chemist.

He finished by saying: "Why is it that this woman wants to remain here under the weight of condemnation and continual accusation, injuring herself and her children, when she could go to Canada and be tried by a fair tribunal and if, as she claims, she is innocent, be for all time hereafter freed from such a burden?"

At the close of Mr. Thomas' argument the court declared the hearing adjourned until Dec. 4, in order to have time in which to thoroughly review the testimony of the case.

UNHAPPY CUBA.

Spanish Bank Will Pay Its Notes in Silver—A Priest Maps Out a Plan of Campaign—Much Distress.

New York, Nov. 24.—The Sun's Havana correspondent under date of Nov. 18 writes: The Spanish Bank of the Island of Cuba has resolved to pay its bank notes in silver instead of gold, and for this purpose will make an issue of silver bills.

As a proof of the unpopularity of Gen. Weyler and the lack of confidence in his campaign, a sensational book has been published in Havana by a priest, in which a general plan is proposed for crushing the revolution. Father Casas, formerly secretary of the Bishop of Havana, is the author. He proposes to put in line of battle 100,000 soldiers, extending from the northeast to the south, and then, advancing three miles a day, oblige the insurgents to flee from the island. The clergy greatly favor the plan of Father Casas, and criticise the actual campaign of Weyler, who, in their opinion, has left defenceless the larger part of Cuba, while giving attention only to Maceo.

The sanitary condition of Havana is terrible. It is estimated that 13,000 sick Spanish soldiers are now in Havana. Smallpox is also making ravages among the population. In a single house on Aguila street 20 persons have died of smallpox.

The official reports of the war give news every day of forty or fifty skirmishes all over the island. No important battles are to be expected until the end of December, when the favorable season for the Cubans will fairly open.

Will Weyler Give Up?

Havana, Nov. 24.—The press comments on the return of Captain-General Weyler are very guarded, as is natural under the strict censorship exercised here. It is rumored that he will soon return to the field. One report has it that the chief reason for his return to Havana was pressing Government business, which demanded his personal attention. Some dissatisfaction is quietly expressed, even by loyalists, that General Weyler, after his long preparations to inflict a crushing blow on Maceo, should now come back to the capital without even catching sight of the main body of the rebels.

The rebel sympathizers are jubilant, believing that General Weyler's return signalizes the abandonment of his personal leadership of the campaign.

A Feeling Against Spain.

Tokio, Nov. 7.—(Via San Francisco, Nov. 24.)—Sympathy in the far East is strongly in favor of the Philippine Island insurgents. From several sources come stories of terrible tortures inflicted upon prisoners by the Spanish authorities for the purpose of extorting confessions. Speeches by Spaniards in high positions indicate that a war of extermination is being planned.

A Canadian Prize Winner.

New York, Nov. 24.—Large attendance marked the second day of the live stock exhibition at Madison-square Garden and a very interesting program was laid out by the management. This evening Jersey cattle were judged, followed by short horn cattle. The show closed with a parade of the prize winners. W. H. Beattie of Wilton Grove, Ont., won first prize for fat sheep, Oxfords and Hampshires, wethers one year old. Second prize went to W. H. Newton, Pontiac, Mich.

Wiman's Scheme.

Detroit, Nov. 24.—Erastus Wiman is here pushing his scheme to utilize the Erie Canal as a through waterway to take flour and grain from the Northwest to the seaboard. He is organizing a joint stock company, and says freight can be taken from Buffalo to the seaboard for one mill per ton per mile, one-fifth of the railway rate.

Lord Farrer Gives Billy Bryan a Rough Slap.

HE WAS WORSE THAN McKINLEY,

Judged From the Cobdenite Standpoint—Lord Playfair Believes a Great Commercial Panic Would Have Followed the Election of the Free Silverite—Lady Scott's Trial.

London, Nov. 24.—A meeting of the Cobden Club was held at the rooms of the National Liberal Club to-day. Among the speakers was Lord Farrer of Abinger, formerly Sir Thomas Henry Farrer, the author of "Free Trade versus Fair Trade," and other economic works. Lord Farrer expressed his satisfaction that Mr. Chamberlain's proposals for an Imperial zollverein had fallen flat, both at home and in the colonies, as he was opposed to free trade that meant only free trade with the colonies and protection against foreign countries. He was gratified at the election of McKinley to the American Presidency, though he was merely the lesser evil. If Bryan had not appeared as a candidate he would have thought McKinley the worst possible man for President.

Lord Playfair said: "The issues at stake in the recent American presidential election involved questions of constitutional government, and also the question of our faith in the democracy. If Bryan had been elected that faith would have been shattered, and the commercial panic which would have ensued would have been enormous. But far more serious than a commercial panic would have been our loss of faith in the democracy of the world."

Speaking of his personal observations in the United States during the presidential campaign, Lord Playfair said he felt required to say that the silverites were not dishonest, but mistaken. Free trade was not an issue in the contest with the exception that it was mentioned in some of McKinley's speeches. In view of the fact that the pivot of the election was sound money, the world ought to feel glad of the result. It would be a long time, he predicted, before the ardent protectionists of the United States would seek to change the existing tariff. The sound politicians of the United States had many questions of their own to solve, and he had no doubt that they would take advantage of the opportunity to deal with the question of the currency; but they were not likely to attempt to bring about a revival of high protection.

LADY SCOTT'S TRIAL.

Earl Russell Narrates the Story of the Manning of His Yacht

London, Nov. 24.—The trial of Lady Scott and the other defendants, Cockerton, Kast and Aylott, charged with having criminally libelled Earl Russell, was resumed in the Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, this morning.

Earl Russell was called to the witness stand and narrated the circumstances of his purchasing and manning his yacht. He had on board a mate named W. R. Parker, and a cabin boy named W. H. Parker, who left his employ to go into the Royal Navy. He was aware that W. H. Parker had been subpoenaed as a witness in his case. It was not true that he had ever kissed W. H. Parker. He had engaged Kast as cabin boy in June, 1887. Among the guests on board the yacht at that time were Lan Thynne, Cecil Fane and Lane Fox. Earl Russell then proceeded to describe the arrangements on board the yacht for the accommodation of his guests and himself.

Earl Russell denied Kast's allegations of immorality on board the yacht while the vessel was at Norfolk Roads. Then he produced his diary and by it proved that it would have been impossible for the acts charged to have occurred on the dates alleged. Earl Russell declared that Kast had never slept in his cabin. He had discharged Kast because of his filthiness in the use of towels.

Earl Russell said Kast had called upon him once after leaving the yacht and asked for work. Witness declined to re-employ Kast, but gave him a few shillings to help him along. Aylott succeeded as cabin boy on board the yacht, upon the recommendation of Cockerton. A lad named Lenton, who he had heard might appear in the witness box, was then engaged as deck hand. He was discharged because he got drunk.

The Earl narrated the quarrels with his wife over money matters, which had led to the indecent allegations she had brought against him.

Earl Russell emphatically denied that he had been guilty of misconduct with Aylott. He had discharged Cockerton for drunkenness, and for overstaying his leave from the yacht. Aylott, he said, had acted as his valet until 1889. Coming to the period of his marriage to Lady Scott's daughter, the Earl said that Lady Scott had appeared to be on friendly terms with Mr. Roberts (one of Lord Russell's Oxford friends) while visiting his house, though afterwards she had made charges against both Roberts and himself. The trial was adjourned for the day. Lady Scott was permitted to renew her bail for her appearance, and allowed to go free until to-morrow.

NOW IT'S COMING OUT.

A Breach of Promise Suit Against Mr. White, M.P. for Forfarshire.

Edinburgh, Nov. 24.—The list of cases to be tried in the Edinburgh Court of Sessions contains that of Miss Ellen Grant of Dundee, against James Martin White, M.P., of Baldruddery, near Dundee. Miss Grant is the oldest daughter of the Rev. Mr. Grant, pastor of the parish of St. John's, Dundee, and is suing Mr. White for breach of promise of marriage. Mr. White, who is retiring from the House of Commons, to which he was returned for Forfarshire, is the head of the firm of F. J. White & Co., of New York.

If You are Subject to Cramps

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. OUR FARMER MINISTER.

Though the Mail and Empire flouts the Laurier Ministry with tedious iteration of the motto, "business is business," yet it is proven that this principle has been adopted in the selection of ministers who know their business. One conspicuous instance of this is Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, who was appointed because he was at once a live politician and a practical farmer. Concerning him the Montreal Herald says: "The farming Minister of Agriculture has ceased to be an experiment—he is a success. The recent outbreak of hog cholera in Essex, overtaxed the local staff of veterinary officials, who were, perhaps, too much accustomed to the leisurely methods of former ministers. Hon. Mr. Fisher, on learning that the epidemic was gaining strength, sent down the head of that department, and authorized the engagement of qualified veterinaries for each infected township. By the slaughter of diseased hogs, the isolation of suspected cases, the strict quarantine of infected districts, and general disinfection, the outbreak has been fully controlled with a smaller loss than might have been expected. Mr. Fisher has now under consideration the sanitary means necessary to prevent its recurrence."

SPAIN demands an apology from the United States for the burning of a Spanish flag in Delaware, a city in Maryland. If Spain can't bring a few bare-legged insurgent Cubans to time, how can she expect to make the United States, with mighty warships lying at ambush on the bottom of her harbours, apologize for an insult to her flag?

HON. N. CLARKE WALLACE, in a speech in Toronto on Monday night, painted a glowing picture of the sweetly and solidly-united condition of the Conservative party. At the same moment we see the chief organ of the party, the World, jumping with both feet on the Mail and Empire, the other chief organ, and denouncing the policy of the wing of the party led by the latter. The World thus refers to the Mail and Empire: "Let the Conservative party beware of trifling with this school question, especially at the beck of The Mail. It is run, owned and written by the same men who betrayed Sir John, who originated the Pulptower plot, vilified the French, ridiculed the Catholic faith and its priests, offered to sell out to Dana, and become an annexation emissary, and scoffed at British connection! It has abandoned every movement that it supported, and supported every abandoned movement. It is trying to lead the Conservative party to destruction." After such a sweet picture of brethren dwelling together in unity, who will not say that Mr. Wallace is justified in gloating over the glorious unity and harmony of the Conservative party?

FORGED AND EMBEZZLED.

A Prominent Physician of Farnham, Quebec, is in a Heap of Trouble and Admits His Guilt.

Montreal, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—There was a sad sight in the Montreal Police Court to-day, when Dr. George Slack of Farnham, and one of the best known practitioners in the province, appeared before Judge Desnoyers and pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery and embezzlement to the extent of $12,000. Dr. Slack was with his sister, Mrs. Montgomery, executor in his late brother-in-law's estate, and having forged that lady's power of attorney, he secured a large amount of Bank of Montreal stock, sold the same and appropriated it to his own use, hence his arrest by Detective Carpenter and a plea of guilty before the judge. Mr. George S. Foster made a most eloquent appeal for clemency, and presented a petition bearing over two thousand names. It is also learned that restitution to a very large amoun t has been made. Judge Desnoyers will sentence the unfortunate man on Friday morning. Dr. Slack was the Conservative candidate in Missisquoi at the general election for the House of Commons.

The outward movement of grain and provisions from Montreal this season in almost every important staple shows a gratifying increase, with the exception of flour, pork and smoked meats. These three show a decrease as compared with the season of 1895, flour being 330,061 barrels less; pork, 1742 barrels, and smoked meats, 2005 boxes. All the raw cereals show increases, wheat being 3,200,000 odd in excess of 1895; corn, 3,000,000; peas, 2,200,000; oats, 2,300,000; rye, 300,000 bushels, and apples, 500,000 barrels.

PACIFIC CABLE QUESTION.

The Hawaiian Government Exercises Good Judgment in Dealing With American Monopolists - A Sop Refused.

Honolulu, Nov. 18 (via San Francisco, Nov. 24).—President Dole held a conference with the leading officials and business men of the island on the 14th inst., regarding the advisability of extending the terms of the cable franchise granted to Col. Z. S. Spalding and by him transferred to the Pacific Cable Company of New Jersey. The new contract calls for the exclusive privilege to land cables in Hawaii, connecting with Japan and Australia, and also an extension of two years in which to obtain a subsidy of $160,000 a year each from Japan and Australia. As an inducement for granting these terms Spalding offered to take up $375,000 Hawaiian 4 per cent. bonds of the proposed new issue for refunding the Government debt. John W. Foster, as representative of the Cable Company, urged the acceptance of the proposition, but yesterday was notified that the Government was unable to grant the request.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing But Dodd's Kidney Pills Could Touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 23—(Special)—Mr. W. P. Jackson, a telegraph operator of this place, has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—"Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal—and took the hot springs course, all to no purpose. I have taken doctors' advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I starting taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes, I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

TEN SCHOOLS STARTED.

Archbishop Langevin Will Take Catholic Education in Manitoba Under His Own Supervision.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Archbishop Langevin officially announces that, now that the so-called settlement terms shut out all hopes of restoration of the Catholic schools, he will take Catholic education in this province directly under his personal supervision. This morning, under the Archbishop's personal direction, ten parochial schools were opened in French Catholic parishes. They will be supported by voluntary contributions of Catholics.

The French Catholics of St Boniface held a public meeting to-night, and passed strongly-worded resolutions, protesting against the school settlement. Senator Bernier and Mr. LaRiviere, M.P., were the chief speakers.

Two or three rinks of Winnipeg curlers will take in the Toronto bonspiel this winter.

Hon. Mr. Prendergast is to-day mourning the death of his only daughter, Marguerite.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Philip Keathing Falls Off a Train Near the Humber at 1 a.m. To-Day and is Horribly Mangled.

Toronto, Nov. 25.

Philip Keathing, a man about 30 years of age, was killed on the G.T.R. track about a quarter of a mile west of the Humber, at 1 o'clock this morning. With two companions named James Spencer and John Birmingham, he had been stealing a ride, and, according to the story told to Constable Gipson of the Humber by Spencer and Birmingham, Keathing fell off the train. He was dragged about eight train lengths, and the body was horribly mangled. The train was stopped, and Conductor A. Smith notified Constable Gipson, who in turn notified Coroner Lynd. The remains were taken to Nurse's Hotel, pending enquiries.

Constable Gipson says that both Spencer and Birmingham were under the influence of liquor. They told him deceased's name, and said that he was a shoemaker, and that he had relatives in the city, one, Graham, being a shoemaker at Queen and Sumach-streets. They also told the constable that Keathing's brother-in-law was an employe of the City Jail. Spencer and Birmingham left for Toronto on the train before Constable Gipson had time to make much of their incoherent story.

TO MAKE QUICK TIME.

The Shortest Route to Europe is Via St John's, Nfld., Says Mr. McCowen, Now in Montreal.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—(Special.)—Mr. J. R. McCowen, Inspector-General of the Newfoundland Constabulary Force, is here. He speaks of the early completion of the Island Railway, which will be finished to Port au Basque, its western terminus, early next season. This point is but 90 miles from Sydney, C.B., which, with a good steamer, can be reached in four or five hours. Mr. McCowen said that Mr. Robert Reid, the builder of the 500 miles of railway through the interior of the colony, had fulfilled his obligations to the Government and the people of Newfoundland in the most honorable manner, and both he and his sons are highly respected by all classes. He is now in England, for the purpose of securing a first-class steamer to run between Port au Basque and Sydney at the completion of the road to the first-named point, and he hopes that with a fast liner that will make the time from Great Britain to St. John's, Nfld., in 3 1-2 days, a railway trip across the Island and a 20-knot steamer to Sydney, the fast Atlantic mail service will be a fait accompli. It is also quite probable that with the completion of the Baie des Chaleurs line to Paspebiac a steamer will be put on from that port to the west coast of Newfoundland, bringing Montreal within 35 hours of St. John's. Mr. McCowen declares that this would be by all odds the safest route from Great Britain to this continent. He has just been over Mr. Reid's new road, and describes the scenery both along the route and on the coast as exceedingly fine, especially in Notre Dame Bay, in the north of the Island. Newfoundland, he says, is just entering on the development of her rich mineral deposits of gold and copper and asbestos, while an English company has just been formed to work the oil wells. The copper mines at Filt Cove on the north side of the Island are a marvel of richness, twelve steamers having already been despatched to New York and Great Britain with the ore.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

The People's Whiskey Bill Shows a Decline

AS COMPARED WITH FORMER YEARS

Prof. Robertson to Confer With Toronto People Regarding Cold Storage—Dr. McPhail Looking Into the Lobster Packing Industry—A Budget of Personal and General News.

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—The Inland Revenue Department is the first of the public departments to issue its annual report. It shows that the Canadian whisky bill for the fiscal year ending June 30 last was the lowest in the history of the country. The consumption of spirits per head was .823 gallons, while for 1895 it was .868. In 1869 the consumption per head was 1.324 (over one and a tenth gallons). The quantity consumed kept steadily increasing until 1874, when it reached its highest point, 1.994, or nearly two gallons Since that time the consumption has gradually decreased. While the quantity of spirits consumed drunk per head has increased. In 1869 drank per head was increased In 1869 the quantity consumed per head was 2.290 gallons. It kept about the same quantity, sometimes a little higher, sometimes a little lower, until 1881, when the quantity consumed per head was 2.293. Each year then it kept going up until 1891, when it reached its highest point, 2.790. For the last fiscal year, the quantity consumed was 3.528, and for 1895 it was 3.471. In 1894 it was 3.722.

The Agricultural and Dairy Commissioner was notified by Mayor Fleming to-day that he had arranged for a meeting to be held in the City Council Chamber, Toronto, on Friday morning, at which members of the council and of the Board of Trade interested in cold storage for perishable products would be present to meet Prof. Robertson. Accordingly the Commissioner will leave for Toronto on Thursday evening. After the meeting there, on his way west, Prof. Robertson will visit St. Mary's and other points where cold storage warehouses have already been constructed, with a view to acquiring information as to the methods of construction.

Dr. McPhail of McGill University visited here to-night to discuss with the officers of the Fisheries Department the steps to be taken towards putting into force the methods discovered by Dr McPhail for preventing the blackening of lobsters after canning. Packers on the Atlantic coast are very anxious to learn Dr McPhail's method, as it means considerable money to them if it can be successfully carried out Information has reached the Agricultural Commissioner from Washington, that the Internal Revenue Department there is going to take vigorous action against the parties who shipped a consignment of filled cheese to Glasgow recently from Chicago; also information comes that the officers are already at work and will make it hot for parties who contravened the United States law.

The quantity of wine consumed per had reached its lowest point last year, when it was .07 gallons. The year previous it was .09. In 1869 the quantity was .115. It kept ascending until 1874, when it reached its highest point, .333. In 1875 it dropped to .149 and kept gradually dropping until last year it was the lowest on record.

In 1869 the tobacco used per head was 1.750 lbs. It reached its highest mark in 1885, when the quantity consumed was 2.623 lbs. It dropped gradually to 2.143 in 1890, and since then there has been very little change. The quantity consumed last year was 2.120 lbs. per head, compared with 2.163 in 1895.

The report shows that the revenue accrued during the year was $8,041,097, as compared with $7,912,097 for the previous year. Of the revenue, $4,911,283 came from the excise duties on spirits, $2,351,899 from tobacco and $460,937 from cigars. Malt gave $781,554 duty. The quantity of spirits produced during the year was 4,382,219 proof gallons, as compared with 2,606,787 proof gallons produced in the previous fiscal year.

The total quantity of tobacco, snuff and cigarettes used for the year was 9,632,872 lbs., which was below the average. The year previous the quantity consumed was 10,002,521 lbs. The Canadian tobacco used was 500,283 lbs.

The average number of cigars smoked for the four years ending 1894, '95, was 110,192,321, while the number for last year was 108,290,260, about 100 cigars apiece for every full grown man in the Dominion.

The methylated spirits manufactured during the year was 119,341 proof gallons, and 120,715 gallons were sold.

Data are being collected by the railway authorities in conjunction with the city police, Government detectives and the Provincial County Constables' Association with respect to the hundreds of burglaries and more serious offences which have been committed by tramps during the past few months. This information will be embodied in a petition to be presented to the Minister of Justice, asking certain amendments be made to the criminal code, applying especially to these peripatetic wayfarers. One of the changes suggested will be the insertion of a clause providing that every tramp arrested upon whom a revolver or other weapon is found shall be liable to six months' imprisonment and 15 applications of a cat-o-nine tails.

There is a prospect of trouble between the directors of the Protestant Hospital and the medical staff. The latter have asked the directors to replace Dr. J. A. Grant, jr., on the medical staff of the institution. At a meeting of the doctors on Saturday evening, it was decided if the directors should be called upon to carry out the spirit of the agreement made with the medical staff, whereby it was agreed not to strike off any of the doctors on the staff without sufficient cause. The doctors claim that this agreement, has been broken by the recent new appointments. They will give the directors an opportunity to return to the terms of the agreement, and if that is not done it is not improbable that the resignation of the entire staff will be handed in.

Major Sutherland, chief Government whip, arrived here to-day to make arrangements for the campaign in Cornwall and Stormont. It is likely that the Major will go down to Cornwall in a day or two and camp on the ground until the contest is over.

The suit brought by Mr. A. S. Woodburn for compensation for bindery work given out by the Government during the time that he held the contract, from Dec. 1, 1879, to Nov. 9, 1886, is likely to be a lengthy one. Collectors of Customs have been instructed to forward to that department certified copies of all accounts and vouchers for binding performed at their ports between the dates named.

The Minister of Marine has declined to intervene with a marine investigation into the cause of the collision between the steamship Tiber and the schooner Maggie in St. John's harbor, Newfoundland, owing to the fact that the captain of the Tiber is now under trial for manslaughter.

Ottawa is to have a sitting of the Tariff Commission if a sufficient number of manufacturers and importers of the district signify their desire to give the Ministers the benefit of their suggestions. To that end circulars have been sent out by the Board of Trade.

Mr. S. H. Janes of Toronto is again in the city.

Mr. Davies yesterday instructed the department to look into the report made by the Spanish Consul at Halifax, that the steamer Bermuda was arranging for a filibustering expedition to Cuba.

Several specimens of anthraxolite from the Sudbury district have been sent to the Geological Survey museum, and are now on exhibition there.

There are yet seventeen miles of the O.,A. & P. S. Railway to pass Government inspection. The inspection of this part of the line will likely take place next week.

Mr. Robert Chalmers of the Geological Survey has returned from his season's field work among the alluvial deposits of the Chaudiere district of Quebec and the Eastern Townships.

Chief Engineer Schreiber was inspecting the Cornwall Canal to-day.

Col. Tucker, M. P., was here to-day on departmental business.

Messrs. Blair and Davies will leave for the Northwest to-morrow. Mr. Tarte will meet them at Winnipeg to discuss certain matters before he comes home, and his colleagues go west. The Minister of Public Works was at Calgary to-day and will be at Edmonton to-morrow.

Postmaster-General Mulock returned to the city to-day.

The outports of Wellington Square and Hagersville, under Hamilton, are to be abolished after the 1st of January next.

Mr. F. T. C. O'Hara, private secretary to Sir Richard Cartwright, has in the press a work entitled "Snap Shots From Boy Life." It will be illustrated by one of the best artists in the United States.

The Free Press (Liberal organ) publishes a letter condemning for his pap hunting proclivities Mr. E. A. Meredith of Toronto, recently appointed a commissioner to investigate the affairs of Kingston penitentiary.

W. Crisper of Gloucester Township, a young man employed as a brakesman on the Ottawa and Parry Sound Road, was crushed to death by the cars at Simms' pit, 150 miles up the line.

The Fisheries Department was advised to-day that the Behring Sea Claim Commission has got down to business at Victoria. Sixteen claims were filed by Canadians, aggregating $424,500 for the vessels and $35,000 for personal detention of masters and mates. More claims will be filed to-morrow.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathise with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble, Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c. silver to cover postage and address, Mr. Geo. G. Strong, North Rockwood, Mich

TROOPS FOR HALIFAX.

An Experiment in Regard to Britain's Facilities for the Quick Reinforcement of the Garrison.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 24.—The steamer Carthaginian arrived here to-night from Liverpool, conveying drafts of 800 officers and men to relieve the British garrisons at Halifax, Bermuda and Esquimalt. This route was adopted in order to test the possibility of despatching troops to Canada rapidly in time of war, and also to see how quickly a garrison could be landed in St. John's should Great Britain's necessities compel special efforts to retain the island. The officers aboard will report upon the above matters upon reaching their destination. The scheme excites considerable interest here.

IN THE DARK VALLEY.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have Saved My Life"—This is said by Thousands—Prevention the Safest.

"In the valley and shadow of death"—"Given up to die." There are many thousands of such living in Canada to-day who say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills have saved my life."

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents—which is better than curing.

Chief Douglas in Town.

Chief Douglas, of Port Hope, came up this morning for Wm. Milne of that town, who was arrested here last night by the police, from a description sent up by Chief Douglas. Milne is wanted on a charge of larceny.

New Millinery Novelties.

The Misses Cahill have placed on exhibition this week a lot of the more recent fall and winter novelties in millinery goods, which the ladies should call and inspect. These goods will meet the demand for something new for Thanksgiving week.

The Lacrosse Club's Photographs.

The members and officers of the Lacrosse Club will please be at the Oriental Hotel to-morrow morning at a quarter to nine. The players will bring their suits only and are requested to be sharp on time. Mr. Whiten will take the group at nine o'clock at his studio.

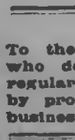
The Ladies of Peterborough are specially invited to call and inspect Mr. G. E. Whiten's new art studio, where Miss Whiten will be in attendance to show you through the newly arranged premises and also show you some new work just finished. Don't wait till you want photos taken before you call, as we will be pleased to have you call any time. Studio entrance on Hunter street, opposite Oak Hall. 1d

Thanksgiving Dinner.



The Ladies' Aid of Charlotte street Methodist church have completed all arrangements for their annual Thanksgiving dinner and entertainment on Thursday evening. Dinner will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock, after which a choice programme of vocal and instrumental music, and short addresses by the resident ministers, will be presented. Tickets 25c for both dinner and entertainment. The chair will be taken by J. R. Stratton, Esq., M. P. P. 2d128

A Musical Entertainment.

The Montreal Witness of Nov. 17th says: "Concert-goers experienced a treat on Tuesday in the choice musical entertainment given by Miss Mabel Chambers and Miss Bertha Belasco in Association Hall. The sweet toned voice of the first mentioned artist was heard to good advantage in "With Verdure Clad" "Love has Eyes," as well as in other numbers and encores. Miss Belasco's playing left almost nothing to be desired. The hall was crowded and the concert a decided success." The plan for concert to be given here by these young ladies, Dec. 3rd, is now open at Stratton's Bookstore. Reserved seats 50 cents, admission 35 and 25 cents. 2d

At the Opera House.

The opera house was again crowded last night, when the Myra Collins Company presented the sparkling comedy, "That Naughty Kid." The production gave excellent satisfaction. Myra Collins, as Polly took her part to perfection, and was simply two cute for anything, whilst J. Moy Bennett, as Carl Schmidt, Polly's lover was right in line in this character. The other members of the company also acquitted themselves admirably in their respective parts. But all eyes appeared to have been rivetted on Danny Simons, as Mr. Smudge, the hustling advertising agent. His songs and dances during the evening were greeted with deafening applause. The management have under them a clever company of artists, and their work is away above the average.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Ellen Doris and Mr. Thos. Sheehan.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at St. Peter's Cathedral at 7 o'clock to-day, when Ven. Archdeacon Casey united in marriage Miss Ellen Doris, eldest daughter of Mr. J. R. Doris, Harvey street, and Mr. Thomas Sheehan, of Ashburnham.

The bride looked charming in a fawn-coloured wedding costume, and wore a brown chenille hat. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Cecilia, in a dress of navy blue tweed, trimmed with brown fur, and wearing a brown hat. The groom was assisted by Mr. Daniel Hayes of Skibbereen, Otonabee, cousin of the bride.

Only the relatives of the contracting parties were present during the ceremony and at its conclusion the happy couple repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where a wedding breakfast was partaken of.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of beautiful presents from her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan left on the 12.05 G. T. R. train on a wedding trip to Niagara and other points in the Dominion.

THE TOWN TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Annual Convention Friday, Nov. 27th—What the Programme Will be.

The Peterborough City Teachers' Association will hold its annual convention in the Central School, town, on Friday next, Nov. 27th, beginning at 9 a. m.

In the morning, among other things, Mr. Jeffries, of the Collegiate Institute, will teach a lesson in literature, and Miss Becket will teach an object lesson. In the afternoon Dr. Klug will deliver an address on "School Hygiene." Rev. Mr. Symonds will also address the convention at 2.15.

Teachers are requested to come prepared to point out anything in their respective limits which they think capable of improvement. This is a favourable time to thoroughly discuss this matter.

All those interested in educational matters are cordially invited to attend either or both sessions of the convention. Principal Fessendan will preside.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Sabatino Paumbo was discharged this morning by the magistrate. He was the Italian who was arrested for flourishing a revolver last week.

—Mr. J. Hampden Burnham will give an address on "The Early History of Canada" in the Catholic Association rooms next Tuesday evening.

—Several of the Toronto papers are starting an agitation against the exemption of churches in that city from taxation. About four and three quarter of a million of church property is exempted.

—If you want to economize burn the People's Coal Co's coal. All kinds of coal in stock, including best hard coal for stoves and furnaces, soft coal for grates, and smithing coal. Office—360 Charlotte street. Telephone 360.

—The time is approaching when the owners of display store fronts will have the usual cold weather trouble from the frosting of their windows. It is said that painting the glass with a solution of glycerine in 63 per cent. spirits of wine will overcome this difficulty. It is worthy trying.

THE MORGAN HOUSE ROBBERY

David Welsh Receives a Hearing—The Evidence Largely That Given in the Lockington Case—The Case Not Concluded.

David Welsh, charged with the burglary of the Morgan House on Nov. 17th, had a hearing at the police court this morning before Police Magistrate Dumble.

Mr. R. E. Wood represented the Crown, and Mr. Daniel O'Connell appeared for the accused.

Fred Lund was first examined and gave substantially the same evidence as he did in the hearing of Lockington.

Mr. O'Connel's cross-examination was directed to show the improbability of Mr. Cox hearing from the room he slept in, the fall of the drawer of the cash register in the bar. Witness did not identify prisoner as the man who came to the bar with Lockington the night of the robbery.

James Gordon testified to seeing a man the night of and about the time of the robbery at the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, on the east side of Water street. The man carried an umbrella and was dressed in dark clothes. He was about the height of the prisoner. He then in a few minutes passed up to the Bank of Commerce corner. It was about 3 minutes from the time he was at the Ontario Bank corner. It was 8 minutes past one when he was at the Bank of Commerce and 3 minutes after he was at Morgan's. He substantially repeated his evidence in the Lockington case. To Mr. O'Connell—It was 10 minutes after one when he reached Morgan's Hotel. It was three minutes after he entered the bar before any person came into the bar. The door of the bar was unlocked till Mr. Cox and the bartender came. There is no light at the corner of Water and Simcoe streets. He could not identify the prisoner as the person he saw at this point on the night of the robbery.

E. W. Cox testified in the main the same as in the hearing of Lockington. Mr. O'Connell's cross-examination took the direction of showing a hiatus in the time at which witness heard the breaking of the glass and the time Watchman Gordon saw a man (assumed to be prisoner) at the corner of Simcoe street.

Henry Morgan, son of Mr. A. P. Morgan, testified that he saw prisoner in the Morgan House bar about a quarter to eleven on the night of 17th. He was sitting on a seat near the side door. Saw him examining the lock. Prisoner was in company with Mark Lockington, and had an umbrella. They left about 11 o'clock. To Mr. O'Connell—Witness did not regard Walsh's examination of the lock as anything suspicious.

Joseph Armstrong knew the prisoner by sight. Saw him with Mark Lockington on the night in question—a little before eleven. He had an umbrella. They left his place about 11:30. Lockington was pretty drunk.

R. M. Glover was returning to Ashburnham on the 17th at about 25 minutes after 12. Met two men; one had only one arm, and the other had an umbrella. Did not see the faces of the men.

Joseph Stewart, policeman, testified to what he found on the prisoner when he was searched at the police station at the time of his arrest. His left hand was cut—a fresh wound. He noticed prisoner in the cells rubbing blood off his hand. To Mr. O'Connell—He had heard of the robbery and expected to find marks.

Geo. Graham testified that he saw Lockington passing the Oriental Hotel going towards George street in company with a man he thought was the prisoner. This was about 12.15. He saw Lockington at Oriental again about 1.30.

The case was in progress as we go to press.

PERSONAL.

Miss Rogers, of Toronto, is in town on a visit, the guest of Mrs. John McKee, 174 London street.

The numerous friends of Mrs. H. C. Rogers, who has been ill at her rooms at the Huffman House, will be pleased to learn that her condition shows improvement.

Col. Hamilton, of Toronto, provincial inspector of vital statistics, was in town yesterday, and found everything satisfactory with the records of Mr. Registrar Armstrong.

The Globe says: Mrs. Van der Linde, 33 Harvard avenue, entertained a few friends last Friday evening in honor of her guests, Miss Wolverton, of Hamilton, and Miss Manson, of Peterborough.

A METHODIST PASTOR.

Ryckman's Kootenay Cure.

Was the Medicine that Gave her Complexion the Glow of Health and Removed the Puffed Appearance from Her Face.

50 Gore street,
Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 21, 1896.

Mr. Ryckman,

DEAR SIR,—I have been conversing this day with Mrs. E. Clarkson, 138 Hannah street east, this city, who claims to have received great benefit from the use of "Kootenay Cure," which is sold so generally by you at the present time. Her special trouble was Bright's Disease, and was of nine years standing. It was so pronounced by two physicians. While she does not claim to be completely cured—having taken only four bottles of the remedy—yet she feels so much better that she does not hesitate to recommend its use to anyone afflicted as she has been. The pains in her head have entirely ceased, and almost from the back. The complexion wears the glow of health, and the puffed appearance is gone from the face. She has increased nine pounds in weight in two months, and is thereby encouraged to believe that what has improved her physical condition will ultimately accomplish a complete cure.

Making Room

For Christmas Things

Just one month from to-day will be Christmas day—a day strong in the hearts of the people of the country as well ac of the town. What splendid shape we soon will be in for Christmas shoppers, when our ten tons of Holiday goods are placed on exhibition!

But for a week yet we must keep on contriving to make more room for Santa Claus' stocks. What a time we have had, selling at any price to clear off the counters and shelves for the new things to come. For another week we must keep it up—this selling at any price—and the money saving chances we have to offer ought to bring the farmers in from the cross-roads and back concessions of the whole country. The Lake Temiscaming District.

Mr. Thos. McCamus, of Bobcaygeon, returned last week from Lake Temiscaming, on the boundary between Ontario and Quebec, about 100 miles northwest of Mattawa, where he spent the summer. Mr. McCamus' description of the country is a favourable one; the soil is first class, and the lumber shanties furnish a remunerative market, hay selling at $20 per ton and oats at 60 cents a bushel. Last year Mr. McCamus took up a farm lot of 320 acres, paying 50c. per acre, and this summer he erected a saw and shingle mill. On the Ontario side the lumber is spruce, whitewood and cedar, but pine is plentiful on the Quebec side, and last winter 7,000 men were employed in the shanties cutting lumber.

Good News for Machine Workmen.

The Royal Electric Company, of Montreal, have recently closed several extensive contracts for large Electrical Machinery, which will keep their factory occupied night and day for more than a year, and necessitates a large increase in the number of their employees. They are advertising for a number of mechanics at good wages. They have added to their Machinery Equipment recently some of the largest tools of their kind in Canada, such as Planers, Boring Mills and Drills, and need men experienced on such tools. This is a hopeful evidence of improvement in Canadian Manufacture and Industry, the greatest part of their work being required for water power developments and railroad purposes.

REV. DR. MILLIGAN'S ELOQUENT LECTURE

IN AID OF THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

A Very Large Attendance—Chairman's Sketch of the Society's Work—Rev. Dr. Milligan Pleasantly Shows How to Brighten Life—Remarks Upon the Society.

There was an exceedingly large attendance at St. Paul's church, last night, to hear Rev. Dr. Milligan, of Old St. Andrew's, Toronto, lecture on behalf of the Children's Aid Society. Before he began his address Sheriff Hall read the following report of the progress of the local branch of the organization:—

Before the enactment of recent Dominion and Provincial legislation respecting the rescue of young children, there existed no concerted means for the rescue of our own Canadian waifs and strays. This the Ontario Government felt to be not only a reproach but also a menace to our national welfare, and it is for this reason that this Children's Aid movement has been started and that a Government superintendent of neglected and dependent children, with a full staff of inspectors has been appointed. The rest remains with the people. In England, where this movement originated, it is regarded as one of the highest developments of modern civilization. The good it has done is incalculable. With us in Canada it has just begun, and the Provincial Government is very anxious for the success of so salutary a movement, as the frequent letters of their officers concerning its progress bear witness. We are on the eve in Canada of a revolution in the treatment of our children. The efficiency of home-training has become relaxed and the number of children allowed to drift to the brink of ruin is always on the increase. Therefore every exertion should be put forth to stop this tide of degeneration and that is another reason for the existence of this desire to rescue the drifting offspring of indifferent parents. Another reason again for the existence of this movement is the desire to give charitable assistance only where it really should be given and not in such a way as to develop idleness and crime. Still another reason is the desire to punish all those who maltreat or injure innocent children and to furnish defenceless girls with a protector to whom they may appeal. It may seem an exaggeration to say that the rescue of neglected and dependent children is one of the most urgent and pressing of public needs, but it is not an exaggeration by any means. Neglected and destitute children form a large portion of our population. And again, reformatories are not for innocent children. They are for criminals. Why then should we not all join in providing the homeless child or the child of irreclaimable parents with a comfortable and happy home and a chance to be a good and respectable citizen? It differs from the Dr. Barnardo movement in that children are adopted and not hired out. This is the apology for the existence of this movement and I am sure it meets with your approval.

In the town and county of Peterborough the local society has provided during the ten months of our present year twelve little children with comfortable homes where they have the benefit of schooling and of all the other advantages of civilized and humane surroundings. In addition to this, upon complaint full inquiries have been made and measures of improvement taken respecting fifty other children whose condition has thereby been turned to good account. Also during the ten months of our year, so far elapsed, eight cases have been brought into the police court by the Society. Last year there were eleven. We cannot close this announcement without acknowledging the invaluable assistance of the magistrates and police and the unselfish energy of the Society's agent, together with the wholesome and commanding influence of the press, without whose active sympathy it would be impossible to carry on this movement in its early stages successfully. We may seem to be always crying out for financial help, but the reason for it is that the harvest is great and the means of reaping it are all too limited.

that there was much of interest in the report. A good many thought that the state was shouldering a great responsibility when it undertook the work belonging to others—belonging to parents. The curfew bell was an instance of where a parental right was interfered with by the state. Some were opposed to it, but it was better to have the children sent home this way than allowing them to roam at will through the streets at night. Even the animals did not allow their young to roam at large at night. He, himself, was opposed to the establishment of the curfew, but it was a case of where there is two evils, to chose the least.

Many parents were becoming very slack with their children. In many cases the fifth commandment was daily inverted. It was no longer "Children honour your parents," but "Parents honour your children."

Discipline was greatly needed amongst the young, and it was admirable to have worthy Christian gentlemen in ever community who were capable of teaching them order. Parents should do this, but failing it was better to have some one else do it than not have it done at all. Therefore, the speaker wrs in favour of the establishment of boy's brigades in large centres of population. This work was a necessity. It is a case of Cæsar trying to be a parent to the children.

that all children should be educated by the state and the indications are that the state may soon legitimately take upon itself the moral training of the children, whose parent have neglected them.

Having made these few remarks about the Children's Aid Society, the speaker proceeded to deliver his address on the subject of "How to Brighten Life." Some, he stated, tried to brighten it through society and there was no class he pitied more. A lady once told him that she had 300 on her visiting list. He pitied her, poor little butterfly. He would give up the ghost in a week if he had 300 on his list. It was sorry way to lighten life.

Many young men tried to lighten life by making fools of themselves. These were the young fellows who might be heard singing, "We won't go home until morning." They are not very bright next morning. It was the case of a bon.fire. Bright enough for a time, but only lasting for a certain brief period. Its vigour was soon burned out.

ALL THESE THINGS

were indications of the fact that there was something in man which needed brightening. If a man was merry, it did not necessarily follow that he was a thing of the devil. He did not have to be singing Psalms all day to show that he was a good living man. Of all the creatures on earth the brightest should be man, and what a bungling set we are not to be bright. There were three times as many men in the world as any other thing which was created, and yet a bungle was being made with all these numbers. May be the new woman would set things straight, though the speaker still thought that the sphere of woman was to brighten home.

How shall we make life bright?

A man has

and there are two ways to give effect to it.

Firstly, not to believe in culture but to play by ear.

Secondly, to cultivate yourself to train, and try to have a higher and higher ideal, and in twenty years what a difference there will be!

The musical instinct requires to be cultivated.

So it is with gladness. It is not right to let things slide and to go on playing by ear. It is by studying that a condition of joy can only be reached. It is not pleasant to study now, but all must begin to bear the yoke in their youth, whether it be the yoke of literature, music or joy. "No cross, no crown," is universally true.

A man should first cultivate the body. There is no physical joy like the joy of healthfulness. It was the highest of all material joys. The joy is not the joy of the wine bibber, but of physical

HEALTH AND VIGOR.

He himself had travelled to England to consult the famous Sir Andrew Clarke about his health. It was a simple remedy which he received. Regular hours for meals, no pickles or pastry, or cheese; brown bread rather than the worked out white article. Careful in regard to the selection of the meat, and a bath in tepid water every morning. These were all simple things but they will keep you vigorous. Find out the conditions of the body and how to treat it well and you will have joy.

There are other intemperances besides drunkenness. Temperance is simply self control.

The speaker advised against the use of any stimulant, even tea, until the age of maturity was allowed. He also referred to the corsets affected by women to perfect their shape, but pointed out that they only warped their form out of all proportion.

The Y.M.C.A. received a word of encouragement. That is the Y.M.C.A. that looks after the physical development of its members.

HE HAD NO USE

for the association with a crank at its head who thought the physical development of its members was not the work of the Y.M.C.A.

The next element of brightness consisted in the cultivation of the intellect. If you want to be bright you must have a bright intellect, and you cannot have a bright intellect unless you cultivate it. If he was told he could only have one means of culture he would choose the classics. They furnished richer material for intellectual discipline than anything else.

Another very important thing to make life bright lay in the cultivation of the emotions. Can a man despondent be made sanguine? Yes! Read the the promises. Cultivate your emotions. Some should learn how to and others have to use them. Then there is the tone and temper of your lives. How valuable it is to cultivate the right one; how bright we could make our lives if we only watched ourselves and our tones. Cultivate inclusiveness rather than exclusiveness. There were too many churches at the present day—too many creeds. A small village boasted of several churches which were all struggling for existence. The people were one all through the week and yet separated on Sunday to go to different churches. No wonder the heathens laughed. Christians were grubbing over metaphysics instead of living along the lines of the broad principles of religion.

At this juncture the speaker looked at his watch and ascertaining that he had been speaking almost two hours, abruptly brought the highly interesting lecture to a close.

Sheriff Hall spoke a few words regarding the rare treat which the audience had enjoyed and on behalf of the Society, warmly thanked Dr. Milligan for giving his services free of charge.

The murderer who, at dead of night, creeps, stealthily out to bury the dead and mangled body of his victim inspires men with horror and dread. There is a murderer abroad who yearly slays one-sixth of all the human race who go down to untimely deaths. This dread monster is called consumption. The approach of consumption is slow and insidious. First there is a slight disorder of the digestion. The appetite is poor and the nourishing properties of the food are not properly assimilated. The blood becomes thin and impure. The body begins to starve. Old tissues of the body are not properly replaced by new. The lung tissues are not properly nourished and are inert and half dead. In this condition they offer a good soil for the germs of consumption which invade and attack them.

This operation is promptly reversed by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It invigorates the digestion and appetite and makes assimilation perfect. It builds up and purifies the blood. It makes new and healthy tissue to replace the old, inert matter which it causes to be carried off. It drives out all disease-germs. Thousands of cases given up as hopeless have been cured.

Miss Laura Piersel, of East Bethlehem, Washington Co., Pa., writes: "I must write you telling you of the great benefit derived from the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Last summer my friends thought I was surely going into consumption, and having tried doctors with no satisfactory results and hearing your medicine so highly spoken of, I took one bottle. My cough left me together with all the distressing symptoms, and in fact the cure seemed almost miraculous to all who saw me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated granules that are an unfailing and permanent cure for constipation.

HOME IN THE TROPICS

THANKSGIVING DAY IN THE WEST INDIES.

How a Scotchman Entertained a Yankee. Turkey With the Temperature at Ninety—Parrot Potpie—The Experience of a Naturalist Far Away Over the Sea.

[Copyright, 1896, by the Author.]

"What's that you say? A stranger here and sick with fever? Let me have a look at him." It was a strong, hearty voice that I heard on the other side of the partition separating my small bedroom from the living apartment of the Widow Higham's boarding house. It was brisk and breezy, and yet so long had I lain there on the hard, hot bed, in that little stifled room, racked with pains and at times unconscious, that I thought it must be but a part of my daily delirium, in which I dreamed of soft breezes and fields of sweet scented cane. But it was no delusion this time, for the owner of the voice burst open the rickety door and entered my room. He was a big and stalwart Scotchman, florid of complexion and brusque of manner, whom 20 years in the West Indies had mellowed into a perfect type of his class. He was the manager of a large sugar plantation down the coast, having hundreds of black laborers under him and exercising autocratic sway over his humble dependents; hence his rough and ready manner; hence his tender heart, which prompted him to seek an interview with a perfect stranger, of whom he had never heard the name even till that very day.

"Pardon me, sir," he said as soon as he caught sight of my prostrate form, "but I hear you have been a month ill, and the doctor tells me you need a change of air. Now, I have come to take you down to my estate. The steamer starts at 2. It is now 11. Can you be ready to go with me?"

"I don't know," I answered feebly. "It is very kind of you, but I have not been on my feet for nearly a month."

"Very well, then; it's settled. I'll send my boy in to gather up your traps. Don't you move till he gets his arms around you. Leave it all to me and him. I know just how you feel; it's an exertion to think."

The passage from my sickbed to the little coast steamer was a blank, but the sea breezes revived me, and by the time we had arrived opposite the estate of Rutland Vale, my new friend's plantation, I was able to walk, with an assistant at either arm. A couple of horses were in waiting. I was helped into the saddle of one of them, and then supported to the "great house," which was about half a mile from the landing.

There we were welcomed by a handsome, motherly woman, the cheery consort of my hospitable host, and I was made at home at once. Through the house and around the verandas romped a troop of children, of ages varying from 2 to 12 years, a blithesome, merry lot, who were for the moment rather abashed at the coming of a stranger. But only for the moment, and they soon swarmed over their father, and shyly greeted his companion, while expectantly awaiting the doling out of the goodies he had brought them from the town.

"DONE MEK MO' WUK FER OLE NIGGER WOMAN."

"Ten of them, all sound as roaches, every one," said the happy father, as he picked up an armful and pranced about the veranda. "But come in. Here is your room. Get into bed now, and don't you get out till I tell you to. Since I've usurped the doctor's place, you must obey my orders, you understand. Lie there quietly while I go and get your medicine."

My good friend's house was situated on a gentle knoll in the center of a vast estate in a beautiful valley midway between the coast and mountains of the St. Vincent. What with the incense breathing air, the nourishing food and the various beverages which were offered me under the guise of "medicines" my convalescence was rapid, and within two weeks I was out and about. Three weeks after my arrival, which was on the 1st of November, I rode over the plantation with my host, as he inspected the operations of his laborers, and rambled in the woods of the lower hills with my gun.

A letter received from home about this time reminded me that the "old folks" were about preparing for the annual Thanksgiving, and, this fact having been casually mentioned to my friends, they were curious to know the why and wherefore of that New England feast.

As they themselves were of a similar sturdy stock to our pilgrim ancestors, they could readily appreciate the significance of this rendering unto the Giver of all good heartfelt thanks for the bounties of the year. "It is a good old custom," said my host, slapping me heartily between the shoulders, "and if it's good for the Yankees why isn't it good for the Scotchmen too? Gad, we'll have a celebration of our own. What say you, mother? Have we any fat turkeys in the pen? Thanksgiving without turkey, I understand, is like a Boston Sunday without beans. Isn't it so, young man?"

I assured him that he had hit rather near the truth of it, and that the two made a good combination, turkeys being an American product and beans derived indirectly from Scotland itself. "But," I added, "if you haven't any turkeys, guinea fowl will do; a fine plump guinea pullet isn't to be sneezed at, served brown and with its own sauce."

"That is so, but we'll have the turkeys; yes, and the guineas too. And what's the matter with your taking your gun up into the woods and trying for a few brace of wild pigeons? Parrots, too, are mighty good, and the woods above the spring head are alive with them."

That proposition met with my approval, for it was to study the birds of the island that I had come to St. Vincent, and it was while hunting a rare bird on the mountain top, and living in a cave the while, that I had contracted the troublesome fever which came so near to carrying me away from all the haunts of birds as well as of men. The day before the date set for Thanksgiving, just at the breaking of a glorious dawn, I set off, mounted on one of the plantation ponies, for the "high woods" above the sources of the river that flowed through Rutland Vale. An intelligent colored boy went along as guide and kept pace with my beast as he climbed the steep path into the mountain forests. Beneath the great trees, after the forest was reached where the wood giants threw out their broad arms 100 feet and more above our heads, we tied the pony and ascended the ridge, where it was too steep for him to travel. Here the palms and gum trees seemed to be alive with pigeons and parrots, the former the great blue pigeons called there "ramiers," and inhabiting the higher tree tops. It required most careful bushwhacking to get within shot of them, and sharp eyes to detect them on their elevated perches, on the topmost twigs of the trees against the sky. But before the sun proclaimed the hour of noon 14 pigeons lay on the ground at my feet, and 4 parrots. These latter, being large and wary, valuable alike for their flesh and their feathers, were a species entirely distinct from any others in the world, and consequently very desirable as museum specimens. In fact, before I yielded them up to the sable cook at the great house I stripped their rainbow hued jackets off and preserved them in arsenic by the taxidermist's art, regarding their meat as a consideration entirely secondary.

Returning to the house, exhausted but elated, we were greeted with uproarious glee by the children, who had also been out foraging. They had been wading in the river and had brought out from the river bed twoscore large and wriggling crawfishes. Moreover, they had met with a small army of land crabs and had brought in as many as they could carry of these fierce looking but savory meated monsters. And they had found a guinea hen's nest under the bamboo thicket by the bend of the river, with more than a dozen eggs, which they had appropriated, and a wild cashew tree full of fruit, the nuts of which Auntie Jude was going to roast for them, and a grafted mango tree with just the most delicious golden mangoes and a hog plum tree purple with fruit, and—and—so on. For more than 15 minutes they all jabbered together, telling me of their wonderful adventures and fortunate finds. Nothing to do but I must go with them to the cookhouse, where Auntie Jude, the old

Millions die annually through lack of care for the kidneys—the first sign of kidney trouble noticeable is a single pain in the back which gradually develops into that dreaded malady Bright's disease—one of the most alarming symptoms is highly colored urine giving bricklike deposits—do not delay when the slightest symptom has appeared—Kidney troubles are easily prevented in their earlier stages—if neglected they may become obstinate, chronic and perhaps fatal—medical science has proved that all kidney disease arise from an excess of uric acid or kidney acid poison in the blood—One of Dr. Chase's kidney-liver pills if taken weekly will neutralize this acid and prevent any tendency to Bright's disease or Diabetes.

Have you any of these symptoms? Back Ache, Dull Heavy Pain in the Bladder or Base of the Abdomen, Pains in the Back and Sides, Unusual desire to urinate, Scalding urine with passage obstructed, Red or White deposits, Tired Feelings, Weakness, Dropsical Swellings, these are sure signs of kidney troubles.

YOUNG MEN

With backache, weak back, deposits in the urine and other symptoms of kidney decay should not postpone using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

OLD MEN

KIDNEY-LIVER

TESTIMONIAL

J. F. Browning, Carpenter and Joiner, of Kingston, Ont., writes the following testimonial:

Gentlemen,—I was troubled with my kidneys for ten years and was compelled to arise four and five times a night to urinate. The pain in my back was terrible. I have used enough plasters and pills to stock a drug store, and obtained no relief. The doctors pronounced my case hopeless and advised me to go to Toronto Hospital, and I had made up my mind to go when I read your advertisement in The Toronto Evening News calling your pill the great K. and L. Pill, which I took the meaning to be the KNIGHTS OF LABOR PILL, and being myself a member of that order I had confidence in the name, and I pronounce them the Workingman's Friend, for since taking them regular for three months, I can say I am entirely cured, and had I taken them years ago, would have saved hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills

Very truly yours,

Thanksgiving In New England.

Much time and attention are bestowed by the housewife on the Thanksgiving dinner. In New England the feasting does not begin and end with the day, as it does in the middle and western states. There great bakings take place many days before the time set for Thanksgiving, and the broad shelves of the pantry are covered with mince, cranberry, pumpkin and quince pies. Cranberry sauce and stewed barberries fill molds and bowls. Loaves of soft, fragrant gingerbread are stored away until one week before the time, when a quince pie finds its way to the breakfast table, flanked by a plate of sugared doughnuts. At one meal of the day there will be a Thanksgiving dainty until the grand aggregation on the day itself, but it is only an appetizer—no danger of spoiling the final effect.—Exchange.

A cup of muddy coffee is not wholesome, neither is a bottle of muddy medicine. One way to know a reliable and skillfully-prepared blood-purifier is by its freedom of sediment. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is always bright and sparkling, because it is an extract and not a decoction.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10½ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000.00 a year.

Granby Rubbers

It is no wonder that rubbers, which are not the same shape as the boot, should be uncomfortable. It costs money to employ skilled pattern makers but the result is a satisfactory fit. Each year new patterns are added, to fit all the latest shoe-shapes, and Granby Rubbers are always "up-to-date." They are honestly made of pure rubber, thin, light, elastic, durable, extra thick at ball and heel.

Nervous Prostration
Complete Recovery by the Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. Hinson, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

black cook, was fuming and swearing at the unwonted accumulation of wild provisions all heaped upon her at once and unexpectedly. "Wha' all dis about T'anksgibin?" she grumbled as though to herself as she saw me coming. "Done mek mo' wuk fer ole nigger woman. Ain' no T'anksgibin fer nobuddy only de Buckras. Dey's de ones fo' gib t'anks; not we uns. We do all de wuk, wuk, wuk, Dey gits all de grub."

"Hello, Auntie," I said cheerfully. "You seem to have a lot of game on hand today. Hope it isn't going to make you too much trouble. Tomorrow's Thanksgiving, you know. We want one of those parrot potpies, such as you used to make when you cooked for the governor."

She pursed her fat lips up for a retort uncomplimentary, but I just slipped a dollar into her greasy palm and her features underwent a lightninglike change of expression.

"Oh, no, me massa. Ain' no trouble 'tall. Me likes to do de T'anksgibin. God bless yo', massa. Heah, yo' Ebenezer, yo' Horatio! Come heah quick. Step libely now. One ob yo' pluck dem pigeons. T'udder one shuck dem crab, an dem crawfish. Gut heap ob t'ings toe do befo' termorrer by sun up, sho's you'se bawn niggers."

There were toil and turmoil all night long in the smoke begrimed cookhouse, but in the morning, as fat old aunty emerged with the coffee and crackers, her face was shining and her head neatly done up in a freshly laundered bandanna of more hues than a rainbow ever dared disport since the time of Noah and the flood. She was "as neat as a pin," and her long train of sable hued, half naked attendants of all ages, from 6 to 16, were as clean as a souse in the river could make them. Breakfast was excellent, but it was merely a preliminary spread to the dinner, which was served at sunset, just as old Sol tipped us a last wink before he sank (red and glowing from his all day journey) beneath the waters of the Caribbean sea. The table was set out on the broad veranda near a sweet scented frangipanni and lighted with great candles shielded from the evening breezes by huge glass cylinders.

The youngest of the children had been put to bed, but there were half a dozen left, who gazed expectantly upon the array of glass and silver and behaved like born princes of the blood. Aside from our own family there were three poor neighbors who had seen better days and a trembling old man, a pensioner upon the bounty of my host.

After all were seated, our entertainer rose and proposed the health of the president of the United States, along with that of the queen of England, to whom the colony of St. Vincent held allegiance. This was drunk with [illegible] will, in punch made from the planter's own rum, limes and sugar. Then, at a signal from the hostess, the sable procession (which had, individually, been pecking in at all the doors and windows) was formed between the cookhouse and the table. First there came in a solemn faced tot of 9 or 10 years, bearing on her head an immense tureen containing crab soup a la Rutland Vale. She was closely followed by a dozen other toddlings, each with a dish and a spoon, which they deposited in front of each person and deftly removed when no longer required. They had been well coached by the cook, and performed their duties with admirable exactitude, not making a single mistake. Like a procession of woolly headed, two legged, black ants, they marched in and out, one line bearing food, the other empty plates and platters.

At last there was a most extraordinary bustle among the servants, and the line of waiters divided right and left, while two of the largest darky boys marched between their dusky ranks. Each one bore himself with an air of exaggerated importance, each ebon face was illuminated with a gorgeous grin composed of vermilion and ivory white and each bore aloft, held high above his woolly pate, a dish of vast dimensions with a crust atop of appetizing crispiness. These were the pies, the interior of one being composed of the pigeons I had shot, the other of the parrots. After they had been deposited the grinning waiters hastened back to the cookhouse and soon returned bearing between them a gigantic platter upon which, brown and toothsome and garnished with sprigs of parsley, lay a handsome turkey. Close behind this interesting group waddled old Auntie Jude, herself carrying a smaller platter containing a pair of guinea fowls, their rich brown bosoms bursting with tenderness.

But I have no space for details. It was a feast fit for the gods. And when it was all over my friend and I sat a portion of the night out on the veranda.

It was years ago, but I still recall the delicious fragrance of the night air. I can still, in memory, see the nocturnal vampires sweeping in and out the nispero trees and yet hear the subdued cries of the night birds in the hills behind the valley. And, mingled with the sweet scents of the tropic night, there come to me now—even after the lapse of many years—the savory odors of that Thanksgiving feast in the faraway island over the sea. Fred A. Ober.

RURAL THANKSGIVINGS.

A City Girl Thinks They Are Not All They Are Cracked Up to Be.

At this time of the year we read of the old fashioned family gathering at the country homestead where on Thanksgiving day grandma and grandpa have open house for all the children and grandchildren. How the ancient carryall is conveying the arrivals from the station, and the old farmhouse echoes with childish laughter! How the old folks talk about the weather until even the subject is weather beaten! They compare the records of the thermometer for years back while they warm their hands at the open fireplace and descant upon the wonderful growth of the grandchildren present.

The grown up children are in the kitchen or pantry helping grandma with her Thanksgiving dinner, which is the same as it was last year, and the year before, and the year before that. It will be the same next year and so on till the end.

The poor old lady is in a great flutter of excitement. Her face is scarlet from contact with the fire. She is out of breath from running up and down the cellar steps. The turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, apples, nuts, etc., are all there. The pump is there also—in the back yard.

It is becoming rather out of date, this exaggerated praise of the dear old homestead down on the farm. Having been on a farm for the past year, I find the romance and glamour have vanished into nothing. I long most sincerely for a modern Thanksgiving in the city where we arise at a reasonable hour in the morning, have plenty of hot water in which to bathe and a nice warm dressing room with all the appliances by which to make one's toilet properly. No dressing in a room 25 degrees above zero and, in lieu of a bath, having to go out in the shed to pump until one's arms ache, then hasten to catch a tiny stream of water in the hands and souse it over the face for a bath!—Buffalo Express.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

THANKSGIVING.

BY JOEL BENTON.

I.
The fields a dull, dead russet wear.
A frosty chill has stung the air.
Vine and leaf and flower have fled,
And yonder woods, ungarlanded,
Stretch bare arms unto the skies,
Stripped by summer's pageantries.

II.
Where are now October's flame,
May's fair promise, summer's fame?
All have gone, as bright things must,
Into vaporous air or dust;
But the wealth of barn and bin
One more year has gathered in.

III.
For all the autumn's harvest yields—
Spoil of orchards, wealth of fields,
Cellared products, mows of hay,
Stacks on hillside and highway,
Herds that month by month increased—
We spread this day our annual feast.

IV.
May none in gilded hall or cot
Go unrewarded or forgot.
We who have good things to spare
Should give to want a bounteous share;
Put gladness on the face of woe,
Till all some stream of bounty know.

V.
Then the laughter of the spring
Shall not be a mocking thing,
And the pride of hill and plain
Not have proved a pageant vain;
But all the circling year's increase
Turn to thankful joy and peace.

THIRTEEN AT DINNER

A NEW ENGLAND REMINISCENCE.

[Copyright, 1896, by the Author.]

Everybody in Misery Cove knew Aunt Mary 'Lisher, relict for 50 years and more of Elisha Dewbery and who lived with her daughter Hitty in the old house on the Gloster road. The Cove was very full of old folks, but not all of them were thus made appellatively distinctive—only the salt of the earth. There, for instance, were Aunt Nancy Ben, Aunt Betsey Isrul, Aunt Mary Sam, Aunt Abigail Richard, and so on, every one a relict of some good man long since departed, for the "Covers" did not believe in a surplusage of words in their daily speech, and so, instead of saying, "Mary, the widow of Elisha," they referred to her as plain Mary 'Lisher, affixing to her own prenomen that of her deceased husband. Those good people who were still blessed with conjugal partners were addressed without the distinguishing prefix of aunt or uncle.

It seemed to me, when I became old enough to reason, that I had been born into a community composed entirely of relations, more or less remote, but when I had at last successfully wrestled with the problem I found that our family was not connected by marriage with any other in the village. I mention this in passing merely that the reader may not be plunged into the genealogical slough in which I wallowed until extricated. Aunt Mary 'Lisher, then, was not my aunt at all, but an adoptive relative, as it were. However, that made no difference in the eyes of childhood, which accepts things as it finds them and asks no impertinent questions of the gods who bring gifts in their hands.

Aunt Mary 'Lisher was a little, worn and wrinkled old woman, with a kindly face, from which peered two bright black eyes, and a form bent nearly double with the infirmities of years. She was somewhere between 70 and 80 years of age when I first knew her, but if I had been asked at that time I should have said she was at least 150.

My first acquaintance with Aunt Mary 'Lisher was, you may say, a sympathetic one, dating from a certain day when I saw her in my father's shop. It was the ordinary country store, in which, besides the common groceries, was carried a small stock of bottled medicines, essences and such like "notions." It seems that Aunt Mary 'Lisher had one or two infirmities in addition to those which people of her age generally carry—she was addicted to the use of opium and tobacco. And, as her blood relations had decided antipathies against the drug and the weed (in a vicarious way), they had forbidden all stores and shops in the township to supply the old lady with her tipple and her smoke. The shifts she was driven to in obtaining them—for get them she did—were sometimes pitiful to witness, and from perhaps an innate sympathy with the "under dog" in a fight I took sides with her as against her relatives and my worthy parent. So it happened that whenever I was on duty in the shop, and Aunt Mary 'Lisher would come (as she always did twice a week) ostensibly to purchase an ounce of tea, or half a pound of sugar, she went home much happier than if my father had been behind the counter.

It may not seem, then, at all unreasonable that she should hold a reciprocal affection for one who ministered to a cherished though depraved appetite and that I was a welcome guest at the old house on the Gloster road. It still stands, with its paneled chimney and "overhang" second story, as guiltless of paint or whitewash as when first erected, over 200 years ago. In the cowyard adjacent its living contemporary, an elm tree with spreading branches and as graceful as in youth, protects the ancient well sweep which supplies the house with water.

The "living room" was, as it should have been, the brightest and the sunniest. It seems to me that I have never seen such a cheerful, sunny room since in all my wanderings about the earth. The sun illumined every corner and lighted every nook. In the southwest corner was the "bowfat," where the dishes, mainly of china and brought from "over sea" by the sturdy Elisha on his various voyages, were arranged with scrupulous care. They were dusted every day and polished twice a week, and each piece had its history, which to repeat in this connection would absorb a deal of time and space. In the southeast corner of the room always sat the daughter, Hitty, whom I invariably addressed as Miss Mehitable, she was so prim and severe even, and upon whom her 55 years or so sat none too lightly. I had also a guilty sense of sin at my heart's depths for conniving to furnish her mother with forbidden luxuries. Not that Hitty ever spoke of it, but she looked it, screwing her cold, gimlet eyes into me, as much as to say, "I can see right through you, deceitful boy!" She was ever engaged in binding shoes, at which work her mother assisted, for the house and old fashioned garden were all the dead Elisha had left them when he went away on that last voyage, from which he never returned, and their utmost endeavor sufficed only to keep the wolf from the door.

But their table, even if it were sparsely dotted with eatables, when they took their frugal meals, always had a snow white cloth and "chany" cups and saucers, plates and silver, polished until they mirrored everything in the room. It was a delight to sit at that little table, and I felt highly honored whenever I was invited to do so.

"'Twan't always like this, Benny," chirped Aunt Mary 'Lisher, as I drew up my chair to the cheerful tea table one evening. "'Twan't always sich a little table as this. When poor 'Lisher was alive, we used to eat in the big room, t'other side the chimbly. Ye ain't never seen that big room, have ye? No, an p'raps ye never will, for it's only open for weddin's an funerals. There won't be no more weddin's, I'm afeard, in my family, for Hitty don't seem to be of the marryin kind, an I feel, somehow, as though I'm goin to live forever."

"Lor, mother, what talk!" said Hitty, with severe countenance. "I sh'd think ye'd be afraid to make light of serious things. The Lord gave, an the Lord taketh away."

"An blessed be the name of the Lord," rejoined Aunt Mary 'Lisher reverently. "I ain't makin light of serious things, Hitty. Of course I'll go, in his good time, but it ain't nothin to worry over. Better laugh an make merry while we live, Benny; that's my motto. When I was yer age, now—but how old are ye, boy?"

"I'm 13 next month."

"Thirteen. Well, that ain't so very old; just in yer teens, an the whole world before ye. Dear me! Thirteen; that's the number that set down to the big m'hog'ny table in the room t'other side the chimbly, the very last time your poor father was with us, Hitty. It's an unlucky number, they say, an I know 'tis."

"Yes, indeedy," she muttered, drawing out and filling her pipe, which lay concealed behind the lamb. Then there was silence for a few minutes, while she stuck her head up the chimney and refreshed herself with a few whiffs of the weed. That was the one thing that Hitty insisted on—that her mother should not send the smoke out into the room. "It's bad enough to smoke," she complained, "'thout smellin up a whole house. If ye must do it, mother, then smoke up the chimbly." And so the poor old soul thrust her head up the flue, where the draft was sometimes strong enough to set her few remaining hairs all aflutter, and extracted consolation from her beloved pipe. During this interval of quiet she was collecting her thoughts, which took the trend of reminiscence suggested by the number 13. "That ain't the only time neither," she insisted, shaking the ashes out of the pipe. "What makes me think so is that air Thanksgivin dinner that I was invited to up to Cousin Izry's. I ain't never be'n up there sence, but I'm 'minded of it an what follered. Set up here by the fireplace, Benny, an I'll tell ye all about it. Then ye can do as ye're a mind to about believin in unlucky signs an numbers. Ye see, my cousin, Izry Hodges, he lived up at Hambleton, where he had one of the best farms in the county. He married young, an he set to work like all possessed to make a livin at farmin. An he made it, too, an he raised as likely a fambly as any in that town."

"Laws sake, mother, do go on with yer story. What was it 'bout that Thanksgivin dinner, anyway?"

"Now, Hitty, don't ye interrupt me. If ye don't want to listen, why jest go out an set on the back step. Well, as I was sayin, Cousin Izry he sent down the old carryall for us, an we went up to Hambleton to spend the day. 'Twas cool an crisp, but there wan't no snow on the ground that Thanksgivin, so't we had good wheelin all the way. When we got there, Cousin Sally, she run right out an seemed like she'd jest devour us, she was so glad to see us. 'Come right in an set down,' said she; 'make yerselves right to hum, Cousin Mary; we ain't goin to make no strangers of ye.' I wanted to take hold an help, for I was straight an strong them days, but she wouldn't hear nothin of it. So I sot down by the old open Franklin stove (which was the first improvement on the fireplace we ever had, an didn't consume so much wood) an give myself up to a good solid rest. Sally, she bustled about to git dinner, an I knew it would be a good one, for she was the best housekeeper in the town of Hambleton. Well, along about noon, 'Liz'beth Ann, their only darter, come in an invited us out to the big dinin room, where the table was set. Now, 'Liz'beth Ann was what ye might call an old maid, bein then about 50 or thereabouts, an was fidgettier'n a settin hen—allers havin some sort of a headache, or crick in her back, or somethin of that kind—but she was as good as the av'rage old maid anywhere, an real sympathisin, allers goin round askin ye what ailed ye, an if ye wouldn't have a little catnip tea, or peppermint, takin it for granted that ye must have somethin the matter with ye.

"But there was the big table, all a-shinin with silver an dec'rated with green stuff with red berries (some of 'Liz'beth Ann's work, who allers had a sort of hankerin arter nater, as she called it) an with a big gobbler turkey at both ends. In the center was such a strappin big roast (for Cousin Izry did a little butcherin on his own account, an knew what good meat was) an side dishes till ye'd 's' thought there wan't nothin in the way of veg'tables an sich left on airth. Cousin Izry, he sot at the head of the table, an Cousin Sally at the foot; betwixt 'em, on one side, the major's fambly, consistin of himself an Aunt Mary Ann, their darter Samarinthy Jane and her husband, an on the other, four of us, includin 'Lisher an me an two neighbors.

"Well, what with the visitors an all, there was 13 of us to the table. An Cousin Izry's oldest son Dan'l, he up an said: 'Ma, we won't have no sort of luck this year. They's jest 13 of us here. I'll git up an eat in the kitchen.' I see 'Liz'beth Ann fidgetin with her napkin, an Cousin Sally turn kinder pale like, but the major, he up an roared out with a voice you could 'a' heard a mile: 'Pshaw, Dan'l, don't be a fool. There ain't no bad luck in odd numbers. Set down, ye numskull, or I'll trounce ye.' So there wan't nothin to do but keep right on a-eatin, an I must confess that I didn't let no fear of bad luck interfere with my appertite, for them turkeys was done to a turn, an the chickens was so tender they a'most fell to pieces when you p'inted at 'em. An as for the Injun puddin—my! It does beat all what an eddicated cook can turn out of a brick oven! Ye can't cook an Injun puddin no other way to save yer neck 'n to let it set in a brick oven heated overnight with good hemlock wood. Then there was the punkin pies, yaller as gold an two inches thick, an the custards, an the pandowdy, an the dewdups (peaches an pears of Cousin Sally's own preservin)—why, it was well nigh 4 o'clock when we got through an went into the settin room to crack walnuts an butternuts on the andirons."

"Well, mother, after ye've said an done all, I don't see's ye've proved anything. Whatever happened, anyway?"

"Happened, Hitty? Why, everything happened. There was Samwell, he was run away with an broke his neck; Dan'l he up an had fever an died; 'Liz'beth went to the 'sylum; Cousin Izry an Cousin Sally are dead; the major's gone, too, an Mary Ann, 's well's Samarinthy Jane; an there ain't more'n three of us left out of the hull 13 that sot down to that dinner at Cousin Izry's. If that ain't onlucky, then what is, I'd like to know?"

"But weren't there any young folks at the dinner?" I asked, availing myself of the silence that ensued to say a word.

"No, Benny; not what ye might call reel young. Samwell, I s'pose, was the youngest, an he was clus on to 'Liz'beth Ann's age, p'raps about 45."

"And how long ago was it, auntie?"

"How long? Lemme see. It was three year before Hitty was born, an that would make it"—

"Mother! Ye do beat the Dutch! As if this boy'd care how long 'twas! Here, Benny, take a cooky and run along; it's gettin late, an your folks will want ye. I declare, mother, I'm ashamed of ye, fillin his head with such notions. As I said when ye begun that long rigmarole, there ain't no number onluckier 'n another. So there!"

There is hardly anything more refreshing than a cup of good Tea. But then really good Tea is scarce and that is why so few understand the invigorating qualities of the herb. One of the most experienced "Tea-tasters" selects our best brands of household Teas. If you will try them in preference to what you usually use you will soon detect the difference and understand how refreshing a cup of good Tea really is. Prices according to quality.

THANKS AT OTTAWA

Protestants and Catholics Went to Church

AND HEARD PATRIOTIC SERMONS.

Reference to the School Settlement by Rev. Mr. Herridge—A Strong Letter on Subject of Operatic Performances for Church Purposes—Other Notes.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Thanksgiving Day was generally observed in the city, religious services being held in nearly all the churches, Catholic as well as Protestant. The sermons preached were of the usual national or patriotic character. Rev. Mr. Herridge preached to a large congregation in St. Andrew's Church. In the course of his observations he alluded to the Manitoba school question: "We were pretty well assured," he said, "this time that the Manitoba school question was settled, and whether it was or not it was right for Protestants to have a proper regard for the claims of Roman Catholics, and for Catholics to regard it as their duty to build up a citizenship. In this way we could join together Catholics and Protestants, French and English, in the line of Canadian unity and prosperity."

Two years ago the congregation of Grace Church arranged for a presentation of the comic opera, "The Mascot," in order to swell church funds. Much talk was occasioned at the time owing to Lord Aberdeen refusing his patronage, on the ground that the performance was not of a sufficiently moral character to warrant its presentation for church purposes. The result of the Governor's action was a big "ad", for the promoters and a large augmentation of church funds. Last week "Ben Hur" was presented here under the auspices of the Grace Church Guild, but the moral opposition which made "TheMascot" a success had been reserved until after the chariot race was concluded. In a letter to The Citizen, a correspondent states: "Here we are at the end of the most advanced period of moral and physical culture, flocking in great numbers to see our Christian children and maidens disport themselves a la Herodias, and all is well, because what money will be left after paying the various dancing masters, costumes, cabs, etc., shall go towards the church supply. 'Ben Hur' is used as a background for our danseuses' vapory gowns and pretty ankles. What next? And these danseuses are, most of them, misses in their early teens, many of them not yet in their teens, and they must not be worried by school drudgery; their nervous systems must not be set on edge by hard study, and they must not be made anxious about tasks of any kind. Oh, no; but they may, can and must fret and worry about their pretty costumes, so scant as to give one the shivers just to look at this climate. They may dance and sup as late as 11 p.m., and get to their cots and beds much later, and keep this up for two and three nights, to say nothing of a matinee, because it is for a church. Of course they won't be expected in the school room while this religious endeavor is on. Rev. Richard Starrs of Brooklyn, in a recent discourse, making a review of his fifty years of pastorate, says among many other interesting things: 'There are signs of a drift in the general Christian thought and feeling which has presages of evil.' We may see consequences which it is not wholly pleasing to contemplate. Meanwhile, from a sanitary point of view, as well as from an ethical, is it not worth our while to devise some other means than risky amateur performances to run our churches?"

Acting on the invitation extended by the Home Government to nominate a Canadian judge on the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, it is understood that Sir Oliver Mowat will recommend to his colleagues the name of Sir Henry Strong, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, for appointment to the position. Some months ago, when the Conservatives were in power, Hon. Edward Blake's name was mentioned for the position by the Liberal papers, but as soon as the Laurier Ministry took office it was discovered that Mr. Blake is ineligible. It is reported to-night that the appointment of Sir Henry will not involve his resignation of the Chief Justiceship. He will visit England between the terms of the Supreme Court and receive his expenses therefor.

William Brown, who was recently released from a Cuban prison, is a Nova Scotian by birth. His case has been brought to the attention of the Government and Sir Donald Smith has been asked to interview the Foreign Office with a view to securing from the Spanish Government reparation for the indignities inflicted on Brown without justification.

Hon. Peter Mitchell arrived here to-day to lay pipe for the Lieut.-Governorship of New Brunswick. It is conceded, however, that he has no show. It is now stated that Senator McClellan will be the lucky man (and that Mr. King, ex-M. P., will succeed him in the Upper House. Mr. McClellan has been a Senator since Confederation.

Representatives of fish and game clubs whose preserves are chiefly in the Counties of Pontiac and Ottawa held a meeting here to-day with a view to taking steps to secure the removal of the hunting license imposed by the Province of Quebec on persons not domiciled in the province. A delegation will be sent to Quebec to interview the local Government and members of the Legislature.

An Armenian refugee named Gregory Baghdasarian and his son arrived here to-day on their way to Toronto, where the young man is a student at McMaster University. Mr. Baghdasarian comes from Karpoot, Armenia. He landed in New York with his family a few weeks ago. It was for him that Lord Aberdeen's good offices were invoked some time ago to secure his release from prison.

Rev. Alexander Grant of Winnipeg has received a unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church in this city. Mr. Grant was notified by telegraph to-day.

Hon. Joe Martin arrived here to-day. He says his business has to do solely with mining.

D. A. Ansell, Mexican Consul-General at Montreal, was here to-day and had an interview with Mr. Fielding on tariff matters.

Hon. C. A. Geoffrion and Judge Curran arrived here to-day.

SHIPPERS PROSPERED.

Exports From Montreal Show a Large Increase Over Last Year—Other News From the Commercial Metropolis.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—This has been a prosperous year for shippers and the port of Montreal. Not only have the rates for freight been higher, but there has also been a considerable increase in the number of vessels and their tonnage. During the season of 1895 the vessels which entered this port numbered 640, and their tonnage was 1,069,286. From April 25 of this year to the 23rd inst., when the last vessel cleared, 709 craft arrived in port, being an increase of 69 vessels over 1895, whilst the total tonnage was 1,212,303, or an increase of 142,917. During the season the Allan line brought 88 vessels to the port, Dominion line 30, Elder, Dempster & Co. 54, Thompson line 36, Donaldson line 29, Head line 13, Johnston line 16 and the Hamburg-American Packet Co. 9. The shipments of grain up to the 16th inst. amounted to: Wheat, 6,905,762 bushels, an increase of 3,254,991 bushels over 1895; corn, 6,481,420, an increase of 3,875,572; peas, 1,693,147, an increase of 951,282; oats, 2,305,142, an increase of 2,294,392; barley, 209,324, an increase of 208,516; rye, 335,057, an increase of 318,844. Apples also show a large increase, the number of barrels shipped being 661,453, or an increase of 506,483.

Mayor Robertson and Drs. Daniels and Christie were here to-day from St. John, N.B., interviewing Vice-President Shaughnessy regarding terminal facilities, and they told your correspondent that steamers would get as quick despatch from St. John this winter as any port on the Atlantic coast.

AFTER WILD-CAT SCHEMES

Kansas Populists Will Endeavor to Weed Out the Flimsy Financial Concerns That Wreck Credit.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—A despatch from Topeka, Kas., says: The Populist Conference participated in by over 100 leaders of that party, which closed here last night, discussed laws which will be enacted this winter, touching foreign corporations, and especially life insurance companies and loan and investment concerns. Life insurance companies, it is contended, will have to invest at least ten per cent of their Kansas premiums in Kansas securities, the same to be deposited with the State Treasurer. Loan and investment companies will be put under the control of the State Bank Commissioner, who will have the same supervision over them that he has over the state banks. These concerns will have to submit to a thorough examination of their business by the proper official, and if they cannot comply with a rigid investigation and show that they are solvent corporations, they will be prohibited from doing business in the state. The Populist leaders declare that the thousands of wild-cat money-lending schemes that have been permitted to live under the state, have done more to destroy its credit than all other causes. The new law to be put on the statute books, they believe, will weed out these credit wreckers.

Salisbury Acted Cleverly.

Berlin, Nov. 24.—The Fremdenblatt, discussing the question of the Venezuelan question, says: Lord Salisbury acted cleverly in so directing his policy that Great Britain is again friendly with the United States. His consent to always submit disputes to arbitration emphasizes this sentiment of kinship. Therein lies the sagacity of the British action. Great Britain does not wish to have an enemy in the United States, and the price she pays is not great.

ATTACK ON TORONTO

The Provincial Capital in the Hands of Troops.

TRUE IT WAS ONLY PLAYING AT WAR

But the Soldiers Had a Hard Time—Forty Thousand Citizens Lined the Hills Overlooking the Don Valley and Saws the Troops Manœuvre in the Mud.

Toronto, Nov. 27. THANKSGIVING Day in Toronto belongs to the soldiers by custom. Yesterday was no exception, and it was a great day. An invading force came down upon the city from the north and endeavored to gain entrance by way of the Don Flats. A defending force was on hand, however, to foil their plans of attack, and Col. Otter, who was to say whether they did so, says they did, and the city has been saved once more. Of course it was only a sham battle. Had it been in earnest there would not have been so many people of all ages and sizes in the way of the gallant warriors. But blank cartridges convey bat little terror, excepting to horses, who don't know the noise isn't loaded, and to children, who never heard a cannon fired before.

After all the discouraging things the weather man said on Wednesday, the ideal day which broke forth before the soldiers were out of bed yesterday morning was indeed a glad surprise. Some of them must have thought they had overslept themselves for at least one day, for instead of predicted clouds, rains, high winds and sham fighting inconveniences there was old Sol shining forth like a new recruit or a veteran who was bound to do his best to make the day's manoeuvres a success. Of course there was mud. But what is mud to a couple o. thousand young Canadians out in their soldier clothes? The older Canadians may have thought it tiresome, but all of the latter class actively engaged in the battle were on horseback, and their good clothes won't be much the worse when the splashes are brushed off.

The citizens took good care to get the worth of the $400 granted by the Council toward the day's attraction. It cost the city less than one cent each for all the folks who witnessed with delight the martial display, for more than 40,000 people, at the lowest calculation, wended their way to the scene of the fight and the review. They started for the battle ground long before the soldiers did, and many took long walks up the banks of the river, if only in appreciation of the glorious summer day.

An old resident who stood on the C.P.R. bridge at Winchester-street and gazed at the seething mass of people in the flats just north of the Jail and on the surrounding hills of the Don and Riverdale Park enthusiastically remarked that it was the finest sight he had ever witnessed, and he rendered thanks to Providence for the blessings which must have been bestowed on our country and city to enable us to turn out such a happy, contented and well-dressed concourse of people as he saw before and around him. The big crowd included all of Toronto's fashionable people, as well as those who are not fashionable, but can enjoy a brilliant sight and encourage our soldiers just the same.

The scene on the parade ground when the sught-to-but-didn't-seem-to-be tired volunteers came back from the wars would be hard to describe. The crowd mingled with them and watched the appreciative manner in which they stowed away turkey legs and other choice viands. Sweet girls who were able to find the soldier they liked best talked to him while he drank coffee, and in some cases wouldn't let her smell it when she wanted to. All classes of citizens mingled together. Officers surrounded smart carriages and told the ladies all about it. Mounted policemen rode here and there trying to run over everybody in general and no one in particular. Youngsters who can eat at any time were reaping a good harvest from the haversacks of the good-natured soldiers and stealing the tin coffee cups.

Several bands were playing at once and horses would occasionally run away, but all such trifles only added to the excitement of the occasion. The soda-water man yelled "five a glass"; the peanut man had his wares, left over since the last holiday, at the same price. The Kodak fiend was everywhere, and Old Sol gazed upon the whole scene with a smile on his broad countenance, as much as to say, "If it hadn't been for me coming out to see the soldiers most of this would not have happened this day of grace."

But the fight. At eight o'clock in the morning the Armories were very busy. The artillerymen had been there for over an hour getting into shape, and the infantry were commencing to arrive in large numbers. At 8.15 the Queen's Own, Royal Grenadiers and 48th Highlanders were on parade, and after roll call were soon ready to march out. There was some difficulty, however, regarding the adjusting of harness to the battery horses, and this caused a considerable delay. It was nearly half-past nine when the attacking force left the drill shed. Lieut.-Col. Mason was in command of this force, which was composed of the Queen's Own Rifles, Royal Grenadiers, No. 2 Co. R.E.C.I., half a section and two guns of the Toronto Field Battery and a squadron of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. The route of the march was via University to College to Yonge to Eglinton avenue, which latter point the men reached at about 11 o'clock. This was evidently much sooner than Lieut.-Col. Otter had expected they would arrive, and the men were allowed to "stand easy," and they amused themselves for half an hour or so as only soldiers can.

Then orders were given to march toward the Don, and the brigade was split up, each to perform its different mode of attack.

In the meantime Lieut.-Col. Davidson's defenders—composed of the Kilties, half a section and two guns of the Toronto Field Battery and a troop of the Governor-General's Body Guards—left the Armories and marched via Queen, Jarvis, Carlton, Parliament and Winchester to the Don, proceeding up the flats as far as Moore Park Station. At Don Valley Station on the old Belt line the troops were joined by the 13th Battalion, which had arrived soon after 10 o'clock by special Grand Trunk train, and had disembarked in the old Don Valley. The troops marched to Moore Park and were then distributed for the defence. The 13th Battalion took the right of the line, the 48th being on the left, with the battery of artillery in the centre in rear.

The Body Guards were sent out on scouting expeditions, and at 12.23 word was brought that the enemy were quickly advancing.

As soon as the enemy was sighted the firing commenced, the defenders being forced to retire to the crossing of the Don, north of Taylor's Mills. They retired over the bridge at this point and blew it up (supposedly) at 1.25. The defenders were forced to retire still further over a high hill and held a spot where a second bridge crossed a slight ravine. There was lots of thunder, powder and smoke, for a little while the defenders' artillery on the east bank were doing deadly work. Suddenly

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. THE MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION SETTLEMENT.

Since the announcement of the terms of settlement of the Manitoba school question a few days ago, the Toronto Mail and Empire has been foremost in its endeavours to discredit the settlement, and to continue the agitation that has distracted the country between six and seven years. But it has had a change of heart. It has seen that prominent Conservative journals and politicians have heartily endorsed the settlement, and that there are other indications of a general acceptance of the solution supplied by Mr. Laurier and it has apparently seen the folly of pulling against the stream. On Thursday it celebrated Thanksgiving Day by coming out strongly on the position that the settlement must be accepted, and that there can be no further appeal to Parliament, which, as the final tribunal of appeal, has pronounced against revising the question. The Mail and Empire says:

By a valued contemporary the hope is expressed that the question of Dominion legislation on the subject of education in Manitoba may not arise again. This is the utterance of a patriotic desire that the prolonged discord be abandoned, and that we all devote ourselves rather to the better work of developing the country. We were united as a Dominion to promote our material welfare, and to found a strong and prosperous people on this northern half of the continent. The charter under which we live really contemplated the absolute exclusion of racial and religious quarrels from the Federal arena, that we might apply ourselves the more successfully to the national task, in the accomplishment of which harmony and good feeling are essentials. There can be little doubt that the object which the founders of the constitution had in view has, so far as this point is concerned, miscarried. Two reasons may be assigned for this. The first is the fact that parliament, instead of the court of justice, was made the tribunal to which appeal was to be taken for the settlement of a disputed question. The second is the circumstance that, in certain cases, the Federal power—and such was actually the condition in respect of Manitoba—is compelled to negotiate, not alone with the local authority, which passed the law, but with its Parliamentary opponents, who are interested in preventing a settlement, and in creating embarrassments.

Here are the factors which have produced the dissensions and the turmoil from which the country has suffered. Now the hope is expressed that we have no more of this, that passion be set aside, and that business take its place. In that hope every good citizen joins, and the Mail and Empire certainly is heart and soul with it.

* * * * *

Now, what is the position with reference to this question? A complaint was lodged, a proposition for a remedy was made. The question, however, is withdrawn from the purview of Parliament by the fact that a compromise which the Federal power accepts has been reached. In a word, the Federal authority which protects the minorities has settled the case out of court, and the court, seeing that the only recognised complainant in a Parliamentary action is satisfied, has no right to touch the question. The settlement may be good or the settlement may be bad—it is a settlement all the same, and the court, that is, Parliament, cannot deal with it further. There can be no doubt that those who dissent from the compromise will utter and reiterate their reasons for dissent, with the greater strength, perhaps, seeing that the matter, except in that Manitoba has not yet amended its law, is closed. That is their right. But more than this is out of the question. As a matter of fact, the Liberal party placed the issue in politics, and has now withdrawn it. While everybody cannot be suited as to the terms, everybody must freely recognize that the issue as a legislative matter is out of the way. Let us hope that a like case may not occur again, and let us turn to our Federal work—the building up of Canada.

AND now the Hon. John Haggart is off to the British Columbia gold mines.' His Tay Canal, Carran Bridge, Sheik's Island dam, Little Rapids locks and other experiences of the kind ought, the Ottawa Free thinks, to be of service to him in his investigation. If he can make any of the mines pay a quarter as well as he made the country shell out in connection with these noted undertakings the shareholders will look on him as a mascot.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Miss Appleyard, of Bobcaygeon, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. Alfred Simpson and bride have returned home from their honeymoon tour.

Mr. Peter Baptie went to Rosedale on Monday to bring home his brother, Wm. Baptie, who is very ill.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing But Dodd's Kidney Pills Could Touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 23—(Special)—Mr. W. P. Jackson, a telegraph operator of this place, has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—"Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal—and took the hot springs course, all to no purpose. I have taken doctors' advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I starting taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes, I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 26—Cattle—Private cables from London to day quote choice Canadian cattle 4½d, middlings 4d. Americans, 5d, sheep 5d. There were about 750 cattle, 1,250 sheep and lambs and a few calves offered for sale at the east end abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, and trade was brisk, with prices somewhat lower than they were last week, but not so low as they were two or three weeks ago. There were three or four of the cattle affected with actinomicosis or lump jaw, but this did not prevent their being bought by the lower class of butchers. The best cattle sold to-day at from 3¼ to 3½c per lb, with pretty good animals at from 3¼ to 3½c; common cattle sold at from 1¾ to 2 1-2c, and the leaner beasts at about 1 1-2 per lb. Shippers are paying about 3½c per lb for sheep; good lambs sell at from 3¼ to 4c per lb. One butcher bought 200 good lambs to-day paying from $3.80 to $3.90 per 100 lbs for them. Fat hogs are in pretty large supply, and sell at from $3.75 to $3.90 per 100 lbs.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Utica, Nov. 23.—Cheese sales to-day—1,320 boxes large and small 9½c, 1,480 boxes large and small at 6½c, 70 boxes large white at 9½c, 1,600 consigned; 12 packages creamery butter at 19c.

At Little Falls—320 boxes at 8½c, 3,894 boxes at 9c, 675 boxes at 9 1-4c, 606 boxes at 9½c, 46 boxes on commission; 21 packages dairy butter at 18 to 19c.

ATTACK ON TORONTO.

the bugle sounded cease firing, and the battle was all over. The troops then marched to the parade ground. During the melee, numerous prisoners were taken on both sides. The Dragoon scouts got after their body guard opponents in the same business pretty lively, while on the other hand the Guards in some cases outwitted the regulars.

After a good rest on the parade ground, the review commenced. Some difficulty was experienced in getting a clear space for the big army, and after an arena had been made it was hardly big enough, but to make it larger would have meant crowding innumerable valuable citizens into the dirty Don. It was commencing to get dark when all of the different corps were ready to march past. Then, to invigorating music of the Band of the Royal Grenadiers, the soldiers who had comprised the force that was a couple of hours before invading our city marched past, the infantry having bayonets fixed and were cheered to the echo by the citizens to whom, had they been successful, they might have subjected to all the horrors of bloody warfare. Following the invaders came the defenders, also with bayonets fixed, and they were applauded just as much as their predecessors.

Then there was a re-formation and the whole brigade marched past the saluting point in quarter column. First came the well-groomed and well-dressed Dragoons, resplendent in their showy uniforms and soldierly bearing. Their horses marched solemnly, keeping step to the music of the Queen's Own Band. Following came the Governor-General's Body Guard, their blue and white uniforms presenting a much different appearance to when they had been donned in the morning. They had been working hard and were literally covered with mud. The four guns of the Field Battery came next. The artillerymen had been the favorites all day, probably because it is so seldom the people see them at work. Next were the regulars from Stanley Barracks, followed by the sombre-clothed Queen's Own, who, when they don't wear helmets, look like soldiers, and they certainly looked like soldiers yesterday. The sturdy Grenadiers, followed by the businesslike 13th and the white-coated 48th, completed the procession. As each regiment passed, its own band played the regimental march, that of the 13th catching on well.

After the parade of all the forces, the Dragoons and Body Guards rode past on the trot, to the music of the Queen's Own Band. This was one of the prettiest parts of the day's manoeuvres, but it was dark and the people, many of whom had had nothing substantial to eat since morning, were getting tired and hungry, so started for home. The regiments formed up and marched back to the Armouries via Winchester, Parliament, Carlton, Jarvis and Queen. At the Armouries the men were dismissed with the utmost dispatch, the men to go their way and the officers to attend the annual spread and hear the umpire's decision on the day's proceedings.

The 13th Battalion paraded at the Union Station at 9.30, and left for home on a special train at about 10 o'clock.

There were 1650 men engaged.

The staff officers and umpires were: Lt.-Col. Otter, D.O.C., Lt.-Col. Buchan, Major Lessard, Lt.-Col. Dunn, Lt.-Col. Wayling, Major Mead, Lt.-Col. Tyrwhitt, Lt.-Col. Patterson, Major Hendrie, Capt. Wallace, Capt. S. Denison, Major King, Surgeon-General Strange and Deputy Surgeon-General Ryerson.

THE GARRISON DINNER.

A Festive Occasion—Speeches by Col. Otter and the Minister of Militia.

The dinner by Lt.-Col. Otter and officers of the Toronto Garrison in the officers' mess at the Armouries, was a big affair, and all the officers of the various regiments attended and put in a royal time. Lt.-Col. Otter presided and also at the head of the table were: Hon. Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, Lt.-Col. Gibson, William Lount, M. P., Ald. Lamb, Ald. McMurrich, Mayor Fleming, Lt.-Col. Denison, Lt.-Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P., Lt.-Col. Strathy (Montreal), Lt.-Col. Mason, Lt.-Col. Wayling and Dr. Grasett.

After disposing of a substantial meal, the gathering was called to order and Lt.-Col. Otter, after toasting the Queen and after a few introductory remarks, expressed his intense gratification at the manner in which the day's tactics had been carried out, and admiring the enthusiasm and earnestness which had characterised all the proceedings. It was such a display as has never been seen in any part of Canada, but Toronto. Yesterday the fates were against the manoeuvres in every way, yet, notwithstanding that the brigade had turned out in strong numbers and had earned great credit. "I don't think from what you know of me that you will think I am given to flattery," remarked the Colonel, and everyone laughed.

Col. Otter concluded by stating that he would be glad to discuss the manoeuvres with any of the officers. He then proposed the health of Hon. Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, who was among the Toronto officers for the first time. He welcomed Hon. Dr. Borden to the district, and assured him of loyal support.

Hon. Dr. Borden was received with continued cheers. He made a light speech, brimful of amusing comparisons. It had been his pleasure to meet gatherings of officers five or six times since he had been in the Cabinet, and he looked upon them all as the most enjoyable occasions of his life, the last always appearing a little better than the others.

He referred the gathering to the Montreal papers for particulars of the good time he had with Montreal officers.

The speaker was pleased with the explanation of the manoeuvres he saw part of on the Don Flats. He was bound to confess that he had not thoroughly understood them until they were explained by Col. Otter. He did not wish to reflect on Col. Otter's report, but he thought some additional light might be thrown upon it by some member of the 48th Battalion. He thought it had been a very valuable lesson to volunteers and officers alike. It looked more like business than anything he had ever seen in the militia. He lived in a province where they have the only Imperial troops in Canada, and had had the pleasure of seeing them march past in review, and could say that in view of what the Toronto volunteers had gone through previous to the march-past and how fatigued they must have been, it was by far the most creditable performance he had ever witnessed.

Hon. Dr. Borden continued: "I would like to speak through the officers to the men, who are none the less important (cheers) of the view which an old volunteer takes of what he saw to-day. As each battalion came up I thought it just as perfect as could be, but the next always seemed better. I doubt if an expert sizing up the performance could have given one single mark higher to one corps than to another."

Lieut.-Col. Otter, Dr. Borden said, had referred to him as the man who supplied the clothes, and one gentleman had chimed in "and little enough." There was lots of it such as it was. (Laughter.) He went on to remark that the pay of the militia was nothing in comparison with the services rendered, but he begged not to be asked to raise it. He said: "My heart is with you, but I am a member of the Government of Canada and sworn to guard the revenues of the country. He asked for assistance of the officers to see that all money voted the militia was spent honestly.

"I am going to take you into my confidence," he continued. "I long ago became convinced that it was absolutely necessary if we are to have an efficient force in the country we must have annual drill. (Cheers.) I said so once and I say it freely now, and if I don't succeed in having my own way with regard to this there is going to be trouble." Dr. Borden remarked that economy was necessary to that end, and he thought it could be exercised without retarding the efficiency of the militia. He touched upon the immense benefit of the schools of instruction to the militia throughout the country and its marked effect. He did not think politics should be a factor in the militia, and although he had heard such was the case he did not believe it, and would not countenance it.

Closing, Dr. Borden again urged efficiency. He said: "We don't want to fight, we don't want war, though we prepare for it. God grant peace. But every self-respecting man and country should be able to defend himself and the better able to defend the less likely to be called upon."

Other toasts were "The 13th Battalion of Hamilton," "The Mayor and Board of Control," replied to by His Worship, Ald. Lamb and Ald. McMurrich. "The Umpires," responded to by Col. Tyrwhitt, Col. Wayling and Col. Paterson.

Who won? Why, both sides, of course.

It is not thought that the siege affected the stock market.

Fortunately, there are no casualties to record as a result of the fight.

An amusing feature of the fray was the capture of the big drum of the Highlanders' band by Capt. Myers' company of the Grenadiers.

A cup of muddy coffee is not wholesome, neither is a bottle of muddy medicine. One way to know a reliable and skillfully-prepared blood-purifier is by its freedom of sediment. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is always bright and sparkling, because it is an extract and not a decoction.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE.

A Rally of the Young People's Union Yesterday at Ingersoll.

Ingersoll, Nov. 20.—The Baptist Young People's Union held a rally here to-day. A large number of church workers from west of Toronto were present, among whom were: Rev. A. P. McDiarmid, Toronto; Rev. O. G. Langford, Georgetown; Rev. C. E. McLeod, Peterboro; Rev. J. W. A. Stewart, D.D., Rochester, N.Y.; Rev. D. Spencer, Brantford, and others. The Baptist Tabernacle, where the rally was held, was nicely decorated for the occasion.

Rev. E. H. Hutt of the Presbyterian Church here, welcomed the Baptist Young People to the town. Addresses were delivered by Mr. H. F. McDermid, of Ingersoll, Mr. D. L. Squire of Waterford, Mr. R. D. Echlin of Dundas and Rev. A. P. McDiarmid of Toronto, when the afternoon meeting was brought to a close by Rev. O. G. Langford.

GIRL'S BATTLE WITH AN EAGLE.

Went to the Defence of a Seven-Year-Old and Was Attacked.

Catawissa, Pa., Nov. 26.—Seven-year-old Nettie Hinkle was yesterday attacked by a large bald eagle in the Quakake Valley. Her screams brought Miss Jennie McDowell, aged 16 years, to her assistance. Miss McDowell struck the bird with a stick, when it swooped down on her head and shoulders, tearing the flesh and clothing.

The eagle repeated the attack half a dozen times, when the young woman thrust a large steel hat-pin into the big bird's neck and breast and succeeded in killing it. Miss McDowell's face, hands and arms were torn by the eagle's talons.

Shipbuilding Boom at Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Since the election contracts have been let for the construction of $3,000,000 worth of new lake vessels in the Calumet River shipyards, and employment will be given during the winter and spring to 3500 men, who were idle a month ago.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c. silver to cover postage and address, Mr. Geo. C. Strong, North Rockwood, Mich.

DIED IN ITALY.

Lieut.-Governor Fraser of New Brunswick Passes Away—Went to Europe a Few Weeks Ago for Health.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 24.—A private cablegram received here to-night from London announces the death in Italy of Lieutenant-Governor Fraser of New Brunswick. No particulars are given. Governor Fraser left New Brunswick only a few weeks ago to travel in Europe for his health, and was accompanied by his wife, who is a daughter of Judge Fisher of Fredericton, N.B.

No Surprise at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The announcement of the death of Lieutenant-Governor Fraser of New Brunswick occasioned no surprise at the Capital, it being known here that his illness was of a serious nature. It is already suggested that the vacant Lieutenant-Governorship is likely to go to A. H. Gillmor, ex-M.P. for Charlotte, whose party claims are paramount. Mr. Fraser was appointed Dec. 22, 1886.

IN THE DARK VALLEY.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have Saved My Life"—This is said by Thousands—Prevention the Safest.

"In the valley and shadow of death"—"Given up to die." There are many thousands of such living in Canada to-day who say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills have saved my life."

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents—which is better than curing.

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognised by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

Suit For Damages Dismissed.

On Wednesday an order was issued, dismissing without trial the action, Lambert vs. Fairweather & Co., to recover $5,000 damages for alleged false arrest. It will be recollected that a few months ago Walter Lambert was arrested in connection with the larceny of a hat from Fairweather & Co. The charge was dismissed and the accused sought satisfaction in a suit for damages with the result stated. Messrs. Kerr, Gladman & Kerr were for the plaintiff's and Messrs. Stratton & Hall for defendants.

She has a most sympathetic touch and plays with much expression." Plan of hall now open at Stratton's Bookstore. 2d

A SUCCESSFUL THANKSGIVING DINNER.

The Dinner and Entertainment Under the Auspices of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church Ladies' Aid Society.

The Thanksgiving dinner and entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist church on Thursday night, was in every way a great success, one of the most successful ever held in the church.

From 6 p.m. till 8, the school room was converted into a beautiful dining hall. The tables were handsomely laid out and profusely decorated with blooming flowers.

The dinner was a most elaborate one and reflected the highest credit upon the culinary skill of the ladies of the congregation. The splendid menu and the excellent service was very highly appreciated by the four hundred that enjoyed the hospitality of the ladies.

At eight o'clock adjournment was made to the auditorium of the church, where Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., took the chair. There was a large audience. He opened the programme by referring in general terms to the cause the congregations had for thankfulness. He referred briefly to the excellent singing and excellent sermons to which the congregation have had the privilege of listening durthe year, and to the apparent good results that have followed the ministrations of a faithful and efficient pastor. Reference was also made to the bountiful harvest throughout the Dominion and the abundant cause that existed for thankfulness in the contented and prosperous condition of the people of the entire Dominion.

Happily-worded and appropriate addresses were given by Rev. W. R. Young, of the George street church, Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's Presbyterian, Rev. J. G. Potter, St. Andrew's, Presbyterian, and Messrs. James Kendry, M. P., Mayor Yelland and the pastor of the church.

The choir sang in excellent style two inspiring anthems. Mrs. A. L. Davis and Miss Stephens, organist, contributed a pianoforte duet; a quartette was given by the Misses Hall and Stevens, and Messrs. Squires and Skitch; Miss Hendren, of Lakefield, and Miss Dundas, of Toronto, each sang solos, and were very heartily appreciated; Miss Campbell gave a pianoforte solo. The delightful programme was concluded by the singing of the Doxology by the choir and congregation.

This dinner and entertainment was the conclusion of the annual thanksgiving festival of the church, which was unusually successful throughout. The thankoffering on Sunday last amounted to the handsome sum of $175.00.

A PLEASANT EVENING.

Courts Peterborough and Langton, C. O. F., Hold a Concert.

The annual Thanksgiving day concert given by Courts Peterborough and Langton, Canadian Order of Foresters, has become an event which is always looked forward to with the keenest pleasure, as great care is always exercised in the preparation of the programme. The list of attractions last evening was a large one.

Mr. F. J. Jamison occupied the chair and during the evening introduced the various numbers. Mr. H. D. Williamson in his cornet solos and novelty selections was most entertaining, and Mr. A. R. Benson, of Manvers, made a decided hit as a humourist.

Miss Lillie Hurley's pianoforte solos were greatly appreciated, being characterised by the brilliancy of rendition, which always distinguishes her selections. Misses Annie and Clara Belleghem sang several duets, which were well received and justly merited the applause which was won by them. Little Aggie Patterson was as cute as ever and quite brought down the house in the several recitations which she gave.

Mr. James Brown's tenor solos were given in a manner which earned for him no small amount of praise. Mr. K. Mark was present with a chime of bells and the various selections which he played upon them were listened to with a great deal of interest.

THE ROYAL TEMPLARS OF TEMPERANCE.

A District Convention Was Held Yesterday Afternoon—The Public Meeting in the Evening Was Not Held.

A district convention of the Royal Templars of Temperance was held yesterday afternoon with the following delegates present from the three councils of the district in Peterborough, Campbellford and Millbrook:

Peterborough—Dr. Fife and Mr. J. S. Martin.

Campbellford—Messrs. Sketch and Pallisey and Misses Isaac and Howson.

Millbrook—Mr. and Mrs. Gillot and Mr. Gardiner.

Mr. Sketch, of Campbellford, was re-elected District Councillor and presided during the afternoon. Mr. Gillot, of Millbrook, was also re-elected secretary-treasurer.

A committee was appointed for the purpose of drawing up a circular, to be distributed through the district setting forth the desirability of temperance people uniting to press their claims for recognition on the Government.

A public meeting was to have been held in the evening, but, owing to the number of counter attractions it was deemed advisable to postpone it until some future date.

Game Law Amendments.

As a result of the experience the officers had during the shooting season just closed, the Legislature will be asked for several amendments to the game law, and the changes include a proposal to license duck shooters, to allow the shooting of moose under a $10 license, to permit settlers to shoot two deer each without a license, to authorize officers to visit game districts at various times during the year to stop the slaughter, which goes on during the close season. The amount of money collected for licenses was said to be $10,000.

Marks Brothers Coming

"The Lost Heiress" was presented to a crowded house last night and suited the audience to a T. Marks Bros. are putting before the public the best shows ever given in Grant's Hall. Tom Marks as Mike Moore was the centre of attraction of the evening. He is undoubtedly a first-class comedian and takes well with the Ottawa public. Alex. Marks was very good in his personations of the sheriff, Italian and villain. Miss Alice Kemp, as the pet of Poker Flat, kept up her reputation as a good actress, and was well received.—Ottawa Citizen, Nov. 21st. At Opera House 7th to 19th Dec. 10c and 15c.

MR. ANDREW MACFARLANE CAMED.

A Pleasant Surprise for the Secretary of Peterborough Lodge I.O.O.F.

The regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge, Independent Order of Oddfellows was, last evening, made the occasion of a pleasant surprise to Mr. Andrew Macfarlane, who, for nearly twenty-five years, has been connected with the organization.

Mr. Robert Scott, Noble Grand, was presiding, and when "Good and welfare of the Order" was reached on the Order book, he summoned Mr. Macfarlane before him and stated that several charges had been made against him during his recent absence. He asked Mr. Wm. Battisby, P. G., to read the charges as they were presented, and the following address was read:

Andrew McFarlane, Esq.:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER.—After nearly a quarter of a century of earnest, honest toil in connection with the advancement of Odd-Fellowship in Peterborough and ten years as worthy sec etary of this lodge, we think this a very fitting occasion that, on this the evening of Thanksgiving Day, we show by our actions that we appreciate your services as such.

We therefore ask you to accept at our hands this Cane as a token of brotherly feeling towards you and to show to you the high appreciation you are held in by members of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I.O.O.F.

We trust you will receive it not for its intrinsic value but in the spirit in which it is given.

In declining years when its usage may be more required we hope that it may call to your remembrance the pleasant evenings spent among us.

Signed in behalf of the committee.
W. BATTISBY,
Chairman.

Peterborough, Nov. 26th, 1896.

Mr. R. F. Morrow, N.G., then stepped forward and presented Mr. Macfarlane with a most handsomely engraved gold-headed walking stick.

The surprise was a genuine one, but was none the less appreciated. After Mr. McFarlane had suitably acknowledged the gift, short addresses were made by Messrs. A. J. Johnston, P.G.; D. H. Moore, Past Grand Patriarch; Wm. Hill, P.G., and J. D. Tully, P.G.

MARRIED IN ROCHESTER.

Wedding of Miss Jennie Cleary, Formerly of Peterborough.

Rochester Herald.

Monday, Nov. 23.—A quiet wedding took place at an early hour this morning at St. Mary's church, when Michael F. Casey, a popular young druggist of Syracuse, N. Y., and Miss Jennie Cleary, of this city, formerly of Peterborough, Canada, were united in holy wedlock by Rev. Father Stewart.

Miss Agnes Deane, of this city, a cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid; while Mr. T. Casey, of Syracuse, assisted his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Casey left immediately for New York and other points on an extended tour, amid the congratulations of numerous friends.

OUTBREAK OF DIPTHERIA.

A Number of Cases Reported in Lakefield—None in Peterborough.

Dr. Clarke, local Medical Health Officer, has received word from Dr. Bell, of Lakefield, reporting an outbreak of diphtheria in that village, which the latter states is traceable to Peterborough, a family named Dunn having brought it there.

After the most diligent inquiry Dr. Clarke reports that this must be impossible as there has not been a single case in town attended to by the local physicians. There is one case at the Nicholls Hospital, but it was sent in from Lakefield, and a number of other cases are understood to exist in the village, but the patients evince a disinclination to enter the hospital.

Dr. Clarke states that he would not be at all surprised if an outbreak of this kind should occur in Peterborough, as he has noticed this is frequently the case when an epidemic of mild typhoid has visited a locality during the summer.

Making Room

For Christmas Things

Just one month from to-day will be Christmas day—a day strong in the hearts of the people of the country as well as of the town. What splendid shape we soon will be in for Christmas shoppers, when our ten tons of Holiday goods are placed on exhibition!

But for a week yet we must keep on contriving to make more room for Santa Claus' stocks. What a time we have had, selling at any price to clear off the counters and shelves for the new things to come. For another week we must keep it up—this selling at any price—and the money saving chances we have to offer ought to bring the farmers in from the cross-roads and back concessions of the whole country. THE COUNCIL AND ELECTRIC POWER TRANSMISSION.

A Plea for a Liberal Policy in the Matter—A Manufacturer's Opinion on the Subject.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As a citizen and a ratepayer I think it is high time for some action to be taken to protest against the action of our council regarding the transmission of electric light and power—more especially the latter.

Of the bungling in connection with the letting of the street lighting last summer I have nothing to say. Those councillors who brought it about can settle that with their supporters next January.

There was a time when our council were alive to the advantage of having manufactories established in our midst and thanks to the foresight and business intelligence of the then council, the employment given by these industries to mechanics and others has helped in no small degree to keep our town from going back during the last three years. The Peterborough Board of Trade, as no doubt your readers will remember, took a very active part and materially assisted the council at that time. What are they doing now? It gave me a great deal of pleasure, as it no doubt did to a large numbers of your readers, to read the inaugural address of the President of the Board of Trade at the last annual meeting. He was, with the support of the members, going to create a new era of advancement and aggressiveness, eclipsing the efforts of all preceding incumbents of the office—(will the Recording Angel say, what of the hour?) During the past year interests of vital importance to the prosperity and advancement of the town have come up for consideration. Has the Board gone to sleep—or a-fishing?

Belleville has not been asleep to the importance of getting cheap power in the way of electrical transmission from Treaton. In Montreal large schemes are being evolved in the same way. Hamilton manufacturers have closed contracts with the Niagara Power Company for the transmission of power from Niagara Falls, and all the towns and cities are alive to the great importance of this new factor for the advancement of their several cities and towns in furnishing cheaper power for their manufacturers, and their councils and citizens are doing all that lies in their power to promote these schemes.

Now, Mr. Editor and citizens of Peterborough, what is our council doing? We have a river, second only to Niagara and Ottawa Rivers, running right through our town, of incalculable value to our people when delivered in the shape of light and power. To do this large expenditures of money have to be made and for years little or no return on the money invested, as I am told such has been the case here owing to various causes.

Now, power can be supplied to our manufacturers at half the price of steam, at their different factories, and I was told by a member of one of our largest manufacturing establishments that they had closed a contract conditionally for 300 horse power at this figure, and, as a result, they were the better able to compete and had secured large contracts since, that would keep their shops running full for months to come.

Now, what are our councillors doing to promote this long-looked for industry? Rumour has it that the restrictions and charges in the matter of placing poles and stringing wires for the transmission of power are such as to kill it before it before it becomes operative. Is this wise legislation? This is a matter in which every citizen is interested, and every one should make his influence felt, whether he is a mechanic, labourer, merchant or professional man. What does the cheapening of power mean to manufacturers, fellow-citizens? Have you ever given it a thought?

It means the enlargement of their business, because they are better able to compete in the markets of the country.

It means a larger staff of employees. It means a much larger expenditure of money in our midst. It means, in fact, the progress and prosperity of our town as a whole. If these are facts, and I claim they are, as in answer to a question why our town had not felt the hard times to the same extent as Belleville, one of our leading merchants said because we have larger and better manufacturing industries in our town. Citizens will you stand idly by and allow half a dozen men in our council to kill what is of such importance to this manufacturing centre as the transmission and cheapening of power. These same men have practically forced a monopoly on this town for years to come in the supply of light. Take their actions in the secrecy of the committee meetings in trying to force a seven year contract through the council for the lighting of your streets. A few months ago these same gentlemen would only give a two years' contract. Why? They said electric lighting is only in its initial stage of development and the interests of the town should be guarded so that if inventive genius demonstrated that electric energy could be produced for half the present cost the people should have the benefit. Why a seven-year contract now if they were were sincere before? (Consistency thou art a jewel.)

But as a large employer of labour I say that no restrictions should be placed on the transmission of power. Our streets for this purpose will only be used to a very small extent compared to lighting and the very great advantage of being able to offer cheap power delivered at your factory, situated where your like inside the corporation, is the best inducement to new industries looking for a location in opening up. In this question I hope, the press, which is all powerful, will not allow the town's interest to be jeopardized in this respect. Thanking you Mr. Editor for the space in your column for this letter, I am

Respectfully yours,

MANUFACTURER.

OBITUARY.

The Late Hugh Davidson of Smith.

On Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26th, Hugh Davidson, who has been an honoured and respected resident of Smith township for three score years, died at the family residence "The Maples," in his 83rd year. The deceased was born at "The Grange," Newtowards, near Belfast, Ireland, in 1814. In 1836 he came to Canada, settling on the homestead, "The Maples," where he resided till his death. The deceased gentleman was twice married. His first wife was Miss McConnell, who died in 1850, leaving behind her Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, town, and Mrs. J. Cochrane. His second wife was Miss Moreland, who died in 1879. To this marriage were born two sons, one of whom died in infancy. The other, Mr. Hugh Davidson, resides on the homestead. The only surviving brother is Mr. Robert Davidson, Smith. He has three sisters living, Mrs. McKibbon, Lakefield, and Mrs. W. W. Hall, Fenelon Falls, and a sister in Ireland. Mr. Davidson never sought public office, but he was an active Liberal in politics. He enjoyed the high esteem of the entire community. In religion he was a Presbyterian and an elder of the Lakefield church.

Funeral from the late residence, "The Maples," Smith, to the Lakefield cemetery, on Saturday at 2 30 p. m.

Ontario's Health.

The monthly report on Infectious diseases has been issued by the Provincial Board of Health. It shows that throughout the Province there has recently been a great increase in diphtheria cases. In August the deaths from diphtheria were 32, or .29 per thousand of the population per annum. In September there were 51 deaths, equal to .40 per thousand, and in October 76 deaths, equal to to .50 per thousand. On the other hand there was only one death reported from scarlet fever, none from smallpox and none from measles.

The Globe Annual and Encyclopedia for 1897.

The people of Canada, though averse to anything in the form of fraud, are quick not only to recognize but utilize a really good thing.

In the above work we believe they have something which cannot be excelled in point of accuracy and the general usefulness of the information which it contains. It is a book of over 400 pages, tastefully bound, and containing data on some thousands of different subjects, written in a clear comprehensive style. We believe that the demand for the book will be something enormous, as the orders are already coming in very rapidly.

The price is only 25 cents, postage prepaid from the Globe office, or it may be secured from any newsdealer.

If our readers want a reliable ready reference work they had better order The Globe Annual at once.

Christmas Cards and Booklets.

The numerous shoppers at the Peterborough Bookstore, who have been anxiously waiting the receipt of our new Christmas Cards and Booklets for 1896, will be pleased to learn that they have now at hand and laid out for selection. A more charming display was never on exhibition. They are masterpieces of artistic printing and decorative design. We have placed them thus early on our tables to allow those who wish to remember friends at a distance an opportunity to make their selections. The prices will be a surprise to all this year. Having bought earlier and larger we were able to secure a much larger discount than in former years. We give a special invitation to all to come and see the wonderful beauty and variety of style of our cards and booklets. Sunday school teachers and teachers of all schools buying in quantities, will be allowed more liberal reduction than ever.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Mrs. Appleby's New Fancy Goods Store, No. 426 Water St., is now open with an entirely new selection of the latest novelties in Fancy Goods. Look out for her grand Christmas Opening about 1st Dec.

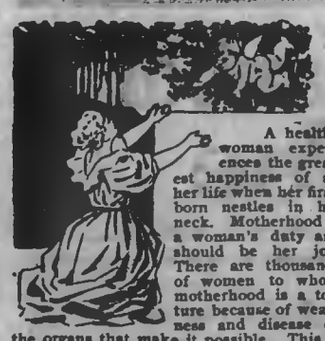
CHRISTMAS FRUITS AND GROCERIES ARRIVING.

M. L. HENRY & CO.

OPPOSITE THE OPERA HOUSE, GEORGE ST.



A healthy woman experiences the greatest happiness of all her life when her first-born nestles in her neck. Motherhood is a woman's duty and should be her joy. There are thousands of women to whom motherhood is a torture because of weakness and disease of the organs that make it possible. This is wrong and need not be. If a woman will but study the physiology of the organs distinctly feminine, and learn to take the proper care of her health—to take the proper remedy for weakness and disease peculiar to her sex, motherhood will become an unalloyed pleasure, where now it is dreaded and avoided for its pains and dangers.

The best medicine for a woman to take during the period preceding motherhood is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the only medicine for this purpose invented by a regularly graduated, skilled and expert specialist in the treatment of the peculiar diseases of women. It cures all weakness and disease of the organs that perpetuate the race. It makes them strong and vigorous. It rids the expectant period of its usual discomforts. It insures baby's health and makes its coming easy and almost painless. It is the discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Women who wish to know more of the "Favorite Prescription" should write him.

Frederick Frederick, of No. 1114 S. Second St., Camden, N. J., writes: "My wife is a customer of yours. She has used 'Favorite Prescription' to prevent miscarriage. She had a sickness last July, and suffered untold misery from a severe pain. I repeatedly told her to use your medicines, but she persisted in going to a so-called specialist, whose treatment only made her more sick and miserable. Then she used the 'Favorite Prescription' and was cured."

Pleasure. It is a matter of health alone. Nothing else. A healthy man can't be unhappy if he wants to. Much sickness is caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

THE QUEEN SAIS THEY'RE GOOD.

Canadian Apples On Her Majesty's Table at Last Sunday's Dinner.

London, Nov. 24.—(Telegram Cable.)—Canadian fruit is rapidly taking a front place in England. As long as shippers are careful in sending only the best stock, it will continue to do so, and good prices will be realized.

The present of fruit from Hamilton, Ont., was highly appreciated by Her Majesty. It was served with dessert at the Sunday dinner at Windsor, and it will, no doubt, gratify the growers and shippers in Canada to know that the Queen pronounced it excellent.

Covent Garden prices for Canadian apples to-day, reported by W. N. White, are as follows: King's, 11s to 12s; Baldwins, 9s to 11s; Greenings, 9s to 11s; Golden Russets, 11s to 14s; Fallawaters, 11s to 13s; Golden Maudia, 11s to 13s; Seeks and Spys, 11s to 13s; Nova Scotia Kings, 8s 6d to 11s; Ribstones, 9s to 12s; Blenheims, 9s to 13s.

Liverpool prices are about the same as at London.

Continental reports received here to-day predict a serious shortage in the wheat crop next harvest. This news is considered indicative of a further advance on present wheat quotations.

BARCELONA BOMB THROWERS.

The Attorney-General Wants 26 of Them Sentenced to Death.

Barcelona, Nov. 24.—The Attorney-General, who is personally conducting the prosecution of the prisoners who are under arrest for connection with the throwing of a bomb in a crowded street while a religious procession was passing on June 7 last, has announced that he will ask the court that 28 of the prisoners be sentenced to death and 56 condemned to penal servitude for life. Great precautions will be taken against disorder when the sentences are published. The court will sit in the vault of the fortress of Mont Juich, and only military officers will be admitted to its proceedings. The crime for which the prisoners are to answer to a military court was one of the most fiendish of the many similar outrages committed by anarchists within the last few years. The usual religious observances of the feast of Corpus Christi were being observed, and thousands of people lined the streets to witness the procession on its way to the Ancient Church of Santa Maria Del Mar. Just as the procession was entering the church, a bomb was exploded in the crowd, killing a dozen outright and wounding about 50 others, some of whom died from their injuries.

Matabele Rebellion Ended.

London, Nov. 24.—A despatch to The Daily Telegraph from Fort Salisbury, Matabeleland, contains an interview with Cecil Rhodes, in which he said that he considered that the Matabele rebellion was ended, that troops were no longer needed, and that he was going to England at the beginning of the year.

Free Fight at Hamburg.

Hamburg, Nov. 24.—A despatch from Lubeck announces that early this morning, while the employes of Thiel's enamel factory were going to work, a body of strikers belonging to the same concern attacked the workmen, and a free fight followed. A number of shots were fired, several persons were seriously wounded and many arrests were made.

Honor to Mr. and Mrs. Bayard.

London, Nov. 24.—Ambassador and Mrs. Bayard were "commanded" to-day to visit Windsor Castle on Thursday next, and dine with the Queen. They will sleep at the castle that night, and Mr. Bayard in consequence has been obliged to cancel his engagement to preside at the Thanksgiving dinner of the American colony here.

TWEED TOPICS.

Mrs. James Davenport Makes a Statement for the Benefit of Others.

Mrs. Davenport is well-known in Tweed, and this is how she spoke to our representative concerning Doan's Kidney Pills. Said Mrs. Davenport:—

"I have suffered for some years from dizziness, puffing under the eyes, pains in the side and back, sleeplessness, poor appetite, and, in fact, was in a bad state generally.

"I took two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at P. K. Newton's drugstore, and experienced immediate relief from their use.

"I am now very much better indeed; appetite improved, pain almost disappeared and I feel stronger and healthier in every particular.

"I can heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble."

THANKS IN LONDON.

The American Colony Had a Time at th Hotel Cecil.

London, Nov. 26.—The Thanksgiving dinner of the American Society in London was given to-night in the great hall of the Hotel Cecil. The decorations were American and British flags and the coats-of-arms of the different States of the Union. Behind the seat of the chairman was a statue of Liberty. About 300 guests were present, including Sir Frank Lockwood, Solicitor-General; Henry M. Stanley, M.P., Sir Richard Webster and Consul-General Collins. Ambassador Bayard, who had been invited, was not present, he having gone to Windsor to visit the Queen. A letter of regret was read from him. The reading of the letter was greeted with cheers. A telegram of patriotic felicitation was sent to Mr. Bayard. It also contained best wishes for his health, and Godspeed for "The land we all love." Ltr a reply was received from Windsor acknowledging the receipt of the telegram, and adding: "All who love the United States and Great Britain will join in mutual congratulations over the peaceful relations which crown the anniversary, and of gratitude for the numberless blessings that surround the English-speaking peoples."

Sir Frank Lockwood, in proposing the health of President Cleveland, referred to his hospitable reception in the United States on the occasion of his recent visit. He said he was requested by Lord Russell, Lord Chief Justice of England, with whom he went to the United States, to express regret for his absence, which was caused by the death of a relative. Continuing, the speaker said his personal contact with President Cleveland had convinced him that he was a straightforward, honest, independent and nobly courageous man. He asked his hearers to join with him in drinking to one who honestly and honorably discharged the duties of his responsible position.

Sir Richard Webster responded to the toast "The community of the English-speaking peoples." He said he had long ceased to think that there was any fear of there ever being such a horrible disaster as war between the United States and Great Britain. Sir Richard's remarks were frequently interrupted by cheers.

WILL BENEFIT CANADA.

Andrew Carnegie Proposes to Construct a Coal and Ore Loading Plant at Conneaut, Ohio.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—A special from Cleveland says: A contract was closed yesterday by Andrew Carnegie for the construction of a big ore and coal loading plant at Conneaut, Ohio, and extensive docks will be built there. Conneaut is the northern terminus of Carnegie's railroad, the Pittsburg, Shenango & Lake Erie. Carnegie has a contract with John D. Rockefeller covering several years for the delivery of ore from the latter's Lake Superior mines at the docks in Conneaut.

KILLED IN A SCRIMMAGE.

A Fourteen-Year-Old Boy Knocked Down in a Football Game.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 26.—William Rue, 14 years old, was knocked down in the midst of a scrimmage in a football game between the Eurekas and Mutuals on the Parade ground in Prospect Park this afternoon, and when his companions carried him off the field it was found that he was unconscious. He was quickly moved to Seney Hospital, where the doctors did everything in their power for him, but he died in a few minutes from hemorrhage of the lungs.

Great Storm at Trieste.

Trieste, Nov. 26.—A terrific storm is prevailing here, preventing vessels from entering or leaving the harbor. Many houses have been unroofed or otherwise damaged.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Flour—The feeling is a little better to-day, owing to a firmer market for wheat. Straight rollers quoted at $4.10 to $4.20.

Bran—Trade quiet and prices steady; dealers asking $7.50 west. Shorts $8.50 to $9 west.

Wheat—The demand has improved and prices are higher. Holders are asking 85c for white, with buyers at 84c. No. 1 Manitoba hard sold early at 92c Toronto freight, but sellers refused this price later on. At Fort William the quotations are 81c to 82c.

CATARRH!

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure

SPEEDY, INEXPENSIVE AND ABSOLUTELY PAINLESS.

See, Bessie, this is the way mother does.

You insert the tube and give one good blow and away she goes. And do you know I have never had bad breath or a touch of headache since using it. Now just let me try it on you and I am sure it will help that cold in the head and fix up that red nose.

Is the breath foul?
Is the voice husky?
Do you ache all over?
Is the nose stopped up?
Do you snore at night?
Does your nose discharge?
Does the nose bleed easily?
Is there tickling in the throat?
Is the nose sore and tender?
Do you sneeze a great deal?
Is this worse towards night?
Does the nose itch and burn?
Is there pain in the back of the head?
Is there pain across the eyes?
Is there pain in the back of the eyes?
Is your sense of smell leaving?
Is there a dropping in the throat?
Is the throat dry in the mornings?
Are you losing your sense of taste?
Do you sleep with the mouth open?
Does the nose stop up at night?

If so it is sure and certain indication of Catarrh.

DR. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE

Gives instant relief—in less than a minute after the first application the air passages are freed, and the breathing becomes natural and easy—the most acute attacks of cold in the head are cured in a few hours—cures incipient catarrh in a few days—and will permanently cure most chronic cases in from one to three months—it allays pain—counteracts all foulness of the breath—heals the ulcers—and in an incredibly short while absorbs and dries up all discharge. It contains no injurious ingredients, such as cocaine, the use of which, like morphine, in many cases has been the means of contracting the dreaded narcotic habit. Beware of catarrh cures containing such ingredients. Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is sure, pure, harmless and easily applied. Dr. Chase's Improved Inhaler accompanies every box free of charge. Follow directions closely. Here are a few from a thousand or more testimonials who have been helped and cured.

A BAD CASE BUT A PERMANENT CURE.

For years I suffered from that dread disease—catarrh—I spent a small fortune in medicines without receiving any relief—I had the disease in a very bad form, and nothing seemed to reach the seat of the trouble until I procured and used Chase's Catarrh Cure. I got almost instant relief and I declare that, though I can hardly credit it myself, I have been permanently cured, and gladly give my testimony to the merits of this great cure.

ARTHUR P. THORNE.
Charlottetown, P.E.I.

CHRONIC CATARRH FOR 15 YEARS.

I had been a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years—it became chronic. I have spent a lot of money and tried many doctors. I also treated with a catarrh specialist in London—in fact, had tried most everything I saw advertised without getting any benefit. I was directed by the advertisements and testimonials I read to try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I used three boxes and a complete cure was effected. I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from catarrh.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10½ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000.00 a year.

AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. May Johnson, 368 Elder Avenue, New York City.

WOMEN—

AS THEY PASS

WOMAN'S CROWNING GLORY.

In Many Instances It May Be False—Where It Comes From.

The women of the United States, says a writer in the Detroit Free Press, "consume" one hundred tons of false hair every year. Possibly least important in the reckoning of what this may mean is the item of cost—$350,000 to $400,000.

And the dealers say that the women never indicate having a thought as to where this store hair comes from. They

Question not when or why,
Theirs but to choose and buy,
—Fashion's 400.

Happily no hint of skeletons lurks in these human goods sold in America. No "dreadful" revelations lie back of the traffic; no chapters with hints of morgues or graveyards have part in the little tale of this "glory" of our women that is not their glory at all. To the contrary, the story has much old world romance about it—the best ambitions of simple and happy little maids.

If ever you lived in the country you remember the old peddler and how he used to trade the folk tinware and all sorts of notions for whatever the family had to exchange. In the same way, going constantly through the husbandry districts of Europe, there are peddlers with stocks of various kinds of finery that they trade to the peasant girls for "clips" from their hair. It is a distinct business and these peddlers are skilled judges. The peasant girls have much and fine hair—"dense heads of it," as one witty dealer put it. The field and mountain lassies over there go bareheaded most of the time—one of the secrets of their abundant "topknots." Another secret of it is that continually while resting the fingers of these peasants are busy "cultivating" their hair, and, oddly as it may sound to the American girl, all to the end of trading it for "prettles."

To constantly keep a rich head of hair to trade from is one of the greatest cares of young peasantry from earliest girlhood. But to trade for merely pretty articles of the trinket order is only one of the ambitions toward which the hair is cared for by these simple folk. Providing the necessaries for their wedding time by the culture and sale of their hair is the main ambition urged in the earliest teachings of the peasant girl.

At no one time do they ever part with their entire growth of hair. They permit the expert to take only a certain number of clips at a time. The result is, therefore, not always noticeable, and never really disfiguring.

All of the immense quantities of hair thus gathered—for these clipping tradesmen are constantly at work—is sold in Paris, world center for hair-working. There it is sorted, graded, classed and treated for the markets of the world. Half of the hundred tons sent direct from Paris to America every year is in the "raw" state, or exactly as it comes from the heads of the peasant girls. The other half arrives made up into coiffures, frizzes, etc., and pays a duty of 20 per cent.

What this peasant hair costs the Paris dealers is not known. The average price of both kinds to American dealers runs about $8 a pound, and is retailed for about $16 a pound. Considering that the greater part, if not all of it, must be handled and kept for a considerable time before being sold, there is a long way from 100 per cent. profit in it, as might be thought from the figures given.

Scarcely an ounce of "domestic" or American hair is bought by the dealers. "Combings," the dealers say, do not pay for the buying at any price, as they are principally short and often dead hair. When asked whether it was possible to tell the length of time hair had been cut, a principal importer answered negatively. "It is utterly impossible," said he, "to tell at all, by examining hair, how long it has been cut from the head. The most luxurious growth imaginable will, after being separated from the scalp, if constantly exposed to the atmosphere and light, become ruined in a few months."

For this reason the hair merchant keeps his stock carefully wrapped in oil cloth or oil paper and always away from the air and light. "If carefully and constantly so kept," added the dealer, "detached hair should hold its original, natural brilliancy and softness for ten years or longer."

Sixty Scientific Papers.

The purely scientific papers published in the United States are only 60 in number, with a combined circulation each issue of 118,425 copies.—Printers' Ink.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

The Whole Army Gave Thanks.

After the great victory obtained by the English at the battle of Agincourt, 1415, the renowned Prince Henry V ordered the One Hundred and Fourteenth and One Hundred and Fifteenth Psalms to be sung on the battlefield by way of acknowledgment that all success and all blessing come down from the Father of Light, after which the whole army fell upon knees and shouted with one heart (one voice), "Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but to thy name give we the glory, for thy mercy and for thy truth's sake."

When Henry returned to England, Nov. 6, he commanded that no ballad or song should be composed or sung except one in thanksgiving for their glorious victory.—Cincinnati Post.

Good Living of the Pioneers.

The living of the colonial pioneers was by no means devoid of luxuries. Turkeys of the wild variety, which, we are told, often weighed as much as 60 pounds, and wild geese as fat as butter, with nearly 900 different sorts of fish, including clams, oysters and other shellfish, gave them an excellent market at their own doors. And of venison they had a surfeit. The Indians taught them their rude science of cookery by inducting them into the mysteries of the clambake and the toothsome succotash, blessings of the larder which they bequeathed to their posterity.

Choosing a Turkey.

In choosing a turkey the age of the bird is the principal thing to be attended to. A young gobbler is best. He may be distinguished from a hen turkey by his comb. The age may be ascertained by the lower part of the breastbone; if soft and pliable, the turkey is young; if stiff, it is old and is not good for roasting. It can only be used for boiling or braising. Turkeys weighing from eight to ten pounds each are thought best.—New York World.

THE UNION SERVICE ON THANKSGIVING.

SERMON BY REV. J. G. POTTER, OF ST. ANDREW'S.

The Service Also Participated in by Revs. Dr. Torrance, J. J. Rae, W. R. Young and W. C. Beer—A Large Congregation.

A union Thanksgiving service was held yesterday morning in Paul's church, and was conducted by Rev. Dr. Torrance. Rev. W. R. Young led in prayer and Rev. J. J. Rae and Rev. W. C. Beer took the readings.

The sermon was given by the Rev. J. G. Potter, his text being taken from St. Matt. xxii, 22: "Render unto Cæsar the things which are Cæsar's and unto God the things which are God's."

In the beginning of the chapter we find under the parable of the king who made a marriage for his son, Christ revealing himself as the central person of the Kingdom. This announcement of His Kingship not only aroused curiosity in the minds of His own disciples but kindled animosity and prejudice in the minds of the Pharisees and Sadducees, and they therefore seek to ensnare Him with respect to His pretensions as King. It is so hard for some to see along higher planes of thought or life. We too often think along very low planes, and in our thoughts our lives are hampered and narrowed and our influence limited, our vision is blurred and our true and higher manhood crippled. But when by God's grace we are filled with the Spirit of God our thoughts are raised to higher planes—we think along broader and more spiritual lines, our eyes are opened, our souls inspired, our faith quickened and our love refined. To-day we meet :

1. As a nation.
2. As a Christian nation.
3. As a Christian contingent.

What a scene—this national recognition of God and God's bounty!

The speaker then spoke on the

of the day, its use being manifested in true gratitude and its abuses in indulging simply in pleasure.

Christ and His Word recognize obedience and submission to the constituted authority. We should be :

1. Ever loyal to our laws.
2. Anxious to have them obeyed.
3. Give hearty support to those in authority in the suppression of evil.
4. Seek ever to build up in the community a respect for law and order.

All this including the determination to place men in authority who are worthy.

We are also taught the necessity of taking an interest in the government of our country.

There are men living to-day who believe that Christians should have nothing to do with the various systems of government—that they should leave that to men of the world. These are parasites, feeding upon the health of the community like leeches sucking the very blood—like mosquitoes drawing your blood and leaving the sting.

On Thanksgiving Day we should show our appreciation of our land. With a territory of three and a half millions of square miles, washed by three oceans, Canada is eminently rich in shipping and harbours, and she abounds in lakes, rivers, prairies and forests.

Amongst the things which we have to be thankful for is the Christian piety and morality of our people, their liberality, the a pure press, our charitable institutions and our schools, which are our pride.

Another cause for thanksgiving is our true sense of pride in the glory power and commanding position of our Empire.

In 1837 the population of the British Isles was 26,000,000. It is now 40,000,000. In Asia, during the Queen's reign, 40,000 square miles, with a vast population, have been acquired. In Africa a million square miles have been added to the Queen's Dominions. Australia and Canada contain one-ninth of the land surface of the globe. The whole British Empire now includes 10,000,000 square miles, with a population of more than 360 millions. We have more territory than Russia and more population than China.

Again when we contrast our spiritual blessings with the sufferings and needs of other people we are amazed at the wonderful difference yielding continual cause for thanksgiving.

We rejoice to-day to know that the Gospel of life in Christ is triumphing everywhere, and that while much remains to be done—millions still unsaved—yet the Christian church has been blessed.

WE THANK GOD

for a healthy Christianity that has alike to do with development of true Christian citizenship and as faithful and earnest witnesses for Christ.

We thank God for the Sabbath day, for the word of truth and for the Holy Spirit.

Let us, as men, rise into higher realms of Christian usefulness. As we mount peak by peak, and crag after crag the mountain steeps of the world's experiences and discipline, may we glance around us only to view the splendour and magnificence of the rule of God in our hearts and lives. As we develop our mental powers and use the privileges, bounties and talents afforded to us, when we see what the mind of man has scanned, and what the intelligence of man has brought to knowledge, may we with gratitude to Almighty God praise Him for the greater heights yet to climb, for the unsearchable riches yet undiscovered. And as we behold the glory, prowess and prosperity of our beloved empire, may we with genuine royal and loyal spirit ever glory in the triumph of the Redeemer's kingdom, and bow gratefully and obediently to the sceptre, which is a sceptre of righteousness, ever hopeful in that time when with inspiring hallelujahs the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ.

WISELY AND WELL

From our own Correspondent.

With the exception of two or three days the fall has been excellent for ploughing and the weather is still favourable.

Next in order of business to fall ploughing wood bees! Already there have been five in succession, and the end is not yet come. At the time of writing they are still flourishing.

Mr. Elias Ferrin, who took advantage of the harvest excursion to visit Manitoba, returned last Saturday. He says there has been sleighing there during the past two or three weeks. He reports the climate colder than here, but outside of that he says it is the right country for farming. Mr. Ferrin intends removing there in the spring.

There is not much doing in the lumbering here this winter.

Mr. George Martin, of Fenelon Falls, has been around in search of telegraph poles. We expect quite a number will be taken out.

Built to Order.

No two men are built alike; hence the impossibility of any man being fitted properly, except with a Suit or Overcoat made to body MEASURE.

Who wants to wear Clothing that would fit somebody else much better?

There are times when a man gets desperate, but there's no occasion for any one in Peterborough to wear clothing that looks as though he swopped suits with somebody else, when we can fit him to a nicety.

All we ask is a fair show and a good tape measure.

Well dressed men whom we have cut for have also learned another secret—that they needn't pay "away up in G" for their high-class garments.

THE OTTAWA BUDGET

Rumor That Mr. Laurier is to be Knighted.

THE PREMIER KNOWS NOTHING OF IT

Sir Henry Strong Will Not Have to Leave the Supreme Court Bench—That Yankee Outrage at Suspension Bridge to be Looked Into—Queen vs. St. Louis.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—A rumor is in circulation that the Premier will be knighted on New Year's Day. Sir Wilfrid is euphonious, and will look well in print. Mr. Laurier disavows all knowledge of such intention on the part of Her Majesty and expresses the belief that titles are more fittingly bestowed on members of the old families, and who have the necessary means to wear them with distinction. But, after all, what is there in this talk of the old families? Are not we all descended from Adam?

In official circles the statement is confirmed that Sir Henry Strong's appointment on the Judicial Committee will not involve his resignation of the Chief Justiceship. Sir Henry will visit England every July, when colonial cases are heard. This will not involve any interference with his Supreme Court work here. It is understood that the Imperial Government will pay the expenses of the colonial judges to and from and while in England, so that no expense will be incurred by Canada.

During his visit to British Columbia Mr. Davies will hold a conference with the sealers and obtain their views on the subject of suggested modifications of the Behring Sea regulations, for which the United States is pressing.

The attention of the Government has been directed by Mayor Cole of Niagara Falls, Ont., to a scandalous case of ill-treatment of a British subject by the American authorities at Niagara Falls, N. Y., under the alien labor law. George Sharvill, an Englishman, who has resided at Niagara Falls with his family since July, was the other night waited upon by customs and police officers and unceremoniously bundled over to the Canadian side of the bridge without a moment's warning. The Government will call the attention of the American authorities, through Sir Julian Pauncefote, to this unneighborly action. A few more cases of this kind may induce the Government to adopt reprisals.

Commander Spain of the Canadian fisheries protection service returned to-day, after inspecting the two lake cruisers, the Dolphin on Lake Huron and the Petrel on Lake Erie. He found both in excellent condition. The Petrel was especially noteworthy for the perfection which the crew have attained in drill. Capt. Dunn deserves credit for the way he has brought his men along in the season. The Dolphin is at Owen Sound and both vessels will go out of commission on Dec. 3.

From the Soo Chief Engineer Schreiber will proceed to Toronto and Hamilton for the purpose of looking into the vexed local dispute over the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway Company crossing Desjardins Canal.

Provincial Detective Murray is investigating into the Watterson tragedy at Limehank. When the coroner's jury failed to agree upon a verdict as to the cause of Watterson's death Coroner Freeland handed over all the papers connected with the inquest to the Crown authorities. Acting Crown Attorney Lees communicated the facts to the Attorney-General at Toronto and asked advice. As the circumstances connected with Watterson's death are mysterious, and doubly so by the failure to find the weapon by which the deceased could have cut his own throat, the detective has been sent on to investigate.

In the Exchequer Court to-day the case of the Queen v. St. Louis came up. Mr. B. B. Osler, Q. C., Mr. Hogg, Q.C., and Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick appeared for the Crown and Hon. C. A. Geoffrion and Mr. Emard for Mr. St. Louis. The Crown sues for $143,000, which was alleged to be overpaid in connection with the Curran bridge contract. St. Louis has already sued for $63,000, which was due him on the contract, and recovered the amount by a judgment of the Exchequer Court. Mr Geoffrion, for St. Louis, now holds that under the law of Quebec, which the case must be tried under, the Crown cannot sue the same parties twice on the same facts. From the remarks of Justice Burbidge it looked as if the court was likely to decide in that way. Mr. Osler, however, contended that the case did not come under the Quebec law, as it arose at Ottawa, and, such being the case, there was no estoppel against the Crown as between subjects and subjects.

A writ was issued in the High Court of Justice this morning against Alexander Graham for $10,000 damages and an injunction to restrain him from further occupying the brickyard at Ottawa East. The writ is taken at the instance of several members of the Kane family, residing in Hochelaga. The action arises from an alleged violation of agreement on the part of the late John Graham.

Speaker Edgar of the House of Commons has returned to Toronto, after spending some days here. There were complaints laid against one permanent officer, of active partisanship in the last elections, which, on investigation, turned out to be entirely groundless. The complainant was Mr. Devlin, M.P., who charged Treffle Ouimet, Clerk of French Journals, with attending public meetings and working against Mr. Devlin. Mr. Ouimet, who is a cousin of Judge Ouimet, and an able officer of Parliament, produced a dozen affidavits to show that he was not present at the meetings in question. Mr. Devlin was perforce compelled to withdraw the charge and admit he had been misinformed. Another matter the Speaker had before him was the catering for the coming session. Our own Samuel Barnett is in danger of losing charge of the Commons' restaurant, but won't cry over it, as after the passage of Mr. Craig's motion last session, it is generally understood Mr. Barnett lost money on the Commons side. He will still have charge of the Senate restaurant, and with new and noiseless cork matting laid in the tunnel, will continue to monopolize the Commoners' demand for coffee and cakes.

It is announced that Mr. Laurier will leave for Europe about Dec 15. Confirmation is, however, lacking.

The election in Saskatchewan will be held on the same dates as Cornwall and Stormont; nomination Dec. 12, polling a week later.

Mr. Fisher leaves for Toronto to-morrow.

Mr. J. C. Boyce, editor of The House of Commons Debates, has just completed the Index of the revised edition of last session. The volume may, therefore, be expected shortly.

Messrs. A. E. Wheeler, D. Kelly, J. H. Mackenzie, George Anderson and W. A. Lampert, members of the East Toronto Reform Association, were here to-day interviewing Ministers regarding the distribution of patronage in East Toronto.

For the convenience of mining men an outport of customs has been created in the Seine River, Western Algoma.

NOTES FROM THE FALLS.

Biggar, Who Escaped from Hamilton Asylum, Captured and Taken Back—Burglars Caught—A Pole Killed.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Richard Biggar, the man who escaped from the insane asylum at Hamilton a few weeks ago, was captured this morning across the river. The man has evidently been harbored by relatives, who were desirous of his release, and it was only after a diligent search that he was found by the officers. This morning Keeper Slater arrived from Hamilton and took Biggar back to that city. A proper application for his release will immediately be made by his relatives.

The burglars who several weeks ago robbed Thomas Ward & Co.'s drygoods store of about $100 worth of goods have been captured in Buffalo and the stolen goods recovered. An officer left this afternoon for that place and will endeavor to bring the prisoners to this side. Their names are as yet unknown to the local police.

The only engine in commission on the Niagara Central Railway burst some flues this afternoon, consequently the rolling stock of the company is taking a forced holiday.

The men in charge of the M. C. R. transfer sheds at Montrose, although completed and ready to begin business at a moment's notice, are still awaiting authority from Washington allowing the Detroit customs officers to accept cars which have had the U. S. seal placed upon them in Canada.

Work on the new bridge across the gorge is almost suspended on account of the delay in the shipping of the iron framework and the arch base.

Another fatal accident occurred at the wheel pit extension of the power company across the river early this morning. The victim was a Pole named Stephen Scobiski, who, with a large number of other employes, was at work in the bottom of the pit when the order was given to ascend. Immediately everyone made a rush for the one ladder, which broke with the weight of all the men, dropping them 25 feet. Scobiski was killed and two others were seriously injured.

The Hon. R. Harcourt was in town to-day inspecting the new heating apparatus at the Public schools. It was pronounced satisfactory.

Says He's a Bad Man.

Detroit, Nov. 27.—John McGowan of London, Ont., says that Charles Norman, alias Edward White, is a bad man. Norman or White was arrested a few days ago for larceny. Mr. McGowan says the prisoner ran away with Mrs. McGowan, and he is here to see that White is properly prosecuted.

STILL AFTER HARVEY

Guelphites Want the Defaulter Tried Again.

GOT OFF TOO LIGHTLY, THEY SAY

Hon. A. S. Hardy Waited Upon by Delegation—The Premier Agrees With Their Statements But Shows That He Has No Power Over the Judge.

Toronto, Nov. 28.

The citizens, and, by their approval, the City Council, of Guelph are determined that they will not let the Harvey case drop before what they believe to be the ends of justice have been amply met. They are not willing that the administration of justice in their locality shall be disregarded by their own people and become the subject of the ridicule of outsiders. Accordingly, at a recent meeting, the Council unanimously decided to delegate a committee from among their number to wait upon the head of the Ontario Judiciary Department and ask him that a new trial of ex-Treasurer Harvey be had, on such new charges as were not disposed of from the reports of the special auditor, Mr. George Edwards.

The deputation saw Attorney-General Hardy yesterday afternoon. It was composed of Mayor Lamprey and Ald. Sully, Penfold, Downie, Hartnett and Mahoney, with Ald. Calvert as spokesman.

Mayor Lamprey, asked by Mr. Hardy to speak, said that the citizens of Guelph were indignant. They believed that a miscarriage of justice had taken place. Restitution to the extent of but $10,000 had been made, while there was lacking at least $25,000 of city funds which could not be traced.

Mr. Hardy interposed: "Is the Council unanimous?"

The Mayor: "They are unanimous in asking that those new charges be tried." The general opinion was, he went on, that Harvey had been dealt with in a partial manner. There was no doubt that the tax on the ratepayers, which is now 25 mills on the dollar, would not have been more than 20 mills had the frauds not taken place.

Mr. Johnston, one of the Crown prosecutors, was then called in.

In the interval, Ald. Calvert complained that the Judge had tried to throw a part of the blame upon the City Council for not looking after auditing in a proper manner. That they did not wish to lie under such an imputation was one of the reasons for their coming.

Mr. Hardy (jocularly): "What sentence did he impose upon the Council?"

The Premier then went on to say that the charges they were preferring were then of a threefold nature. The first was that the prisoner had been treated differently from other criminals. The second was that the Judge had been remiss in his duty, and the third was that it was an implication against the prosecution when the Judge had said that he thought the sentence would be satisfactory to the Crown.

Mr. Johnston, the Crown officer, pointed out a few unintentional errors in the report of Mr. Calvert. He said that the judge was well within his rights in allowing Harvey to remain in a private room during his trial. Judge McDougall did the same thing right along, so there was nothing exceptional in that. He had felt it his duty, and it was the duty of every Crown prosecutor, not to act in a bloodthirsty manner, and yet to see that the prisoner did not escape. But here was where the counsel who acted for the city had made the mistake. They asked him in open court what the Crown would do if restitution were made. He had replied that it would not interfere with a vigorous prosecution of the case in any way. The Crown knew the object of the proposed restitution and would not lend themselves to it. As to the remark of the judge that the sentence would meet the ends of justice and satisfy the prosecution, he said that the Crown, in the first place, had been ready to go on with the prosecution. At the close of Mr. Osler's statement at the trial, Mr. Guthrie, the City Solicitor, informed the court that restitution had been made. The judge looked to the Crown to say something, but as the evidence was all in he had nothing to say, and the responsibility was left upon the shoulders of the court. The committee who had been appointed to obtain restitution knew that should they obtain it the Crown would be hampered in obtaining a just sentence. In conclusion, he said that if the Crown was to be placed in an unhampered position so that a proper sentence could be forced, restitution would have to be refused, and the parties thereby placed in the same position they were in before the trial. Then the prosecution would be in a position to perhaps have the sentence of three months changed to three years. Any other judge under such circumstances might have been equally lenient. The Crown had done their part, and he cited the case of McGreevy and Connolly to prove his contention that the case was not without precedent.

Ald. Calvert asked: "Did the City Solicitor ask you what you would do if restitution were made?"

Mr. Johnston replied that the City Solicitor had told him that if a full term were given the prisoner no restitution could be obtained.

Ald. Calvert: "We have no fault to find with you, but was there any arrangement made between you and the judge?"

Mr. Johnston: "None whatever." "But why did you interfere with the Crown by stating that restitution had been made."

Ald. Calvert: "It was not intended to have any bearing on the case."

Mr. Hardy asked why the statement had been made. He would look into the matter. The case was an important one. It involved a precedent. Messrs. Johnston and Peterson, who acted for the Crown, had nothing to do with the settlement by restitution. Of course, when the amount is large and the restitution is made, it must have its effect upon the judge. He then read a letter sent by himself to Mr. Peterson, which instructed the latter that no restitution should guarantee a merely nominal sentence. That was his opinion. He desired that everything should be done openly and above board, and his department was no party to the settlement by restitution.

Part of their charge, the Premier resumed, was against the judge. The latter was not an officer of his appointment, but was responsible to the Dominion Minister of Justice. To the latter, then, they must make their complaint in regard to him. He did not mean to criticize the bench, but was obliged to say that he thought the sentence a very light one. "It is my part to see that the facts are placed before the judge," he said. He had done so. He had put the matter in the hands of the best available counsel, and had therefore nothing to reproach himself with. If someone would lay fresh charges before the Police Magistrate he would do everything he could to have justice done, providing he were assured that their side of the case was worth taking up, or in other words justified by the evidence.

Ald. Calvert: "Would you consent to allow the Crown Attorney to consult with the City Solicitor?"

Mr. Hardy: "I most certainly would."

Mr. Johnston: "If you wish the full penalty of the law to be inflicted, as I said before, you should place the parties in the same position they were in before restitution was made."

Mr. Hardy concluded the interview by saying that he considered Mr. Harvey a very fortunate man. He thought the judge was influenced to a certain extent by the latter's social position and the judge's personal acquaintance with him. He thanked the deputation for their courtesy.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

"I will say that my mother has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." CORA PECK, Amsterdam, N. Y.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE bonds between Canada and the Mother Country are being drawn closer. Sir Henry Strong, Chief Justice of Canada, will represent the Dominion of Canada on the Imperial Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Sir Henry will still remain Chief Justice of Canada. No salary is attached to the new office.

THE Toronto World says, "let us quit trying to settle the School question, and let us try and settle the country." Its political friends were in power for twenty-three years and couldn't "settle" either. The Laurier Government, the Ottawa Free Press points out, has been in power less than six months and has settled the School question. It will also settle the country. The organs of Toryism should not use the word "us" in a party sense in connection with either of the subjects mentioned.

SPAIN is over a hundred years behind the procession. She is only now learning the lesson that was taught the good old, but sadly pig-headed, King George, when lost a big slice of his North American colonies by insisting on taxing them without their consent, and for the benefit of the home government. The last of Spain's erstwhile world-wide colonies are in revolt and on the eve of independence. The Phillipine Islands have stuck for liberty, and the latest accounts are that they are pushing the Spaniards into the sea. In Cuba Spain has spent a hundred millions to keep the plucky islanders in subjection, and the latest reports are that the oppressed are coming to the top, and it seems that the time is not far distant when Cuba will throw off the Spanish yoke. Spain has long been wilfully blind, but her two last colonies are giving her a pair of eye-openers. She is a great country still, with immense internal resources, but she is not in touch with modern methods. The club law of a century ago won't work in this dawn of the twentieth century. The concession of liberal government to Cuba a dozen years ago would have been for the benefit of both the colony and the mother country.

EIGHTY IN EVERY HUNDRED

Suffer More or Less from that Most Offensive of Diseases, Catarrh—That Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is a Wonderful Remedy is Testified to by Thousands who have been Cured Outright—Mr. Alex. Edmondson of Rosemuth, Ont., Says:

"I have been troubled with catarrh for a great many years. Have suffered greatly from it. I had tried all the so-called cures, but never received any relief from them. Seeing Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder largely advertised, I determined to try it, although very skeptical about any relief, but I was greatly and agreeably disappointed, for from the first dose I received very great relief, and to-day I can honestly say that it has cured me. I keep it constantly in the house as I find it a quick cure for cold in the head. It gives almost instant relief. I have no hesitancy in proclaiming it the best cure for catarrh, and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from this malady." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

CAVANVILLE.

Thanksgiving Supper and Lecture.

The ladies of Cavanville Methodist church held their annual Thanksgiving supper Friday evening, Nov. 20th. It proved to be a grand financial success, and an intellectual and musical treat of a very high order. Supper was served in Mr. Fletcher's Hall, and after ample justice had been done to the good things provided by the ladies, an adjournment was made to the church where the intellectual part of the feast was dispensed. A short but excellent programme of music, readings and recitations was listened to with marked appreciation. Miss Bertha Sing, of Port Hope, delighted the audience with several selections of music, which proved her to be the possessor of a clear rich soprano voice, remarkable for its sweetness and compass. Miss Sing is no stranger to a Cavanville audience, as we had the pleasure of listening to her in a concert previous to this event, and it is the unanimous verdict that she has established herself as a great favourite in Cavanville, as evidenced by the marked appreciation with which her numbers were received. Miss Elsie Richardson favoured us with a recitation in a very pleasing manner which was well received, and Rev. J. Kilgour contributed a reading in his usual happy manner.

The preliminary programme having been concluded, the Rev. James Henderson, D. D., of Toronto, was introduced. Rev. Mr. Henderson, it will be remembered, was advertised to deliver a lecture on the subject, "Wherein is man better than a sheep," but on account of circumstances over which he had no control he was compelled to change his subject and he selected for the foundation of his remarks the very interesting subject, 'Does Christianity pay?' The lecture was listened to throughout with marked attention, the eloquence of the lecturer evoking frequent bursts of applause, as he clearly demonstrated the fact that Christianity gave large returns for the amount of money invested.

After votes of thanks to the Rev. Dr. Henderson and to the ladies who had assisted, the entertainment was brought to a close, the audience joining heartily in the singing of "Praise God, from Whom All Blessings Flow."

"I escaped being a confirmed dyspeptic by taking Ayer's Pills in time." This is the experience of many. Ayer's Pills, whether as an after-dinner pill or as a remedy for liver complaint, indigestion, flatulency, water brash, and nausea, are invaluable.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Reopening of the Presbyterian Church.

On Sunday, Nov. 22nd, the services in connection with the reopening of the Mount Pleasant Presbyterian church, were conducted by Rev. J. Kilgour, of Cavanville, and Rev. Mr. McKinnin, of Fenelon Falls. The morning service at 10.30 was taken by Rev. Mr. Kilgour, who delivered an excellent sermon, choosing his text from Gal. 3, 9. He gave a picture of the Chaldees, when God told Abraham to leave it, that he did not question as to the profit he would gain by leaving his native land, but complied with God's request; that God is speaking to us now, and we should obey Him. He showed that Abraham was not selfish, that he was no speculator. He only purchased enough ground for to bury his dead, and "by faith he looked for a city which hath foundations whose builder and maker is God."

At 2.30 p. m. Rev. Mr. McKinnon took his text from Matthew 21st, part of 13th verse,—"It is written, my house shall be called the house of prayer."

He described the doings of the speculators that Jesus found in the temple at Jerusalem when he entered it and what He done with them. The condescension of god in allowing man to build a house for Him, that we should reverance God's house and not allow entertainments or anything of that nature to be held in it. That God's work should be kept up by the free will offerings of His people and that His house should be called the Lord's house.

The third service of the day was held at 7 p. m. by the Rev. Mr. McKinnon. His text was taken from Psalm 34, verse 10. He said the young ones of the king of the forest suffered hunger and were often in need of something to satisfy it, but not so with those who seek the Lord. He said that he has seen many tramps in his day but none of them were of the class spoken of in the text. He told of the good things God's people get here and of those in store for them hereafter, of which no description can be given.

The day was very fine and the congregations large at each of the three services.

The three special Diamond Dye Blacks—Diamond Dye Fast Black for Wool, Diamond Fast Black for Wool, Diamond Dye Fast Black for Silk and Feathers, and Diamond Dye Fast Black for Cotton and Mixed Goods—give rich full and unfading blacks that never crock or rub off.

These Diamond Dye Fast Blacks are all new and scientific discoveries, and are as superior to all other dyes in brilliancy, strength, purity and fastness as the electric light is to tallow candles. Use them once and you can never be induced to take anything else.

Ask your dealer for these Diamond Dye Fast Blacks, and do not allow him to substitute inferior dyes.

DOURO DOINGS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. Father Kielty, who has been ill in Kingston hospital for some time, came home last week. But he found himself too delicate to remain and he returned to Kingston, Nov. 23rd.

Miss J. Cronin and Miss J. Coughlin gave a party to their friends Nov. 23rd. It was very disagreeable weather, and consequently the number present was not so large as it otherwise would have been. But those who attended declare themselves well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Mr. J. Walsh and Miss A. Walsh spent Sunday in Hastings visiting friends.

On Tuesday morning Nov. 24th, a pretty wedding occurred at St. Joseph's church, when Miss Nellie O'Brien, daughter of Mr. Wm. O'Brien, township clerk, was married to Mr. P. G. Towns, the Rev. Father Phelan performing the ceremony. The home wedding was very quiet, only the near relatives of the contracting parties being present.

Mr. D. Conroy and Mrs. Chamberlain spent Sunday with their friend, Mrs. Jas. Barry.

A GENERAL'S STORY.

HE RELATES THE NARROW ESCAPE OF HIS DAUGHTER.

Weakened and Run Down by the Oppressive Climate of India She Returned to England—When Her Father Followed He Found her in a Serious Condition.

From the Hampshire Independent.

There is nothing more interesting than the talk of our brave defenders, who have served their Queen and country in far distant lands. To talk with an Indian officer, hearing his reminiscences and adventures, is what those who have enjoyed it always appreciate. Consequently (writes a special reporter of the Hampshire Independent) I was delighted to receive instructions to interview Lieutenant-General Shaw, who has won his spurs in India, and is now living with his family in honourable retirement, at St. Paul's Vicarage, Shanklin, Isle of Wight. I had grasped the bell-pull and given it one tug when the door opened, and the general stood before me. You knew he was a soldier at once. His manly, upright bearing, his smile, his pleasant voice—all told you that you stood in the presence of one of Nature's gentlemen but, alas! he held a time-table, and I felt that the interview must needs be short. However, he ushered me in and at once put me at my ease by his affable conversation.

"I am afraid," he said, "that you have come a long distance; but let me know the precise object of your visit."

I explained to the General that I was most anxious, with his consent, to obtain some personal explanation as to the narrow escape I had heard one of his daughters had recently experienced.

At that he brightened visibly. "You must know," he said, "I'm just a bit of an enthusiast on this point; but the tale is very short. My daughter came home from India, and when I joined her in London I found her ill in bed. She had rheumatic and neuralgic pains; she was perfectly bloodless, listless, and in a generally weak and prostrate condition. A doctor was seen, but she remained absolutely colourless, was in great wretchedness and suffering from anæmia or bloodlessness. She had a kind of fever, nervous headache, and other pains. Well, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. My daughter took some, and the first box had a marvellous effect. She regained her colour, lost her pains, and became altogether different. She had quite a glow upon her. She went on taking the pills, and I am glad to tell you that she recovered completely. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all with whom I came in contact, and all who take them derive great benefit therefrom.

"I have a sister at Jersey, and she has taken them for a very long time, and has always recommended them to other people, and found them to do a great deal of good to all to whom she has recommended them; and I, myself, when I have heard of people being ill, have taken them or sent them some of these pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills directly enrich and purify the blood, and thus it is that they are so famous for the cure of anæmia, rheumatism, scrofula, chronic erysipelas, and restore pale and sallow complexions to the glow of health. They are also a splendid nerve and spinal tonic, and have cured many cases of paralysis, locomotor ataxia, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, and nervous headache. A specific for all the troubles of the female, and in men cure all cases arising from worry, overwork, or indiscretions of living.

Making a Record.

SHE DYED AND DIED.

A Buffalo Woman Who Died Because She Dyed Her Hair.

Buffalo, Nov. 27.—May Mack, or Mabel Brooks, as she was known in a house of ill-repute on Oak-street, was found unconscious in her room last evening and removed to Fitch Hospital, where she died early this morning. It was at first thought she had committed suicide, but the coroner believes death was due to other causes. It appears that she dyed her hair a few days ago, and was attacked with severe headaches, which continued until she became unconscious. She was 22 years old, and came here from Rochester.

THE GREAT BLIZZARD

Which is Sweeping Over the Northwest.

A TRAIN LOAD OF CATTLE FROZEN

St. Paul Suffers From Delayed Trains, and in Some Places in Minnesota Business is Entirely Suspended—Coldest Weather for 24 Years at Portland, Oregon.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 27.—The storm which has been raging throughout the northwest for the past 48 hours is the greatest that has ever visited this section since the blizzard of Jan. 12, 1888, in which 107 lives were lost. No lives are reported lost in this storm, but there is a complete blockade of traffic in Northern Minnesota, North Dakota and portions of South Dakota. Trains into St. Paul from the west are from 5 to 10 hours late or abandoned altogether. It is 4 degrees below zero here to-night, with a terrific north wind blowing.

At Moorehead, Minn., the blizzard has been on for 24 hours and there is no prospect of abatement. Traffic in the streets and all business is suspended. Nearly all passenger and freight trains are snowed in, but the Northern Pacific managed to move one passenger train to-night. The northbound passenger train on the Great Northern reached Moorehead an hour late this morning. It became stalled in the big drift right at the depot and had to be dug out. It took four powerful engines to take the four passenger coaches across the River to Fargo. The snow in some places is 5 feet deep.

Grafton, N. D., reports the worst storm that ever visited the section. It began Wednesday evening. The Great Northern southbound train due here at 6.30 last night is now at St. Thomas, 14 miles north of Grafton. One of the engines reached here this afternoon, coming down for coal.

The northbound Northern Pacific train got as far as Pembina last night and the southbound to Mecklnok.

A train load of cattle is reported stuck in a drift near Church's Ferry and frozen to death.

Argyle, Minn., reports drifts in the streets there as high as the buildings alongside. Mail and freight trains are tied up. The storm shows no signs of abating.

The mercury at Fergus Falls, Minn., is at zero and business is suspended.

Coldest for 24 Years.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 27.—The weather throughout Oregon is very cold, the thermometer registering 21 degrees above zero last night, which is colder than it has been in Portland for 24 years. At Kemois, in the Blue Mountains, the thermometer registered 15 degrees below zero. It is feared that much damage to grain will result.

ELIJAH AND HIS JULIA.

A Romantic Story in Which a Toronto Man and a Goderich Girl are the Leading Figures.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 27.—The love affairs of Julia Card of Goderich have had many crossess. Last night Elijah E. Kidd, to whom Julia claims she is married, was arrested at the Scott House, adjoining the police station, on the charge of embezzlement. The complainant is Wilmer Smith of Goderich. He bought 500 potato peelers from Kidd and paid him $50 for the patent right in Huron County. Kidd's enterprise led him to sell the same right to about twenty others in Huron County. He has been traveling through Western Ontario and is supposed to have worked the same game in many places. Julia is 17 years of age, pretty, vivacious, very sentimental, and was pleased with the romance of an elopement with a person leading a life like Kidd's.

She tells the way she first met him. "I was alone in my father's merchant tailoring store. Elijah came in and as soon as his bright black eyes met mine I seemed to feel a strange sensation. He said he wanted to buy a necktie. While I was showing them to him he seemed to be looking at me more than at the ties. At last I said: 'Oh, you don't want ties at all.' 'Yes I do,' he said. He bought two for 25c each. While I was wrapping them up he said: 'Where are the best places to take a drive around here, Miss ——?' 'Miss Card,' I added, 'or just call me Jule.' Then I said: 'Oh, you get a horse and rig and you will find girls willing to show you a good place to take a drive.' Of course I meant other girls around town but he didn't take it that way and asked me if I would go. I went."

The patent right purchasers compared notes and Smith had Kidd arrested for getting money under false pretences. Tom Tilt and M. Polley gave bail for $200 at the request of Julia who was a general favorite in town. Kidd went to Owen Sound, Blyth and Walkerton while out on bail. In each place he was arrested, but was released when it was known he had been bailed.

Julia left her father, Levi Card, who is fairly wealthy, and went to Kidd in London. They made a tour of Ontario west of London. Chief Wills got a description of Kidd and located him. Kidd made a hard fight to keep one letter from the police. It was from N. Lewarne, 15 Stafford-street, Toronto, It referred to a child there, of which Kidd was mentioned as the father and spoke of its mother, who is living in Toronto. It accused Kidd of not having provided for the child and threatened to have a detective after him if he didn't do better. Kidd was asked if he had a wife in Toronto. "I will give you my life if I have a wife in Toronto. I am married to Julia." Neither he nor Julia would say where they were married or when.

Kidd is 5 feet 6 inches high, black hair, small black mustache, keen black eyes, low forehead, dressed in dark ready-made clothes and is not prepossessing. Julia's father will come for her and Kidd will be taken to Goderich. Julia says Kidd was married to a woman in Toronto and had a child, but that the woman was unfaithful to him. The child he left with Mrs. N. Lewarne, Toronto. "A short time ago," continued Julia, "Kidd got a letter from his brother saying his wife had died at the hospital" The letters from Mrs. Lewarne refer to the mother of the child as still living. Kidd and Julia lived at 9 Washington-avenue, Detroit, and Mrs. Kennedy, the landlady, says she didn't get a cent from Kidd. The letters received by Kidd are mostly from persons who claim he owed them money or who charged him with selling the patent rights to others in the same county.

THREE DOCTORS IN CONSULTATION.

They Declare it Bright's Disease and Prescribe California's Climate.

A LETTER OF HOPE.

The Sufferer Learns of Great Local Cures—Writes for Further Assurance—Our Reply to his Appeal—Of Vital Worth to Every Victim of Kidney Diseases—Dodd's Kidney Pills for Kidney Diseases.

DEAR SIR:

We are in receipt of yours of the 22nd ult., and desire to say:

From your statement of symptoms we presume the three physicians consulted are correct when they say that you have Bright's Disease.

From the fact that they have advised you to go to California we may also presume that they are unable to help you by any further treatment at home.

If you decide to use Dodd's Kidney Pills instead of making a trip to California, we would suggest that you take courage from the following facts:

That Dodd's Kidney Pills were designed for the kidneys only and might have been appropriately named "kidney help."

Used as they are by persons of all ages at all seasons of the year, the general directions, with common sense, are sufficient guides.

That from no user has ever come a single report of failure to cure Bright's or any other form of kidney disease.

Why should yours prove to be an exceptional case, and why not take courage?

Constipation being the first symptom noticed by you in your case, was doubtless one of the first effects of kidney derangement, and will disappear when otherwise you have become healthy.

Facts About Blue-Eyed Cats.

It is a curious fact that blue-eyed cats are invariably deaf. Mr. J. Harrison Weir, a great authority on the cat, once bought a big, white, blue-eyed beauty, which seemed to be every inch a good cat, except that its vocal organ was of such robust power that her cries drove the household frantic. After some strange experiences the problem was solved by this voiceful specimen being taken home by a kind old lady, who was herself stone deaf.

A Wholesale Druggist and a leading Architect praise "77" FOR COLDS

MR. N. L. WILLET, Secretary and Treasurer of the Howard and Willet Drug Co., Augusta, Ga., writes under the date of November 3d: "I had a wonderful cure by "77" for colds. Single Tax.

A meeting of those in favour of the single tax principle met last night and decided to at once organize the county of Peterborough, and arrangements were accordingly made to that end. It is also stated there is a probability that Henry George, or some other specialist will be secured to give an address here during the coming winter.

Married in Toronto.

Yesterday morning Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Turner received a telegram from Toronto apprising them of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alice Turner, in that city to Mr. W. J. Price. Miss Turner went up to spend Thanksgiving in the city and Mr. Price, who has long been a friend of hers, persuaded her to remain in Toronto as his wife. The bride's charming face will be greatly missed in Peterborough.

Mr. Yeigh's Lecture.

The subject of Britain's girdle of the globe and of Canada's scenery and history was particularly appropriate for the Canadian Thanksgiving entertainment enjoyed by a large audience in Bond street church last evening. Mr. Frank Yeigh added another to his platform successes in his eloquent presentation of his topic, and the richly coloured views thrown on the screen by Mr. W. H. Charlton, of Chas. Potter's establishment, were heartily cheered. Mr. T. Arthur Miller contributed organ music as an accompaniment to the series of pictures, and aroused the audience to enthusiasm by his fine rendition of national airs, especially the "Maple Leaf."—Globe, Nov. 27th, '96. 2nod

About Appealing the Jackson Case.

Last night a committee of the whole council met to consider the advisability of entering an appeal against the judgment in the action of Jackson vs. Peterborough. As stated in a news paragraph after talking the question over they were unable to come to any decision in the matter. It is understood that a strong reason urged against making appeal was that after the accident the council showed itself to blame for neglect by removing the walk. On the other hand it was pointed out that the town would have a better chance by having the case tried before a jury, and it was also felt that if this case was not appealed and fought to a finish, the town would be flooded with suits for damages. It's a wonder it did not occur to the committee that a good way to prevent suits for damages would be that of keeping our streets in such a condition that accidents would not happen!

FOR THE ENGLISH MARKET.

Fifteen Thousand Fowl to be Shipped to the Old Country.

The slaughter amongst the turkeys, geese and chickens of this district has been something terrific during the past week. John Bull, whose table for some time has been supplied with Canadian cheese and butter, has now developed a fondness for Canadian fowl and a big effort is being made to work up a trade of this nature with the old country.

While the profits are not large and the returns hardly encouraging, yet the dealers report that the demand for Canadian fowl is gradually increasing and that the trade may eventually become a profitable one.

Desirious of promoting the trade if it could be done without loss Blackwell & Co., of Toronto, accepted a contract to supply an old country firm with 5,000 turkeys, 5,000 geese and 5,000 ducks, and the largest portion of the contract has been filled in the Midland district, Messrs. Kennedy and Nelson, of town, securing about 7,000 of the fowl for the firm. All day yesterday a big force of men was engaged in sorting, weighing and packing the fowl and a large number of citizens were down at the station during the afternoon to witness the somewhat unusual operations.

The fowl are shipped entire, with feathers, head and feet and are not drawn.

Messrs. Kennedy and Nelson, who handled the contract for this district, are left with quite a large number of fowl on their hands as notwithstanding that the most stringent directions were issued in regard to the killing of the birds, a large number came in which were not handled in the manner called for in the contract.

It seems that in order to travel well and be acceptable to the English public, the fowl must be starved 24 hours before being killed, thus leaving no food whatever in the crop and it is imperative that they be bled only from the roof of the mouth. In killing them the mode usually adopted is to hang the birds over a line by their feet and draw a sharp penknife along the roof of the mouth, allowing them to then bleed to death. All turkeys must come up to the standard weight of ten pounds.

Of the birds which came in to Kennedy & Nelson yesterday several hundred were bled by the cutting of the jugular vein, which is the way fowl are generally killed for the home market, but it seems they do not keep as well on the trip abroad, as when bled from the inside of the mouth.

Rather than have any disagreement Kennedy & Nelson accepted all birds, but the shippers have refused to take any which are not killed according to direction so that, as stated before, several hundred birds are left with the local firm.

SPECIAL SERMONS TO YOUNG MAN.

Local Divines Arrange an Exchange of Pulpits.

It has been arranged by the Ministerial Association that an exchange of pulpits shall take place to-morrow evening, and that each of the pastors shall deliver special sermons to young men.

The exchange of pulpits has been arranged as follows :

Rev. J. G. Potter at the George street Methodist church.

Rev. J. J. Rae at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

Rev. Dr. Torrance at the Charlotte street Methodist church.

Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., at St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

New Legal Firm.

Messrs. Daniel O'Connel and L. V. O'Connor, two rising members of the legal profession who have for some time been practising in Peterborough, have entered into partnership, and the firm will be known as O'Connell & O'Connor, with offices at 134½ Hunter street, over Stethem & Son's hardware store. The new legal team will be a strong one, and will doubtless attract a good share of the legal business of the town and district. Kindly consult card in another column.

LADIES ! ATTENTION !

On Monday Evening, Nov. 30th, from 5 until 9 o'clock, Miss Armstrong intends holding a grand Christmas and Fancy Goods opening. As these goods have been selected in view of the holiday trade, we would respectfully solicit the inspection of every lady in the town on the above date. Do not forget it.

A Musical Entertainment.

The Montreal Witness of Nov. 17th says: "Concert-goers experienced a treat on Tuesday in the choice musical entertainment given by Miss Mabel Chambers and Miss Bertha Belasco in Association Hall. The sweet toned voice of the first mentioned artist was heard to good advantage in "With Verdure Clad" "Love has Eyes," as well as in other numbers and encores. Miss Belasco's playing left almost nothing to be desired. The hall was crowded and the concert a decided success." The plan for concert to be given here by these young ladies, Dec. 3rd, is now open at Stratton's Bookstore. Reserved seats 50 cents, admission 35 and 25 cents. 2d

Deer Hunting.

The hunters who were out this season are full of experience, and since they came home, many of them having been giving it freely—standing right up and speaking out. The trouble is that our reporter was not always on hand, and so much of it, though no doubt edifying, was lost, and the law makers of the Ontario Assembly are none the wiser for it. The Toronto papers have contained a good deal on the on the subject, but our hunters laugh at it and exclaim "bosh." It will be seen from an advertisement that the Fish and Game Protection Society have called a meeting of all hunters for Thursday, 10th Dec., at Peterborough to compare notes, tabulate results and decide upon the action to be taken to give the Government their mind on the subject. It is thought that before the meeting the nimrods will have cooled down sufficiently to make the result of their gathering valuable. By all means let the game wardens attend—they evidently need enlightenment.

Grand Christmas Card Opening Dec. 2nd

The numerous shoppers at the Peterborough Bookstore, who have been anxiously waiting the receipt of our new Christmas Cards and Booklets for 1896, will be pleased to learn that they have now arrived, and will be open for selection on Wednesday, Dec. 2nd! A more charming display was never on exhibition. They are masterpieces of artistic printing and decorative design. We have placed them thus early on our tables to allow those who wish to remember friends at a distance an opportunity to make their selections. The prices will be a surprise to all this year. Having bought earlier and larger we were able to secure a much larger discount than in former years. We give a special invitation to all to come and see the wonderful beauty and variety of style of our cards and booklets. Sunday school teachers and teachers of all schools buying in quantities, will be allowed more liberal reduction than ever.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

TO COMMAND THE BISLEY TEAM.

Major Bell, of the 57th, the Man for the Position for 1897.

The visit of the Canadian team to the great annual target tournament at Bisley, England, is an annual event of great importance, and the custom is to select officers of the Canadian militia to act as commandant and adjutant of the team respectively. In making the selections in the past the cities of Toronto and Montreal have been rather unduly honoured. Now the prominent officers of other city battalions should have their claims considered, and the EXAMINER has much pleasure in nominating Lt.-Col. Bell of the 57th as the Commandant of the '97 Bisley Team as being eminently qualified by length of service, and other considerations, for the position. Lt.-Col. Bell has been actively associated with the volunteer service for a generation—thirty years. During twenty-five years of this time he has been an officer. He has for nineteen years been connected with the 57th Battalion—as adjutant, Major and commanding officer, and under his command the regiment has improved greatly in efficiency till it is now one of the best city corps in the volunteer force. Last year in the matter of efficiency, based on inspection, it stood high among the several corps, and this year its standing is well up to the top.

Lt. Col. Bell has always taken an active and intelligent interest in promoting the interests of rifle shooting in the regiment. Since 1877 he has either been secretary or president of the Peterborough Rifle Association. Since becoming commanding officer of the 57th he has twice attended the Dominion meet at Ottawa with a regimental team, which was successful in capturing, under Lt.-Col. Bell's command, prizes in the skirmishing and volley firing matches both years. In the matter of taking a thus active interest in his regiment in the matter of rifle shooting Lt.-Col. Bell is a pioneer. Taking all these things into consideration, Lt.-Col. Bell's length of service, his success with the regiment with which he has been associated as an officer for 19 years—his enthusiasm in the service and, especially, in the matter of rifle shooting, all point to him as a fit and proper person to command the Bisley Canadian contingent at Bisley in 1897. While his qualifications as a military man are matters of record—all who know Lt.-Col. Bell will agree that he is personally qualified to meet the social requirements that are part of the duties of a commandant of a Bisley team. It is to be hoped that the authorities will see fit to share our entire confidence that Lt.-Col. Bell is the right man for the position and will act accordingly. In appointing Lt.-Col. Bell the authorities will have, especially, the endorsation not only of this town, but of No. 3 Military District, which has never but once been honoured by furnishing a commandant for a Wimbledon or Bisley team.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONCERT.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of St. Andrew's Spend a Pleasant Evening.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of St. Andrew's church arranged a most pleasing programme for a concert last evening, at which there was a large attendance. The numbers were as follows :

Quartette.. To the Chime of the Bells"....Miss Heubeck, Miss Fowler, Mr Jones and Mr. Mulligan

Duet.....Song of the Steeple .. Miss Heubeck and Miss Sherlock

Lecture...." Bells".....Mr David Spence

Chimes .....Mr K. Mark

Duet...." Oh, that we two were Maying".

Miss Vina Belleghem and Mr James Brown

Solo.."The Children's Home"..Mr John Peace

Mr. Spence's lecture was identical with the paper which he recently read before the Fortnightly Club and was listened to with great interest. Mr. John Peace, of town, made his initial bow to the public in "Children's Home." He shows himself, though quite young, to be the possessor of a rich baritone voice which promises to develop if carefully trained. The scope and smoothness of his tone took the audience greatly by surprise.

Madill's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil for bronchitis or long standing cough; pleasant to take; carefully prepared.

Retiring from Business

Stock to be Closed Out

Every dollar's worth of goods to be turned into cash by January 1st,

Our senior partner, after a successful career of over 45 years, has decided to retire from business at the end of the year. In order to effect an adjustment of the partnership now existing, it is absolutely necessary to reduce the stock to the lowest point possible by that time.

The quickest way to reduce stock is to sacrifice profits; even more, to cut prices down, down, down. This has been done, and done thoroughly. It will pay you to visit Toronto and visit this store between now and Xmas; you will be surprised to see how much you can get for a little money. If you cannot come, write. Write for samples, information—anything. Space is limited; we cannot quote prices in this space. We are bound to get the stock down. If goods don't go quick at this week's prices, then down they go again. Remember assortments will be gradually getting broken. Don't delay too long.

All questions cheerfully answered. Letters or orders received before 1 o'clock answered same day.

Making Room

For Christmas Things

Just one month from to-day will be Christmas day—a day strong in the hearts of the people of the country as well as of the town. What splendid shape we soon will be in for Christmas shoppers, when our ten tons of Holiday goods are placed on exhibition !

But for a week yet we must keep on contriving to make more room for Santa Claus' stocks. What a time we have had, selling at any price to clear off the counters and shelves for the new things to come. For another week we must keep it up—this selling at any price—and the money saving chances we have to offer ought to bring the farmers in from the cross-roads and back concessions of the whole country. Give these few sample prices your attention:—

ROUTLEY'S BIG SALE

Shows no signs of abatement, but, on the contrary, is daily and hourly magnified. ASTONISING VALUES AND FREEDOM FROM MISREPRESENTATION characterize this Sale, and the confidence of buyers exerts an influence in keeping up the continual crowds.

CHRISTMAS IS NOT FAR OFF and this sale affords a splendid chance of buying Christmas Gifts, such as Toys, Dolls, Games, Sleighs, Rocking Horses, Baby Carriages, Fancy Goods, Christmas Cards, Picture Books, Pocket Books, Fine Leather Goods, Ornamented Glassware, Silverware, Student and Banquet Lamps, Novelties in Fancy Cups and Saucers, High Art Pottery, China and Dresden Ware and many other appropriate presents for old and young.

ONE THING MUST NOT BE FORGOTTEN—ROUTLEY'S Sale will continue in full swing until aftet the 31st December, but no longer, as after that date Mr. Routley will be no longer in business—so the goods MUST POSITIVELY BE SOLD. Although the Sale has been a remarkable success there is a great stock of attractive goods that must be sold before the end of the year, of which early buyers will have best choice.

NEW CHRISTMAS CARDS FOR 1896 just to hand. These were ordered last July before Mr. Routley thought of going out of business, but must now be closed out like the rest of the stock. Sunday School and other Teachers' Supplies at especially low rates, as has always been the rule at Fire in Monaghan.

The lurid light in the sky, which attracted so much attention in Peterborough last night, was caused by the burning of Mr. Robert Dobbin's barns and stables, in North Monaghan. A large quantity of hay and grain was also destroyed. The fire is considered to be the work of incendiaries, and the loss is understood to be covered by insurance in the Grange, through Mr. Dawson Kennedy.

The Globe Annual and Encyclopedia for 1897.

The people of Canada, though averse to anything in the form of fraud, are quick not only to recognize but utilize a really good thing.

In the above work we believe they have something which cannot be excelled in point of accuracy and the general usefulness of the information which it contains. It is a book of over 400 pages, tastefully bound, and containing data on some thousands of different subjects, written in a clear comprehensive style. We believe that the demand for the book will be something enormous, as the orders are already coming in very rapidly.

The price is only 25 cents, postage prepaid from the Globe office, or it may be secured from any newsdealer.

If our readers want a reliable ready reference work they had better order The Globe Annual at once.

THE TOWN TEACHERS' ANNUAL CONVENTION.

INTERESTING PAPER BY REV. H. SYMONDS YESTERDAY.

The Association Cannot be Recognized by the Government and Will Receive no Grant—The Election of Officers—Mr. J. Jeffries the New President.

The annual meeting of the Town Teachers' Association was held yesterday with the President, Mr. C. Fessenden, in the chair.

The announcement was made that the Department of Education had refused a grant to the Association, as town organizations of this nature were not recognized. The enactment calls only for a grant to be awarded to County or City Associations. It was resolved, however, to make such arrangements as will enable the Association to continue its meetings without having to look to the Government

FOR A GRANT.

Unfortunately Dr. King has a critical case on hand and was unable to give a paper on hygiene in the schools. Dr. Moher, who was to give a supplementary paper, in consequence asked to be relieved of the duty, as his paper was intended to be given conjointly with Dr. King's.

Mr. J. Jeffries, of the Collegiate Institute, gave a class a lesson in literature, which was very instructive. He took as his subject, Fidelis' descriptive poem on the Thousand Islands.

IN THE AFTERNOON

Rev. H. Symonds read a paper on Drummond's "Ascent of Man," which was most interesting. Extracts are herewith appended:

During the publishing season of 1893-4 the two most popular and most talked of books have been Mr. Kidd's work on "Social Evolution," and Dr. Drummond's "Ascent of Man."

Our task is to give an intelligible account of the main lines of Drummond's work, and then should time permit, to make a few general remarks upon the relations of evolution to theology.

In his later work, Drummond is a more thoroughgoing evolutionist than in "Natural Law in the Spiritual World." Along with many theological evolutionists he then laid stress upon the twofold barrier in the path of evolution, at the appearance of physical and of spiritual life. Law here was considered to break down, and a new creative act was interposed. The underlying conception which prompts this hypothesis, is that God is not present in law, but only, or, perhaps I should say, specially in exceptional acts. There are very many who would gladly embrace evolution, if the evolutionist would allow us just one or two gaps or breaches in the law of continuity, and this was apparently Drummond's position in 1893.

The book falls into three parts:

1. A very valuable and interesting general introduction;

2. A brilliant outline of the evolution of man, physically and mentally;

3. The exposition of the evidence in favour of a moral element in the whole process of evolution, which consists not only in the struggle for life, but in the struggle for the life of others.

PASSING BY THE INTRODUCTION,

I will endeavour to give a plain account of the 2nd and 3rd divisions.

The process by which the human body has been built up is known, not by reference to the records of the rocks and caves, but by those of the science of Embryology, which trace out the stages through which it has passed from the first germ up to the moment of birth. The germ at the outset consists of a single cell, which is, not only to the highest powers of mind and microscope, indistinguishable from the single cells of animal but also of vegetable life. The simplicity of the cell is broken by what is called segmentation into two, four, or eight parts, and so on. From these cells, or rather sets of cells, the various parts of the body are developed. When the process of segmentation is complete we find that one suite of cells has been especially set apart to provide the commissariat, others have devoted themselves exclusively to assimilation. The ventilation of the house—respiration—has been attended to by others, and a central force pump has been set up and pipes and ducts for many purposes installed throughout the system. Telegraph wires have next been stretched in every direction to keep up connection between the endless parts; and other cells developed into bony pillars for support. . . . Now all these complicated contrivances, bours, muscles, nerve, heart, brain, lungs, are made out of cells; they are themselves . . . simply masses or suits of cells modified in various ways for the special department of household work they are meant to serve.

But the really amazing revelation of the science of Embryology lies in the fact that in this the embryo passes through a series of transformation from one form of animal life to another. Each embryo that is in itself recapitulates the story of thousands of years. But is it a fact? Drummond says: "The human form does not begin as a human form. It begins as an animal; and at first, and for a long time to come, there is nothing bearing the remotest semblance of humanity. What meets the eye is a vast procession of lower forms of life, a succession of strange inhuman creatures emerging from a crowd of still stranger and more inhuman creatures." Again. Human Embryology is a condensed account, an epitome in some of the main chapters in the natural history of the world. . . . Each platform reached by the human embryo in its upward course represents the embryo of some lower animal which in some mysterious way has played a part in the pedigree of the human race, which may itself have disappeared long since from the earth, but is now and forever built into the inmost being of man. . . . "As the modern steam-winding watch contains the old clepsydra and all the most useful features in all the time-keepers that were ever made; as the Walter printing press contains the rude hand machine of Gutenburg—as the modern locomotive of to-day contains the engine of Watt—and most of the improvements of succeeding years, so man contains the embryonic bodies of earlier and humbler and clumsier forms of life." But it will be said, can we depend on Drummond—is not this the language of the poetical enthusiast, rather than the matter of fact man of science? Drummond himself appears to have anticipated some such objection for he gives us a quotation from Marshall's vertebrate embryology. — "All animals living or that have ever lived, are united together by blood relationship of varying nearness and remoteness, and every animal now in existence has a pedigree stretching back, not merely for ten or but through all geologic time since life commenced on the earth. The phrases through which the animal passes in its progress from the egg to the adult are no accidental freaks, no mere matters of developmental convenience, but represent more or less closely the successive stages through which the present condition has been acquired." So the article on Embryology in Chambers Encyclopedia says:—"In the life history of a mammal it is possible to trace how the germ at first lingers as it were among the Protozoa; how it divides and passes quickly through the transitional "ball of cells" stage; how the embryo undergoes its first great differentiation like all other multicellular animals, in becoming a two-layered gastrula, taking its place beside the ancestral metazoa; how it by and bye acquires some of the characters of a young worm, and then of a very simple back-boned animal, like a primitive fish; how with increasing complexity it ranks with reptilian embryos; and lastly, like the fœtus acquires mammalian features, vague and general at the outset, but gradually becoming like those of nearly related forms."

The proof of this is not confined to embryology, but space will not permit us to more than mention some of the evidence. It is asserted that the gill-slits of the fish are still represented in the human neck, but have been transformed into the ear, although occasionally children have been born with gill-slits. The human skeleton also manifests the relic of a tail. The vermiform appendix—a useless and even dangerous relic of a tube used in digestion in herbivorous animals.

ADULT MAN POSSESSES

no more than twelve pair of ribs; it was predicted in the bye-gone days of comparative anatomy that in the embryonic state he would be found with thirteen or fourteen. This prophecy has since been verified. These phenomena are called vestigial structures and Drummond asserts that there are 70 of them in the human body. He concludes then that there is a body of evidence now before science for the animal origin of man's physical frame which it is impossible to resist." (Chap. ii.)

The evolution of the body is complete. The ablest philosophical evolutionist in America, Dr. Fiske, in a little book on "The Destiny of Man," whose suggestiveness it is hard to exaggerate, asserts that on earth there will never be a higher creature than man." Why? Because evolution has taken a new departure. It is no longer material but psychic, all its energies are directed to the development of mind. Drummond illustrates this in a wonderful passage, wherein he traces up the development of the hand. Why will not man's hand improve? Because, says he, man uses tools, and tools are made with the brain. "The day that Cave-man first split the marrow bone of a bear by thrusting a stick into it and striking it home with a stone—that day the doom of the hand was sealed. So with the eye. Man is in a hurry to improve his sight. He invents eye glasses, telescopes, microscopes. Hence the evolution of the eye is arrested, by the abolition of the need. In short, to extend our outlook to the whole animal creation it would seem as though material evolution has long since come to a standstill. The animal world may be compared to a tree with many branches, and the present species represent of each branch. "The lamp shells have arrived; . . . along that particular line, there will probably never be anything higher. The star fishes, and the sea urchins, the nautilus—all these are highly divergent forms, which have run out the length of their tether, and can go no further.

Whence came the mind? As before said, Drummond knows of no gaps. "The fact to which there is no exception, that all lesser things evolve, the suggestion, which is daily growing into further certainty, that there is a mental evolution among animals, from the Cœlenterate to the Ape; the fact that the unfolding of the child-mind is itself a palpable evolution; . . . these seem formidable facts on the side of those consistent evolutionists, who, in the face of countless difficulties and countless prejudices, still press the lawful into the development of human faculty.

Dr. Drummond has further a most interesting chapter on the Evolution of Language, but it is necessary now, omitting also the chapter on the Struggle for Life, to turn to the concluding part of our work which has excited by far the most interest as being the most new, viz., the contention that Nature is but distinctly moral, that the highest virtue of Christianity, the virtue of Love, has its place in the story of Evolution, which is not only the story of the selfish struggle for life, but also of an unselfish struggle for the life of others.

It has been contended that Drummond is not original, that others have

and it is true that the idea has in a faint, dim way dawned upon other minds, but I think it will at least be admitted that Drummond is the first to have clearly seen the immense significance of the class of facts supporting the idea, and the first to so convey them to his fellows as to impress them with this profound importance.

The truth belongs to that order of facts which only require the simplest statement without comment to com mend itself to the mind.

"Take," says our author, "the tiniest protoplasm cell, immerse it in a suitable medium, and presently it will perform two great acts—the two which sum up life—Nutrition and Reproduction." Nutrition, that is the struggle for life; Reproduction, the struggle for the life of others. The one is Selfism; the second, Otherism. Of course in their rudimentary form there is nothing as yet moral, but there is, nevertheless, potency and promise of the moral. It is to be taken prophetically—Nature in making the reproductive instinct equally as strong as the instinct for individual life, foreshadowed myriads of years ago the heights of self-sacrificing love, of union for the common good.

Yet it is not in the reproductive instinct that we find the highest evidence of the Evolution of Love, but rather in the parental. It is in the Evolution of a Mother and the Evolution of the Father, that we find the most striking instance of the growth of the struggle for the life of others. The mother

HAS BEEN EVOLVED.

There is no affection in the lowest orders of creation, it begins when the young require care, and the greater and longer the need of care, the greater and stronger becomes the love. And following in the train of parental love comes the loved union of the family, the clan, the tribe, the nation, the race.

It seems to me that all this is of the utmost importance. For the emphasis laid upon the struggle for existence, by the elder Evolutionists, did appear to banish love from the plan of the earth, and to just fly the fear lest the necessity or the obligation to love should prove a mere poetic fancy, which knowledge would infallibly dissipate. There may still be many parts, in the Divine plan we cannot understand, but in the discovery of the law of love in the world of nature we have a rational ground for believing that nature and spirit, science and faith will in due time find their reconciliation.

For my part, it seems to me that God is really, through the labours of men of science, teaching us not new truths, but His old truths in a new way. The Bible, in every part of it, proclaims the majesty and supremacy of the law of God. Science is giving us new conceptions, new readings of law. The Bible in every part teaches that the law is a law of progress. Science is interpreting that truth to us. Evolution certainly aids the faith that an unceasing purpose runs throughout the ages. The Bible teaches in strongest terms the glory of love, and now we see that even here science can illustrate for us the ultimate word of Revelation—God is love.

BUSINESS AGAIN.

On motion of Messrs. Smith and Walkey it was resolved to so amend the constitution as to admit the teachers of the Collegiate Institute and Business College, as well as all other teachers in the town.

The election of officers was then taken up. Mr. Fessenden declined nomination as president, as did Mr. Yenney, as secretary-treasurer.

President—J. Jeffries.
Vice-President—Miss O'Connel.
Secretary-treasurer—W. J. Walkey.

Managing Committee—Miss Jenkins, of the West Ward; Miss Locke, of the North Ward; Miss Ryan, of the Separate School; and Mr. Sansolell, of the South Ward; Mr. McKaig, of the Collegiate Institute, and Mr. Yenney, of the South Ward.

Before adjourning for the day a vote of thanks was passed to all those who had contributed to the programme.

A cordial vote of thanks was also passed to Mr. Fessenden, the retiring president. A standing vote was taken on the resolution which was, of course, carried unanimously.

The convention then adjourned to meet again on Monday afternoon at three o'clock, when reports will be received from the committees which are now discussing the limit question for forms.

KOOTENAY CURE

Restored to its Former Price of $1.50.

The following statement has just been handed the newspapers for publication, giving the reasons for the advance in the price of Kootenay:

Owing to the high cost of one of the principal ingredients of the medicine, the manufacturers have for the past eight months been selling their goods at a loss, but were willing for a time to do this in order that the medicine might become well and favourably known. Several thousand dollars have been spent in this way, and now that the reduced price has been extended to the public for a longer time than was first intended by the manufacturers, and the rapidly increasing demand has become so general, it has been restored to its original price of $1.50 per bottle.

The ingredients of Kootenay are absolutely pure and of the highest grade, and the medicine is prepared from a formula approved of by scientists and physicians both of the old and the new world. It has been thoroughly tested and proven to be one of the greatest discoveries ever offered to the present generation.

Death's face is not a pleasant thing to look upon, yet thousands of men and women go about daily with the reflection of death in their faces. The dull eyes, the sallow complexion, the sunken cheeks, the emaciated form, all tell the story of the insidious advances of that implacable foe—consumption. Doctors have declared that consumption is incurable. It is not. Thousands of consumptives have testified to their complete recovery after they were given up by the doctors and all hope was gone. It is simply a matter of going to the seat of the trouble which is imperfect and improper nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does this. It corrects all disorders of the digestion. It invigorates the liver. It makes assimilation perfect. It fills the blood with the elements that build new healthy tissue in every organ of the body. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. All good druggists sell it.

H. Gaddis, Esq., of No. 313 S. J. Street, Tacoma, Washington, writes: "I was taken ill in 1883 with headache and pain in my back. I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious, but I kept getting worse. I took a cough so that I could not sleep only by being propped in bed. My lungs hurt me, and I got so poor that I was skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I saw the 'Golden Medical Discovery' recommended for a cough. I tried a bottle of it and it did me so much good that I tried another one and it made me sound and well, so I recommend it to everybody. It saved my life."

A headache is a symptom of constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, promptly and permanently. They do not gripe. Druggists sell them.

Death of Sir Frederick Broome, Governor of Trinidad.

HE WAS A CANADIAN BY BIRTH.

Filled With Credit Many Important Positions Under the British Government—Further Evidence in the Lady Scott Trial Other Notes of Interest From the Old World.

London, Nov. 26.- Sir Frederick Napier Broome, K. C. M. G., Governor of Trinidad, died at 4 o'clock this afternoon. He was a son of the late Rev. F. Broome, rector of Kenley, Shropshire, was born in Canada in 1842 and emigrated to New Zealand in 1857. Visiting England in 1864, he married Mary Anne, relict of the late Sir George Barker, R. A., K. C. B., and returned to his sheep station in New Zealand the following year, but in 1869 he came back to England. Almost immediately on his arrival in London, Mr. Broome was employed by The Times, and was for five years a general contributor, reviewer and art critic to that journal, which he represented in Russia at the marriage of the Duke of Edinburgh and on many other important occasions. He contributed prose and verse to The Cornhill, Macmillan and other magazines and published two volumes of poetry, "Poems from New Zealand" in 1863 and "The Stranger of Seriphos" in 1869. In 1870 Mr. Broome was appointed secretary of the fund for the completion of St. Paul's Cathedral; in 1873 secretary to the Royal Commission on Unseaworthy Ships. In 1875 Colonial Secretary of Natal, to which colony he proceeded as a member of Lord (then Sir Garnet) Wolseley's special mission, and in 1877 Colonial Secretary of the Island of Mauritius. He was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the latter colony in 1880, and Governor of West Australia in 1882. He was nominated a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George in 1877 and a Knight Commander in 1884. In 1885 he visited England and read before the Royal Colonial Institute a paper on Western Australia, which attracted much notice. For the first time on such an occasion at the institute, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales took the chair, and a very large and distinguished audience was present. In 1890 Sir Frederick again came to England to give evidence upon the Western Australian Constitution Bill before the House of Commons. The mission, undertaken at the request of the Legislature of the colony, concluded Sir Frederick's seven years of office in that government. During this period the colony had been greatly advanced by his exertions, and the departure of Lady Broome and himself from West Australia was the occasion of a remarkable manifestation of esteem and affection of the colonists. In 1891 Sir Frederick was appointed Governor of Trinidad.

LADY SCOTT'S TRIAL.

Earl Russell Shown to Have Written Endearing Letters to His Mother-in-Law.

London, Nov. 26.—The Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, was crowded yesterday, when the trial of Lady Belina Scott, John Cockerton, Frederick Kast and William Aylott for criminally libelling Earl Russell, was resumed. Lady Scott wore a black dress with white gloves, and carried a bouquet of violets. Earl Russell resumed his place in the witness-box and continued his testimony. After the failure of the action brought against him by his wife for divorce he said Lady Scott sent him an affectionate Christmas card. Nevertheless the witness identified a letter written by Lady Scott subsequently to her sending the Christmas card, promising a sufficient sum of money to give a start in life to any person who would furnish proof that Lord Russell had been guilty of immoral acts prior to 1894.

The trial was continued to-day. Earl Russell, who was on the witness stand when the case was adjourned yesterday, resumed his testimony. He left Oxford, he said, in 1835. He visited Prof. Jewett in 1889 and Jewett came to his (Russell's) wedding. Prof. Jewett, he said, had not seen the letter for writing which the witness was sent down from the University of Oxford.

Counsel for Lady Scott read a letter written by Lady Cardigan to Countess Russell, in which the writer asked: "Do you know that Earl Russell was expelled from Oxford for malpractices, and are you also aware that he was guilty of misconduct with a Chinaman, who afterwards shipped to China?"

Earl Russell said that he had had a Chinese boy in his employ. The boy came from San Francisco and witness held that he beard that he had returned to China. There was not the slightest foundation for the story of witness' misconduct with the boy.

Counsellor Hall next examined Earl Russell on behalf of the male defendants. The Earl said that Ion Thynne, who slept in his (witness') cabin on board the yacht, could disprove Kast's story, but he had gone to South America, having sailed about six weeks ago. Thynne had been subpoenaed as a witness in this case, but he could not delay his departure for South America, as his child was ill and it was necessary that it should be taken away at once.

In continuation of his cross-examination, Earl Russell admitted that Aylott had slept in his cabin. Aylott was a notorious liar, but witness had nevertheless given him a good character when he left his service. The whole of Aylott's statement, Earl Russell said, was one filthy lie. None of the male defendants, Lord Russell admitted, had ever attempted to blackmail him.

Sir Frank Lockwood, Q. C., for the prosecution, re-examined Earl Russell, who, in answer to questions, said that Lady Scott had not objected to the tone of the letters which he had written to her.

Counsel proceeded to read a number of letters written to Earl Russell by Lady Scott, all of which were couched in the most affectionate terms, after which the trial was adjourned until to-morrow.

ONE BIG COMBINATION FOR TEN CENTS.

Will you be in the rush and swim? Can you afford to spend ten cents for the biggest and most useful aggregation of interesting matter ever offered to the public?

Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, manufacturers of the celebrated Diamond Dyes, having a desire to make a widespread introduction of their new "Excelsior Rhyming A B C Book, Illustrated," make the following extraordinary offer, good for thirty days:

FIRST: One "Excelsior Rhyming A B C Book, Illustrated," a real gem of lithographic art. It measures nine and a quarter inches long and six inches wide; the cover is rich and artistic each letter of the Alphabet measures two and three-quarter inches long and two inches wide, and no two letters are of the same colour. Each letter has an appropriate illustration and a verse.

A leading Montreal school teacher says: "It is one of the very best and certainly the most attractive of medlumsever placed before the little tots from which to learn the English Alphabet."

The demand for this book novelty is already taxing the printing capacities of the lithographers.

SECOND: A full size Cabinet Photo of the "Three Future Kings of England."—the Prince of Wales, his son the Duke of York, and the little son of the Duke. This photo is beautifully finished, fit for any parlour, and worth from 25c to 40c.

THIRD: One package of the famous Diamond Dye Ink Powder, which makes sixteen ounces of pure and brilliant black writing ink, sufficient to supply a family for a year.

The above-mentioned combination, worth 65 cents, will be sent to any address for ten cents.

Send us ten (10) cents in money or stamps as soon as possible, so that your order may be filled promptly.

Send small silver coins, or the proper amount in one, two or three cent stamps. Stamps of larger denomination will not be received.

Seal your letter securely, and before mailing be sure you put on full postage, three cents in stamps. If full postage is not prepaid, letters will not be accepted.

KILLED BY A BRICK.

How Robert Walker Met Death at the New Foresters' Building Yesterday Afternoon.

Toronto, Nov. 27.

Robert Walker, who lived at 24½ Agnes-street, met his death yesterday afternoon in a peculiar and simple manner. The deceased was in the employ of Oakley & Holmes, who are doing the excavating at the Foresters' new building, Richmond and Bay-streets. About 4.30, while he was at work with some others, a brick fell from the top of the building and struck him on the head. His comrades picked him up in an unconscious state. Dr. Garrett stitched the wound and Walker was taken home, where he died shortly afterwards.

The cause of the brick falling is not known.

Coroner Johnson has issued a warrant for an inquest to be held at No. 2 Police Station at 3 p.m. Saturday.

IF YOU SUFFER

The Fault Is Your Own.

Paine's Celery Compound Earth's Only Cure For All Forms of Rheumatism.

Hundreds of twinges of pain and hours of agony every day; weeks and months of helpless suffering, and still you go on from bad to worse, until you become crippled and deformed.

If you are a constant martyr to rheumatism and its tortures, the fault is your own. You might easily have avoided all the agonies of past days and nights, had you used Paine's Celery Compound.

You cannot plead the excuse that you did not known of such a disease-conquering medicine. You surely have heard your friends speak of it. The newspapers have heralded thousands of victories won by Paine's Celery Compound over rheumatism; and if your physician has failed to tell about the great modern rheumatic cure, he has kept the truth from you for his own benefit.

If you are now in agony, you are certainly in peril. You must to-day give up experimenting with useless medicines and use a truly scientific remedy like Paine's Celery Compound, which will surely remove the cause of your suffering, and permanently cure you.

You are not by any means in a hopeless state. Be assured, Paine's Celery Compound will deliver you from your present bondage of agony. Notwithstanding your past failures with nervines, sarsaparillas, bitters and pills, Paine's Celery Compound will give you the new life you are so eagerly looking for. Try it; there can be no failure.

Mr. W. McWilliams, of Bradford, Ont., an old sufferer from rheumatism, says:

"Unsolicited, I forward this testimonial as to the value of Paine's Celery Compound. I am pretty well up in years and was sorely afflicted with rheumatism. I purchased and used six bottles of your medicine, and am now perfectly well; I have no rheumatism left."

AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. MAY JOHNSON, 368 Elder Avenue, New York City.

CACTI.

Interesting Description of These Plants of Rocky and Arid America.

The cultivation of this curious and very interesting plant is one of the favorite fads of the present day among floriculturists. In many European botanical gardens there are collections of several hundred varieties, and on this side of the Atlantic many amateur growers have more than one hundred. In the floral magazines many articles are published relating to the cactus; and one magazine, the Baltimore Cactus Journal, is devoted exclusively to it.

The cactus is very different from other plants. It has no leaves; its various forms are most peculiar and fantastic; and its surface is regularly spotted with spines or prickles, in some varieties hard and sharp, in others, as in the "old man," soft and hairy.

This plant is a native of the arid and rocky parts of America, its region extending from California to Chili. One can easily see how its form and habits have been developed to suit its environments. In its fleshy stem it preserves a store of moisture to tide it over a long drought, and its tough skin allows no evaporation. The spines and prickles have effectually protected it against the hungry and thirsty bisons that found no other vegetation in their wandering through the arid wildernesses of the west. So tenacious of life is it, indeed, that one variety has been known to grow from a piece of a stem thrust into a chink of lava rock. In New Mexico and Texas the cactus attains its greatest perfection; specimens of the Cereus Giganteus have been known to reach a height of 60 feet. Between this giant among cacti and the smaller varieties there is an immense gulf. One tiny specimen, when it has attained its full growth, is only two inches high.

But the cacti are not more interesting to us on account of their curious shapes and habits than they are on account of their lovely flowers. Some varieties have flowers not half an inch wide, others have flowers nearly a foot in diameter, many of them of remarkable beauty. The night-blooming Cereus provokes more interest and curiosity, probably, than any other single flower. Its ivory white petals are worthy of the enthusiasm of its most ardent admirer.

There are many different genera of cacti, and many more species of each of these. Among those that produce the most profuse and luxuriant bloom are the Cereus, the Epiphyllum, and the Phyllocactus. The Epiphyllum has flattened and jointed stems. The Phyllocactus is commonly called the People's Cactus, from the fact that it is capable of blooming and thriving under the most adverse circumstances.

Many varieties of the cactus are cultivated on account of their grotesque shape. Some are flattened, some cylindrical, some cone shaped, some even quadrilateral. Sometimes one genus may, in this age of specialization, be found to occupy alone the attention of a cactus enthusiast. The Echinocactus is one of the most grotesque varieties of this plant. The Mammillaria is another; it is a dwarf variety, with pretty flowers as well, and interesting on account of the seed pods that remain after the flowers have gone. Another variety genus of the cactus family is the Echinocereus, which has a stocky, upright shape, spines of various colors, and a very showy and profuse bloom.

There is little disagreement among cacti growers as to the general treatmen which the plant requires. The proper soil is one part of rich loam with two parts of sand. Sometimes a little charcoal or lime is added to improve the color of the blossoms. The most important matter in the cultivation of the cactus is to secure proper drainage. To ensure this, fill the flower pot or box one-quarter of crushed charcoal or broken brick, then put in the prepared soil, placing sand on top so that the cactus may always rest on dry soil above and below.

There are two divisions in the cactus year; one is the growing season in summer, the other is the dormant season in winter. In the growing season the cactus requires a great deal of light, heat and moisture, quite as much as other plants. In the dormant season, it requires but little water, merely enough to keep it from shrivelling, and a very moderate amount of light and warmth. During this period it may be kept in any frost-proof place, and as it looks fresh it needs no water. The Phyllocactus, however, requires some occasionally.

The cacti are propagated in all three ways—from seed, from cutting, and by grafting. Seed propagation, however, is a slow process with the cactus; and grafting is often unsuccessful. Cuttings afford the best means for raising new plants, especially as the cactus is very tenacious of life. In grafting, the best stock to use is the Pereskia and the Cereus.

Cacti may be grown in pots or in a flower bed, or, best of all, they may form a rockery. In any case they had better be taken out of the pots for the summer. There are few diseases or insects to fear in its cultivation. Sometimes a scab appears here and there on the plant, but a little castor oil applied with a hair brush will cause it to drop off.—Farming.

AN INSURANCE MAN'S STORY.

Mr. J. J. Hanratty, Inspector for the Standard Life Assurance Company, of Peterborough, Cured of Muscular Rheumatism by the Great South American Rheumatic Cure—It Turns the Midnight of Suffering into the Midday Brightness of Good Health —These are his Words.

I was a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism in my arm, so much so that for days at a time I could not sleep. I walked the floor in pain the greater part of the night. I procured a bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure, and found great relief after a few doses. It's a sure cure and I heartily recommend it. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

WILL GET RED HATS.

A Batch of Cardinals to be Appointed at a Papal Consistory on Dec. 3.

Philadelphia, Nov. 26.—The Catholic Standard and Times in its issue tomorrow will say: A cablegram from Rome to The Catholic Standard and Times names Dec. 3 as the date for the holding of the public consistory. This is official. An authoritative announcement on this point has been looked for since the opening of the present month, and from unofficial sources came information naming dates between Nov. 15 and Nov. 30. The Cardinals who will receive the red hat on Dec. 3 are Satolli, Jacobini, Aglardi, Forrata and Di Pietro, who were absent from Rome at the time of their appointment. In addition to investing the Cardinals already appointed, it is said that the Pope will confer the honor of the Cardinalate upon two other distinguished ecclesiastics. The first of these is P. Pierotti, Master of the Sacred Palace, and the second is Canon Frisco of the Metropolitan Chapter of Naples. The former is a member of the Order of St. Dominic and the latter is the most distinguished theologian in Naples. Other important appointments are expected.

Why not profit by the experience of others who have found a permanent cure for catarrh in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

AT THE FAMILY BOARD.

Though summer has gone with its verdure and flowers
And mute are the birds that made vocal the bowers,
Though leaves of the autumn are scattered and sear,
We hail this as happiest day of the year.

For once more we are met beneath the roof-tree,
Where we sported in childhood's innocent glee.
But, alas, there are some that joined in the play
Can never more meet us on Thanksgiving day.

But smiles for the living, a sigh for the dead.
'Tis useless repining for pleasure that's fled;
So let us be happy, foregathered once more,
Thank God for his bounty and cease to deplore.

Though our lives have been checkered like April day,
With sunshine and shadow in fitful display,
The blessings remaining are more than we lost,
Should we value our griefs at their greatest cost.

At our family board then let joy only reign,
Where, parents and children, we're met once again.
Let us live o'er the past, forget all our sorrow,
Be joyous today, e'en though grief come to-morrow.

For peace, love and health and a bountiful store,
While thanking the Giver, the waif at our door
With us will rejoice that it's Thanksgiving day
And feel as if sorrow had faded away.

N. MACDONALD.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

How Lincoln Kept Books.

In his early life Abraham Lincoln had a primitive method of keeping books. At the time his law partner, John T. Stuart, represented the Springfield district in congress, Lincoln was forced, much against his will, to keep an account of some kind. The plan he adopted was somewhat remarkable. When he received a fee he divided it in halves. His half he put in his pocket; Stuart's portion he put in an envelope and, labeling it "Stuart's half," threw it into a drawer until his partner's return from Washington.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10¾ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000,00 a year.

Fairweather's Fine Furs

I.

Come listen to me,
And you'll surely agree,
When I tell you of Fairweather's Store,
Of Furs and of Hats,
Of Gauntlets and Caps,
It is full very near to the door.

II.

On the corner it stands,
And I tell you its grand,
Nowhere would you find any more,
If you want to buy cheap,
Just walk up the street,
And turn into Fairweather's Store.

III.

If you buy elsewhere,
You are sure to declare,
That you will never go back any more,
For the prices you'll find
They don't suit your mind,
Since you've visited Fairweather's Store.

IV.

Their prices I'm sure,
Will suit the rich and the poor,
They should were they twice as much more
For the rich they may buy,
But the poor freeze and die.
If it were not for Fairweather's Store.

V.

Now if your growing old,
You don't need to be told
That what's kept you warm before,
Will not do so again,
Neither women or men,
So just drop into Fairweather's Store.

VI.

Now if you'll do right,
You'll go there to-night,
You will not put it off any more,
If you look at their Furs,
You will take out your purse
And leave contents in Fairweather's Store.

VII.

A bicycle they,
Are giving away,
Near the Christmas time or before.
If I happened to get,
The bicycle you bet
I'll ride up to Fairweather's Store.

VIII.

Now this is my rhyme,
But if I had time,
I would write twice as much, yes and more,
That wherever it would go,
All the people would know
Nearly all about Fairweather's Store.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

No. LXXVIIII.

Dr. Milligan on "The Brightening of Life."

"Man that is born of a woman, is born to sorrow as surely as the sparks fly upward," said the Psalmist of old. "Vanity of vanities" cried the wise men "all is vanity.' And these reflexions on the dark side of life are still the burden of many a poet and philosopher. A Carlyle heaves gigantic sighs over the sorrows of the world, and groans aloud in a kind of wrathful pity at its folly. In gentler and more musical numbers Tennyson cries :

"O sorrow wilt thou live with me
No casual mistress, but a wife,
My bosom friend, and half of life ;
As I confess it needs must be."

There is such a thing as weak and sinful indulgence in sorrow. We like to be moved to tears by the play. When Amiens in "As you like it," declines to sing to Jaques any more on the ground that it will make him melancholy, Jaques replies "I thank it. More ; I prithee more, I can suck melancholy out of a song as a weasel sucks eggs."

It is therefore a good thing to have a stalwart optimist like Dr. Milligan come, and in trumpet tones, and vigourous gesture, tell us we ought to be bright, happy and joyful, and may be, if we will only stop whining about our troubles and putting our hands to the plough, turn them under as ill-weeds in the field of life.

Dr. Milligan is we take it somewhere in the neighbourhood of fifty years of age. A man, says he, should at that age and for twenty years more be at his best. He proclaimed this truth with the voice of [a Stentor, which bore irrefragable testimony to the soundness and capacity of his own lungs, whilst the genial tone of the whole lecture was an equally powerful and even more pleasing testimony to the soundness of his heart. To brighten life, says Dr. Milligan, (and the very rafters sympathetically vibrated) you must first and foremost take care of your body. "Thank you for nothing," says the scoffer, "we all know that." To which we reply that it is the very function of the preacher to pound into us those truths which we all know perfectly well, but up to which we do not live. Assuming the truth of his statement, how many of Dr. Milligan's hearers will exchange white for the superior brown bread? Most heartily do we thank the lecturer for laying the first stress upon bodily health and for entering into those details, which to some of his hearers may have seemed trivial until he told us that he was simply retailing the hardly won and dearly bought advice of Sir Andrew Clark. "But why," cries Dr. Milligan, "why was I not told these things before? Why must I grow up to middle age, and be brought to death's door, and have to cross sea and land, and almost with violence compel the most distinguished physician of the day to tell me to take a tepid bath, to eat brown bread instead of white, and to eschew pickles and pastry?' And echo answers, "Why?" Well, we are altering all that nowadays. Our children learn physiology, and we firmly believe that a compulsory attendance of all parents at a course of good lectures on Hygiene, would do more good than the very best settlement of the Manitoba school question.

Dr. Milligan referred chiefly to one of the preservatives of health, viz., sound diet. In addition to this we may add, fresh air, cleanliness, not only of body but of house and streets, and judicious exercise. It is stated in an excellent little book on health, that under the most favourable circumstances the air of no indoor room can be perfectly pure. How much less then, in our rooms in winter, when with closed doors and windows and double windows and no fire place, a room is not thoroughly ventilated for months. Shops, factories, offices, in these for hours every day, an imperfect air is breathed. How important that those whose business is conducted under such conditions should take all the out-door exercise they possibly can. We believe it would materially tend to brighten life if our summer half holiday were extended the whole year round.

It is often overlooked that the sunlight is for full health as necessary as fresh air. The habit of keeping the sun out of our sitting room for fear of spoiling the carpets is injurious to health. Most of us are familiar with the flat, musty, chilly atmosphere of a long closed drawing room, or unused sitting room. The author of the little book above referred to denounces in good set terms, carpets, blinds and curtains. They are one and all traps for disease.

Judicious exercise is necessary not only for the strengthening of the muscles, but for opportunity it affords for inhaling fresh air. For people of sedentary habits exercise should not be too violent, at all events it should be increased gradually. The wonderful development of out-door exercise of the present day will result in a vast improvement of health, provided it be not overdone. It is doubtful whether professional athletes are long lived. The strain upon their bodies is too severe and continually threatens collapse. There are, however, for the amateur certain signs of over-exercise. To feel tired is not a bad sign, provided it be not accompanied with a jaded, worn out, exhausted condition, with no appetite. If one cannot after an afternoon's walking or bicycling or canoeing, followed by a meal, enjoy an evening's reading, or games, the exercise has been overdone.

Is anything accomplished by the increased attention to health? There is not a shadow of a doubt of it. Figures from almost every country in the world prove it. We propose in a forthcoming column to refer to the excellent work on behalf of the people that is being done in London, Berlin, New York, and in fact throughout the civilized world, in which it will be shown that the death-rate and disease has everywhere been diminished. And greater results may be anticipated when every individual and every householder makes his own and his family's physical health a subject of study. The greatest impediment to progress is that deep seated and brutal ignorance, which is ignorant of its ignorance, loves and hugs its folly, and with asinine laughter, scoffs at the light of truth, and with mulish obstinacy can neither be led nor driven along the way of life.

FOURTEEN YEARS IN TERROR.

But Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Gave Relief in 30 Minutes and Three Bottles Effected a Cure Which Baffled the Best of Physicians.

This is what Mrs. J. Cockburn, of Warkworth, Ont., says :—"For fourteen years I have been a great sufferer from heart disease ; troubled very much with sharp, shooting pains constantly passing through my heart. Very often the spasms were so severe that I would become unconscious. My limbs would swell and become quite cold. For these fourteen years I doctored with best physicians without relief. Having seen Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart advertised, I determined to try it, and before I had taken half a bottle I found great relief. I felt the beneficial effects inside of thirty minutes. I have taken three bottles and it has done me more good than any medicine or any physician ever did. I can conscientiously recommend it to all sufferers from heart troubles. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

If your eyes trouble you in any way, have them tested by W. Madill, optician. No charge for examination.

Protest Your Horses, etc.

AT THE LOCKS.

Increase of Revenue Over Last Year.

Mr. Wm. Collins, lock master at the Locks has handed THE EXAMINER a table, showing the statistics of navigation at the locks.

The season of 1896 shows an increase in revenue over last year, and that showed an increase over the previous year, 1894 :

Month.	Strs.	Barges.	Rafts.	Tonnage Freight	Tolls.	No. Pcs. Logs, Timber &c over slide.
April	6				$ 2 25
May	69	11	9	543	27 00	40,130
June	88	12	11	900	45 15	53,076

Nov	53	18	—	296	14 97
	554	130	20	2,403	$283 53	93,206

The first steamer to pass the locks this season was the Beaver, April 26th. The last steamer was the North Star, Nov. 23. Navigation is now closed, and the stop logs are removed to help Messrs. Corry & Laverdure to put in the crib work at the entrance of the canal to Little Lake.

PUBLIC MEETING ON SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

An Effort to be Made to Establish a Branch of the Lord's Day Alliance.

The local Christian Endeavour Mission has arranged for a public meeting on "Sabbath Observance" for next Monday night in St. Andrew's church.

Mr. A. E. O'Meara, barrister, Toronto, who is secretary of the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance, will address the meeting and will seek, if at all possible, to establish a branch of the Alliance in Peterborough.

There will be an interesting programme. George street Methodist church Endeavour is responsible for the music.

MOUNT PLEASANT CHEESE FACTORY.

The Annual Ball a Great Success.

The annual ball given by Mr. George Brooks, proprietor of the Maple Leaf cheese factory, on Wednesday night, 25th November, was a decided success, about 100 being present. Although the weather was extremely bad, the good times enjoyed at former gatherings at this factory were sufficient inducement to draw out a large assemblage. Dancing began at eight o'clock and was continued till five o'clock next morning, everyone enjoying themselves to their hearts content, and expressing the wish that another such event would be arranged for during the winter.

LOYAL LAKEFIELD LODGE.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

DEAR SIR,—I wish to contradict a statement made in the report of the organization of Loyal Lakefield C.O.O F. Lodge on Monday night, Dec. 23rd. There was, in connection with the affair, no supper at either of the hotels mentioned. I do not mean to say that a supper at either of them would have been out place, but as a matter of fact no such suppers took place, and I see no use in stating what is not in accordance with the facts. The above society will hold a degree meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 8th, in the Orange Hall, Lakefield, after which the local lodge will supply refreshments. The charter remains open till that date.

Yours truly,
ONE WHO WAS THERE.
Lakefield, Nov. 27th.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

To-night—Gospel and song service at 7.30 to 8.30. Try to be on time. Chorus Club practice 8.30 to 9.30.

The meeting to-morrow afternoon will be addressed by Rev. Mr. Tapscott. There will be good hearty singing provided. Help to fill the hall.

For stomach and liver trouble use Madill's Stomach and Liver Pill ; few doses will relieve.

A Good Judge of Meat

Is a blessing to any household. She knows that for prime roasts, juicy steaks and chops, fresh poultry and delicious sausage, J. J. HOWDEN'S, 491 George street, is the favourite meat shop for her. Hams, bacon and lard always on hand. Telephone 39.

DO YOU SMOKE? DO YOU WANT A PIPE?

Our stock is still large and of first quality. You can save from 25 to 50 per cent. by buying from us now. Save it. The whole stock in trade for sale "en bloc." CLEGG'S RETIRING SALE, (Next to Stratton's Bookstore).

They Leave To-night.

The Myra Collins Company closes the week at the Bradburn Opera House to-night, and during their stay have given the greatest satisfaction to the theatre-going public, as evidenced by the crowded houses which have greeted them every night. Evening after evening there has been standing room only available, and so excellent has been the presentation of the various plays that doubtless the same crowded houses could have been drawn for another week, and it is hoped Mr. Kellam can give Peterborough another engagement later on in the season.

"Mikado" Still in the Market.

We take pleasure in informing the public that we have completed arrangements by which we can supply our old brands of flour manufactured with every care to suit the requirements of our trade. We can guarantee the same satisfaction that our flours have always given, as we are having them made from our own blends of wheat and under our personal supervision. Orders will be taken as usual at our down town office, corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets. Telephone No. 113. MELDRUM & MCALLISTER Millers.

A Stuffed Fig.

A dainty confection to be served at swell luncheons and dinners is the 'stuffed fig.' Select the best figs and cut open, stretching the skin so that a large space is left in the centre just about the size of an English walnut meat. Crack the nut so as to leave the meat whole if possible, wrap the fig around it, and press it together. The inside of the fig will stick to the meat, making round balls that can be piled up prettily on a fancy bonboniere. These are rich and delicious and besides the combination is easily digested, so that one may have no regrets the next day, no matter how freely indulged in. If one prefers other nuts, they can be substituted of course, but the walnut keeps the shape best.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all summer complaints and fluxes of the bowels in children or adults.

Built to Order.

No two men are built alike; hence the impossibility of any man being fitted properly, except with a Suit or Overcoat made to body MEASURE.

Who wants to wear Clothing that would fit somebody else much better?

There are times when a man gets desperate, but there's no occasion for any one in Peterborough to wear clothing that looks as though he swopped suits with somebody else, when we can fit him to a nicety.

All we ask is a fair show and a good tape measure.

Well dressed men whom we have cut for have also learned another secret—that they needn't pay "away up in G" for their high-class garments.

DEATH IN THE STORM

Two Men Lost Their Lives in the Blizzard.

HUNDREDS OF CATTLE PERISHED.

Mail Clerk Went for Provisions and Never Got Back to His Train—Farmer Got Lost in Going to His Barn and Was Found Frozen to Death.

St. Paul, Nov. 28.—The great storm which swept over Minnesota and the Dakotas on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday has resulted in some loss of life and great loss to live stock. Mail Agent Burroughs of the Great Northern Road is buried in a snow drift near Devil's Lake, N.D. He was on the westbound train which was stalled out of Devil's Lake Thursday evening, and walked to a restaurant at Devil's Lake, obtaining a supply of provisions, as much as he could carry, and started back for his train. He never reached it. A searching party has been digging in the snow for his body all the afternoon.

John Hooey, a farmer, living four miles from Park River, N.D., started from his house to his barn Thursday night, and his body was found two miles away on the prairie this afternoon.

The loss to stock aggregates hundreds. A coat of ice covers the ground and snow is in some places piled in drifts twelve feet high. On the ranges west of the Missouri the worst is feared for stock, as it is believed it would be impossible for cattle and sheep to get enough to eat until it thaws. The temperature is 20 degrees below zero and below zero at all points in Dakota.

At Vermillion in South Dakota in many instances trees a foot in diameter were snapped off at the bottom. Every telegraph and electric wire in that town was prostrated, and it will be some time next week before they can be repaired. To-night at Fargo, Grand Forks, Devil's Lake and Bismarck trains are beginning to move irregularly. At Aberdeen the storm has not been paralleled since the great blizzard of Jan. 18, 1888.

Railroading has been entirely abandoned until the storm breaks. Freight trains on the Hastings & Dakota Railroad are in drifts near Gates Station, and the Eureka accommodation is fast at Hills View. An utterly demoralized condition prevails everywhere.

SERIOUS STOCK LOSSES.

Pierre, S.D., reports travel of all kinds completely stopped. Reports come in from the country showing there have been serious stock losses on the ranges. It will be several days before anything definite can be learned from the cattle country to the west. At Huron the snow is piling in drifts as high as fence tops. Trains were sent south and east to-day preceded by snow plows and shovelers. Telegraph wires are prostrated in every direction. Fuel is scarce in remote districts and suffering is feared. Heavy losses of cattle on the ranges will result. Rain and sleet prevailed several hours before the snow set in. The temperature fell twelve degrees, resting at 4° below zero, when the worst storm ever known in the State in eight years set in, continuing for forty hours.

At Melette, S.D., trains are blocked and snow drifts in the main streets are 15 feet high. The wagon roads are blocked and stock will suffer greatly.

MURRAY SAYS SUICIDE.

The Provincial Detective Has Looked Into the Watterson Case at Lime Bank—Rev. Mr. Hyland Died From Nervous Shock.

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—(Special.)—Detective Murray has closed his investigation at Lime Bank into the death of Thomas Watterson, who was found about two weeks ago lying dead in bed with his throat cut from ear to ear. Mr. Murray has reported to Acting Crown Attorney Lees that it is a clear case of suicide, although the circumstances connected with the disappearing of the knife are mysterious. The detective learned that Watterson had several times tried to take his own life. On one occasion he had tried to smash his brains with a stone; on another he had induced his son to lie down beside him on the bed and had stolen his knife from his pocket, evidently with the intention of doing himself harm.

Detective Murray in the early part of the week was at Fitzroy Harbor making an inquiry into the death of Rev. D. J. Hyland, the Presbyterian minister of that place, who died rather suddenly a couple of months ago. It is understood that the inquiry was asked for by a committee of the Presbyterian General Assembly, to clear away any doubts as to the cause of Rev. Mr. Hyland's death. The detective believes that Rev. Mr. Hyland's death was due to a severe nervous shock.

IS GETTING YOUNG AGAIN

John Adams is Ninety Years Old, but is Cutting New Teeth and Is No Longer Bald.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 29.—A remarkable case of second childhood exists in the little Michigan village of Coopersville, where resides John Adams. Many instances of old people regaining their eyesight, and a few of cutting teeth, have been reported, but these are rare. It has remained for John Adams, a hardy Wolverine, to establish a new and unparalleled record.

Adams, when he was 80 years old, could scarcely see, he was bald, and his teeth were all gone. He can now see as well as he ever could, has cut several new teeth, and his hair has grown out again. The new hair is dark brown, his eyes are clear, and at a first glimpse he looks like a man of about 40 years old.

But a little closer look makes him seem even older than he really is, although he is now nearly 90. The brown hair and bright eyes seem to emphasize the wrinkles and his skin looks like parchment. He now has an idea that a new skin will come and that the wrinkles will disappear. Mr. Adams is in excellent health and spirits, and confidently believes that he will live a long time yet.

MR. RANKIN'S BODY AT WIARTON

It was Coffined There and Will Be Taken to Detroit To-Day.

Wiarton, Ont., Nov. 29.—The tug Seaman, with Mr. Rankin's body on board, and accompanied by Mr. T. J. Austin, left Tobermorny Saturday about 2 p.m., arriving here about midnight. The tug towed a vessel down, which made her late. Mr. Rankin's body was coffined here, and will be taken to Detroit to-morrow at 6 a.m., arriving in the evening. Mr. Austin and party go home on the same train.

NOW FOR THE CANADIAN SIDE.

Signs of Competition Put New Life Into the Cataract Construction Co. as Regards Work on This Side.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 29.—(Special.)—At last property-holders about Niagara Falls are about to realize their dreams, the fulfilment of which means rapid growth and prosperity to the town. The enterprise which made Niagara Falls, N.Y., a prominent commercial and electrical city has now turned its attention to Canadian development and Canadian interests. Immediately following upon the success of the transmission of Niagara power to the City of Buffalo, the Cataract Construction Company seems to have turned its attention to the scheme of developing power on the Canadian side. The American company hold the option upon the Provincial Government lands under the name of the Canadian Niagara Power Company and do all their business on this side of the river under the name of that company. This company have asked for an extension of time to commence operations, but, spurred on by the springing into existence of an opposition company, who threatened to take the franchise off their hands, they have, without awaiting the reply of the Government, been making preliminary arrangements for beginning immediate operations. For several days gentlemen deeply interested in the American company have had important interviews with interested parties on this side of the river, and furthermore, the local solicitor of the company has considerable business in quarters which would indicate activity on the part of the company. Mr. Albert H. Porter, an engineer of the Cataract Construction Company, has been looking over the grounds upon which the option is held and has opened up an office on this side of the river. When interviewed, Mr. Porter stated that he was making some surveys for parties interested in lands in the vicinity of the proposed tunnel. Further than this he could say nothing. Another gentleman said there was a move being made, but nothing definite was to be learned at present. Mr. Rankine, the Secretary of the Company, will be in town in a few days and further developments are expected.

RUMORED INVESTIGATION.

It is Reported That the Laurier Government Will Take Stock of Militia Stores—Charges Hinted At.

Toronto, Nov. 30.

It is understood that the Laurier Government proposes instituting an investigation into the conduct of the Militia Department by the late Administration, and some go so far as to hint that certain contractors for military supplies may be indicted for alleged irregularities.

It is stated, for instance, that the last issue of tents were minus the "eave flaps" contracted for, and the Government wants to know the wherefore.

Other contractors, it is mooted, may be charged with furnishing "shoddy" military clothing.

There is, moreover, a suspicion in the Liberal mind that a number of tunics reported as supplied in the records are not to be found.

Last, but not least, certain well-known Toronto and other military men are said to have seized from the Government stores rifles and other arms for the decoration of their homes.

At any rate, the Government is said to be about to order a wholesale "checking" of the military stores.

29 PERSONS KILLED.

The Viceroy of India Visited Baroda and the Crowds, in Rushing for the Park Gates, Crushed Many to Death.

Bombay, Nov. 29.—A despatch from Baroda, capital of the State of that name, gives the details of a fatal accident which occurred there to-night. The Earl of Elgin, Viceroy of India, arrived at Baroda this evening on a visit to the Gaikwar, or native ruler of the State. The inhabitants turned out en masse to welcome the Viceroy and to see a display of fireworks in his honor. The display was given in the park of the Gaikwar, which was open to the public. Everything passed off without incident of note until the end of the ceremonies. Then the crowd made a rush for the park gates, which were so narrow that they soon become jammed with people. Those behind, not knowing the cause of the delay at the exit, pressed forward until the crush at the gates was terrific. A number of persons were squeezed to death, while others who lost their footing in the surging mass of humanity had the life trampled out of them or died from suffocation. When the crowd was finally cleared away it was found that 20 persons had been killed and 35 more or less seriously injured.

DEATH BY ACCIDENT

Duncan McGeachie of Elder's Mills Killed.

BOTH LEGS TAKEN OFF BY A TRAIN

And the Shock Was So Great That He Soon Died—Dougald Currie of Egremont Buried Alive in a Well—Young Man Loses a Hand—Burned to Death.

Woodbridge, Ont., Nov. 29.—As the evening train came into Woodbridge Station last night, Duncan McGeachie of Elder's Mills, who was waiting on the platform, stepped across the track in front of the engine, but, miscalculating the distance of the approaching train, he was struck and ground to pieces beneath the wheels. The engine and baggage car passed over him, his lower limbs being crushed into pulp and his head cut open. He was carried into the station and Dr. Thom was summoned, but medical skill could do nothing, and the poor fellow expired about two hours after without having uttered a word. He had come down the track to Woodbridge about two hours before to get his Saturday supply of groceries and was going back on the train. He made a practice of boarding the train on the off side in order to get on more safely, without being jostled by those getting off, and was crossing the track for this purpose, with his arms full of parcels, when he was struck.

Mr. McGeachie was a blacksmith at Elder's Mills, about three miles from Woodbridge, where he also kept the postoffice and looked after the C.P.R. flag station. He was about 55 years of age and leaves a son and two daughters, who lived with him, his wife having died a short time since. His son, Thomas, ran down the track immediately on learning of the accident, and saw his father breathe his last. His eldest daughter, Minnie, was away visiting in Boston. The train was crowded, as is usual on Saturday evenings, and the terrible tragedy visibly affected the passengers and cast a gloom over the neighborhood, where the deceased was well known and highly respected.

BURIED HIM ALIVE.

Dougald Currie of Egremont Let Himself Down a Well and the Earth Caved In.

Mt. Forest, Ont., Nov. 28.—A sad and fatal accident occurred to-day in the Township of Egremont, about three miles from this town, whereby Mr. Dougald Currie, an old and highly-respected resident of the township, lost his life. About 10 a.m. a man whom he had engaged to clean his well had completed the work, and Mr. Currie placed his foot in the loop of the rope and descended to see the appearance of the well. When about 20 feet down the well caved in, precipitating the earth and stone curbing upon the unfortunate man. Willing hands at once set to work to remove the debris, but owing to the large quantity of earth and stone they did not succeed in reaching the body until late this afternoon. Evidently the poor man had been killed instantly, as his head was badly bruised.

Mr. Currie leaves a widow and grown-up family. He was about 56 years of age and a native of Scotland.

RIGHT HAND CUT OFF.

The Serious Accident Which Befel Albert Hobermill of New Hamburg.

New Hamburg, Ont., Nov. 28.—Albert Hobermill, 19 years old, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon. He was employed cutting corn stalks with a horse-power straw cutter on the farm of [illegible] Barber, Wilmot Township. The machine became choked and Hobermill was endeavoring to remedy it, when the horses started suddenly and drew his arm into the machine, cutting his right hand completely off. Dr. Wilson of Plattsville was soon in attendance.

Burned to Death.

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 29.—Last night about 6 o'clock Mrs. James Reid, wife of G.T.R. Engineer James Reid of this city, went down cellar, leaving a lighted lamp on the cellar stairs. When coming up it is supposed one of the children accidentally kicked over the lamp, which set fire to Mrs. Reid's clothing, burning her fearfully before neighbors, aroused by the children's screams, could be of assistance. Death relieved her sufferings at 8.45 p.m. She leaves a husband and three small children.

ANTIDOTE FOR TYPHOID.

Two German Scientists Have Been Experimenting With an Anti-Toxine and Hope for Great Results.

Washington, Nov. 29.—United States Consul George Sawter at Glanchau, sends to the Department of State an account of a report soon to be published in a German medical journal by Prof. R. Pfeiffer and Dr. W. Kalle, two well-known bacteriologists of Berlin, giving the effect of a number of experiments they have made with a typhus anti-toxine. "If their hopes are confirmed," says the Consul, "the science of therapeutics in infectious diseases will have received another most valuable accession in this new discovery. The typhoid bacillus is largely known to exist in well and spring water, and the fact that they are frequently the direct cause of infection is widely recognized by authorities on bacteriology. Consequently this latest important discovery is to be greeted with joy, as it may prove in the future the means of preserving numberless lives from untimely demise, particularly as man is susceptible to attack from these bacilli during the best years of his development—20 to 25 years. The inoculations of 'typhus anti-toxine' can be easily and quickly executed, and will prove of great value and benefit, especially in times of epidemic, when the need of a prompt and efficacious life saving remedy is most urgent.

"The fruits of the experiments will soon be published for the benefit of the entire medical world."

KELLY'S AWFUL CRIMES.

The Police Saw Him Murdering His Wife and Babes and Had to Shoot Him to Stop It.

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 28.—J. P. Kelly, a jeweler, who lived in the rear of his store in the heart of the city, with his wife and her two little children by a former husband, locked the door of the store at 9.30 this morning, and began shooting at his wife. The firing attracted a great crowd, who could see through the glass doors the tragedy being enacted. Officers finally broke the glass and fired repeatedly at Kelly, bringing him down with a bullet in the head. The woman was fatally shot through the head, and both her babes were drenched with blood, but uninjured.

Bank

President Isaac Lewis of Sabina, Ohio, is highly respected all through that section. He has lived in Clinton Co. 75 years, and has been president of the Sabina Bank 20 years. He gladly testifies to the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and what he says is worthy attention. All brain workers find Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiarly adapted to their needs. It makes pure, rich, red blood, and from this comes nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength.

"I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a very good medicine, especially as a blood purifier. It has done me good many times. For several years I suffered greatly with pains of in one eye and about my temples, especially at night when I had been having a hard day of physical and mental labor. I took many remedies, but found help only in Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured me of rheumatism, neuralgia and headache. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved itself a true friend. I also take Hood's Pills to keep my bowels regular, and like the pills very much." ISAAC LEWIS, Sabina, Ohio.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Paragraphs of Local Interest to Endeavourers Supplied by the County Union.

WORLD'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR PRAYER CHAIN.

(Subject of Prayer for November.)

Pray that Canada may be a God-fearing, law-abiding, Christian land. Pray for every wise effort to advance the Christian citizenship.

AMONG THE LOCAL SOCIETIES.

On Monday evening next the local societies of the town will gather at St. Andrew's church to participate in the regular quarterly rally. The local union have arranged with Mr. O'Meara, of Toronto, to address this meeting on "Sabbath Observance." Last week we published the "Call to Arms." This meeting affords an opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the plans submitted by the Lord's Day Alliance Society. The meeting is open to the public. All are cordially invited.

George street Methodist society held a temperance meeting on Monday night. Mr. Armstrong read an interesting paper on the topic.

St. Paul's society will hold their monthly consecration meeting on Sunday night at the close of the evening service.

The attendance at Charlotte street E. L. of C. E. was good on Monday night. Many strangers were present. Mr. D.D.C. Dawe presided.

VILLERS.

At the meeting of Villers Y.P.S.C.E. held November 17th, the room was filled to the utmost capacity. The reading was taken by Mr. Jos. LaRoche, the prayer meeting by Miss Lizzie Nelson. The topic, "A good education, what it is and how to get it," was dealt with in a very able manner by Miss E. M. Nelson, and in an eloquent yet concise manner, she showed that the best and highest education is our spiritual development, and the wisdom which leads men and women to make the best provision for the life which is eternal.

BETREL—KEENE CIRCUIT.

To the Entertainment and Music Committees of the Y.P.S.C.E.:

A great deal depends upon the singing in our regular C. E. prayer meetings. If the singing is slow and dragging, or if there is no spirit in the music, everything else seems to drag along with it. Now are the Music Committees of the C. E. doing their best to prevent this?

Christ requires of us whole-hearted service. If we are rendering whole-hearted service we would not forget our work in these meetings. We would come prepared each night to do our little part to make the meeting more attractive and spirited. We must not say because we are on the Music Committee, Oh, any person can choose a hymn; it does not matter what we sing, or whether we sing at all or not. This is a mistake; we can praise God as much by singing as by praying.

How many souls have been brought to Christ by singing one of our beautiful hymns! A hymn sung well and from the heart very often touhoes the heart and sets a person thinking of their soul's welfare where talking with them or preaching would not touch them.

The Music Committee can not do this work alone. They must have the help of all the members of the society. We must all work together on whatever we do, whether in singing or praying.

Let us then as members of the Music Committee strive to do our best in the future in the way of making our meetings just as attractive as we can by making the musical part of our meetings as bright as we can.

Nov. 18.—Although the night was wet we had a good crowd. The meeting was opened by the president. James Pallin read the Scripture reading. The Prayer Meeting committee had charge of the prayer meeting for members who are on beds of sickness. Mr. S. Armstrong spoke on the Topic. He said we need to be educated physically, mentally and morally and a good education was not merely knowing how to do things, but practicing and putting into right use what we do know. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. May God help us all to get this wisdom.

At the close of the meeting a slip was handed to the president, from the Lookout Committee, asking for the prayers of the society for a young man who is anxious to become a Christian.

The numerous cures of rheumatism by the use of the old standard blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, show conclusively that it is an effective remedy, if not indeed the specific for this most painful and persistent of maladies. What has cured others will cure you.

Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all Lung Troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

CHEESE FACTORY REPORTS.

The Annual Report of Fraserville Factory—Successful Season's Operations—Amount and Value of Milk and Cheese—Officers Elected.

The patrons of Fraserville cheese factory held their annual meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 25th, at 2 o'clock, when the business of the season was disposed of. The auditors' and secretary's report was read, received and adopted. The auditors congratulated Mr. Kline, the cheese maker, on his success this season, in not having any rejected cheese whatever. Mr. Pue, the proprietor of the factory, has spared no expense in procuring the best help. Hence his factory stands second to none on the Board, and all trouble between purchaser and salesmen is removed.

The business of the factory this season amounted to $7,670.36. There were five hundred and seventy-four thousand one hundred and sixty lbs. of milk (974,160) sent to the factory by 61 patrons. The largest amount sent by any one patron was 49,480 lbs. or 16½ standard sent by Mr. W. G. Fisher, President. The milk was sent in as follows:

	Lbs milk.	Lbs cheese.	Cash.
May	168,807	9,452	$ 614 44
June	216,201	10,507	1,326 33
July	207,001	17,990	1,267 [illegible]
August	168,153	14,796	1,207 97
September	147,271	14,110	1,419 14
October	152,227	13,232	1,884 62
Total	974,160	890,57
Interest			$ 11 02
Whey			269 48
Grand total			$7,670 36

The expense of the factory for the season amounted to $1,812.19, the patrons receiving $5,858.17. The officers of the factory were re-elected for 1897, and the whey was sold to Mr. Frederick Clarke for 78c. per standard, and the meeting was brought to a close.

NORTH HARVEY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

A special meeting of the ratepayers was called Wednesday last for the purpose of electing a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. R. Gerrard. Quite an exciting time was the result. Two candidates were nominated, R. Richmond and W. D. Ventress respectively. A show of hands would not be taken so a poll was demanded. Then the fun commenced; one would think it was a general election to see the rigs out gathering in stray votes—in fact competition got so strong that one side was trying to work in parties that had no vote. This was nipped in the bud, still there were one or two who voted, it is said, who had no right to do so, and had the result been close they would have been counted out. As it was they were allowed to remain, as R. Richmond had several of a majority. Some of his more enthusiastic admirers made a chair of their arms and carried him out of the school house and placed him in his rig. The result of the vote was a big disappointment to the friends of the other candidate, as they had been working for weeks before and expected to carry everything before them.

Quite a number of outsiders have bought pieces of bush for the purpose of taking out wood this winter. Now they are all moving in and building camps, which is making things around here lively. According to present prospects there will be a lot of wood taken out here this winter.

Winter has set in in earnest this time, as part of the bay is frozen over and most of the creek.

The Rev. Mr. McKnight, in trying to organize a Presbyterian congregation here, is meeting with very fair success. It is a pity he had not come here sooner as a lot of valuable time has been lost. However, we hope he will be allowed to remain here by the Presbytery.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Thos. McFarlane, of Ottawa, was visiting his brother, Mr. William McFarlane, this week.

Mr. William Jones, of Toronto, spent a few days renewing acquaintances here this week.

Mr. C. Young has recovered from his recent illness and will soon be able to be out again.

Mr. Wellington Brunson happened with a painful accident one day last week. He was drawing logs with a spirited horse and it ran away. In checking the horse he dislocated his shoulder. Dr. Fraser attended to Mr. Brunson and he is all right again.

Another accident happened this week which might have proved fatal. Miss Nellie Young and Maggie Kearney were returning from Lakefield and the rig upsetting they were thrown out and received a good shaking up. Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Miller, the young ladies were taken in and cared for, and Mr. Miller drove them home. "Andrew" is always willing to give a helping hand in need.

Mr. William Hales has charge of about fifteen men at Burleigh Falls, building piers below the locks.

The steamer Empire passed through here to-day going to Lakefield.

THE PROHIBITION COMMISSION.

The magnificent waste connected with the $125,000 liquor commission which went junketing over the country some time ago picking up opinions which no one wanted, and which were valueless when obtained, has probably been well nigh forgotten by the public. Its six volumes of "evidence" and its "report" of a thousand pages have, by this time, been consigned to the realms of things that were. The worthlessness of the whole affair may be gathered from the fact that Mr. F. S. Spence, the Secretary of the Dominion Alliance, has been able in a small pamphlet of three hundred pages, to give every point worth noting ascertained by the Commission. And there is nothing very new in it either. The country paid dearly for the attempt made by the Tory Government to shirk the Liquor question. Its cowardly and evasive conduct contrasted very unfavourably with the bold challenge of the Liberal party in the convention held here: "That, whereas, public attention is at present much directed to the consideration of the admittedly great evils of intemperance, it is desirable that the mind of the people should be clearly ascertained on the question of Prohibition by means of a Dominion plebiscite.—Ottawa Free Press.

THEY HAD AN ARGUMENT.

United States and British Counsel Had a Tilt Before the Behring Sea Commission.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 29.—At yesterday's sittings of the Behring Sea Claims Commission, counsel for the United States moved to strike out two of the claims filed by the British side, on the ground that they did not come within the terms of the convention, which had resulted in the formation of the present commission, not having been included in the summary of the claims referred to the Paris tribunal. These claims were that of the schooner Black Diamond for $7500 for loss arising from her being ordered out of Behring Sea in 1886, and the personal claims of Capt. Gaudin of the British marine service for $3000 expense incurred in connection with the seizure of the schooner Aida. Both claims, the British counsel insisted, were among those which should properly be dealt with, and correspondence regarding them clearly showed that it was contemplated to include both.

The argument was continued at some lenght, and decision was reserved.

Four Workmen Killed.

Paris, Nov. 29.—An explosion which caused the death of four workmen occurred tonight in a factory at Nanterre, seven miles northwest of this city. The factory is owned by M. Hadamard, father-in-law of Dreyfus, the French captain who was sentenced to life imprisonment for selling military secrets to Germany.

CANADIAN EXPORT CATTLE.

St. Albans, Vermont, Added to the List of Ports of Entry.

Washington, Nov. 29.—By an order just issued from the Department of Agriculture, St. Alban's, Vt., has been added to the list of ports at which cattle and sheep from the Dominion of Canada for export from the United States, may be entered in bond for Portland, Me., and Boston, Mass., for export from the two last mentioned ports only, in accordance with the regulations in the order of Feb. 11, 1889. The transportation companies carrying cattle or sheep in bond from Canada for Portland and Boston for export have established at these points special stock yards for export cattle and sheep, and such yards are to be used for no other purpose. All such cattle and sheep shipped to Boston must be unloaded only at the Mystic Wharf stock yards.

Parents Must have Rest.

A president of one of our Colleges says: "We spent many sleepless nights in consequence of our children suffering from colds, but this never occurs now. We use Scott's Emulsion and it quickly relieves pulmonary troubles."

Mr. Chas. Smith, Dawa Mills, Ont., says: "For several years I was troubled with pains in my limbs, which continued getting worse until I thought I would have to quit work. In fact the pains were so severe that I could not rest nights. I took one box of Miller's Compound Iron Pills and am perfectly cured."

Although it is nearly a year since Mr. S. took the Pills he has had no return of the pains, and feels splendid. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, Druggist.

BABY CLOTHES IN HARRISON'S HOME

The Ex-President's Wife Preparing for an Event Which is Expected to Bring Great Joy to the House.

Indianapolis, Nov. 29.—A great deal of interest is manifested here over reports which have come from the intimate friends of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison. It is said that an event of great importance is expected to transpire in the ex-President's home within the next three months, and that elaborate preparations are being made therefor. The greatest care is being exercised over Mrs. Harrison's health, which is said to be excellent, and the good lady is plying her needle upon a wardrobe of elegant dresses, dainty underwear of the most ornate and expensive character, and little wraps of the finest cashmere, elegantly brocaded and trimmed with the most costly French laces. Mrs. Harrison does her sewing in her husband's library, and it is said the ex-President is not less interested in the work than his wife. Indeed he is never too much engrossed with his legal work to spare a moment to confirm by his judgment the taste of Mrs. Harrison in regard to the effect of this or that particular lace or embroidery on any of the little garments, and it is said that he now lives in the future rather than in the past or present.

ONLY ONE DISSATISFIED

And He is Young and Inexperienced, Says Mr. Tarte—News From Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Nov. 28.—(Special.)—Hon. Israel Tarte left here for Ottawa this afternoon. Regarding the school question he was positive it would give satisfaction to all, French and English, Catholic and Protestant. Since the settlement was made known he had visited many French Catholic settlements in the Northwest, and found that his compatriots were all pleased with the terms. In the entire west, he declares, he has not found one man who opposes the arrangement but Archbishop Langevin. On the settlement he believes Mr. Laurier could make a greater sweeep of Quebec to-day than he did at the last election. Archbishop Langevin, he says, is young and ill-advised, and his grace would soon find all opposed to his attitude, both French and English.

The Archbishop Repudiates It.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 29.—(Special.)—Archbishop Langevin to-night made a plea to the congregation of St. Mary's Church to repudiate the school settlement, and to make even greater sacrifices for Catholic Separate schools. He declared Quebec would stand by the Catholics of Manitoba, and urged his people not to surrender what he contended was their rights.

Bro. Davin Wants Damages.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 29.—(Special.)—Nicholas Flood Davin has entered suit for ten thousand dollars damages against Editor Scott of The Regina Leader for persistent libels.

Anthony and Michael, sons of Railroad Contractor Egan of Winnipeg, were sentenced Saturday to two years' imprisonment for burglary.

Ministers Blair and Davies did not come to Winnipeg, proceeding to the Pacific Coast from Minneapolis, via the Soo line. Hon. Mr. Tarte was to have met them at Minneapolis, but pressing business necessitated his immediate return to Ottawa.

Registrar McLean of Calgary, one of the most prominent men of the west, died suddenly Saturday.

HIGHER THAN NIAGARA.

Several Minnesota Men Discover a Wonderful Cataract in the Mountains of Venezuela.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 29.—The following letter has been received from S. A. Thompson at Santa Catalina, Venezuela:

"During the exploration of the concession of the Orinoco Company, headed by Donald Grant and other Minnesota men, a trail was cut to the Imataca Mountains, starting from this point, a village of 150 inhabitants. The duties assigned to some members of the party kept them upon or close to the Orinoco until a few weeks ago, when two of us, Leslie O. Dart of Litchfield, Minn., and myself of Duluth, found time to make an excursion to the mountains.

"Pushing on beyond the point reached by the other party, we heard from the top of a mountain a sound which at first we thought to be thunder, but afterwards decided that it must come from a waterfall of considerable magnitude. Working in the general direction of the sound over a difficult trail we came, at noon on Thursday, Oct. 15, to a large river, and discovered what must rank as one of the greatest waterfalls in the world.

"The river bursts diagonally through an almost perpendicular cliff, which I estimate to be 1600 feet in height, breaks into half a dozen separate streams, which divide and subdivide, spreads out into broad, fan-like expansions, and twists about in such a curious corkscrew fashion that the water at the bottom of the falls flows in exactly the opposite direction from the course it holds where it first comes into view.

"By clinging to bushes and going up the giant creepers hand over hand, we climbed up the cliff until the herold indicated an elevation of more than 500 feet, but it was impossible to reach the top and learn how much higher the falls are."

A NOVA SCOTIA CASE.

Suffered without Help—Eighteen Years Getting Worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N. S., Nov. 30.—(Special)—There is no man in town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who for eighteen years has been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says: "It began with backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I had run down greatly in weight the doctors said it was diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's Kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength. I am perfectly cured.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Trouble Ahead for Quebec Postoffice Employees.

THE GOVERNMENT MAY ENTER SUIT

To Recover the Amount of Which the Revenue Has Been Defrauded Through Transmission of Tory Campaign Literature—Guatemala Open for Canadian Trade—Notes.

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Some time ago charges were preferred against officials in the Quebec Postoffice of having allowed, during the last general election campaign, large quantities of Tory literature to pass through the mails free of postage. It is said Le Courrier du Canada, with, it is alleged, the connivance of officials, transmitted free of postage thousands of copies of their paper broadcast throughout the country, in violation of the law. Inspector Sweetnam of the Postoffice Department has made an investigation into the above charges, and has handed in his report to the Postmaster-General. It is reported that the result of this investigation is likely to prove serious to the parties concerned. In addition to dismissals of some of the officials, there may be a Government suit to recover the amount of which the revenue has been defrauded, and criminal proceedings may also be taken.

The Colonial Office has sent a communication to the Government stating that the republic of Guatemala has modified its tariff as regards several articles in which Canada is able to do a good trade. From Feb. 1 to June 30, during the time of holding the Central American Exhibition, a large number of commodities are placed on the free list, but must be imported through the port of San Jose. Among them are all kinds of fish, either canned, salted, dried or smoked; all classes of cereals, pickles, confectionery, condensed milk, biscuits, meats, salted or smoked; dried fruits, bacon, butter, brushes and brooms, matches, kitchen ranges and other articles manufactured of iron.

The Cabinet has not yet considered the question of the date of the meeting of Parliament, but the Ministers are in hopes of being able to call the House about the middle of February.

IN THE DARK VALLEY.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have Saved My Life"—This is said by Thousands—Prevention the Safest.

"In the valley and shadow of death"—"Given up to die." There are many thousands of such living in Canada to-day who say, "Dodd's Kidney Pills have saved my life."

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents—which is better than curing.

NEW EDUCATION BOARD.

First Meeting Held Yesterday—Arrangements Made for the Annual Educational Association's Convention.

Toronto, Nov. 28.

At the last session of the Ontario Legislature an amendment was passed empowering a Council of Education to take the place of the joint board of the Senate and Education Department, in charge of the departmental examinations for teachers' certificates and University matriculation.

The board is composed of Justice Maclennan, Chancellor Burwash, Prof. Baker of Toronto University, Prof. Alex. McKay of McMaster, Father Teefy of St. Michael's, Alex. Steele (principal of Orangeville Collegiate), Prof. Clarke of Trinity, John Dearness (School Inspector, London), with President Loudon and Hon. G. W. Ross, as ex-officio members.

The first session of the board was held yesterday morning, all the members being present, except Prof. McKay, who is in Europe. The duties of the board were informally discussed. President Loudon was elected president.

The board, with the various committees, met in the afternoon and evening, with the following members present: President John Dearness, London; R. W. Doane, secretary of the board, Toronto; W. J. Hendry, Toronto; H. J. Strong, Goderich; F. Manley, Toronto; W.H. Fraser, Toronto; W. J. Robertson, Toronto; W. E. Groves, Toronto; W. H. Harlton, Toronto; A. A. Jordon, Meaford; W. H. Elliott, Hamilton; W. Scott, Toronto; W. H. Wilson, Toronto Junction; J. S. Deacon, Milton; C. Moses, Caledonia; Miss E. Bolton, Ottawa; Miss F. Bowditch, Hamilton; J. H. Burritt, Pembroke; G. A. Aylesworth, Newburg; Dr. Alex. Jackson, Galt, and Inspector W. C. Chapman, Toronto.

The afternoon business was taken up with discussion and revisions of the bylaws.

In the evening a lengthy discussion arose over the question of the expense of last year's printing. It was decided to hold the annual Educational Association meetings on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday following Good Friday, to which some very noted educationists have been invited to attend. The program for the meeting was also arranged, and will be made known in about a month.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10½ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000,00 a year.

St. Luke's Annual Tea.

The annual tea and sale of ladies' work in connection with St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, will take place on Thursday, Dec. 3rd. The school house will be open all afternoon for the sale of work and the tea will begin at five o'clock. A programme has been arranged for the evening. Tickets 25 cents.

The New Fire Team.

The Fire Department to-day was given a fine new team, for which $260 was paid. One of the horses was raised in Monaghan by Mr. Lang, and the other in Otonabee by Mr. John Matchett. They are four and five years old respectively, and are a finely matched bay team, which should do good work.

Lecture and Concert.

A lecture on the early history of Canada will be delivered by Mr. J. Hampden Burnham on Tuesday evening, Dec. 1st, in the hall of the Catholic Literary Association. A first-class programme will also be rendered. Admission 10 cents.

Wedding.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Anglican church, Janetville, Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 25th, when Miss Bella, third daughter of Mr. David McNeil of "Maplewood Farm," was united in marriage to Mr. William James Stutt, of Orono. After a most sumptuous repast at the bride's residence, the happy couple left for their home "Sunnyside" farm, east of Orono, amidst a shower of congratulations from their friends.

Western Trains Delayed.

The Canadian Pacific trains from Manitoba and the Northwest are being detained on account of snow storms between North Bay and Winnipeg. The passengers that should have reached Toronto on Friday afternoon did not arrive till 4.20 Saturday afternoon, just twenty-four hours late. Saturday's Winnipeg connection is not in yet, but the officials said the passengers were expected down from North Bay by 9.50 train this morning. This will make them almost fifty-two hours behind time.

Sacred Concert.

The Sacred Concert to be given by St. Paul's church choir in the church on Thursday evening, December 10th, promises to be very successful. The choir have engaged outside talent to help them, and the usual excellent work of the choir will be an added assurance that a musical treat is in store for those who attend. The programme, which is now in press, is certainly a meritorious one, and is probably one of the most exacting programmes yet attempted here. As is the usual custom, no charge will be made but a silver collection will be asked at the door in aid of the choir fund.

DEATH OF MR. RICHARD NAGLE.

Interment Will Take Place at Ottawa, the Remains Leaving Here To-Morrow.

The death of Mr. Richard Nagle occurred early this morning at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. H. Phelan, Rubidge street.

The deceased had been ill about three weeks in Ottawa, being troubled with his heart, and a week ago Sunday it was thought wiser to move him to Peterborough. He has been gradually sinking during the week until his demise this morning.

Mr. Nagle was born in Mitchellstown, County Cork, Ireland, in 1831. He joined his father in Canada in 1840, and for some time the family lived in Ramsay Township, in the County of Carleton. He began business with the well-known lumbering firm of John Egan & Co. of Ottawa, probably the largest lumbering concern of that date. After obtaining an insight into the business, Mr. Nagle began to operate for himself, beginning on the Rocky Farm limits near Ottawa. He continued to lumber very extensively and carried on operations on a big scale in the Lake Nipissing and Lake Temiscamigue districts until his retirement from active business some ten years ago.

The deceased at one time contested Ottawa city for the local Legislature in the Liberal interests, being always prominently identified with the politics of that party.

He was a widower, his wife having died in 1882. Three daughters survive, viz.: Mrs. Harry Phelan, Peterborough; Mrs. Thos. B. Brophy, Ottawa, and Mrs. H. J. Friel, also of Ottawa. He has one sister living, Mrs. McCarthy of Russell county, and one brother, James Nagle, of St. Mary's, Perth county.

During his frequent trips to Peterborough to visit Mrs. Phelan, the deceased formed a large circle of friends, to whom his death will come as a severe shock, as his many sterling qualities had endeared him to all with whom he came in contact.

The remains will be taken to Ottawa for interment to-morrow morning, being accompanied to that city by Mr. and Mrs. Phelan.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. John Condon Yesterday Morning.

The death of Mrs. James Condon took place yesterday morning at the family residence, No. 356 Water street, at the age of 61 years.

The deceased was a daughter of Mr. John Doris, of Otonabee, and in 1855 was married to Mr. James Condon, moving to Peterborough fifteen years later, after having made herself generally beloved in her large circle of acquaintances in the township.

A husband and six children survive her. The latter all reside in town and are Mr. John Condon, Mrs. John McFarlane, Mrs. W. B. Rose and Misses Maggie, Matilda and Hannah Jane, who all reside at home.

The funeral will take place to the Cathedral to-morrow morning at nine o'clock and proceed from there to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, where interment takes place.

SENATOR COX BANQUET.

The Date Fixed for Thursday Evening, Dec. 17th, at the Oriental.

The date of the complimentary banquet to Hon. Geo. A. Cox has been fixed for Thursday night, December 17th. He is expected to return from the South on the 15th, and will come to Peterborough on the 17th.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Will Dumble has returned from a visit to Port Hope.

Mrs. David Breese is visiting Miss Waddell in Port Hope.

Mr. Fred Ferguson is home again after spending a few days in Port Hope.

Mr. A. W. Connor, of the Central Bridge Works, is in Ingersoll to-day attending the funeral of an uncle.

Mrs. Wm. Hamill and Miss Millie Thorne returned to Lindsay Saturday evening, after spending Thanksgiving with their sister, Mrs. Jos. D. Armstrong, 270 Sherbrooke street.

Mrs. W. H. Wrighton and Miss Ethel Wrighton, of McDonel street, and Mrs. John Armstrong, of Water street, returned to-day from Lindsay where they have been spending the last week.

Miss Rudkins takes a trip to the cities to-morrow for the purpose of looking up some specialities for the Christmas holiday trade. Miss Taggart, her head milliner, accompanies.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams, of Osgoode Hall, and Mr. Victor McWilliams, of 'Varsity, Toronto, who have been home for the Thanksgiving holidays, have returned to the city.

Owing to physical prostration caused by an unusually arduous day of work yesterday, Rev. Mr. Davidson was unable to preach the sermon at the mission in the evening. There was, however, a hearty service, the prayers being read by Mr. A. W. Connor.

Mr. Thos. Craig, of Ashburnham, left to-day for Oshawa, where he has secured employment. "Larkins" is one of the most promising juniors of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club and Oshawa is to be congratulated on adding so good a man to their team, as it is to be presumed that he will figure in the lacrosse field with that club next season.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick has been called to Mount Pleasant Michigan, through the serious and probably fatal injury of his brother, Mr. John Fitzpatrick, at that place. A railway accident is responsible for the mishap, and the latest report from Mount Pleasant was to the effect that the railway surgeon had given up hope in connection with Mr. Fitzpatrick's case.

Grand Christmas Card Opening Dec. 2nd

The numerous shoppers at the Peterborough Bookstore, who have been anxiously waiting the receipt of our new Christmas Cards and Booklets for 1896, will be pleased to learn that they have now arrived, and will be open for selection on Wednesday, Dec. 2nd. A more charming display was never on exhibition. They are masterpieces of artistic printing and decorative design. We have placed them thus early on our tables to allow those who wish to remember friends at a distance an opportunity to make their selections. The prices will be a surprise to all this year. Having bought earlier and larger we were able to secure a much larger discount than in former years. We give a special invitation to all to come and see the wonderful beauty and variety of style of our cards and booklets. Sunday school teachers and teachers of all schools buying in quantities, will be allowed more liberal reduction than ever.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

THE TOWN'S RELATIONS TO LIGHT AND POWER COMPANIES.

In Friday's issue we printed a pertinent and timely letter from a "Manufacturer" in reference to the—almost—hostile attitude of the town council towards the corporations wishing to use the streets for the placing of poles to string wires for the transmission of electrical energy for light and power purposes. In commending the attitude of the writer of the letter in relation to liberal treatment of the corporation concerned, we feel that we are endorsing a course in the general interests of the town. Not long ago we took a strong position against the proposition for the exemption of the Auburn Milling Company from taxation, but that is not inconsistent with the plea we make for generous treatment of companies in regard to the franchise of our streets. In the one case the proposal was to virtually take the people's money to promote the interests of a private corporation; in the other case it is a question of taxing a private corporation for the privilege of benefitting the citizens of the town through our manufacturing industries, whose presence and prosperity are direct benefits to the town and one of the sources of its superior prosperity as compared with places less favoured than ours. There is no necessity for us to refer at length to the advantages that result to our manufacturers from the cheapening of their raw materials—motive power—"Manufacturer" has gone fully into that in his letter. There is also to be considered the fact that the new claimants for generous consideration at the hands of the town, the Auburn Light and Power Company, are citizens of the town and have therefore good claims as compared with outsiders, who might seek privileges for their own profit, independently of the advantage or disadvantage of the town. There is an understood arrangement that the Peterborough Light and Power Company is to supply the town with light, and that the supply of power be left to the Auburn Light and Power Company. This is fair enough arrangement, and there seems to be scope in town for both in the special lines represented by these companies. It also appears that the Peterborough Light and Power Company is not, consistently with the efficient supply of light, in a position to supply power in quantities and at terms as advantageous as those in need of power may desire. What we want in the interests of our manufacturing industries, is power at the lowest possible rate, and what we more particularly want is that a corporation willing to supply this cheap power be not opposed with burdensome restrictions in the matter of privileges of transmission; we must be prepared to meet with generous attentions, our citizens whose aim is to advance the material interests of the town. The sum we may derive from a stiff charge for a street franchise for a light and power company is insignificant compared to the indirect benefits that will accrue from the cheap supply of power. Therefore it seems to be penny wise on the part of the council to take a course that will result in the immediate gain of a few paltry dollars at the risk of the sacrifice of interests that will be ten times more important. A well defined distinction, it seems, should be made as between an outside company desiring to secure street franchise, for the purpose of their own profit and one composed of citizens, who have borne in the past and are now bearing their share of supporting the institutions of the town—who are ratepayers and who deserve generous recognition at the hands of the citizens as well as the corporation. In the matter of a charge for the use of the streets for electric wire poles, the town is put to no direct expense and the small sum it may derive, while an insignificant addition to our revenue, will represent a serious tax to a coporation of citizens, who, in addition to a large outlay, will, from the nature of things in connection with new enterprises, for a time, at least, carry on operations at merely nominal profit, if not at at actual loss. But if the council should insist on making the charge in question some arrangement should be made whereby it should be so graded as to bear lightly on the initial stages of the operations of the company with a view of its full incidence being imposed only when the experimental stage of the new enterprise is passed and a fair dividend is available as a reward of the public spirit of the members of corporations investing their money to swell the long and creditable roll of our local industries. While the new company is not asking for special favours—for substantial aid—it seems only fair that they should not be handicapped by a burdensome impost at the very outset of their enterprise. If the council is not prepared to encourage the new industry they should certainly not take steps to discourage it—to place obstacles in its way.

There is every reason why the town council should approach this subject in a business-like way, and in such a manner as to promote while protecting the several interests involved. Local capital to a very large, if not exclusive, extent is embarked in the Peterborough Light and Power Company, and it should be the duty of the town to protect that capital so far as its duty to the ratepayers will permit. What we want is good light and cheap light and to secure that end, if the town should give the company an exclusive privilege to supply light, it should be seen that such arrangements are made as will secure the condition of reasonable profit to the company and cheap light for the public, which should not be an unreasonable object to aim at. At the same time similar conditions exist in the matter of local capital being at stake with the Auburn Light and Power Company. The people require sufficient power and economical power, and if exclusive privilege is granted the company to supply power, then guarantees to this end, as stringent as are consistent with reasonable profit to the company, conjoined with protection of the interests of the citizens, should be insisted upon. Let the council approach this matter in an open, candid manner and take both the companies and the public into their confidence. Surely an open friendly discussion of the subject can be made to result in a business-like arrangement that will protect both companies in the exclusive privileges the town would be warranted in granting, provided the proper safeguards, as hinted above, are thrown around such a concession. It is all very well to claim that the existence of two practically rival companies will result in low prices for light and power respectively, but the experience of the past is against such an expectation being realized. Monopoly and amalgamation is a literal as well alliterative fact. For instance, the Peterborough Light and Power Company, and the Gas Company as soon as their interests began of necessity to conflict amalgamated. In granting exclusive privileges that may avail to protect local capital it is necessary to provide that a well guaranteed quid pro quo in the shape of cheap light and power be permanently assured. It does seem possible that an amicable discussion of the question with a single desire to secure these ends may be made. If the two companies are given to distinctly understand that whatever privileges they may respectively given are to be exclusive only so long as the interests of the ratepayers are protected, then there will be no possibility of future misunderstanding. It is well to remember that local capital will not be invested, if the conditions of its employment are made so difficult that loss instead of profit will result. Instances could be cited, but the statement of it is sufficient for our point. A petty but at the same time oppressive tax on poles is not a comprehensive way to deal with the matters in question. The subject must be ripely considered, and matured action, to cover the whole ground involved must be taken.

Diphtheria.

This insidious disease has broken out again a few miles north of Minden and has carried off a grandchild of Mr. Reuben Barton after three days' illness. It appears Mr. Barton's son came home lately from a lumber camp where it is said this disease existed, complaining of illness but no precaution of isolation was taken, hence the result. Several other persons lately arrived from the same camp are being looked after by the Board of Health and quarantined as well as thoroughly disinfected.

A Hard Winter Promised.

The weather prophets have been making careful observations with a view of finding out exactly what kind of a winter suffering humanity may look forward to, and the conclusion is that it will be one of unusual severity. The goose bone shows it; the squirrels are not satisfied with their usual hoarding places in trees, but are burying nuts underground, out of reach of the frost; the summer-birds left early, the husks on the corn are thicker than they have been for years, and the hogs are making their beds in the south-west corners of their pens. These, and less noticeable signs, are taken as conclusive, and preparations should be made accordingly. If mankind does not follow the example of the squirrels, hogs, etc., punishment must be the result.

A Delightful Concert.

A most refined and artistic concert in every way was that given in Association Hall last evening by Miss Mabel Chambers, soprano, and Miss Bertha Belasco, pianist. These young ladies have been studying abroad for two or three years, and have returned to be valuable acquisitions to the ranks of our local musicians. Their introductory concert was very flattering to both young ladies. There was a large and thoroughly critical audience present, and the generous bestowal of applause throughout the evening was eloquent proof of the good impression created. No fault could be found either with the selection of the programme or its execution. Miss Belasco contributed Chopin's Etudes in A Flat and F Flat and Liszt's Nocturne, each number being enthusiastically encored. Miss Mabel Chambers contributed Mendelssohn's Sulekia, Greig's popular "Slumber Song," Bishop's "Love Has Eyes," and "With Verdure Clad," from the "Creation." This young lady has a sweet voice, most delightfully flexible. The will doubtless be very popular with Montreal audiences, judging from the enthusiasm aroused by her singing of "Love Has Eyes" last night. —Montreal Star, Nov. 19th, 1896.

ST. JOHN'S PARISH.

Rev. W. L. Armitage Appointed a Curate.

"The appointment, announced yesterday in St. John's and in the Mission, of Rev. W. L. Armitage, from the Memorial church of London, Ont., of which the rector is Rev. Canon Richardson, has restored the parochial staff to the strength it was previous to the departure of Rev. Carl Smith. Mr. Armitage comes with the highest possible recommendations, by his late rector and all who knew him and his work, which has been largely in connection with a mission in connection with the Memorial church. Mr. Armitage was offered by the Bishop of Huron the incumbency of the parish of Thorndale at a much larger stipend than he receives here, but he preferred to come to Peterborough. Mr. Armitage is a young man of energy and a churchman of liberal views.

PRESBYTERY OF PETERBOROUGH.

Bobcaygeon's Call to Rev. Bryce Innes, B. A., Sustained.

At a special meeting last week of the Presbytery of Peterborough held in St. Andrew's church, Messrs. Bredin and Moore represented Bobcaygeon, and Mr. H. C. Hore, Dunsford.

A unanimous call from Bobcaygeon and Dunsford was sustained to the Rev. Bryce Innis, B.A.

The induction is to take place on Tuesday, Dec. 8th, in Bobcageon, at 2.30. Rev. Mr. Reeves of Lakefield, will preside; Rev. Mr. Potter preach; Rev. Dr. Torrance address the minister, and Rev. Mr. Tanner of Omemee, address the people.

In the evening a tea will be served, after which there will be music, short addresses and a lecture by Rev. J. G. Potter on "Can you Eat Sawdust without Butter?"

A CANADIAN SHEEP SHEARER.

He Fleeces His Yankee Opponents.

New York, Nov. 27—At the live stock show in the sheep shearing contest yesterday afternoon, in which the manner of the work counts as well as the time taken in doing it, the competition was very keen, and the three shearers were so evenly matched on all points that the issue was in doubt up to the last two or three minutes. The winner was M. Gibson, of Delaware, Ontario. Time, 23 min. 40 sec. He took more time than the second prize winner, but won on the excellent style in which he removed the fleece. "Dan" Taylor, of Mil brook, N.Y., was second, in 21 min. 30 sec., and N Frederick, of Tarrytown, N.Y., third, in 24 min. 24 sec.

HOCKEY.

At a meeting held at Norwood last week the senior hockey team was re-organized for the coming season. Following are the officers:

President—Dr. J. C. Moffat.
Vice-Pres—H. G. Buck.
Captain—F. W. Ashe.
Ex. Committee—W. Stewart, L. McGregor and D. A. Fraser.

The club decided to renew their membership in the Provincial Association, and are looking forward to a lively season.

Lindsay will have a first class hockey club this season. The Y.M.C.A. are taking hold of it. Very favourable terms, financially, exist at present. The organization meeting was held on Friday evening, with a very good attendance. The following officers were elected:

Patron—Judge Dean.
Hon. Pres.—Mr. A. F. D. MacGachen.
President—Mr. Wm. Flavelle.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. R. Ross.
Captain—Dr. F. Walters, D.D.S.
Sec.-Treas—Mr. A. Clark.
Managing committee—Dr. Walters, Mr. R. deB. Strathy, Mr. A. Clark.

The club look forward to a very successful year.

Government Dam.

The dam being built by the Ontario Government at the Minden mills is nearing completion and will be a great improvement, as it is a most substantial and workman-like job, being highly creditable to Mr. Welch, under whose immediate superintendance and direction the work has been carried on. On Wednesday last nine of the workmen employed thereon went home to Lindsay for Thanksgiving Day, leaving only three or four men to complete the job, which they expect to finish this week.

Mr. Routley Doing it Thoroughly.

"If you aim to do a thing,
And mean to do it really,
Never let it be by halves,
Do it fully, freely!"

Sensational! Not a bit of it—just a simple straightforward way of carrying out his intentions. Mr. Routley, after a successful eleven years of active life, has decided to retire from business at New Year's. In order to effect an easy closing up of his business, it is necessary to sell off the stock, and the quickest way to turn stocks into money is to cut prices. This is done, and done thoroughly. Cost and values not considered—clearing out the stock is the main point in question. A perfect avalanche of bargains is promised to shoppers, and the price reductions are making Peterborough people talk, wonder and buy!

SEVERAL SERMONS TO THE YOUNG MEN.

ADDRESSED BY FOUR DIVINES LAST NIGHT.

Rev. Dr. Torrance Preaches in the Charlotte Street Church, Rev. J. J Rae in St. Andrews, Rev. J. G. Potter in the George Street Church, and Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., in St. Paul's.

As stated on Saturday the members of the Ministerial Association arranged an exchange of pulpits for Sunday evening, when each delivered a special sermon to young men. The various churches were attended by unusually large congregations, the subject for the sermons being an interesting lesson to both old and young. A brief synopsis of the various sermons delivered will be found appended:

Rev. Dr. Torrance.

Rev. Dr. Torrance of St. Paul's, spoke from the pulpit of the Charlotte street Methodist church. He took for his text Proverbs xx, 29th verse:—"The glory of young men is their strength; and the beauty of old men is the grey head."

There is no period in life, stated the speaker in the course of his sermon, to which a greater interest belongs than the period of youthful manhood. It is the period when one having just emerged from boyhood begins to feel that he is master of himself. It is the period of large possibilities, when onlookers pause to see what is to come out of youth's bloom and promise. In the text Solomon says, "The glory of young men is their strength."

1. These words may be applied to the physical strength of young men. While physical strength is not the highest kind of strength, it is a gift for which we ought to be sincerely thankful. It is an inestimable blessing to come into the world with a sound body, and to find oneself on reaching youthful manhood in the possession of bodily health and vigour. And one should seek to keep his physical strength as long as possible, carefully avoiding everything that would injure it.

2. These words may be applied to the intellectual strength of young men. Intellectual strength is a great blessing. We should not, however, carry our admiration for it too far, as Carlisle does. It is important to cultivate our mental powers. This we may do by a judicious course of reading.

3. These words may be applied to the moral strength of young men. Samson was physically strong but morally weak. Byron was intellectually strong but morally weak. Moral strength is strength like that of Daniel, who purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's meat.

4. These words may be applied to the spiritual strength of young men. John says, "I write unto you, young men, because ye are strong and the word of God abideth in you and ye have overcome the wicked one." Those young men are spiritually strong in whom the word of God abideth.

Let young men cultivate these different kinds of strength, physical, intellectual, moral and spiritual, and they will understand the force of the words, "The glory of young men is their strength."

Rev. J. G. Potter.

Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's, occupied the pulpit of the George street Methodist church and spoke from the text, "Wilt thou not from this time cry unto me, my Father thou art the guide of my youth," Jeremiah 3rd chap. and 4th verse. He stated that the prophet in this instance used these words as he evidently saw the necessity of calling upon man to forsake his evil ways and cling to God. Success can only be attained by following in His footsteps and failure is due to estrangement from Him.

Jeremiah understands the troubles of the people. He knows that they are deeply in sin and so in the words of the text He calls upon them to take the Father as their guide.

It is a cause of great encouragement, continued the speaker, to think that young manhood is the illustration of all that is strong, buoyant, hopeful and cheerful. Jesus Christ called around Him young men to be His disciples, and to-day he calls upon, not the aged so much, as the young men, because their minds are purer, tenderer and more plastic. They have less of worldliness and selfishness in them than those who have lived longer and becomes stronger in their prejudices. It is an honour and glory to young manhood to know that Jesus Christ calls upon you to His service. He calls upon young men to help Him in turning the course of those who are on the broad road to destruction.

God wants immediate action.

It is His desire that every young man should say "My Father thou art the guide of my youth, be my guard all the way through my life."

What young man is there who would raise his hand against a saintly mother? What young man, no matter how humble, will allow an unrighteous word to be said of one so dear to him. Not even an infidel will allow a word to be said against his Christian mother.

The speaker then proceeded to address a strong appeal to young men to fight the good fight and not bring the grey hairs of their mothers to the grave in sorrow. He instanced the case of the young man in Toronto who recently forged a cheque in that city and endeavoured to pass in the bank. He depicted the sorrow of the father who hurried to the city from the peaceful country to face the awful disgrace which his son brought upon him. He told of the straightforward brother whose career was almost blasted by the occurrence and then spoke touchingly of the agony of the mother. Ah, said he, we can imagine her wishing in her agony that the earth would open a grave in which she could lay her bowed head.

The folly of procrastination was then dwelt upon by Mr. Potter, who drew a comparison by explaining the difficulty met with by a physician to whom the task was assigned of setting a limb which had been for some time broken. The longer it was allowed to go the more difficult was the task of setting it. It was the same, too, with disease. If taken in time it could be cured, but if delay was indulged in, it might be too late when the physician arrived. A special plea was then addressed to the young to join the army of the saved before the conscience became seared by a worldly life. An obstacle which stood greatly in the way of progressive Christianity was that the young were inclined to think that religion was only for the old. He warned them that this was not the case and if the opportunity was let slip now it might pass and never return.

Rev. W. R. Young, B. A.

Rev. W. R. Young, B. A., conducted the service in St. Paul's church. He spoke from Matthew 6—33, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness." "Self knowledge, self reverence, self control, these three," says one, "form man's true Saviour. Blended in one they form a power that can lift man from deepest depths to highest heights." A prominent lecturer criticising the late Lord Macaulay declared that "Without Godliness in the heart and life the most brilliant career has missed its allotted purpose and there comes a dimness upon the lustre of the brightest fame." These quotations indicate opposite poles of thought. One finds in man all that is necessary for personal salvation. The other recognizes that without God there can be no true salvation. The text to-night is the teaching of the Great Teacher on this question and contains a motto which, if observed, must make a man better for both worlds. What we are to seek, why we should seek, how we should seek, will outline our thoughts to-night. What we are to seek. The object of our search is two-fold—(a) The kingdom of God, (b) His righteousness. When men speak of a kingdom they mean not simply a vast territory, boundless wealth, great population. True, these may be included in the thought of a kingdom but in themselves do not constitute a kingdom. The underlying principle in a kingdom is a sovereign's rule and a subject's submission. Whenever they are found a kingdom is established. So in the use of the word in science a kingdom is that department in which a controlling force is acknowledged. The kingdom of God is the rule of God in the heart, and the cheerful submission of the heart to that rule. Whenever you find these you have the kingdom of God. The righteousness of God is the working out in practical life of this rule in the heart. It means the observance of God's law and the loving of God with all the heart.

Why should we seek this? Any man has a right to ask this question. Religion is one of the most reasonable things in the world. No man is required to take a step in the direction of religion without having a sufficient reason for his doing so. In answer to the question we may submit three answers.

(a) In religion we find that while essential to life, many things are desirable, but not necessary. Their possession would add pleasure to life but they are not necessary. Money may be desirable. It would relieve business difficulty and add to the comfort of home, but many of us have gotten along without much money and may have to do so until the end. Political honours may be desirable, but not necessary. But religion is necessary. While men may get along without it in time, who can face death without it? All else will fail us in that hour.

Religion furnishes us with the simplest course of living, and gives us the most common sense view of life.

Christians are often told that they are credulous—they believe almost anything, and especially anything that is supernatural. But when the facts which Christians believe are placed side by side with those which skeptics ask us to believe, it is easily seen that skeptics are more credulous than Christians. Take the skeptics' account of Creation and compare it with the Bible account, and which requires the stronger faith? Take the Bible account of the creation of man, and is it not easier to accept than the theory of the evolutionist? Surely it was easier for a man to accept the statement that man was made by God in his own image than to believe that his great-great-grandfather was a monkey or a tadpole? Viewed from any standpoint, the religion of Jesus Christ is the simplest and most common sense view of life.

Religion furnishes us with the only true view of life. Sometimes men speak of life as common place. It is made up of routine duty. True it is common place if it is an end in itself, but when life is viewed as a seed-time, and eternity as a harvest, when two worlds are joined, then life and the routine duty cease to be commonplace. The old philosopher rubbing sealing wax with chamois, and then catching feathers and strews with his wax, may appear to be at child's play, for when he is seen as Shaler

There is no prettier sight in the world than that of a healthy, happy mother at play with her robust and rollicking baby. It is a sight entirely too infrequent. Too often the baby is puny and peevish and the mother sickly, fretful, and nervous. The woman who neglects to take proper care of herself and who therefore suffers from weakness and disease of the organs of womanhood cannot be healthy and amiable. Her children will be puny and ailing and happiness will pass by on the other side. There is no reason why every woman should not be the healthy, happy mother of robust and playful children if she will take the proper care of herself. Proper care means, first of all, proper medicine for her ailments.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make any woman strong and well in a womanly way. It cures all weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. It prepares a woman for motherhood. It insures the health of the baby. It makes parturition easy and nearly painless. Over 90,000 women have testified to its virtues, in writing. Druggists sell it and have no substitute "just as good." The druggist who tries to force something else upon you is not an honest man. He is trifling with your life and happiness for the sake of a greater profit to himself.

Mrs. F. E. Forgey, of Carns, Keyapaha, Co., Neb., writes: "I write to you again concerning my daughter, Mrs. D. Billings. She has taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' She thinks the medicines did her a world of good. She was confined the 15th of February. Was sick about three hours, and now has a ten pound daughter. She got along nicely afterward. She says she never felt so well. She looks well and her complexion is clear."

The modern business world won't stand still or loiter to wait for the man who suffers from headaches, biliousness and dyspepsia, caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Of druggists.

COLD STORAGE FACILITIES.

Prof. Robertson Says Toronto is a Natural Centre—Phenomenal Expansion of Trade in Butter.

Toronto, Nov. 28.

An interested audience of business men assembled in the Council Chamber at the City Hall yesterday morning to listen to an address upon cold storage by Prof. Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner. Among those present were: Messrs. Andrew Gunn, George Chapman, D. M. Macpherson, M.L.A., Lancaster; J. S. Buchan, Dominion Cold Storage Co., Montreal; W. Thompson, Ed Burke, D. Flavelle, E. H. Ramsay, Rutherford, Ald. Preston, Ald. Leslie, Jones of Dominion Cold Storage Co., Toronto; Marshall.

The Mayor took the chair and briefly introduced the Professor, but having to attend a meeting of the Board of Control, requested Ald. Leslie to preside.

Prof. Robertson, having laid down the cardinal principles that in Canada the products of the farms are the staple articles of commerce, that the work of the middle men is quite as essential to prosperity as the work of producers, and that it is essential to procure the delivery of the finest quality of products to the British consumer in prime condition, called attention to a schedule of twelve articles of food of the value of $577,599,000 which were imported into Great Britain in 1895, every one of which articles is produced in Canada.

Canadian cheese has won the first place in the British market because it is not readily injured at the ordinary atmospheric temperature. The creamery butter in Canada when made is as fine as that made in Denmark or France, from which Great Britain draws large supplies. When the butter from Canadian creameries can be carried to the British markets in cool storage chambers it will win quite as good a reputation there as Canadian floor and Canadian cheese. The exports of butter from Montreal during the shipping season of 1894 were only some 32,000 packages. In 1895 the late Government provided cold storage chambers on the steamships for the safe carriage of that article. The quality was so improved and the demand so increased that the exports from Montreal reached 69,000 packages in 1895, and 157,821 packages in 1896. The exports of this article may be indefinitely increased. Great Britain imports butter annually to the amount of about $65,000,000. The deterioration of food products is caused by some form of fermentation, that can be very greatly retarded if not wholly arrested by keeping the goods continually at a temperature at or near freezing point. The Government has planned to give the necessary assistance to complete what will practically be a chain of cold storage service from the creameries in Canada to the retail shops in Great Britain.

In order that the butter may begin its journey in a state of perfect preservation, the Government will pay a bonus of $100 per creamery to the owners who provide the necessary refrigerators to keep the butter at a temperature not exceeding 37 or 38 degrees. The Government proposes to largely extend the assistance which it has given towards providing a service of refrigerator cars running weekly on different lines of railways to the ports of shipment.

Cold storage chambers, fitted with the best mechanical refrigerator machines, are to be fitted up in several lines of ocean steamships.

The vote by the Dominion Parliament for cold storage was for the preservation of products for the foreign markets only or mainly. At inland points where it may be actually necessary to have cold storage accommodation to complete the chain of cold storage service for goods en route to the foreign markets, if that accommodation will not be provided by private enterprise, doubtless the Government will give the financial assistance which is actually necessary.

Toronto is now a great railway centre, and as the parts of carloads of such products as butter, poultry, eggs and cheese intended for export may be collected here by the refrigerator cars running weekly, it may be necessary to have a cold storage building where these can be kept safely until full carload lots are made up for the ocean shipping ports. Already there are two or three large cold storage warehouses in Montreal, which have been provided wholly by private enterprise and capital. It is presumed that the independence of spirit of Toronto men would not let them ask from the Government what Montreal business men had not needed in providing similar public service. At the same time it would not do to let the cold storage system be faulty from Western Ontario for the want of the necessary accommodation at such an essential railway point as Toronto, and if it cannot be provided without a small measure of Government assistance that will doubtless be given. However, the business itself as a private enterprise would probably be self-sustaining and profitable from the beginning.

At the conclusion of his address Prof. Robertson answered a number of questions elucidating the various points touched upon by him and a brief discussion followed.

Upon motion of Ald. Leslie, a vote of thanks was tendered Prof. Robertson.

Do not allow your system to get weak and debilitated. It is easy to keep well and strong by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WHO KILLED MR. RANKIN?

A Tragedy on Fitzwilliam Island Which is Surrounded by Mystery—His Companions Missing.

Tobermoray, Ont., Nov. 27.—A week or 10 days ago the tug Seaman of Wiarton called here, bound for Fitzwilliam Island with two Americans, who were going to survey and value timber on the island, the Seaman to call for them in two weeks' time. The men were a Mr. Austin of Detroit and a Mr. Rankin, supposed to be of either Detroit or Big Rapids, Mich. They were accompanied by a guide from this place, George E. Belrose.

Yesterday Capt. A. W. Tyson of the Seaman was obliged to take shelter in Rattlesnake harbor on the Fitzwilliam Island. Going to the shanty occupied by the above-named gentlemen, he knocked on the door. Receiving no reply, he entered, and was horrified to find the body of Mr. Rankin in a box standing against the wall, with bruises on his face and body.

Pinned to the dead man's breast was a note stating that his comrades had left for Tobermoray at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, the 24th, to wire.

As yet Austin and Belrose have not reached here. It is thought they are on Yeo Isle or Black Bill Isle, being unable to make here, having but a small yawl, and the weather since Tuesday night having been very stormy.

The tug Seaman left this morning to look for the missing men. Mr. Rankin's death is believed to have been due to an accident of some kind.

Well Known in Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 27.—The two men alluded to in the Tobermoray despatch are Thomas J. Austin and James Rankin of this city. They left Detroit about two weeks ago on a land-looking trip to Fitzwilliam Island to estimate the cedar on it, with a view of closing a large contract for cedar ties. The island was recently purchased by W. C. Yawkey of Detroit, and Mr. Austin. Thomas Austin is one of the best-known young men in Detroit. He was born in the city 37 years ago and has lived here all his life. He is married to a daughter of W. C. Yawkey, the well-known lumber man and capitalist of this city. The plan of purchasing Fitzwilliam Island has long been a favorite one with Mr. Austin. Two or three years ago he had an option on the island and endeavored to get some of his friends interested with him. Mr. Yawkey and Mr. Austin recently purchased the island, which contains about 18,000 or 20,000 acres, and has valuable mineral deposits. Mr. Austin has the reputation of being a big-hearted, courageous fellow, who did not know what fear was in an emergency of this kind. His father was a lake captain and Tom was brought up on the water. The general opinion seemed to be that Rankin having met with an accident of some kind, Austin and guide immediately started in search of help. Being an expert sailor he would not hesitate to go out in the heaviest sea. His friends are hopeful that he succeeded in reaching one of the neighboring islands and that the high winds that have prevailed in that region for the last few days have kept him from reaching the mainland. J. S. Rankin, his companion, whose dead body was found in the shanty, is an old-time lumberman and land-looker. He was in partnership with C. S. Ortmann, with whom he made his home at 92 High-street east. He was also interested in the Detroit Sulphite Fibre Company. He is unmarried. Mr. Rankin was born in Scotland 63 years ago and has lived in this country ever since he was 5 years old. He was a well-known Mason.

SIFTON HAS A WALK-OVER.

The New Minister Elected by Acclamation—Winnipeg News.

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Hon. Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, was elected by acclamation in Brandon to-day. He will reach Ottawa with his family in a fortnight.

Premier Greenway to-night announced he had selected Charles Meikle, member for Birtle, to fill the vacancy in his Cabinet caused by Mr. Sifton's retirement.

Rev. Alex. Grant of Winnipeg has accepted the call to the First Baptist Church, Ottawa.

Hon. Messrs. Blair and Davies will arrive here to-morrow and go straight through to the coast. They were to have met Mr. Tarte here, but that gentleman's special car is delayed along the line in a snow blockade.

The blizzard here last night was the worst known in years. The train service is badly demoralized and several trains are cancelled entirely.

UNDER THE HORSES' FEET.

Mr. Archibald McLean Slipped From His Wagon and Was Killed.

Harriston, Nov. 27.—Archibald McLean, a farmer living on the town line between Arthur and Minto, was fatally injured here this afternoon. He started for home with a team and wagon, and had only gone a few rods when the lines slipped from him in some way, and in trying to regain his hold he fell under the horses' feet and was kicked in the head, and died in a few hours after, never fully regaining consciousness. He leaves a widow and three children.

A WELLAND CANAL MYSTERY.

Body Found and Not Identified—Was the Man Thrown from a Boat?

Welland, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—About the middle of September the body of an unknown man was found floating in the canal. An inquest was held and every effort made to discover the deceased's identity, but without success. A notebook found in his possession contained the name of Charles Ross. The St. Catharines police have received a letter from Cleveland officers to the effect that Joseph Fields is serving a sentence for throwing a man off boat into the river at that place. It also states that Fields knocked a man off a boat in the Welland Canal and if the authorities want Fields he can be had. The man knocked into the canal has never been heard of since, and as the drowned man, supposed to be Ross, is the only stranger who has met death in the canal during the past year, it certainly looks like the perpetration of a foul deed on the part of Fields. The coroner has taken steps to have full particulars of the matter in the hands of the authorities, and developments are awaited. The body of the drowned man was interred at Welland.

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing But Dodd's Kidney Pills Could Touch the Spot.

Brussels, Nov. 23—(Special)—Mr. W. P. Jackson, a telegraph operator of this place, has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—"Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal—and took the hot springs course, all to no purpose. I have taken doctors' advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I starting taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes, I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

Constipation Cured.

Gents,—I was in very poor health for over four years; the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash I got three bottles of B.B.B. and took it regularly. I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B.B.B.

The Has Ever Known. Words of Praise from a New York Lady for

AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. MAY JOHNSON, 368 Bider Avenue, New York City.

The Latest Fashions

The shade known as wild duck, that striking combination of blue and green that recalls the soft breast of the bird, will be seen all winter. In silk for waists and for petticoats and trimmings it will hold its own with all the curious combinations, autumn advices predict.

Black stockings and white shoes are quite en regle, but there is a strong feeling against anything with tan shoes but a hose that exactly matches. Large buckles of antique silver are much worn, particularly with low soft black glace kid shoes, while with gayer colors jeweled bows and beaded tips are not uncommon.

Silk was never in greater demand than it will be this coming winter. The heaviest weaves, the thickest cords, will be most in favor. Light-weight silks will be used only for linings. Heavy moires and richly brocaded satins with raised flowers in contrasting hues, and in shades to match the ground tint, will be the fabrics for dinner and evening wear.

In the matter of fabrics velvet will reign supreme. No winter wardrobe will be complete without a velvet gown. The French modiste has declared in its favor; it is most becoming to the complexion; nothing so sets off the figure or may be made to hang so well. Mark the prophecy—to obtain a gray or a purple velvet gown will be the ambition of every well dressed woman.

A spoon for every use and a use for every spoon. It would seem so in this day of endless invention and variety. Table silver is without limit of pattern or structure. The new sugar tongs are like miniature ice pincers. The handles are finished with two large rings and the ends are claw shaped, so that the lumps of sugar are held as though in a vice.

The latest Parisian sunshades are small. It is suggested that at the present rate of decrease we shall soon be using the tiny silk and lace togs of our grandmothers. Those most popular at the present, however, are of rational size. A recent novelty is white, with flowers printed on its surface, such as convolvuli, poppies and the like, used with a handle whose color harmonizes with the flower and a knot incrusted with precious stones.

Nothing takes the place of lace for millinery and dressmaking purposes. It plays a most prominent part on all summer gowns and hats, no matter what the material, no matter what the color. It is made into butterflies, stiffened into shape with wire for millinery purposes; it is used to cover waistcoats when the silk may be deemed of too deep a shade. It softens and beautifies everything it touches, and is most popular in the yellow shades which are so becoming to the complexion.

Tiny capes, or collets, that reach barely to the puff of the sleeve give the finishing touch to costumes designed for midsummer wear. Two styles appear to divide the allegiance of the entire feminine world. One is a succession of pleatings of mousseline de soie in cream or straw color, over light taffeta foundations, and shows a big bunch of pink roses at the back of the neck beneath a fall of lace. The other is of linen embroidered in arabesques in a combination of tones and is trimmed on the interior with flouncings of soft lace.

A crepe paper toilet table is a great addition and is inexpensive and easily made. Have your carpenter manufacture a circular or square table, as you desire. Tack a piece of cloth around its edge deep enough to come down half way to the floor; sew to this a flounce of the crepe paper, covering the rest of the distance to the carpet. Cover the top of the table with the paper and finish it with another flounce of the paper deep enough to overlap the lower one. Set it off with a liberal number of paper bows or rosettes, and the effect will be really astonishing.

The miniature craze is in full blast. The mania extends in every direction from the decorating of china tea services to the perpetuating of the faces of dear relatives. No drawing room is complete without a collection of these little oval or round shaped studies tacked in groups or standing in odd corners against a bit of drapery or an old empire fan background. All the dead and gone celebrities, wicked and angelic, lucky and unlucky, are charmingly represented. Marie Antoinette, Mme. de Pompadour, Marie Louise and Josephine are prime favorites.

A certain wise though fashionable mother has originated a plan whereby she kills two birds with one stone, for not only are her own and her neighbor's children given the pleasure of having company and each child in its turn taught how to entertain and to practice the unselfishness required of host or hostess, but the mothers themselves are equal sharers with their children in the pleasure brought about by this unique idea. This bright woman has the common sense to realize that she grows petty and narrow and easily irritated by trifles if she stays at home too much or merely seeks recreation in making calls and talking small talk, so she has found three other mothers who think as she does, and they four have formed a "Happy Afternoon Club," in joining which they agree to have the children of the other three at the house of one of the members once a month, for the afternoon. Opera, concert, theatre, golf, tennis or whatever takes the other mothers away for their afternoons recreation is enjoyed with an easy mind, as the stay-at-home mother promises not to delegate the somewhat onerous honors to any one else, but starts all the fun going in person for the children left in her care. At first it was hard work, but what a gala day for the youngsters and a little tact and good management soon made the afternoon more enjoyable than a real party and accustomed them to "society" at an early age. In seeing their children drawn out by the others in thinking up games and entertainment for the little folks the mothers are wonderfully refreshed, and have been quite as much the gainers as the children, and other parents are advised to try this simple plan.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucassus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

THE RUSSELL-SCOTT CASE.

Something About the Earl's "Wild Oats" Prior to His Marriage.

London, Nov. 27.—The Central Criminal Court (Old Bailey) was not so crowded as yesterday, when the trial of Lady Selina Scott, mother of the Countess Russell, and others charged by Earl Russell with criminal libel, was resumed this morning before Justice Hawkins.

Lady Scott was dressed as stylishly as yesterday and was attended in court by her maid.

Earl Russell was re-examined by his counsel, Sir Frank Lockwood, Q.C., and said he informed Lady Scott on the subject of his "wild oats" prior to his marriage to her daughter. Counsel for the Earl continuing, read a letter from Lady Scott to his client in which she wrote:

I want you always to trust me. I am thankful I know everything. I love you just the same. Your loving, Bo.

Answering further questions put to him by Sir Frank Lockwood, Earl Russell said that at the end of the suit by the Countess for a restitution of her conjugal rights, the litigation had cost him between £10,000 and £15,000.

Mr. St. George Lanefox, a cousin of Earl Russell, corroborated the latter's evidence on the subject of the yachting trip and said he warned the Earl not to marry, as, from enquiries which he had made, he considered Lady Scott to be a "woman of infamous reputation."

After evidence had been given in regard to the responsibility of Lady Scott for printing and circulating the libels against Earl Russell, upon which the charges against the defendants are based, the court adjourned until Monday.

A Kansas Jail on Fire.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 27.—At 3.30 this morning fire broke out in the Jackson County Jail, and for a while it appeared as if the structure would be destroyed, and many of the prisoners, 168 in number, cremated. Prompt work by the Fire Department prevented an awful holocaust, and the damage to the prison will only be about $1000. The Criminal Court and the marshal's office were wrecked. The fire was caused by a cigarette.

IT IS IN THE AIR.

It is kidney education.
Tweed people are learning fast.
Here are some facts.

One of the best known residents of Tweed is Mr. W. H. Houston, who relates the following interesting facts: Mr. Houston says, "I have been very bad for several years with pains in my side and back.

"I had to urinate very frequently, in fact my rest was disturbed by frequent rising at night for that purpose. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, at Newton's drugstore, and have experienced great relief from the first.

"I am sure that I have been greatly benefited, and can recommend them highly to anyone troubled as I was."

DEATH TO THE HORSES.

They Never Recover After Being Attacked by Paralysis of the Throat—A Farmer's Loss.

Guelph, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Cerebro-spinal meningitis has broken out among the horses of Mr. John Hanlon, Puslinch Township. He has lost four valuable animals, and others are affected. The disease shows itself by paralysis of the throat, which prevents the animal eating or drinking. Drs. Reed and Ireland have the other cases in hand, and telephoned Dr. Smith of the Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto. He in reply said as a rule the animals affected die, as he never knew of one recovering when paralysis of the throat was marked. He advised them to pay particular attention to those that were not affected, and to remove them and thoroughly disinfect the buildings and have them well cleaned. Mr. Hanlon may lose all his horses.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

SEVERAL SERMONS TO THE YOUNG MEN.

of Miletus, investigating the power of a magnet, his work takes a new meaning. Franklin flying a kite seems to be child's play, but when that kite flying is seen to Franklin questioning the storm cloud, it has a deeper meaning. So the measuring of cloth between the counter, the building of stone and brick walls, and all the common work of life take on a new meaning when they are seen as connecting time and eternity.

For these three reasons, men—young men especially, should seek the kingdom of God.

How should we seek? This may be illustrated by a study of the way men of the world seek the things of the world. With all the heart, with all the mind, with all sacrifice. So should we seek God to day. First in point of time, first in order of merit, first in everything. After all it is the only object worth seeking.

Rev. J. J. Rae

Rev. J. J. Rae occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's church last night. He took for his text II Kings 6-17: "And Elisha prayed and said. Lord, I pray the, open then his eyes that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man."

This scene is familiar to us all. Elisha and his young servant were fleeing from the King of Syria. They take refuge in Dothan. The host of Syria encompasses Dothan at night and when the young man had "risen early and gone forth, behold a host compasses the city, both with horses and chariots." He hastened to his master in great fear and said: "Alas, my master, what shall we do!" And Elisha said: "Fear not, for they that be with us are more than they that be with them." And Elisha prayed, "Lord, I pray thee, open then his eyes that he may see," and the Lord opened his eyes and he saw the mountains full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha.

If there were but one prayer for the Christian church in behalf of the young men who stand facing the problems of life and destiny, that prayer should be for each: "Lord, I pray thee, open thou his eyes that he may see."

This is the secret of all mastery. Men are great, and rich, and happy, they are poets, and philosophers, and sculptors, and inventors only as their eyes are opened that they may see. The greatest vision that a man can have is the vision of a true noble manhood, to the attainment of which all the powers of being are called into action, and all the forces without into aid, and the question of how to attain this manhood, how to get this vision, is the question of questions to us all.

A man must see God. No human life begins in earnest until their eyes are open to see God. "Not a monarch watching nature while her mighty plan unfolds, but the Father of our spirits and the Shepherd of our frames, Loving each as our begotten, Calling each by separate names." We must see God as a Father in "Our Father which art in Heaven,"—only then can we apprehend Him aright. We must see god as a Helper. He who reads the world's history should see in it and through it all the master movements of all-powerful Love struggling to bring harmony and happiness to men. So in each life God's effort is ever evident to those who can see, offering and making available every needed help to the consummation of manhood. We must seek God as a protection. He that is for is more than all that can be against us. God stands to protect all who trust in Him, the present refuge of human weakness and need.

A man must see himself. He only can when he has first seen God, then in mirrored truth he sees himself. Sees what he is—what life means, sees what he can be—what the possibilities of living are. He must see the potentials of choice—the necessity of wise and personal administrations of life. He must see the need, the essential necessity of ceasing to do evil and learning to do well, for he is the divinely appointed architect of life's structure and the material must be good if the edifice stand.

A man must see his fellow-men. He belongs to a family and all men are brothers, sons of one Father. He is a citizen of a nation and all men are fellow citizens, subjects of the same King. He must see that it is duty to closely judge his fellowmen. Some will not administer for themselves—they live to be helpful. Some live to help and these only are happy. Their songs abound while from the others go up the shriek and curse and groan.

How shall we be able to see? Get proper position, take in the landscape of time and eternity. Be a citizen of both worlds. Live in clear atmosphere of truth, honour and sobriety. Have strong power of vision. Live so that sight may be keen. Let

Faith and her realising light
The clouds disperse, the shadows fly,
The invisible appear in sight
And God is seen by mortal eye.

Then though it doth not yet appear what we shall be, yet we know that when He appeareth we shall see Him as He is.

THE TOWN AND MANUFACTURERS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

A letter appeared in the EXAMINER of Friday, the 27th November, over the signature of a manufacturer, making complaint of the inaction of the Town Council and the Board of Trade in neglecting the town's interest by not inducing manufacturers to come to Peterborough. I shall not defend the council nor the Board of Trade, but I hardly think that ratepayers will uphold the views of the manufacturer. Being myself a manufacturer of 35 years domicile at Peterborough, the ratepayers will bear me out in saying that the town prospered better before the advent of such factories being coaxed to Peterborough by the council, giving them all they asked for in land and exemption of taxes. Ask such manufacturers whether they build houses for to rent, for which they would have to pay taxes? This question requires no answer, as everyone knows that owners of houses have to pay taxes whether their places are provided with tenants or for years empty. What have manufacturers of such a class done for the town since their advent. Houses have been built on the strength of being wanted for the increase of population. Properties have so lost since in value as to become unsaleable, even at the price the same are taxed for. The taxes which the council wants ratepayers to believe to be low in comparison with other towns is a delusion, as such places have given bonuses for railways and built waterworks, which is not the case in Peterborough. How have such manufactories affected trade? They have doubled the traders and with what results? I leave this question unanswered. As everyone well knows, I am, myself, a manufacturer, as stated before. What has the council for the thirty-five years I have been in business done for me? Once in all that time I supplied the police with helmets. One of the officers left the town suddenly and by another officer being appointed as his successor, he was also supplied with a helmet, which caused a wrangling in the council over the payment for the same, because they had not given an order for it. The ratepayers will find that the council then was more enconomical than at present.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your kindness.

I remain,
Yours truly,
WM. LECH.

The annual meeting of the Perrytown cheese factory was held in the factory on Wednesday, Nov. 25th. There was a very attendance of patron. On motion Mr. James Durham took the chair, and Mr. Wm. Kelley was elected secretary. After the minutes of the last meeting were adopted, the secretary, F. Currilley, read the report, showing the working of the factory for the past season to be in advance of last year, both in sales and also cheese manufactured :

Total No. lbs. of milk received during season.....762,366
Total No. of lbs. of cheese manufactured. 69,477
Total cash received for cheese.....$5,811 09

The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year :

President—J. W. McBurney.

Directors—The President and Messrs. Alex. Beatty. Wm. Potts, J. C. Gray, Wm. Robb, Dr. Henry Leslie, V.S., and Henry Wilson. Fred. Currilley was appointed as secretary, salesman and treasurer. The meeting then adjourned.

CAVAN.

The following extract from the minutes of the Cavan council has been forwarded to the EXAMINER with a request for publication :—

"Moved by Councillor Berry, seconded by Councillor Hootan,—That the reeves and members of the municipal council of the corporation of the township of Cavan in council assembled, do take this, our earliest opportunity, of expressing our sincere thanks to Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., for the valuable assistance he has given us in connection with the matter of the proposed opening and making of the thirteenth and fourteenth concession lines of road in the township of Cavan running through the big swamp east of the middle or gravel road, and for his valuable address given to the public at the meeting held in the village of Cavanville in connection with the visit and address of the Provincial Road Overseer, and that the clerk be instructed to forward a copy of this motion to Mr. Stratton.—Carried unanimously."

IMPERATIVE DECEMBER DOINGS

—AT—

THE GOLDEN LION!

We propose making December a notable month in our business. November has been a booming month, for, mind you, we laid ourselves out to boom things—not talk, not thunder, not importuning to buy, but a solid boom that bought buyers. Our idea of booming is to put out some inducements that no one can afford to neglect. You will remember our special push for November was in Carpets, Curtains and Housefurnishings. We purpose to push the going out of other lines embracing Mantles, Mantle Cloths, Millinery, Dress Goods, Silks, Dress Trimmings, Hand Embroidered Irish Linens, Flannels, Flannelettes, Carpets, House-furnishings & Curtains.

We want to get these lines pared down by the month. We want you to keep at the paring. We purpose to pay you for it in the values we will give.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

The Premier Had an Adventure on a Street Car.

THE CONDUCTOR ALMOST FAINTED

When He Found That He Had Demanded Fare a Second Time From the First Minister—Old Dominion Notes Will Have to be Used for a Time Yet.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—A good story is being told of the Premier. The other evening it was raining, and naturally Mr. Laurier took a street car, paying his fare on entering. The car was crowded and when some passengers alighted and others got on the conductor got mixed up about his collections. Thus it happened, says The Tribune, that he again presented his fare box to the distinguished statesman. Mr. Laurier looked at the box and then at the conductor: "What is this for?"

"Your fare."

"I have paid you."

"When?"

"When I got on."

"You have just got on, and you haven't paid."

Things seemed to be at a deadlock, when a red-faced man with his arms full of bundles, came to the rescue. He vouched for the fact that Mr. Laurier had paid his fare, and when that gentleman alighted at McLaren-street the red-faced man felt that he had the moral support of the car.

"Ye oughtn't t' have held up the Government for a five-cent fare," he said, "ye really oughtn't."

When it dawned upon the conductor who his passenger was he was so overcome that he nearly fell in a fit. As it was, he actually stopped dead at the car crossing until the white flag was waved.

Recently references appeared in some newspapers to the disgraceful condition of many of the Dominion dollar bills now in circulation. Hitherto it has been the custom of the Finance Department to replace dirty and dilapidated Dominion bills on presentation to that department with new ones. This is done largely through the Ottawa banks, who can conveniently send over to the department a batch of five or ten thousand dollars' worth and secure new notes for them. It transpires, however, that at the present time the department has run out of new stock, and it will be probably a month before the banks can secure any. Some of the Ottawa banks have had to send to the Assistant Receiver-General's office at Montreal for a supply of dollar bills, and what they have received have been worn-out bills actually held there for transmission to the department to be cancelled. Owing to the condition of affairs in the department, there is no alternative but to place them in circulation again. It is likely that Toronto may also be called upon for a supply.

It is by no means settled when Mr. Laurier will visit England. It is possible that he may have to cross the Atlantic this winter, even though the session of Parliament is not more than ten or twelve weeks away. The Premier is not anxious to visit England until next year, but public business, chiefly the fast Atlantic steamship question, may render it imperative for him to go. If the journey can be avoided the visit will be postponed until after next session, in which case he will probably be accompanied by Sir Richard Cartwright. Strange to say, the Premier has never visited Europe.

Hon. Mr. Fisher and a number of Ottawa gentlemen have received invitations to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union, which is to be held at Guelph on Dec. 9 and 11. It is pointed out that during this year co-operative experimental work in agriculture alone has greatly developed, there being upwards of 11,000 plots, situated on 2260 different farms, used for experiments throughout the province. A splendid program of papers has been arranged for the meeting. The Dominion and Provincial Ministers of Agriculture have promised to attend. As showing the growth of experiments in agriculture, it may be pointed out that in 1886 there were only 12 in Ontario; in 1888, 90; in 1891, 203; in 1892, 754; in 1893, 1204; in 1894, 1440; in 1895, 1699, and in 1896, 2260.

A telegraphic despatch from Winnipeg appears in the evening papers stating that Mr. J. E. Smart of Brandon has been appointed Deputy Minister of the Interior in succession to Mr. Burgess. Nothing has been announced of Mr. Burgess' intention to resign the position, or of the Government to replace him with some other man. The Premier, when asked what truth there was in the story, replied that he had not heard a word of the matter, and he regarded the despatch as a pure fabrication.

Capt. Deville, Surveyor-General, has looked into the American contention that the nets seized by the cruiser Dolphin on Aug. 10 last in Lake Huron somewhere near the boundary line were taken in United States waters. From the maps of the United States War Department it transpires that the seizure was actually made within Canadian jurisdiction, so that there is no prospect of the parties from whom the nets were secured making anything out of their contention.

Several employes connected with the Departments of Agriculture, Railways and Canals and Postoffice put in their last day's work to-day, a large number having received their notice of dismissal some time ago. Ministers are still being pestered by applicants for office. One Minister recently received a letter from an Ottawa man stating that he thought evidence could be procured to convict a Government employe of political partisanship at the last election. If sufficient evidence were procured to justify his dismissal, would the vacant position be given to the writer's son? The Minister replied that any evidence of partisanship against an employe would be carefully weighed, but certainly the position, if vacated, would not go to the writer's son.

Mr. Tarte and party returned to Ottawa to-night. The Minister says what impressed him most in the west was the feeling of confidence among the people. He was surprised to find so many young men settled out there, all willing to work. Immediately on reaching the city Mr. Tarte paid a visit to his chief.

They are having exciting times in Hintonburgh, Ottawa's western suburb. The villagers who haven't paid their taxes can now keep their money in the bank for a few days. An injunction was granted by the Judge in Chambers this morning, restraining the further collection of taxes until Dec. 7. The injunction was an accompaniment to a writ issued in the High Court of Justice by R. V. Sinclair on behalf of Messrs. George Sparks, Andrew Holland, James Newton, Robert Reid and others, protesting against the taxation as illegal and void, and also asking that the village clerk, Mr. Mason, be restrained from acting as treasurer, either to receive or pay out the village moneys, until such time as he gives ample security, and also asking that Mr. Frank Hatherall be restrained from acting as tax collector until he gives security. The reason for asking that the taxation be declared illegal is that the rate exceeds two cents on the dollar, the limit fixed by statute.

Information was received at the Geological Survey Department to-day of the death of Mr. N. J. Giroux, of the survey staff, at River Boudette. Mr. Giroux was lying ill at his father's house, and his death was hastened by the burning of the dwelling. Mr. Giroux had to be carried out of the building, and the shock retarded his recovery. He was 37 years of age, and highly respected by his associates at the Survey Office.

J. G. Scott, manager of the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway, was here to-day, and had an interview with the Postmaster-General regarding mail subsidies on that railway.

Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. Mr. Fielding and his private secretary left for Toronto to-day. The Tariff Commission opens in Hamilton to-morrow.

Information was received here to-day of the death at Peterboro of Mr. Richard Nagle, who amassed a fortune in this district in lumbering. He once ran for member of Parliament for Ottawa.

Mr. W. McDougall of Hull has been appointed Sheriff of Ottawa County, vice Coutlee, retired.

The appointment of Senator McClelan as Lieut.-Governor of New Brunswick will be made this week.

A number of American bridge builders spent the day in town. They are on a tour of inspection.

SEES WITHOUT AN EYE.

Dr. Cocke of Boston, the Blind Specialist, Is Thankful to the X Rays.

Boston, Nov. 30.—Dr. James Richard Cocke, the blind scientist of this city, was made to see to-day for the first time in his life since he was three days old. It was a triumph of the X-ray. But perhaps more wonderful than this was the fact shown that eyes are not necessary to sight, developing the interesting problem, Where is the sense of sight located?

Dr. Cocke has one glass eye and one real eye, but the real eye is totally blind, yet it was clearly shown that the most vivid perception of light sensation was in the eyeless socket.

The instrument used was capable of a power of a million volts, and the tube was the ordinary Crookes.

Dr. Sutherland and G. Von P. Palm were the operators. A block of wood with raised copper letters on it was shown to Dr. Cocke inside and outside the cabinet. He felt it with his hands, and when he discovered the letters he said they were just what he had seen, and which gave him the impression of lack of density, or thinness.

"I am satisfied of this," said Dr. Cocke, "that if my sight were restored this minute I could not read print; but if it were raised like the blind alphabet I am sure I could read that."

When asked what the sensation was like, he said: "It is like an internal, tactile sensation; up and down, up and down, and off. It is a most exciting sensation. It is so intense that it is painful. This is not a perception of objects, but of my consciousness. This is an impression within my life. It is an inner and not an objective sense. It is vibratory. It seems like a general cerebral sense. It is almost like the perception of space."

BRITAIN AND FRANCE

Should be Friendly, So Paris Papers are Saying.

A VERY DECIDED CHANGE OF TONE

All the Powers Should Act in Concert in Regard to Turkey—Frosts in Britain Have Affected Crop Prospects—The Hamburg Dockers' Strike—General Cable News.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The Figaro, in a leading article to-day, declares that the most intimate relations between Great Britain and France are necessary; and that M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, will be to blame if he fails to cement the nations as desired by the people and Parliament of France.

Le Nord confirms the statement made on Saturday that the Paris Government has joined the Governments in St. Petersburg and London in negotiations looking to the establishment of Turkish reforms, which accounts for the sudden change in the tone of the French press towards England.

FROSTS IN EUROPE.

That Is Probably the Reason for the Latest Rise in Wheat.

London, Nov. 30.—The Mark Lane Express to-day, commenting on the crop prospects, says: Severe frosts in France and Central Europe have stopped plowing and sowing, and we anticipate a somewhat reduced wheat acreage in the entire region between the Vistula and the Bay of Biscay. Winter has set in throughout Russia. The Sea of Azof was closed to navigation on Nov. 24, and navigation of the Baltic is dangerous on the northern and eastern coasts, where there already is much ice.

Owing to the rainfall in India the deficiency in the wheat acreage is reduced, but while famine no longer threatens, a scarcity seems bound to be felt until the spring of 1898. English wheat maintains a good price in London, but the country markets are less firm. The cause of this is clear. In the counties last week 166,684 quarters of English wheat were offered for sale, against 69,530 for the same week of 1895.

A LITTLE LOVE FEAST.

Sir Joseph Lister and Mr. Bayard Say Nice Things at the Royal Society Dinner.

London, Nov. 30.—The anniversary dinner of the Royal Society was given to-night. Among the guests was Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, the American Ambassador, who proposed a toast to Sir Joseph Lister, the president of the society. In speaking to his toast, Mr. Bayard paid a handsome tribute to the work that had been achieved by the society.

Sir Joseph, replying to the toast, eulogized Mr. Bayard, who, he said, had endeared himself to everybody by his genuine love for the Old Country. Mr. Bayard, he added, must have a feeling of the greatest satisfaction, as he (Mr. Bayard) had privately remarked to him during the evening, that the hope of his life had been almost fulfilled, and when he left he would be able to feel that the clouds that had once seriously threatened the amicable relations of the United States and Great Britain had entirely cleared away during his term of office. This Sir Joseph ascribed as largely due to Mr. Bayard's beneficent efforts.

HAMBURG DOCKERS' STRIKE.

Some Reason to Hope that the Trouble Will Shortly Be Settled.

Hamburg, Nov. 30.—There is some reason to believe that the trouble here will shortly be settled. Efforts to bring about a conference resulted today in the appointment of a committee of four ship owners and four workmen to decide upon terms for a settlement of the strike. The committee met to-day, and it is said that the outlook for the ending of the trouble is hopeful, both sides being willing to recede in some degree from the extreme stand they have heretofore maintained.

Dockers' Strike Extending.

London, Nov. 30.—A despatch from Hamburg to the Exchange Telegraph Co., says the strike of the Hamburg dock laborers is extending, the dock men at Bremerhaven, Geestemunde and Nordenham having joined the strikers.

The Cable Conference.

London, Nov. 30.—The Pacific Cable Conference is meeting daily at the Colonial Office in secret sessions. The taking of the technical evidence has been finished. This included the evidence of London cable manufacturers and W. H. Preece, the technical director of telegraphs, of the postoffice of Great Britain.

Steamship Rates Go Up.

London, Nov. 30.—The American Line Steamship Company has issued a circular list of revised rates of fare on the ships of that company. The winter rates are not altered. The summer season begins with the month of April instead of July, as heretofore, and extends to October. The summer saloon rates are increased from £17 to £20, children half fare, and the age limit is reduced from 12 to 8 years. Reductions on return tickets are discontinued. The other transatlantic companies will adopt the same rates and regulations.

To Release Jameson.

London, Nov. 30.—The Daily Mail will to-morrow say that Sir Matthew White Ridley, the Home Secretary, acting on the advice of Sir William Broadbent, who on Saturday visited and examined Dr. Jameson, in Holloway Jail, has ordered the release of the prisoner. Dr. Jameson's friends wanted to remove him this evening, but he was too weak to be taken from the prison.

Hard on Ticket Agents.

New York, Nov. 30.—An evening paper says the business of the committee agents who made a livelihood by booking passengers on the trans-atlantic steamships from this city, is practically at an end. The substance of a circular which has been prepared is that, on and after Dec. 1, 1896, all steamship lines carrying passengers across the Atlantic, either to British or Continental ports, will refuse to accept passengers by these agencies.

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken

THE TOBACCO HABIT.

The universal habit of using tobacco is as firmly ingrained in human nature, almost, as the habit of using bread. Though as long ago as the time of King James, that virtuous monarch denounced with his royal pen the use of the weed, humanity has kept right on using tobacco which has found advocates almost as distinguished as the royal censor. At first thought it would seem that a plant to which humanity so universally turns for comfort was provided by nature for the use of man. Lord Byran in a distich thus apostrophises the leaf of the nicotiana tabacum:

Sublime tobacco! that from east to west,
Soothes the tar's labour and the Turkman's rest, and Lord Lytton thus pays tribute to the virtues of the much-condemned solace of man:

"Tobacco is a pleasing and a soothing friend; it makes a man think like a philosopher and act like a sage."

Thus we see opinions differ; what we like, we manage to approve of without many qualms of conscience; what we can't use or enjoy we very easily see the evil of. However, with tobacco, as with other things, the benefit or injury depends upon the moderate and proper use or the intemperate use or abuse. Still, as Canadians lead in most things, it is satisfactory to know that they lead in reform of the tobacco habit. They used less tobacco last year than for any of the four previous years. The quantity of tobacco consumed in Canada during last year was 9,633,000 pounds, or 340,000 pounds less than the average of the past four years. Half a million pounds of Canadian tobacco was used in the factories. There are 1,500,000 above the age of twenty in the Dominion. This would make the average consumption of tobacco, snuff and cigarettes made in Canada a little over six pounds for each male adult. There were 108,290,000 cigars consumed, against 106,181,000 in 1896, and an average of 110,192,000 for four years. These returns show that each male adult consumed seventy-two Canadian made cigars during the year. If as many more are imported, and if the non-smokers constitute one-fourth of the population, then every smoking adult in Canada smoked 192 cigars last year. The flippant and frivolous cigarette was manufactured, to the extent of 77,664,000, against 54,493,000 in 1895, and 44,450,000 in 1894. This is a distinct increase in this regard, though a man, woman or child that smokes a cigarette cannot be said to use tobacco. Yet the habit is perhaps more morally degenerative and pernicious than the use of tobacco in any form. If we continue using less tobacco and consuming less whisky and allied tipples, we may have reason for expecting the dawn of the millenium in a few thousand years.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE window glass combine in the United States is broken—a very natural consequence of an attempt to squeeze such a commodity into a corner.

THE sanguinary fable of the Kilkenny cats it seems is being re-enacted in Cuba. Each of the compatriots is claiming to have "chawed up" the enemy in a most thorough style, and if both tell the truth, there will soon be nothing left but the—tales.

DURING next year three provincial lieutenant-governorships will be vacant—Ontario in May, British Columbia in November, and Quebec in December. It may be expected that somebody will be found to fill them. The salary of the office in Quebec and Ontario is $10,000 with free residence, etc., and in British Columbia $9000 with the usual perquisites.

THE CATTLE EXPORT TRADE.

Interesting figures in Relation to this Important Industry.

People in Canada have been known to ask why, if the export cattle trade were a losing one, as those pursuing it say, do shippers stick to it season after season. The answer probably is that the trade is not always a losing one, indeed has been at one time very profitable, but owing to peculiar conditions on the other side the Atlantic was perhaps a losing one this year. Prices ruled low, 9½c in London in June, only 8c in July, coming up to 11½c in August, and going down to 8 or 9c again. The condition of the animals sent over was often poor and quite a number of shipments realised a loss. The extent of the trade was very considerable, 100,360 head having been shipped in 1896, as compared with 96,562 in 1895, which at an average of $60 each, represents a total of $6,021,600. The freight amounted to $1,003,600, while the railway charges were $301,080. The amount of hay used is estimated at 15,000 tons, which at $11 per ton, makes $165,000. The insurance is put at $100,360; keep of cattle at yards, $54,661; loading fees, $54,661, and attendants for the ocean voyages amounted to $90,000, making a total of over $8,000,000. This, therefore, is no inconsiderable industry. Exports of sheep were 80,671 head, a decided decline from the 136,728 head of 1895, and caused, no doubt, by the embargo placed upon them in January last. In their case, too, low prices were the rule, for where in 1895 they realised 14½c. for top price, in the present season the top price was 12½c. The value of these 80,671 at $5 the head s put at $403,355; ocean freight $100,000 and insurance $20,000. Horses went abroad to the number of 12,755 from the St. Lawrence in 1895; this year the number was only 10,087, of which one-half were landed in London.

A table will show the number of animals shipped from Montreal and Quebec during the season and the steamer lines by which they went:

Steamers.	Cattle.	Sheep.	Horses.
Allan Line	27,100	27,086	4,086
Reford & Co.	32,744	13,483	2,077
Elder, Dempter & Co.	15,656	17,632	1,851
Dominion Line	13,470	8,392	876
Johnston "	8,931	2,272	333
Beaver "	8,486	5,345	642
From Quebec	2,270	533	....
" "	1,451	1,222	86
Munderloh & Co	961	1,486	....
McLean, Kennedy & Co.	171	214	155
Total	100,269	80,671	10,087

Thirty thousand cattle went to Liverpool, twenty-two thousand to Glasgow, eighteen thousand to London, the remainder to Bristol, Newcastle, Manchester and France. Among the exporters of sheep John Dunn was at the head with shipments of 12,165; A. McIntosh, P. R. Duff, and Swift & Co. being other large shippers. Gordon & Ironside, who shipped 33,907 head of cattle in 1895, despatched only 27,057 this year. James Eakins stands next with 9,571. There seems a fascination about the trade for we have counted ninety names in the list of shippers of Canadian cattle during the present season. —Monetary Times.

The Kind You Need.

Paine's Celery Compound the Only Kind that Cures.

Other Celery Concoctions Merely Worthless Imitations.

"PAINE'S" Has a World-wide Record of Life-saving.

If you are numbered amongst the sick and diseased the medicine you need is the kind that has cured your friends and neighbours.

Paine's Celery Compound is to-day the only medicine that can meet your needs if you are suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles, dyspepsia and constipation, nervousness or from any trouble that results from impoverished or impure blood. It cures the sick as surely as night follows day.

The vast reputation that Paine's Celery Compound has acquired as a life-saver has led unscrupulous men to put up worthless imitations, and to name them celery preparations. Many people are deceived daily by these miserable frauds, spending their money for remedies that have no established record, and that can never cure.

A little care on the part of those who purchase will soon have the effect of banishing such deceptive liquid preparations from our midst.

Ask for "Paine's"; insist upon getting "Paine's"; and be satisfied that the name "Paine's" is on every wrapper and bottle that you buy. When you secure "Paine's" you have the only medicine on earth that can drive off your load of misery and suffering and give you a healthy, fresh and joyful life.

THEY'VE LEFT BLENHEIM.

The Prince of Wales and His Family Depart From the Marlborough Mansion.

London, Nov. 28.—The Prince and Princess of Wales, who have been the guests of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough at Blenheim Palace for the past week, took their departure from Blenheim to-day. Their Royal Highnesses were escorted from Woodstock to Oxford by the Oxfordshire Hussars and a detachment of the local Yeomanry Corps. The military was headed by the Duke of Marlborough, in his capacity of lieutenant of cavalry.

THE McFADDEN CURE

This was a Case of Diabetes—Also Stone in the Bladder—Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee Nov. 20.—(Special)—If he were Mayor of the town he could not be better known nor his case cause more talk. Your correspondent refers to Mr. Archibald McFadden whose prolonged sufferings so many were aware of and his cure by using Dodd's Kidney Pills which is causing so much talk just now. As to his experiences he said:—"For some years I have been troubled with Diabetes and stone of the bladder I consulted and was treated by several of the best physicians with no permanent benefit."

"The agony I endured in voiding and rom scalding can never be described I ran down in weight and strength until I thought that my time had come.

"I tried all the remedies prescribed by friends until at last I was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"After using eight boxes I am as sound and well as ever in my life and have not lost a day since using the first few doses."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have never as yet, in any case, failed to cure kidney disease at any stage of its progress.

THE COLDEST NOVEMBER

That Has Been Known for Fifteen Years—Ten Carloads of Sheep Frozen to Death.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 30.—The cold weather which prevails in the storm-swept districts of the Northwest has caused intense suffering, and the death list of four is expected to be increased unless milder weather sets in.

Ten carloads of sheep, destined for Chicago, were frozen at Grand Harbor, Devil's Lake. The November which is just closing is the coldest known in the Northwest for 15 years. Snow fell on the 4th of the month and has not since disappeared. There is great suffering on the stock ranges, and thousands of cattle will be killed if the weather continues cold.

At Vermillion, S.D., there is hardly a tree standing and every orchard is ruined. In many instances trees a foot in diameter were snapped off at the bottom. At midnight the thermometer was 12 below zero.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c. silver to cover postage and address, Mr. Geo. G. Strong, North Rockwood, Mich.

BRITISH SUBJECTS

Arrested and Thrown Into Prison in Cuba.

BUT JOHN BULL MADE HOT HASTE

He Taking Steps to Protect His Subjects, Who Were Two Men From Vancouver, B. C.—Defenceless Men and Women Massacred by Order of Gen. Weyler.

New York, Nov. 30.—A Herald special from Victoria, B.C., says: That the wheels of British diplomatic circles move swiftly when British subjects are outraged by foreign powers, is evinced by a case in which all residents of this province are interested.

The first intimation came on Thursday last in a telegram to Premier Turner from Bell Irving, a well-known merchant of Vancouver, B.C., who states that his brothers-in-law, Messrs. Beattie, both residents of British Columbia, had been arrested by the Spanish in Cuba, wrongfully imprisoned and sentenced to death. Mr. Irving asked that the Government of British Columbia take immediate action in their behalf, and the Premier at once telegraphed F. G. Vernon, the British Consular Agent General in London, asking that he communicate with the Foreign Office, and urge prompt inquiry and protection for the British Columbians. At the same time Lieut.-Governor Dewdney cabled to the Secretary of State, asking him to look into the case.

Immediate replies were received both from Mr. Vernon and the Secretary of State. The former, in fact, cabled within 18 hours after the despatch of the Premier's message to him, stating that the desired steps had been taken, and the Foreign Office would insure the safety of Messrs. Beattie and all other British residents in Cuba.

AS BAD AS TURKEY.

All Non-Combatants in Cuba Being Massacred by Order of Butcher Weyler.

Key West, Fla., Nov. 30.—Havana advices say the extermination of Pacificos continues by Weyler's orders. All commanders are ordered to clear the country of all non-combatants. The massacres only become known through the confessions of officers and soldiers. Col. Struch, it is said, openly boasted in Havana of killing over 300 old men, women and girls, who surrendered in Pinar Del Rio Province. Many have also been killed in other provinces.

Cubans Made a Great Capture.

New York, Nov. 30.—The first definite news regarding the capture of Guaimaro, in the district of Gamaguey, Cuba, by the insurgents arived in this city to-day in the form of a personal letter from Gen. Calixto Garcia to the Cuban Junta.

The report of the siege and capture, which was cabled here some time ago, has been denied by the Spanish authorities, but the Cuban leaders in this city declare that Gen. Garcia's letter leaves no doubt now that the report was correct.

It states that the garrison of 295 men in town lasted two days. When the officers surrendered the Cubans took as prisoners all the men in charge of the forts, which included one captain, two lieutenants, two sub-lieutenants, 18 sergeants, one surgeon and 16 corporals. All the officers were paroled, but the men were sent to the mountains to work on the Cuban plantations.

The booty captured by Gen. Garcia's men was a great boon to the patriots. It included 500 centenes (a gold piece worth $530) and other money aggregating $21,000, 200 Mauser rifles, 125,000 rounds of ammunition, six pack mules loaded with medicines and stores, and 500 machetes, besides a quantity of clothing.

Guaimaro is in the district of Camaguey and in the Province of Puerto Principe, and is a three days' march from the capital of that province.

It was said by the Cuban leaders in this city to-night that news of the capture of Puerto Principe is expected daily from Cuba.

No News of Weyler.

Havana, Nov. 30.—No news concerning the movements of Captain-General Weyler has been received. There is nothing to indicate the whereabouts of Maceo's command, but it is thought that they are retreating before the advance of General Weyler.

The war bulletins issued at the Palace to-day were unimportant. They only reported skirmishes, in which the losses on each side were trifling.

Rebels to-day blew up with dynamite a bridge near Seiba Mocha, Province of Matanzas, while a train was passing over it. The armored car attached to the train was wrecked and one soldier wounded. Thus far 278 members of the Nanigo Society, which is made up of criminals and ruffians of every description, have been exiled to the African penal colonies. This society was very active towards and after the close of the 10-years' war, and its members have taken advantage of the present condition of affairs to commit all manner of crimes. The authorities are making every effort to extirpate them.

An order has been issued by the Local Treasury to prevent the exportation of tobacco grown in the Province of Pinar Del Rio and Havana from the ports of the other provinces.

TO DISCUSS CUSTOMS.

A Conference to Be Held to Talk Over the Regulations Affecting the Canadian Frontier.

Washington, Nov. 30.—A conference between special customs inspectors and Treasury officials from Washington, which was ordered by Secretary John G. Carlisle about ten days ago, is in session in the Custom House to-day. It was called for the purpose of discussing the customs regulations now existing on the Canadian frontier and the formulating of amendments looking for the betterment of the service there, and the Chinese as they affect the customs regulations will not be an incident of the conference

J. N. Comstock, Chief of Customs at Washington, is the chairman of the meeting. He said this morning: "Certain modifications of existing regulations will be discussed, and eventually form a report to be made to the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington." The subject is general customs at all points on the Canadian frontier, from Maine to Manitoba. The Chinese will not, however, be mentioned. Some of the old regulations applying to all merchandise have been improperly interpreted and the reports will make recommendations for their simplification and betterment. It will last for two or three days. Those who will formulate the report are J. J. Crowley, Chief Special Agent of Customs at Washington; J. N. Comstock, Chief of Customs; W. S. Howell, representing Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hamlin; Collectors Nicoll, Caulfield and Norris, and Special Agents Smith and Tuohy.

Collector Kilbreth is authority for the statement that there is no conference at the custom house regarding the question of Chinese smuggling.

PLENTY OF GOLD.

The Reserve at Washington Is Now Thirty Millions Above the Limit.

Washington, Nov. 30.—There is no present likelihood that the Treasury Department will voluntarily resume the issue of gold certificates for bullion gold deposited. Within the past week sterling exchange has gradually grown stronger, as a result of which gold has to be sent abroad to pay for goods imported. At present the gold reserve is $30,000,000 above the reserve limit, and the Treasury rather discourages than otherwise the receipt of gold, as it reduces its supply of currency. In round figures it has on hand $70,000,000 in currency available for its daily business.

Bucket Shop Men Fined Heavily.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—The first case in this city in which "bucket shop" proprietors have been successfully prosecuted by means of the postal laws came before Judge Grosscup in the United States District Court this afternoon. William McClure, Dr. James Craig, J. E. McClure, John Tallman and W. A. Thomas, who were indicted this term for using the mails to promote a scheme to defraud, appeared in court with their attorney, and entered a plea of guilty. The District Attorney recommended a fine of $1000 in each case. The judge will pronounce sentence to-morrow.

AT TWO HOSPITALS.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing But Dodd's Kidney Pills Could Touch the Spot.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 23—(Special)—Mr. W. P. Jackson, a telegraph operator of this place, has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—"Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal—and took the hot springs course, all to no purpose. I have taken doctors' advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I starting taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes, I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

GOODWIN DIVORCE CASE.

Has Asked that His Counter Complaint Against His Wife Be Dismissed, He to Foot the Bill.

San Francisco, Nov. 30.—The theatrical profession was well represented in Judge Murphy's court this morning, where Nat C. Goodwin, the comedian, was expected to appear for examination regarding his income, in order that the Judge might be able to fix an equitable sum for the maintenance of Mrs. Goodwin, whose suit for divorce from the actor is now pending. Goodwin's attorneys filed an affidavit signed by their client. In effect he desired the counter complaint, which he had entered against Mrs. Goodwin, dismissed, he bearing all costs. The affidavit also showed that Goodwin had paid her a sum of money in full settlement of all claims against him for alimony and support. Goodwin did not appear and the action was practically dismissed, the question of costs alone remaining to be settled.

Death of a Great Scholar.

Boston, Nov. 30.—Rev. Oliver Crane, D.D., LL.D., died of paralysis last night. Dr. Crane was a well-known Oriental and classical scholar. He was a graduate of Yale of the class of '45 and passed nine years in the Orient in the work of the American Board of Foreign Missions.

Lady Scott Case Further Adjourned.

London, Nov. 30.—The trial of Lady Selina Scott, mother of the Countess Russell, Frederic Kast, John Cockerton and William Aylott, for criminally libelling Earl Russell, which was adjourned on Friday until this morning, has been further adjourned until next Monday, owing to the illness of Kast, who is suffering from pneumonia.

A HORSE DROWNED.

Its Driver is Kicked in the Face Trying to Save it.

At about half past eleven as one of the carters, working on the excavations of the Trent Valley Canal just above Nassau, was watering his horse in the river, an accident occurred which nearly cost the man his life and through which the horse was drowned.

It appears that the bed of the river falls away very abruptly at the point where the horse was being watered and the animal was forced out over its depth by the heavy cart. It was immediately swept off its feet by the strong current and both cart and horse turned completely over.

The driver clung to the cart and did his best to save the animal, but without avail. As the horse felt itself drowning it lashed out with its heels and struck the driver several times in the face. He was rescued with difficulty by his comrades, as he fainted from the effect of the heavy blows.

The horse and cart drifted down to the dam, where they are at present caught, the whole outfit being submerged, with the exception of one of the horse's legs.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY.

It was not Formally Observed in Peterborough.

All round the world yesterday, wherever a Scotchman was, and there are few countries where he is not found, the "day and a' wha honour it" was the toast of toasts. The day was the festival of Scotland's patron saint, St. Andrew. In some form or other the day was universally observed—a sprig of heather adorned the bonnet or a "right guid Willie Wacht" was drained to the land o' cakes. In Peterborough there was, it seems, no formal observation of the day. This failure to foregather was, it is understood, due to the low ebb of the funds in the treasury of the local society and to some of the members being "sweer" to enthuse this year. The local sons of Scotland, however, celebrated the occasion in their "hairts," and some of them possibly in their stomachs, but all the same one and all the pulses of Scotchmen took a few extra beats to the minute and a warmer rush of memory went back over the sea to the scenes of the bonnie land of the heather. The secretary of St. Andrew's Society received the following telegraphic greetings:

HAMILTON, Nov. 30, 1896.

St. Andrew's Society, Peterborough:

May the charms of Saint Andrew fellowship warm the tide of kindness in a' your Scottish bosome the nicht.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—An address will be delivered by J. Hampden Burnham in Catholic Association hall this evening.

—Mr. Angus McIntosh has again taken charge of the rink and is hard at work making ice for the skaters and curlers.

—The sessions open before Judge Weller a week from to-day, when Mark Lockington will come up for trial on the charge of burglarising the Morgan House.

—A number of the councillors again discussed the appealing against the judgment in the case of Jackson vs. Peterborough last evening, but no action was taken.

—If you want to economize burn the People's Coal Co's coal. All kinds of coal in stock, including best hard coal for stoves and furnaces, soft coal for grates, and smithing coal. Office—230 Charlotte street. Telephone 366.

—Whilst the police may be a little lenient towards the residents in the outskirts and allow them to use the sidewalks for bicycling whilst the roads are bad, yet there is no excuse for the young scorchers which are to be seen dashing along the boards every day. The magistrate was nearly run down yesterday.

Obituary.

The death of Mr. Francis Dunnigan, aged 41, took place last night of typhoid fever at the Nicholls Hospital. The deceased resided on Division street and leaves a widow and four small children to mourn his untimely death. He was well known throughout the county, being interested in the fruit tree and general nursery business.

Death of Dr. Morris.

The death of Dr. Morris, formerly of Peterborough, occurred yesterday at Oshawa. His son, Mr. Alf. Morris, of Peterborough, left for that town on Saturday last. Inflammation was the cause of death. Amongst those who have gone from town to attend the funeral are Mr. Harry Robinson, Mrs. A. Rickner, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Job, Mrs. Geo. Benton, sr., and Messrs. William and James Job. The doctor was well known throughout the entire Midland District, being an extensive manufacturer of popular medicines.

A Musical Entertainment.

The Montreal Witness of Nov. 17th says: "Concert goers experienced a treat on Tuesday in the choice musical entertainment given by Miss Mabel Chambers and Miss Bertha Belasco in Association Hall. The sweet toned voice of the first mentioned artist was heard to good advantage in "With Verdure Clad," "Love has Eyes," as well as in other numbers and encores. Miss Belasco's playing left almost nothing to be desired. The hall was crowded and the concert a decided success." The plan for concert to be given here by these young ladies, Dec. 3rd, is now open at Stratton's bookstore. Reserved seats 50 cents, admission 35 and 25 cents.

Miss Armstrong's Opening.

Miss Armstrong held her first opening in fancy work and novelties last evening and it was attended with such great success that her numerous patrons hope that the experiment will be again tried next year. An enormous quantity of fancy work was shown and a great many orders taken. The exhibition of silk drapes for tables, pianos and mantels was superb, as was the splendid showing which was made in table covers, centre pieces and doylies, finished in Battenburg or Honiton lace and drawn work. Something very new is the sweet pea pattern for doylies and it attracted a great deal of favourable attention last evening. It is used extensively on centre pieces and for the covers for five o'clock tea tables. A fine display of pretty toilet articles in silver is also shown by Miss Armstrong.

A WARSAW WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Nina Barr and William J. Little.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Michael Barr, South Dummer, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 25th, 1896, when Miss Nina Barr, his eldest daughter, was married to William J. Little, of North Dummer.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Robinson, of Warsaw, in the presence of about one hundred of the nearest relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

The bride looked charming and was becomingly costumed in blue silk tweeding and was given away by her father.

Miss Bella McLean, of Norwood, was the bridesmaid and was assisted by Miss Dora Payne, as maid of honour. The groom was assisted by Mr. David Crowe, of Hall's Glen.

After the wedding ceremony the guests were invited to partake of a most inviting wedding breakfast. The bride was the recipient of a large number of costly and handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Little left on the morning train for an extended tour north.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The Rosedale Works and a Short Description of the Operations.

A short description of the Rosedale works, says the Fenelon Falls Gazette, will be of some interest to our readers, partly from the fact of their being the first work to be carried on in this district by the new Government, notwithstanding many prophecies to the contrary by local Conservatives before the election; and also from the fact that between thirty and forty of our labouring men are at present employed thereon. The work consists of drilling, blasting and dredging a channel ninety feet wide from a short distance above the locks to a point over half a mile above the bridge, and was commenced about a year ago, and has been continued ever since with the exception of an intermission of about two months and a half. The foreman is Mr. Wm. Kennedy of Bobcaygeon, and the gentleman in charge of the blasting operations is Mr. D. E. Bethune. The drilling is done in rows across the width of the channel, the holes being four feet apart, making twenty three holes in each row. From ten to fifteen rows are cleaned out and blasted every day, the state of the weather governing the number to a certain extent. The dredge is managed by Mr. Wm. Hungerford, of Lindsay, who at present is doing good work, throwing out the rock at the rate of about fifty feet per day. The men are comfortably housed in the building formerly occupied as a hotel. The cooking is ably done by Mr. Angus Fountain, of Fenelon Falls, and to see the quantity of food that disappears at each meal is the best recommendation that it is put up in first class shape. There is every prospect of the work continuing all winter and possibly longer.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

The Last Session Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The last session of the town teachers' convention was held yesterday afternoon, according to announcement, at four o'clock, when the committee, which had discussed the curriculum, reported, as the result of which a recommendation will be made to the Board of Education to-night regarding certain changes which the teachers think advisable.

Miss Beckett, of the Central School, gave an object lesson to a class on Friday, which proved most instructive. Miss Beckett took for her subject "Leather," and admirably illustrated the principles of object teaching.

Who is Frank Yeigh? Well you here see his picture. He is an employee in the Crown Lands Department at Toronto. He has gone over much of the world gathering the finest things to be had to illustrate his lectures. His style is easy, clear and delightfully pleasant. Of high literary culture and exquisite taste, he manages to give lectures that are not less charming than educational, and in making Britons thoroughly acquainted with their own empire he is rendering a patriotic and valuable service.

Interesting Items from the Village—The Mark Street Auxiliary of the W. F. M. S.

Great preparations are being made for the open meeting of the Mark street Auxiliary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society on Wednesday evening, December 2nd, at half-past seven o'clock, in the Mark street Methodist church.

A good programme of readings, recitations, etc., is being prepared. Mrs. Sherin of Lakefield will give an address on mission work, and the autograph quilt will be sold to raise money to assist in procuring material to fill a box to be sent to some needy mission field at Christmas.

Everybody is invited to the open meeting, and all ladies of the congregation—whether members of the Auxiliary or not—are invited to attend the regular meetings held on the first Wednesday of each month at 3 p.m. The next meeting will be on December 2nd.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

Death of Rev. A. H. Munro, Formerly of Peterborough.

The death took place on Monday afternoon of the Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, St. Thomas, formerly of Peterborough.

Although the reverend gentlemen had been ailing for a couple of weeks, no serious results were anticipated, and his sudden demise came as a shock to his many friends. The deceased gentleman was one of the most courteous and genial of gentlemen and a pulpit orator of great ability.

Prior to coming to Ontario from New Brunswick, he held prominent positions on the staff of the Methodist College, Sackville, the Baptist Seminary Fredericton, and assisted in the establishment of the Government Normal school at St. John's.

Previous to going to St. Thomas he was pastor of churches in Toronto, Cobourg and Peterborough. Mr. Munro was a man of more than seventy years of age, and leaves beside his widow, one son and three daughters.

If your eyes trouble you in any way, have them tested by W. Madill, optician. No charge for examination.

It Pays to have your Clothes

Built to Order.

No two men are built alike; hence the impossibility of any man being fitted properly, except with a Suit or Overcoat made to body MEASURE.

Who wants to wear Clothing that would fit somebody else much better?

There are times when a man gets desperate, but there's no occasion for any one in Peterborough to wear clothing that looks as though he swopped suits with somebody else, when we can fit him to a nicety.

All we ask is a fair show and a good tape measure.

Well dressed men whom we have cut for have also learned another secret—that they needn't pay "away up in G" for their high-class garments.

How to Treat Raw Furs.

A Montreal correspondent gives the following hint to country storekeepers, and those who buy raw furs from trappers at interior points: "Be careful in your trading for furs, and avoid buying or shipping unprime skins, on which you are almost sure to suffer loss. Remember that prices are down in London, and buyers there are particular. Also note that buyers in Canadian cities are making close selection of skins, in view of a falling market." Our Montreal fur market report this week, is of interest, as showing the fact of decline in various furs, such as bear, fox, mink, skunk, musk rat, and the reasons for it.

Grand Christmas Card Opening Dec. 2nd

The numerous shoppers at the Peterborough Bookstore, who have been anxiously waiting the receipt of our new Christmas Cards and Booklets for 1896, will be pleased to learn that they have now arrived, and will be open for selection on Wednesday, Dec. 2nd! A more charming display was never on exhibition. They are masterpieces of artistic printing and decorative design. We have placed them thus early on our tables to allow those who wish to remember friends at a distance an opportunity to make their selections. The prices will be a surprise to all this year. Having bought earlier and larger we were able to secure a much larger discount than in former years. We give a special invitation to all to come and see the wonderful beauty and variety of style of our cards and booklets. Sunday school teachers and teachers of all schools buying in quantities, will be allowed more liberal reduction than ever.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Mercer's

FORMED A LOCAL LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE.

THE BRANCH TO BE ORGANIZED BY THE TOWN MINISTERS.

A Very Large Attendance at St. Andrew's Last Night—Mr. O'Meara, of Toronto, Lucidly Explains the Aims and Objects of the Provincial Alliance.

Mr. A. E. O'Meara, of Toronto, addressed an exceedingly large and representative gathering of citizens in St. Andrew's church last night. It was the occasion of the quarterly meeting of the local union of Christian Endeavour, but the members of the society gladly consented to postpone their programme and give the evening to the representative of the Provincial Lord's Day Alliance.

Mr. A. E. Stanley, president of the Union, occupied the chair, and the opening exercises were conducted by Revs, Dr. Torrance, W. R. Young, B.A., and J. G. Potter. The latter made a few remarks before introducing the speaker of the evening. He pointed out that wherever the sanctity of the Sabbath was observed, then the community derived consequent blessings. It had been said that the church was anxious to have the Sabbath observed for selfish ends, but pointed out that the men who were to acquire the desired end were professional men in Toronto who could ill afford the time to spare from their business, but endeavoured to do their best, urged on by their strong convictions and loyalty to God and humanity.

Mr. O'Meara in his introductory remarks, congratulated Peterborough on the splendid turnout which augured well for the interest which would be taken in the subject once its advantages were fully known. The observance of the Lord's day, he explained, as a civil institution was not for the purpose of forcing religion down anyone's throat. A man may read a novel or he may go to church. What the Alliance sought to do was to protect this day, which is both God's day and man's day—to protect it and guard it as a day of rest.

A false idea is prevalent concerning the word liberty in connection with the matter. Some say "Give us a free Sunday"—that is, freedom from the restraint regarding the employment of other people.

There are two kinds of liberty. The liberty to obey God's law, and the liberty to destroy it, or in one word, "license." We claim, continued Mr. O'Meara, that everyone has secured to him the liberty to obey God's law in this matter.

The policy of the observance of the Sabbath always leads to the greatest strength of the nation which has adopted it.

THE ANGLO SAXON RACE

have always observed the day in its sanctity, and who are more feared on sea and on land. The interest of our homes demand its observance. There are no two things more clearly connected than the observance of the Lord's day and a quiet peaceful home life.

Then think for a moment, said he, of the educational importance of the observation of the Lord's Day. An agitation is being raised for more religious instruction in the schools, but what better religious instruction could the State afford than that week after week there should be a public testimony to God's law?

Then there is the industrial importance of the question. Whilst every class is interested in the matter, there is one class above all which is concerned. That is the class which has the high honour of being called workingmen—the breadwinners. Sunday labour introduced for any class, no matter how small, means danger

TO ALL WORKINGMEN.

On these grounds the Legislature has enacted certain provisions covering the preserving of the Lord's day of rest.

The Sabbath was made by God for man and every man has a right to enjoy that privilege.

We claim for man, continued Mr. O'Meara, a God-given right and a right which the state has given him to enjoy the day of rest.

The Lord's Day Act forbids Sunday labour or the employment of Sunday labour, and provides heavy penalties for Sunday excursions.

These are the only principles upon which a day of rest can be strictly maintained, but they do not go far enough. Conveniences are allowed for a certain class of people, but when things are permitted for the sake of convenience, you don't know where you are going to stop, and it is for the purpose of calling a halt that the Alliance exists.

The Hamilton Sunday Street Car case is being tested now in the courts, but this is only a part of the work of the Alliance. It also goes into the question of a Saturday half holiday, and hopes in the near future to obtain legislation such as will STRENGTHEN THAT MOVEMENT.

In the United States more than two millions of persons are now engaged in unnecessary Sunday labour in about forty different trades and occupations. Of these fully one million in railroad and street railway traffic. Shall we follow this example? In the cities of the United States the street railroad corporations are chiefly responsible for breaking down the Lord's Day. Shall they do so here unopposed?

A weekly day of rest means seven years of rest and leisure in a life-time of forty-nine years. Who can estimate the value of this to the workingmen? How shall it be preserved to them?

Sunday traffic is now carried on upon ten street and other local railways in various parts of the Province. The fight of the Alliance is against this. Shall local railway and steamboat traffic be permitted on the Lord's Day from end to end of the province? This is the issue directly involved. Nothing short of it. The full issue is even wider. Shall any form whatever of unnecessary Sunday labour be permitted throughout the province? If one sort be allowed, why not other sorts, why not all sorts? Beware of the Sunday excursion, the Sunday newspaper, the Sunday theatre, the Sunday saloon.

Over two millions of people have been made slaves in the United States. A slave is one from whom freedom and it is against this sort of thing that we carry on our work. There are two elements against us. Those who want to spend the day in boisterous merriment and those interested in having the traffic.

HAS BEEN TAKEN

As against these, we say it is God's day and we expect to have God's blessing upon us in trying to preserve its sanctity and we expect the development of a strong and active provincial Alliance. No question with which the Alliance deals is a local one; all are provincial and for that reason active branches are wanted throughout Ontario.

Upon Mr. O'Meara resuming his seat, Mr. A. J. Johnston in a few remarks suggested that if a branch of the Alliance was to be formed it would be as well to strike while the iron was hot and when there was such a large attendance. He moved, seconded by Mr. W. J. Wattam:

Resolved, That a branch of the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance be organised in the town of Peterborough, along the lines suggested by Mr. O'Meara and that the ministers of the town and Ashburnham be a nominating committee to name officers and arrange for organization of a local branch.

The motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. Geo. Sonneider, the efficient organist of the George street Methodist church, presided at the organ and the choir of that church had the direction of the music which was particulary hearty and inspiring. During the evening Miss Vina Belleghem and Mr. James Brown sang a pleasing solo.

ORGANIZE A BRANCH.

Rev. Dr. Torrance inquired as to the scope for work, and was informed that while the Alliance as a whole was formed for provincial work, branches could consider local questions of interest. At present the Alliance was asking the Courts to decide various issues, but the time would come when it would appeal to the Legislature, and at this juncture the branches would be expected to work among the people in the interests of the Association.

A. C. CHAMBERS Manager. Table Supply House

People shudder at the tales of Monte Carlo suicides, but look on with perfect equanimity while friends and loved ones commit just as certain suicide by neglecting their health. Trifling disorders of the digestion persistently neglected lead to impurity of the blood, the tissues of the body are imperfectly nourished, and emaciation and debility follow. In the case of that dread disease, consumption, imperfectly nourished tissue is built up in the lungs, forming a suitable soil for the germs of that deadly disease. One-seventh of all the deaths each year are due to consumption. This fearful death rate could be easily avoided if the proper remedy was resorted to.

A sure preventive and cure of consumption is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases. It corrects all disorders of digestion, invigorates the liver, and makes the blood pure and plentiful. It is the great blood maker, flesh-builder, and nerve invigorator. It gets into the blood and acts directly upon the lungs, building up healthy tissue and driving out all impurities and disease germs. Thousands have testified to its wonderful merits. Druggists sell it.

"I feel that I must write you telling you of the great benefits derived from the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Miss Laura Piersel, of East Bethlehem, Washington Co., Pa. "Last summer my friends thought I was surely going into consumption, and having tried doctors before with no satisfactory results and hearing your medicine so highly spoken of, I took one bottle. My cough left me altogether with all the distressing symptoms, and in fact the cure seemed almost miraculous to all who saw me. I cannot say enough in praise of the medicine, and have done much to induce others to use it."

THE HEAD HACKED OFF.

A Dark Tragedy Unearthed by a Couple of Boys, But it is Apparently an Insolvable Mystery.

Jersey City, N.J., Nov. 28.—Three boys, while gunning on the Hackensack meadows this morning, discovered the decapitated body of a man lying alongside of the tracks of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad. A large knife, besmeared with blood, was lying near the body. The body was subsequently removed to the morgue in this city. The theory of the police is that the man was murdered in the roadway and the body was subsequently secreted in the bushes alongside the railroad track.

The head was found near the body. The corpse is that of a man of middle age. It is badly decomposed. The ground where the body lay showed every evidence of a struggle. The body had hardly any flesh on it, and the clothes are so rotten that the body must have been where found for some time. The man's head had evidently been hacked off while he was held prone on his back.

WORK FOR THE DOCTORS.

Two Score Wedding Guests Poisoned Near Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Nov. 28.—An assemblage composing a wedding anniversary party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angus R. Stewart in Frankstown Township, this county, to-day were poisoned by eating ham sandwiches, but the nature of the deathly ingredient has not yet been defined. Forty cases of poisoning are reported this evening and all the physicians have been pressed into a hospital corps for the emergency. Among the sufferers are Rev. Dr. D. H. Barron, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church; Editor Frank J. Over, F. H. Goodfellow and E. Mentzer. Many farmers in the township have sent here for medical aid for their families. While the sickness of the guests is of a serious character, no fatalities have yet been reported.

The numerous cures of rheumatism by the use of the old standard blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, show conclusively that it is an effective remedy, if not indeed the specific for this most painful and persistant of maladies. What has cured others will cure you.

Death of Baron Savile.

London, Nov. 29.—The death is announced of Baron Savile, who for many years held high diplomatic appointments. He was British Minister to Saxony from 1866 to 1867, to the Swiss Confederation 1867-68, to Belgium 1868-83, and to Italy 1883-87. He was born in 1819, and was created a Baron in 1888, with special remainder, in default of male issue, to John Savile-Lumley.

HAVE THEY PERISHED?

Two Prominent Torontonians, Who Were Hunting for Gold, Are Missing in The Far North.

Toronto, Nov. 30.

There is considerable anxiety as to the safety of Lawyer John Shilton and Surveyor Johnson, two Torontonians, who have been out in the Seine River district looking for gold. Five weeks ago they were supposed to be shut in by ice in a district some 50 miles north of Lake Abraham, when about to stake some claims.

The voyage north to the gold mine had been made by canoe, and while en route they were suddenly caught by a sharp frost, which rendered the rivers impassable to the canoes, though the ice was not hard enough to bear their weight. Nor could they go through the woods, which were all one mass of swamp. On the trip they were accompanied by a Toronto prospector named Mills, who left them at Wabigoon Mission on account of illness, and said he would remain there till their return.

They had only two weeks' provisions with them when they left seven weeks ago, and it is thought they must have perished. On the other hand, the means of conveying news regarding them are very limited. There is a faint possibility that they are safe somewhere.

Word was received from Mr. Mills ten days ago stating that not a line or message had been received from the others, and that he had no money to collect a relief party together. Funds were immediately forwarded by those in the syndicate which the lost men represent, and after a great deal of trouble Mr. Mills, with the assistance of the Hudson Bay Company, is on the road to try and find them.

He has with him Indians, dogs, sleighs and toboggans. Some men, it is reported, knew the country so well that they refused $500 to take part in the relief expedition. Mr. Mills, by the way, started out alone to rescue them, but only made 12 miles in five days, and was forced to return. The party will have to portage 50 miles to reach their destination.

Such a long time has elapsed since Messrs. Shilton and Johnson were blockaded that little hope is entertained of finding them alive, and it is feared they have been starved or frozen to death, or perhaps fallen through the ice in an effort to escape. One ray of hope lies in the fact that they have weapons and may shoot game. It might be well for the Government to form another expedition to assist the first one, for the road they have to travel is a hard and dangerous one.

John Shilton is a member of the legal firm of Shilton & Wallbridge, and Surveyor Johnson has a wife and family living in Wellington-street west.

DEFICIT OVER $25 000,000.

United States Treasurer Morgan Presents His Balance Sheet for the Year Closed Last June.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The annual report of Daniel Morgan, Treasurer of the United States, made public this afternoon, shows the total receipts from all sources during the fiscal year ended June 30 last to have been $326,076,200, as against $313,390,075 for the fiscal year 1895, an increase of $13,586,125.

The receipts from customs aggregated $160,021,751, a gain of $7,863,134; from internal revenue $146,762,994, a gain of $3,341,192; from sale of public lands, $1,005,523, a loss of $97,823; from miscellaneous sources, $19,186,060, a gain of $2,479,622.

The total expenditures for the year were $352,179,446, as against $350,105,298 for 1895, a decrease of $4,015,852.

The deficiency for the year is $25,203,245, or $17,902,977 less than for last year. The net receipts from the $262,315,400 of bonds sold in 1894, 1895 and 1896 were $204,164,295.

KATIE WALSH'S PLUCK.

The Young Woman Fought a Highway Robber Who Attacked Her Near the Village of Hastings.

Hastings, Ont., Nov. 28.—A good deal of excitement was created in this village Saturday morning when it was reported that a highway robbery had taken place a few miles west of this place the evening before. Miss Katie Walsh, daughter of Michael Walsh, who lives about five miles west of here, had been in the village, and when about two miles and a half out a man suddenly sprang from the side of the road, grabbed the horse by the head and drew him into the bushes. Miss Walsh, with great presence of mind, drew the whip to spur the horse, but saw it would be useless, and instead used it over the villain's head, sprang from the buggy and started to run back the road, all the time calling for Mr. Hoar, whom she had passed on the road shortly before. She was soon overtaken, however, and her purse, containing some eight dollars, was taken from her in the scuffle. She attempted to pull a handkerchief which he had tied over his face off, but could not do so. The sound of Mr. Hoar's rig and the determined stand Miss Walsh took no doubt frightened him by this time, so he turned, jumped the fence and struck across the fields. Miss Walsh, still keeping cool, tied her horse and then ran to meet Mr. Hoar, who was coming up. They tried to track him through the fields next morning, but the rain the night before destroyed all chances of doing so. Mr. Walsh will offer a reward for his detection, but at present no clue is held. Too much credit cannot be given Miss Walsh for her pluck.

FOUND A JEWEL.

An Important Find by a Brockville Jeweller.

Mr. Joseph Lane, the well-known jeweller of Brockville, says: "For some years I have suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and flashes of heat between my shoulders. I had a tired, wornout feeling.

"The numerous medicines that I took gave me very little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try a box, and got one at Curry's drugstore.

"After the first two or three doses I felt much relieved, and the longer I took them the greater the change for the better in my condition. I am much better in every respect and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble as the best remedy I know of."

Sold by James Lynch, druggist, 168 Hunter street, Peterborough.

Mr. Chas. Smith, Dawn Mills, Ont., says: "For several years I was troubled with pains in my limbs, which continued getting worse until I thought I would have to quit work. In fact the pains were so severe that I could not rest nights. I took one box of Miller's Compound Iron Pills and am perfectly cured.'

Although it is nearly a year since Mr. S. took the Pills he has had no return of the pains, and feels splendid. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, Druggist.

A YOUNG GIRL'S CRIME.

In Sheer Desperation She Cuts the Throat of Her Illegitimate Child With a Common Knife.

Alexandia, Ont., Nov. 28.—This place has been the scene of a terrible crime during the past few days. A young girl about 18 years, named Mary Gulbaun,, gave birth to an illegitimate child last week, and then cut the child's throat with an ordinary knife used in the house. After committing the crime she put the little corpse in a heap of brush behind a shed adjacent to the house where she lives. The local authorities have taken the matter in hand. The girl is under the doctor's care and was so low last night that her life was despaired of.

THE BRIDEGROOM CAME NOT

And for That Reason the Bride Now Claims $5000 Damages.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 28.—Miss Ida Shaw, a young woman who in her wedding attire last week awaited the coming of her husband-elect, who came not, and now refuses to enter into the bonds of matrimony with her, to-day commenced a suit for breach of promise, claiming $5000 damages. The defendant is Charles Ferris, and he is employed in a mineral water factory. There are rumors of another local breach of promise case, in which a lady well known in Halifax society circles would be the plaintiff. The man mentioned is at present in Europe.

SOME STARTLING FACTS.

In ordinary Pipes the Tobacco at the bottom of the bowls becomes saturated to such an extent as to be unfit for use and about one-fifth part is therefore wasted.

There is no waste in using Mackenzie Pipes as every particle of Tobacco can be smoked.

The average consumption of Tobacco in this country is 1 lb. 10½ oz. per head of population, and an economist has estimated that the use of the Mackenzie Pipe by every smoker would result in a saving of $500,000,00 a year.

She Has Ever Known. Words of Praise from a New York Lady for

AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. MAY JOHNSON, 368 Rider Avenue, New York City.

The Reward of "Strategy."

A Western paper tells a story of a thrifty citizen who, from laborious and frugal poverty, had advanced to great wealth by the manufacture of oatmeal. Though he was said to be the possessor of a million, he persevered in many of the frugal habits of his days of comparative adversity. One of these thrifty characteristics was the wearing of an old blue army overcoat, which he had bought at the close of the Civil War for a very small sum. Nothing could induce him to part with this garment, which, although he had worn it for twenty winters, still hung together with the aid of a strap which fastened it about his body.

Meantime Mr. S. had a son growing up, whose ideas of what is due to the general public in the matter of personal attire were very different from his father's. He tried in vain to get his father to discard the old army coat. Persuasion being in vain, Mr. S. junior finally resorted to deception.

He entered into an arrangement with a tailor to sell his father an excellent overcoat, made of expensive cloth, for the pretended price of fifteen dollars, while he, the son, agreed to pay the remainder of the real price of the coat, which was sixty-five dollars.

This stratagem arranged for, Mr. S. junior waited in the store until his father came along, clad in the old coat, and called him in.

"Father," he said, "just come in and look at the bargain this man has here!"

Mr. S. came in reluctantly, and looked at the garment. He knew that it was a remarkably good piece of cloth, he had lately become half-convinced that his old army coat was about worn out, and though fifteen dollars seemed to him an extravagant price to pay for an overcoat, he saw here an opportunity to get a garment which would last him another twenty years.

After some unsuccessful haggling, therefore, he bought the coat, paid the fifteen dollars, put the new garment on, had the old one done up in a paper, and started on his way down the street with the parcel under his arm.

Then the son paid the tailor the remaining fifty dollars, and rejoiced that his father was at last respectably covered.

Old Mr. S., in the new overcoat, was not recognized by some of his oldest friends; but one friend did recognize him, and said to him:—

"Why, S., that's a splendid coat you have on!"

"Well, I should think it ought to be," said S., "I paid fifteen dollars for it."

"Fifteen dollars!" exclaimed the other, who knew a piece of cloth when he saw it; "why, I'll give you twenty dollars for the coat right here!"

"It's your coat," said S. "I don't know a quicker way to make five dollars than that."

So he took off the new and magnificent garment, pocketed the twenty dollars, unwrapped the old army coat, put it on, and went his way in perfect satisfaction—a satisfaction not shared, it need hardly be said, by his son, when that young gentleman came home and found what the outcome of his cunning strategy had been.—Youth's Companion.

A SORROWFUL FATE.

Montana's Ideal of Womanly Perfection Now a Drunkard.

MRS. BEACH.

THE woman who was chosen by the State of Montana as its ideal of beauty is to-day an inmate of the alcoholic ward of Bellevue Hospital, New York. Four years ago she was known to the people as a model of physical perfection, now she is an object to stir mingled pity and disgust.

The unhappy woman is Mrs. Caroline Louise Beach. She posed as the model of the great solid silver statue of Justice, which Montana sent to the World's Fair. This statue which stood in the facade of the Montana building, was the most notable of the state's exhibit and was not the least remarkable feature of the entire exposition. The face was that of Ada Rehan, but possibly out of modesty the famous actress made no further contribution to the statue.

The model was selected from a vast number of applicants by Sculptor Park. Mrs. Beach's figure was very beautiful and as near to the proportions immortalized by Greek sculpture as an artist could hope to find on this earth. In size she was almost heroic, for she was five feet nine and a half inches and weighed 170 pounds. Grace and strength were as happily combined in her as in the Venus de Milo.

To destroy such beauty seems no ordinary sin, but that is what Carolina Louise Beach has done. To-day she lies distorted and hideous, with hardly a trace discernible of the charms that attracted a nation.

Her former beauty lends great interest to the sordid but tragic story of her life. In the beginning she was a vain woman, who married a good steady business man in a small Illinois town. She developed a craving for notoriety. She moved to Chicago, and they drifted apart. She and her husband were not living together when she became the model for the Montana statue. After that her father renounced her, and she went to New York.

She made her first public appearance there when "living pictures" were in favor. It was at Koster and Bial's that they were first given in their perfection. The Kilanyi shows at the Madison Square Garden Theatre gave a hint of the possibilities of this form of entertainment.

Venus Rising From the Sea," and "Dina Surprised by Actateon," were all right at the Garden, but speak to some thoughtful man about town concerning those days only two years ago, when he forsook all other amusements for the timebeing, and turned into Thirty-fourth-street at 10.45, and ask him what chiefly occupied his attention there.

It was the appearance of Carolina Beach as Dina. The stage was darkened for a moment, and then the calcium turned on and they beheld Dina—apparently Diana of the Madison Square Tower, with hardly any more on her than St. Gauden's Diana.

St. Gauden's model was five feet ten inches in height, and she weighed 155 pounds. Mrs. Beach was five feet nine and a half inches, and she weighed 170. There never were any complaints at the box office.

Her fame and success at that time, alas, led to her downward career. The cold bottle and the hot bird proved an irresistible temptation. The lady continued to be five feet nine and a half inches high, but she lost many of the proportions that attracted Sculptor Park back in the days before the World's Fair.

PLOTTING IN CHILI.

The British Warship Wild Swan Brings News of Serious Trouble Threatened.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 29.—Officers of the British sloop of war Wild Swan, which arrived here late on Friday evening from South American ports, admitted to-day that serious trouble was threatened in Chili by the revolutionists at the time of the departure of the cruiser. Duels and personal encounters between Balmacedists and followers of Errazuriz were of frequent occurrence, while the Wild Swan was at Iquique, where it lay at anchor on election day, Sept. 18 last. The officers learned from reliable sources that the Balmacedists, through a pretended coalition with the opposition political party, in realty a fusion of Liberals and Conservatives, were giving their consent to the election of Errazuriz, with the intention of gaining time for a conspiracy then forming to overturn the Government.

Dollar Wheat at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Nov. 28.—May wheat sold at $1, with cash a close second at 99c, on the floor of the Toledo Exchange to-day. It was the first dollar wheat on the crop and first since 1892. Great excitement prevailed for a time. The market sold off to 98½c at the close.

Want the Dingley Bill.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—At a meeting to-day of the Wool Merchants' Association of Chicago a resolution was adopted urging the Senate to pass the Dingley Bill.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers, bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

If?

If you want to preserve apples, don't cause a break in the skin. The germs of decay thrive rapidly there. So the germs of consumption find good soil for work when the lining of the throat and lungs is bruised, made raw, or injured by colds and coughs. Scott's Emulsion, with hypophosphites, will heal inflamed mucus membranes. The time to take it is before serious damage has been done. A 50-cent bottle is enough for an ordinary cold.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

SEVENTH WIFE AFTER HIM

Elizabeth Snyder Says that William E. Hedrick Had Six Wives When He Married Her.

Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 30.—Elizabeth Snyder went to the police station to-day and asked for a warrant for the arrest of Charles S. Smith, to whom she was married about two years ago, and who, she says, had been wedded six times before she became his wife. She said the man was then in Hagerstown, and she wanted him arrested at once before he could get away.

According to her story, she left Hagerstown with Smith and went to Chambersburg to get married. They were refused a license on the ground of her youth. Then they went to Martinsburg, W. Va., where they were wedded, and it was only a few days after that she heard several persons call him William. Then she found that his real name was William E. Hedrick. They went south and visited the man's mother. Just across the fields lived another wife of Hedrick. Then, the woman says, she learned that Hedrick had already been married six times. Thereupon Mrs. Hedrick No. 7 deserted her husband and came here.

After the woman had told her story she was informed that legally the crime of bigamy, if committed at all, was committed in West Virginia, and that a warrant could not be issued here. She will follow him up.

MRS. KOERNER WINS.

Gets a Divorce from Her Husband and Also Gets Her Child—A Buffalo Sensation.

Buffalo, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Georgia M. Koerner was granted a divorce to-day from her husband, Herman T. Koerner, head of the big lithographing firm of Koerner & Hayes, and with it the custody of their child, a boy 16 years old.

The action for divorce was first brought by Mr. Koerner, and was followed by a counter suit, both parties basing their suits on statutory grounds. While the case was pending an exciting element was injected by the kidnapping of young Koerner from his school near Syracuse. His father went there to see him and took him to Quebec, and at night got him aboard a liner and took him to London. Mrs. Koerner followed by the next steamer and, after several days search, found her son in London, when the father and tutor were at the theatre, and fled back to America with him. Mrs. Koerner is wealthy in her own right and did not ask for alimony.

NORTH BRUCE PETITION.

The Case Begun at Southampton, But Not Much Progress Was Made—A Lot of Witnesses.

Southampton, Ont., Nov. 30.—The trial of the petition filed against the election of Mr. Alexander McNeill, M.P. for the north riding of Bruce, was commenced in the Town Hall here to-day at 3 p.m. The petitioner is Mr. Richard James Lillico of Chesley, and it is charged that the respondent personally, or through his agents, was guilty of bribery, corruption and undue influence, and similar acts, by reason of which the election should be set aside, and that the respondent should be declared ineligible to sit as a member of the House of Commons, voting at the elections for same, or holding office in the gift of the Crown during the statutory period of his disqualification.

A cross petition has also been filed by Mr. Alexander McNeill against Dr. H. A. Bonnar, his opponent in the last election, in which similar charges are made.

Mr. Justice Street and Mr. Justice Falconbridge composed the court. A. B. Aylesworth, Q.C., R. A. Grant and C. J. Mickle of Chesley appeared for the petitioner, and B. B. Osler, Q.C., for the respondent. About a hundred witnesses have been summoned.

Mr. Aylesworth opened the case for the petitioner. Very little progress was made, owing to the time spent in interpreting questions and answers. Some of the witnesses were Indians from the Saugeen Reserve, and unable to speak English.

The court was adjourned at 7 o'clock until 9.15 to-morrow morning. Notwithstanding the long list of charges and the many witnesses subpoenaed, it is thought that the case will be finished by to-morrow evening.

PREACHED AGAINST THE BALL.

A Presbyterian Clergyman of Montreal Caused a Sensation in Society.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Throughout the day and at the splendid ball this evening in honor of St. Andrew, there was a great deal of comment over a sermon preached in Crescent-street Church yesterday by Rev. Dr. McKay, a leading Presbyterian divine, and rather a strait-laced theologian regarding public balls, and other social functions. Now it happens that Rev. Edgar Hill of St. Andrew's, and Rev. Dr. Barclay of St. Paul's, are not so particular as their reverend brother, who presides over the Crescent-street flock, for both of these gentleman attend St. Andrew's ball and, in fact, the first-named generally says grace at the first supper table, and no one appears to think any the less of them for it. It is not known if Rev. Dr. McKay had his two brother divines in his mind's eye or not, but be this as it may, he gave the promoters of St. Andrew's day festivities quite a knock all the same. He deplored the fact that the foreign missionary fund had to be cut down 25 per cent., owing to the hard times, and the scarcity of the needful, and he regretted that St. Andrew's was celebrated in such a costly manner, no doubt feeling that a hundred or more South Sea Islanders might be brought to the light of the Gospel if the rich Montreal ladies and the pretty debutantes who year after year grace St. Andrew's ball, would make the sacrifice of their diamonds and ball gowns. In fact Dr. McKay's sermon is the sensation of the hour in Presbyterian circles.

Twelve banking institutions of the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario will begin to-morrow to pay dividends, aggregating upwards of $1,350,000. This vast sum is for the most part the half-yearly dividends of the various monetary institutions, and, according to the usual custom, the dividends to the shareholders are made payable on and after Dec. 1. It is the custom, however, of several large banking institutions, such for instance, as the Molsons and the Bank of British North America, to declare their dividends at an earlier date, so, of course, they do not appear in the subjoined list of those who make payment, beginning to-morrow: Bank of Montreal, $300,000; Merchants' Bank of Canada, half-yearly dividend, $240,000; Bank of Toronto, half-yearly dividend, $100,000; Ontario Bank, half-yearly dividend, $25,000; Banque Ville Marie, half-yearly dividend, $15,000; Banque de Hochelaga, half-yearly dividend, $28,000; Quebec Bank, half-yearly dividend, $75,000; Imperial Bank of Canada, yearly dividend, $157,088; Jacques Cartier Bank, half-yearly dividend, $15,000; Union Bank of Canada, half-yearly dividend, $36,000; Standard Bank of Canada, half-yearly dividend, $40,000; Traders' Bank of Canada, half-yearly dividend, $21,000. Total $1,352,088.

Some 50 hands have been put off in the C.P.R locomotive works, but they will no doubt be taken on again as the work demands.

It is stated here that Mr. L. O. David's brochure on the French-Canadian clergy has received the approval of Rome, and if this be the case, Mr. David's clerical critics here will be considerably embarrassed.

A DOUBLE DROWNING.

Two Ottawa Lads Went Skating and the Ice Gave Way—Gallant Efforts at Rescue.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—A double drowning accident, involving deeds of heroism, occurred in the city this afternoon. A number of young lads were skating on the thin ice of the Rideau Canal above Maria-street bridge, when two, named Edmond Potvin and Joseph Perras, both about 16 years of age, broke through. A companion named John Clarke, 17 years old, got Perras out and then made a gallant attempt to save Potvin, but failed, he himself being carried out of his depth and sinking with Potvin. A crowd of schoolboys from the Collegiate Institute, 100 yards away, ran to the scene when they heard the news and one of them, a plucky young lad of 16, named Douglas Lyon, dived three times into the icy water, but could not find the bodies. Lyon was given three cheers for his plucky effort. Later on the bodies of Clarke and Potvin were recovered.

Ringing noises in the ears, snapping, buzzing, roaring, caused by catarrh, all disappear with the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

IMPERATIVE DECEMBER DOINGS

—AT—

THE GOLDEN LION!

We propose making December a notable month in our business. November has been a booming month, for, mind you, we laid ourselves out to boom things—not talk, not thunder, not importuning to buy, but a solid boom that brought buyers. Our idea of booming is to put out some inducements that no one can afford to neglect. You will remember our special push for November was in Carpets, Curtains and Housefurnishings. We purpose to push the going out of other lines embracing

Mantles, Mantle Cloths, Millinery, Dress Goods, Silks, Dress Trimmings, Hand Embroidered Irish Linens, Flannels, Flannelettes, Carpets, Housefurnishings & Curtains.

We want to get these lines pared down by the month. We want you to help at the paring. We purpose to pay you for it in the values we will give.

THE TARIFF INQUIRY

Commissioners Sat at Hamilton Yesterday.

FRUIT GROWERS WANT PROTECTION

Senator Sanford Tells About the Cost of Making Overcoats and Wants the Tariff Maintained—Mr. Copp Goes in for Free Trade in Iron Manufactures.

Hamilton, Dec. 1.—(Special.)—Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning the Dominion Government Tariff Commission commenced its labors in Hamilton at the Board of Trade rooms. All the members of the commission, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance (chairman); Sir Oliver Mowat, Minister of Justice; Sir Richard Cartwright, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. William Paterson, Controller of Customs, were present. There was a large crowd of interested people in the room when the commission settled down to business.

The first spokesmen for a deputation were E. D. Smith, Winona, and D. J. McKinnon, Grimsby, who appeared on behalf of the fruit-growers of the peninsula. Mr. Smith said the fruit-growers would like a change in duty on pears and plums, 20 and 25 per cent. ad valorem, to a specific duty of a cent a pound. In the rush of the season this would mean a duty of about $1.80 on $1 worth, this being practically prohibitory. The fruit-growers thought a small duty should be placed on bananas, say 1-2 cent a pound, so as to encourage the consumption of domestic fruit. Dried peaches might also be taxed 2 cents a pound. Unless the fruit-growers had a large protection they could not have the Canadian market to themselves, the competition of New York and Michigan being very strong.

Mr. McKinnon said he looked on the present Government as a continuation of the late Government, instead of being distinctly unlike it, adding emphatically that the fruit-growers need protection more than manufacturers.

The fruit-growers were asked to prepare figures for the use of the commissioners.

Edward Morris of Fonthill said the nurserymen of Canada were in danger of being driven out of the business unless protected from the bogus nurserymen of the United States. He asked that the specific duty be maintained, especially in view of prices on the other side, being 50 per cent. less than actual cost of production. This state of affairs would likely continue for some time.

R. C. Brown, Ridgeville, wanted the duty on small nursery stock changed from ad valorem to a specific duty. He admitted having business on both sides of the line, being in Canada because of the duty. He backed up what Mr. Morris had said about bogus Yankee nurserymen fleecing farmers.

Senator Sanford and John Calder were present as the representatives of the clothing manufacturers. Mr. Sanford showed the commissioners an overcoat which was entirely Canadian, even including the buttons, it being sold wholesale at $3.75. He said that 25 per cent. of the members of the Commons wore the same style of coat. In contrast to this, he showed an American cheap overcoat, which sold in New York at $1.30 wholesale. Its lining was torn to show that it was simply cotton waste and bagging, not being as good as shoddy. It would not stand the wet, and was altogether a delusion and a snare.

The present duty on such United States goods was about 60 per cent., and the Senator wished the duty to remain, otherwise the farmers would be liable to be fleeced badly by having such stuff palmed off on them.

W. H. Judd, soap manufacturer, advised the commission that if the tariff on soap were changed, American manufacturers would make a slaughter market of Canada.

J. J. Evel and A. W. Semmens, undertakers' furnishings, stated that they wanted the duty on their raw material reduced to the same figure as that on the manufactured article, which was 25 per cent.

J. J. McLaren of the Hamilton Coffee and Spice Company asked that a specific duty of two cents a pound extra be placed on ground spices, instead of the ad valorem duty, which was really a higher duty on high-grade goods. On a pound of pepper, worth 10 cents, this would be a duty of 1 1-4 cents. By such a change cheap and poor spices would be practically prevented from coming into the country.

Several other manufacturers of more or less importance appeared before the commission and presented their views, but not one was in favor of free trade.

The commissioners were entertained at luncheon to-day at the Hamilton Club by A. T. Wood, M.P., and T. H. Macpherson, M.P. Owing to the recent death of his son, Sir Richard Cartwright will not accept any invitations to social functions while in the city, but he will live quietly at the Royal Hotel. Hon. W. E. Sanford will entertain the commissioners at dinner at Wesanford this evening.

At this afternoon's inquiry, W. J. Copp, stove manufacturer, put in a word for free trade. He said if the United States would allow him to send stoves there free of duty, he would be willing to allow the American manufacturers the same privilege in Canada. On behalf of the iron industry he asked that stove bolts be not rated higher than stoves, they being one cent a pound ad valorem. The tariff needed revision on stove rods, sheet iron and sheet steel, and stove patterns should be six cents a pound. Stove tiles should be only 27 1-2 per cent. Designs should be registered for 14 years, instead of only 5, for $5, and manufacturers should be notified when patents expired.

Henry New, A. D. Harris and Robert Campbell, sewer pipe manufacturers, wanted a specific duty of $5 a ton on sewer pipes. The present duty was 25 per cent. ad valorem.

M. W. Findlay, slater, asked to have the duty on slate reduced from 30 per cent. to 20.

George E. Bristol was the chief spokesman for a deputation of wholesale grocers, who wanted the duty on cleaned rice reduced. They thought the duty was too high on syrups, the tariff being nearly 100 per cent., and they wanted the molasses duty made uniform. The sugar refiners were protected higher than necessary, Mr. Bristol said, and a specific duty instead of ad valorem on various articles of food would suit the grocers. They wanted the prohibitory duty on show cards taken off, it being vexatious and serving no good purpose.

Adolphus Dalley, stove blacking manufacturer, wanted no change in the duty on blacking (30 per cent.), otherwise the importers should be made to pay 25 per cent. on the actual selling price of their goods. He said his firm, F. F. Dalley Co., paid over $22,000 annually in wages. Mr. Dalley left a box of blacking with the commissioners, as a souvenir.

H. E. Ralston said 25 per cent. was too low a duty on stove polish, but the duty on plumbago, 10 to 25 per cent., was too high for raw material.

J. D. Trenamen wanted the tax on rubber cement considerably reduced. He paid 72 per cent. on nearly all his raw material, and it should not be more than 30 per cent.

Adam Ballantyne, retail grocer, requested that the coal oil duty be reduced to 3 cents, the duty on fruit jars from 30 per cent. to 15 per cent., wax candles 4 cents to 2 cents. He also wanted the tariff on biscuits reduced and he said the duty should be taken off syrups and molasses and a duty of 5 to 10 cents on tea.

James Brown, manufacturer of shears, dies, etc., wished the goods coming into the country to be classified. He gave the commissioners a statement of his ideas, not for publication.

J. G. Hore, wheel manufacturer, did not wish a change in the duty.

Edward New, the only fire brick manufacturer in Canada, asked to be protected from the big rivals in the States, by a 20 per cent. duty on fire brick.

THE NORTH BRUCE PETITION.

Evidence of Saugeen Indians Taken and Contradicted Many Charges Dismissed.

Southampton, Ont., Dec. 1.—The North Bruce election trial was continued here to-day.

This morning several Indians living on the Saugeen reserve testified to having been offered money and to having received extra timber and exemption from dues on condition that they would vote for Mr. McNeill. Several charges against the member-elect were dismissed, the evidence in support of them being insufficient. Indian Agent Crowe then being called, denied having taken any part in the election, either on behalf of Mr. McNeill or his opponent.

After the adjournment, Mr. Osler continued his cross-examination of Mr. John Crowe. The witness denied he had offered any inducements to any Indians to influence their votes. When Mr. Aylesworth concluded his re-examination of this witness, he informed the court he had no further evidence to produce.

On charges 9 to 19, which were first dealt with, the court decided that the respondent should call witnesses. Mr. Osler called William Porteous, who denied the statements of the Indian witnesses that Crowe had offered inducements to them if they would vote for McNeill. Mr. Aylesworth briefly summed up the evidence on these charges, but the court decided that no case had been made, and charges 9 to 19 were dismissed.

Charges 6, 7 and 8 were then taken up. S. James, an Indian, one of Dr. Bonner's scrutineers on the reserve, said that two boxes of cigars were given away by McNeill's scrutineers after the votes had been polled.

Wm. Henry Scott, druggist, Southampton, admitted spending $20, given him by James Dundas. The money was distributed among the Indians after dark. Scott underwent a long cross-examination by Mr. Osler in regard to details, but no further information was elicited from him. Charles Scott said Dundas gave him $20 for use among the Indians, which he gave to his brother some days later.

Mr. Osler submitted that he should not be made to answer these charges, because it was not proven that money given to anyone was to a voter. Afterwards the petitioner was allowed to amend his particulars.

Mr. Osler then called Mr. C. R. Vanstone, who said that Scott had told him he did not care who was elected.

James Duncan was called, and said the money he gave to Scott for election purposes was his own and he gave it of his own free will.

Mr. Aylesworth argued that the charges made by the petitioner were sustained by the evidence produced and that Scott was an agent for whose acts the candidate was responsible.

Mr. Justice Street delivered the opinion of the court that, while an improper payment had been made by Lundas, neither he nor Scott could be considered an agent of McNeill's, and that there had been no corrupt practice affecting the candidate. Charges 6, 7 and 8 were therefore dismissed.

Mr. Aylesworth then commenced to put in evidence in support of the charges made, but before he had proceeded far the court adjourned until 9:15 to-morrow morning.

The London Petition.

London, Ont., Dec. 1.—The preliminary proceedings in connection with the London election trial are progressing quietly, and to-morrow or the next day will witness another step in the progress of the case, when the solicitor for Mr. Beattie, will be presented with a very bulky legal document, the bill of particulars, which has to be supplied to the defendants by the prosecuting party two weeks before the trial, which takes place on the 17th. The Liberals have already subpoenaed a large number of witnesses.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

The Grand Division of Ontario in Session at Whitby—Prominent Gentlemen Present.

Whitby, Dec. 1.—The town is full of Sons of Temperance to-day. The grand division for Ontario of this pioneer Temperance Society of North America, is holding its annual convention in the Town Hall. The session opened this afternoon with G.W.P. J. Brooks, Toronto, presiding. Other grand officers present were G.W.A. Henry O'Brien, Vienna; G.S. W. H. Bewell, Whitby; G.T. J. M. Walton, Nettleby; G. Chief Rev. Mr. Wickett, Copleston; G. Con. Chas. Cottenden, Toronto; superintendents of young people's work, Miss Theresa Scenes, Port Perry; Miss Della Nigh, Avon; P.G.W.P.G.M. Rose, Toronto. Forty-two candidates were initiated into the grand division.

Among the prominent members of the order present are Ed. Carswell, Oshawa; P.M.W.A. James H. Roberts, Boston, Mass. Tres. Nat. Div. of North America; F. M. Bradley, Washington, D.C., G.F. Sec. of the National Mutual Relief Society; Thos. Caswell, M.L.A., Toronto.

Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education for Ontario, and Provincial Secretary E. J. Davis are here this evening to take part in the public reception in the Music Hall. The freedom of the town was presented to the visitors by the Mayor, Reeve and Deputy Reeve of Whitby, who were so appointed to do by the Town Council.

Discussion of the plebiscite question is expected to enliven to-morrow's session.

DAMAGE IN THE WEST.

The Blizzard Followed by Blockades of Ice in the Gorges and Floods in the Valleys.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 1.—Reports of damage done by the late storm, which are beginning to come in, show that it is greater than at first supposed. The railroads are still badly handicapped, but hope to be running by Wednesday. The body of Thomas Anderson, who perished in the storm near Moorehead, was found this morning near the home of the young lady whom he had escorted home through the blizzard.

Much Apprehension.

Helena, Mont., Dec. 1.—There is much apprehension in regard to the cattle industry this winter. The severity of the weather for the past few days, and the fact that there is considerable snow on the ranges, are ominous of future losses.

New Floods Threaten.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 1.—A more disastrous flood than the memorable one of 1884, in which thousands of dollars worth of property was destroyed, threatens this city. An ice gorge, fastened by thousands of logs, has formed at the site of the old Lafayette mill, and an enormous body of water is being held in a space covering about six miles of the river.

If the water continues to rise one-half of the city may be flooded.

At Irving, near here, the tracks are flooded, and no trains are coming in. The weather is intensely cold, and the streets are a mass of ice, over which flows the incoming tide as it slowly rises. Eau Claire has every reason to feel apprehensive, as its danger begins when that of Chippewa Falls has passed.

Farmers Had to Flee.

Eau Claire, Wis., Dec. 1.—The Chippewa River is jammed with ice in several places from the Dells forting works, just below Eau Claire, to Gravel Island, two miles from Chippewa Falls. The backwater at Chippewa is accumulating rapidly, flooding part of the town, and is up to 18 feet. Alarming reports are received as to the possibility of the ice jam breaking and precipitating a great mass of water on Eau Claire. About 20 miles of the valley division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, south of Eau Claire, is under water and ice; there have been no trains for three days. On the lowlands below Durrand the rise was so rapid that many families had to flee in their night robes to places of safety. The suffering among the women and children was intense, and many have frozen feet and limbs. Those who could do so fled to the railroad track. There they built a fire, and tried to protect themselves from the frosty winds until relief arrived. An engine and coach sent out from Durrand gathered up 40 or 50 of these people. The bottoms are all under water, and the stock and produce are a complete loss.

Blizzard in Texas.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 1.—A severe blizzard has been raging in portions of Texas during the past 48 hours. At Houston, Victoria and Eagle Pass, the heaviest snowstorm of recent years is raging. It is not thought that cattle will suffer much.

If your eyes trouble you in any way, have them tested by W. Madill, optician. No charge for examination.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve strength, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter: "Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. J. E. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.

THE DRINK HABIT.

Yesterday we suggested the encouragement presented to moral reformers by the evidence government statistics afforded of the decrease of the tobacco habit, and the annual report of the department of Inland Revenue, shows that what many regard as an allied evil, the drink habit, is gradually losing its grip on the popular palate. Though there was an increase of ardent spirits manufactured during the year 1896, there was a decrease in the consumption. The quantity of spirits produced during the fiscal year was 4,382,210 proof gallons, against 2,605,787 in 1895. The quantity warehoused was 4,597,000 gallons, against 3,139,000 in 1895. The average for four years previous was 3,138,000. Duty was collected last year on 2,344,000 proof gallons. The consumption per head of spirits was 0.63 or sixty-two gallons for every hundred souls in the Dominion. This is the smallest consumption since Confederation, the average in twenty-seven years being over a gallon per head. In 1895 it was .66, and in 1894 it was .74. The decrease in the consumption of wine is also perceptible. Last year there was consumed per head 2 12 gallons, as compared with a consumption per head of 2 16 gallons per head in 1895, and 2.26 gallons in 1894. It is apparent, however, that the necessity for stimulants is a persistent delusion, if delusion it be, with humanity. While the consumption of spirits and wines shows a decrease the use of their less potent popular equivalent has been increased. Of beer there was consumed 3.52 gallons per head in the past fiscal year, compared with 3.47 per head in 1895 and 2.16 in 1870. The ratio between the decrease in wine and spirits consumption, and increase of beer, seems to be fairly constant. However, there is evidence that the drink habit is gradually losing its hold upon the people, who, while feeling the necessity of drink of some kind, prefer the comparatively mild and gentle beer to its more potent congenors, whisky and wine. Those of us who have passed the meridian of life, can frankly testify to the marked change in the drinking habits of the people within the past generation. Not only, as is shown by statistics, is their less drinking, but less drunkenness. Drinking and intemperance do not, of necessity, go together, but in fact they too often do so. The falling off in immoderate drinking—for the figures quoted show that there is still a great deal of drink consumed—is, no doubt, largely due to the increased strength of the temperance sentiment, brought about by the persistent advocacy of those promoting it, and, perhaps, to some extent, to the growth of the sentiment against a man making a beast of himself—to increase of total abstinence in the one case and to increase of moderate drinking in the other. Whether the spread of temperate practice and temperance sentiment in the masses has yet reached the stage that would make the adoption of the prohibition of the liquor traffic possible, is a question that doubtless admits of discussion; but there is no doubt that the friends of the temperance reform movement have reason to feel encouraged, and to push their efforts with improved hope of ultimate success.

Rheumatism is caused by lactic acid in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla neutralizes the acid and cures rheumatism.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MR. SIFTON'S election by acclamation in Brandon shows, says the Ottawa Journal (Independent), that in Manitoba the majority anyway are very well satisfied with the school settlement.

IN discussing the appointment of colonial judges to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council, Lord Roseberry said that such an appointment would "add one more golden link to the chain of the Empire." In the case of Canada the link is a Strong one.

MR. DRYDEN'S LATEST MOVE.

Proposed Amalgamation of the Three Dairy Associations.

(Ottawa Journal.)

Hon. Mr. Dryden's proposal to harmonise and simplify the working of the three dairy associations of Ontario, and of the Dominion and Provincial governments' connection with them, seems a most timely one.

Through organization and intelligent government promotion, the dairying interests of Ontario have shown a remarkable progress during the past ten years.

It is gratifying to find the same intelligent government interest continuing. Mr. Dryden suggests another step in dairying development in the province on business principles, and the Journal is sure that the dairy associations and Prof. Robertson, the Dominion dairy commissioner, will co-operate heartily.

Mr. Dryden is to be congratulated on his move.

WARSAW.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Thanksgiving day was quiet here. The stores were closed during the day, and nothing serious happened until night when the quack, quack of ducks and geese were heard, but were soon hushed in silence when Ned came around.

The rink will soon be in progress.

Kidney talk.

Do the kidneys talk?

Well, yes, both loud and long.

You are learning the kidney language.

Backache in kidney language means kidney ache.

Lame back means weak kidneys.

Weak back means weak kidneys.

The kidneys are talking trouble.

Here is some Norwood talk:

Mr. George Taylor, well known in Norwood, has this to say about Doan's Kidney Pills:—

"For a great many years I have been a sufferer from kidney disease. Terrible pain in my side and back made my life a burden. The urine was a dark wine colour, and I was greatly troubled with frequent urination. My sleep was destroyed because of this annoying trouble.

"I have taken scores of medicines, but could get no relief, and thought that I would never be cured. Happily I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, and got a box at J. C. Moffatt's drug store, and have continued their use for one month.

"I am thankful to say as a result that they have fixed me up. I feel like another person. I do not now have to get up at night, and in fact am entirely cured.

"I think they are the grandest medicine ever placed before the public, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney disorder of any kind."

A THRILLING PICTURE.

The Charming Christmas Souvenir of "Saturday Night."

That Canadian patriotism can be relied upon to support those whose efforts are directed to the stirring up of memories of our glorious past and hopes for the magnificent future which is possible to us, is proven by the success of a publication that for the past ten years has been growing into the good graces of Canadians.

Toronto Saturday night has alwas issued a Christmas Number, little heralded by the press, advertised only by its merits, and acceptable to everyone because of its well-told stories and prettily made pictures. For several years it used English, French and German supplements, but for the past two years it has excelled all previous attempts by issuing immense reproductions of historical paintings, original and Canadian.

This year the Battle of Queenston Heights is the subject, a picture nearly three feet long by ever two feet wide, painted by a Canadian artist and reproduced by Canadian processes in fourteen colours. The surroundings of the battle are the mountain up which our volunteers endeavoured to climb, the historic gorge of Niagara, the blue distances which stretch through New York State, and the mists which rise from the whirl of the rapids. In the foreground General Brock is dying, supported by the arms of his lieutenants. The Regulars are charging past him, the Indians are skirmishing through the rocks and trees to the right, and Canada's hero, with his sword aloft, cries out, "Push on, York Volunteers." The picture excites that strange emotion which contains so much of patriotism that one scarcely knows whether to choke up with the coming tears or to shout with enthusiasm. The spirited and artistic conception of the picture, the tasteful treatment of the colour scheme, the effective freedom of the drawing combine to give it an art as well as sentimental value that will make it a fit adornment of the walls of the most æsthetic Canadian home.

The story of the war is written by George Taylor Denison in so vivid a style that one can almost hear the musketry and the shouting of the charging brigades. Saturday Night's Christmas this year is incomparably the handsomest and most worthy production of Canadian art, and should be sent by everyone to absent friends who live afar but whose hearts have not grown cold when the name of Canada is mentioned. For sending to absent or loved ones in the Old Country, where they know so little of our history, it is the brightest and most thrilling Canadian souvenir ever produced. It can be found at all newsdealers, price 50 cents, or mailed directly from the office of publication at the same price. It may be added that the book is crowded with interesting stories and illustrations—one story being contributed by the Marquis of Lorne, ex-Governor General of Canada.

St. James' Gazette Says Do Something for Canada.

DR. JAMESON IS NOW A FREE MAN

But Too Ill to be Removed From Holloway Prison—Daily News Eulogizes Sir H. Strong—Very Cold in England—German Navy Affairs Discussed—French Matters.

London, Dec. 1.—Referring to the reported tariff revision in the United States and Canada, The St. James' Gazette this afternoon devoted its leading editorial to the Canadian question, and urges the Government to do something for Canada, which, it says, is infinitely more important than Guiana and South Africa, adding: "It would be well before it is too late for the Government and Parliament to consider whether the Dominion has received the attention it deserves. The consolidation of the empire is an absolute necessity, yet nothing is doing to accomplish what Mr. Chamberlain long ago promised. But, what has he done, and what is he going to do for Canada?"

The St. James' Gazette points to Canada's temptations, and to the alleged boast of the Anglophobe American papers that she has no chance even of a customs union until Canada joins the United States.

EULOGIZES SIR HENRY.

London Daily News Speaks Well of Canada's Representative.

London, Dec. 1.—The Daily News contains a eulogistic article on the nomination of Sir Henry Strong, Chief Justice of the Dominion of Canada, as Privy Councillor, which will enable him to sit on the Judicial Committee. The Daily News comments upon the fact that the law does not provide a salary for three colonial judges, and it advocates a radical reform of legislation, amalgamating the Privy Council, Appeal Court and the Judicial Committee into a single great appellate tribunal for all the Queen's dominions.

JAMESON RELEASED.

But the Raider is Too Ill to be Removed From Holloway Prison.

London, Dec. 1.—The report published this morning in The Daily Mail that Sir Matthew White Ridley, the Home Secretary, has ordered the release from Holloway jail of Dr. Jameson, the Transvaal raider, is confirmed upon official authority.

Though his release has been decided upon by the authorities the condition of Dr. Jameson's health renders it impossible for him to be removed from the jail at present.

TRADE WITH CANADA.

Old Country Merchants Say Orders are Light This Year—Prices of Apples.

London, Dec. 1.—(Telegram Cable.)—Manufacturers and exporters here say their trade with the Canadian firms who import dry goods from the Old Country is not nearly up to that of former years, and the buyers for Canadian dealers are placing very small orders for goods.

Covent Garden prices for Canadian apples, as reported by W. N. White, are: Blenheims, 9s to 13s; Nova Scotia Kings, 9s 6d to 11s; Ribstones, 9s to 12s; Kings, 11s to 12s; Greenings, 9s to 11s; Baldwins, 9s to 11s; Golden Russets 11s to 19s; Fullamatns, 11s to 13s; Golden Mundin, 11s to 13s; Seeks and Spys, 11s to 13s. Liverpool prices are about the same as those reported here.

THE GERMAN BUDGET.

Admiral Von Hollmann Tells of the Cost of Replacing the Fleet.

Berlin, Dec. 1.—The debate on the estimates was resumed to-day in the Reichstag. Admiral Von Hollmann, Secretary of the Navy, declared that in order to replace the German fleet the value of which was 320,000,000 marks (about $76,000,000) by new vessels, the sum of 32,000,000 marks annually, or 10 per cent. of the value of the fleet, should be provided in the budget. The Government, however, he explained, only asked for 20,000,000 marks (about $4,750,000). He paid a warm tribute to the sailors of the German warship Itlis, who went down off the coast of China, while cheering for the Emperor. This reference to the gallantry of the German sailors was warmly applauded.

Count Von Bosadowsky-Wehner, Minister of the Imperial Treasury, stated that it was impossible to ignore the right of the various federal states to a proportion of the surplus of the Imperial revenue, and he expressed a hope that an agreement would be reached by the Government and the Chamber so that the federal states would not be subjected to excessive demands. He also hoped, he said, that the redemption of the public debt would be pushed.

Relative to the operation of the sugar tax law Count Von Bosadowsky-Wehner would express no opinion, saying he believed the law had not yet been long enough in operation to render it advisable to do so. The subject of abolishing the bounties on sugar, however, was still being considered by the Government.

It cured myself of a long-standing cough, after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

FRENCH AFFAIRS.

Lockroy's Proposal to Build $40,000,000 Worth of Warships Approved.

Paris, Dec. 1.—It is reported that Admiral Besnard, the Minister of Marine, is not unfavorable to the proposal of M. Lockroy to include in the naval estimates $40,000,000 for building new men of war. It is probable, however, that the proposal will only be accepted in some modified form.

M. Maxime Avoine, the sculptor, has committed suicide on account of grief over his dismissal from the Ecole Des Arts Decoratifs, for expressing revolutionary views of the Carmaux troubles to his pupils.

The Monetary Commission has pronounced in favor of a nickel issue. M. Foville, director of the mint, opposes this decision.

Funeral of Poet Patmore.

London, Dec. 1.—The funeral of Coventry K. Patmore, the author, who died on Nov. 26, took place in the Catholic Church at Lymington to-day, and the body was interred in the cemetery at that place. A choral mass for the dead was celebrated in the church in the presence of a large congregation of mourners.

Murderers Get 15 Years.

Berlin, Dec. 1.—Grosse and Werner, the two men who last October murdered Herr Major Levy, President of the Berlin bar, by stabbing him to death in his bedroom, were sentenced to-day to 15 years imprisonment.

Strikers Backed Up.

Berlin, Dec. 1.—At a meeting of the United Trades Representatives here yesterday evening Herr Molkenbuher, a member of the Reichstag, presiding, a resolution was passed, assuring the Hamburg strikers of the solid support of the workingmen of Berlin and promising them financial aid, while agreeing to prevent the departure of men from the city to take the places of the strikers.

Changes in the Directorate.

London, Dec. 1.—The Marquis of Tweeddale and Sir Albert Cappel have retired from the Board of Directors of the Anglo-American Telegraph Co., and have been replaced by the election of Sir Gerald Fitzgerald and Mr. R. H. Benson. Mr. T. A. Bevan was elected chairman of the Board at a meeting held to-day.

Extreme Cold in England.

London, Dec. 1.—A cold wave of extreme severity is prevailing throughout England, and several deaths of tramps and others from exposure to the weather are reported. Many of the streams, lakes, ponds, etc., are frozen over with ice of sufficient thickness to permit skating, which is being generally indulged in.

Mathilde Bland's Body Cremated.

London, Dec. 1.—The body of Mathilde Bland, the author and lecturer, who died last week, was incinerated in the crematory at Woking to-day. A large number of persons eminent in literary and artistic circles were present, and an address was delivered by Moncure D. Conway, the distinguished author.

Mr. Roosevelt Improving.

London, Dec. 1.—The condition of Mr. James P. Roosevelt, Secretary of the United States Embassy, who has been suffering for some time past from nervous prostration, is improving, and it is probable that Mr. Roosevelt will start for Egypt within a week or ten days for the purpose of recuperating his health.

Medals for Scientists.

London, Dec. 1.—At a meeting of the Royal Society yesterday Sir John Lister, Foreign Secretary, presiding, medals were presented to Prof. Roentgen for his ray discoveries, and to the French professor, Moissan, for his discovery of the isolation of the element fluorine.

Money for the Strikers.

Hamburg, Dec. 1.—The distribution of the strike funds began this morning. Seven thousand men are receiving aid. About 14,500 dockers and others are now on strike. The boatmen of the Upper Elbe have decided not to strike.

Chauvin Set at Liberty.

Paris, Dec. 1.—M. Chauvin, the Socialist deputy, who was arrested on Sunday during the demonstration against the visiting Socialists, was set at liberty to-day in pursuance of the vote taken in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, ordering his immediate release.

Belgian Officials Resign.

Brussels, Dec. 1.—The Burgomasters and Sheriffs have resigned, owing to the adoption of the Communal Council of a Catholic proposal, fixing the minimum wage of communal employes at three francs per day.

Five Years in the Toils—Nothing But Dodd's Kidney Pills Could Touch the Spot.

Brussels, Nov. 23—(Special)—Mr. W. P. Jackson, a telegraph operator of this place, has had an experience which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—"Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal—and took the hot springs course, all to no purpose. I have taken doctors' advice and their medicines with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes, I am happy to say that my cure is perfect.

Lucky Bargains in Tweed.

A lot of people have been looking for remnants in tweeds. We have made a lucky stroke of business at about 50c on the dollar of a job line of tweeds, which we will sell very cheap. These remnants are long enough to make a full suit, a coat, a pair of pants or a vest. As long as they last we will make up suits for $12, $13 and $15, and a pair of pants for $3, $3.50 and $4, or about 25 per cent. cheaper than regular prices. Warranted to fit. H. LEBRUN & Co. 2tlw

A SCHOLARLY ADDRESS.

Mr. J. Hampden Burnham on Canada's Early History, in Catholic Association Rooms Last Evening.

The audience that assembled in the Catholic Literary Association rooms last night was treated to a programme of unusual excellence, the different numbers presented being of a very high order.

Mr. L. V. O'Connor occupied the chair and seated on the platform was Ven. Archdeacon Casey and the speaker of the evening, Mr. J. Hampden Burnham.

The first number presented was a brilliant pianoforte rendition of "Si La Stanchezza," by Miss Grace Kendry. Mr. James Browne, the popular tenor, rendered "Douglas Gordon" in excellent voice, and later on in the evening "Tell Her I love her so." Mr. Browne was warmly encored in each number. The instrumental duet, violin and piano, by Messrs. Talbot—a catchy galop, was well executed. Mrs. Geo. Ball appeared in excellent voice in "Roxy Darlin'" and in response to a warm encore sang very sweetly, "The Maid of Dundee." The next number, an instrumental selection by three young men, greatly pleased the audience. Miss Emma Fitzgerald in her pianoforte solo, "Remember Me," showed the result of careful training. Miss Lottie Ball, of Keene, the clever and talented young violinist, treated the audience to a genuine surprise in her brilliant rendering of Wichtl's "Carnival de Venice." She was greeted to a warm encore and responded with "The Mocking Bird." Miss Ball gives promise of a brilliant future as a violinist. Miss Dennaird, of the Separate school staff, made her debut as an elocutionist, and her recitation "An Incident in '98," was rendered in a faultless manner. An instrumental duet by the Misses Pollock, "On to Battle," was exceedingly well rendered by the promising young pianistes.

The address by Mr. J. Hampden Burnham on "The Early History of Canada," was indeed a masterpiece of eloquence, replete throughout with patriotic passages and evidences of pains taking research. The speaker stated the reason he choose this subject was because of the fact that next year the 400th anniversary of the discovery of Canada would be fittingly celebrated, on which occasion the Duke and Duchess of York would be present. It was not his intention, he declared, to describe Canada's greatness. She needed no description but he would begin with a description and history of the Indians—whom he characterized as the finest race of uncivilized people in the world, who had attained a beauty of life beyond description. Mr. Burnham then proceeded with a delightful and highly interesting history of the Indian race—their characteristics, mode of living, appearance, religion and mode of warfare, paying particular attention, however, to the Algonquin, Huron and Iroquois tribes. During the speaker's address he paid a warm tribute to the noble self-sacrificing efforts of the Jesuits amongst the red men.

Mr. Burnham next referred to the explorations of the Cabot brothers and their discovery of Newfoundland and also to the celebrated Jacques Cartier and Champlain. The English admiral Frobisher brought the speaker up to the period in Canada's early history, when the possessions of the French developed rapidly, and the rivalry between England and France commenced. The speaker's description of the conflict for supremacy for the possession of this country, which terminated at the decididing battle of the Plains of Abraham, was indeed an eloquent word picture, and the audience seemed as though they were eye witnesses of the different engagements so graphically were they described by the speaker.

At the conclusion of the address Mr. Burnham was greeted with loud applause.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Ven. Archdeacon Casey and seconded by Mr. W. Rudkins.

Mr. Burnham in replying stated that he trusted the people of this section of the country would aid the Canadian Historical Society (which had gone to considerable trouble and expense) to make the 400th anniversary of Canada a credit to Canadians.

The evening's programme was brought to a close by the National Anthem.

The accompaniments during the evening were effectively played by Misses K. Hurley, Clara Bell and M. Butler.

The Busy Store.

Some merchants would have the public believe that the big sale at Routley's was only a "fake" sale, and that they can sell just as cheap. I might just say here that I have always paid a hundred cents on the dollar during my twenty years of business, and that my goods have been bought, and are now being sold at less prices than others can buy them. Yet it will last only a few weeks longer, as I am positively retiring from the retail business, and would like all who owe me accounts to call and settle before January 1st, 1897. C. B. ROUTLEY.

Peterborough Market.

On the authority of the market clerk, Mr. R. H. Nesbitt, the EXAMINER is able to state that hereafter all grains offered for sale on the market will be weighed free of charge to the seller. This is designed by the market clerk to afford an advantage to the farmer, who has the privilege of ascertaining the weight of a load of grain, which he has disposed of or wishes to dispose of, to a customer. Mr. Nesbitt is desirous of making the Peterborough market more popular and attractive if possible to farmers as well as town's people, who wish to take advantage of the opportunities it offers.

A Giant Christmas Turkey.

St. Joseph's Hospital acknowledges with thanks the receipt of a splendid turkey presented by Messrs. H. Lebrun and A. J. Gough. This fine bird is of the length of five feet and weighs 28 lbs. It was the stake in a game of "forty-fives" in which there were six contestants. The trophy fell to Messrs. LeBrun & Gough who generously presented the magnificent turkey to the Hospital and House of Providence as a sort of thanks-giving—a turkey te deum for their victory. The game was played at Mr. John Moloney's residence, Brock Street, on Monday evening, and the contestants were Messrs. B. Morrow, John Moloney, Dr. Moher, Jas. Lynch, H. LeBrun and A. J. Gough. Eleven games were played of which Messrs. LeBrun & Gough won six. They now claim to be the champions of the town at the good old Irish game of forty-fives.

Mr. Yeigh's Lecture.

The subject of Britain's girdle of the globe and of Canada's scenery and history was particularly appropriate for the Canadian Thanksgiving entertainment enjoyed by a large audience in Bond street church last evening. Mr. Frank Yeigh added another to his platform successes in his eloquent presentation of his topic, and the richly coloured views thrown on the screen by Mr. W. H. Charlton, of Chas. Potter's establishment, were heartily cheered. Mr. T. Arthur Miller contributed organ music as an accompaniment to the series of pictures, and aroused the audience to enthusiasm by his fine rendition of national airs, especially the "Maple Leaf."—Globe, Nov. 27th, '96. 2nod

BRADBURN---CUMMING.

CELEBRATION OF THE NUPTIALS THIS AFTERNOON AT 2 30.

The Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's Church—Off for New York on a Wedding Trip.

A quiet, but exceedingly pretty wedding took place this afternoon at half past two at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Cumming, Charlotte street, when her fourth daughter, Miss Bessie Cumming, was wedded to Mr. W. H. Bradburn.

The ceremony was performed in the large drawing room, which was most artistically and daintily decorated for the occasion, the bay windows being banked high with ferns, whilst delicate sprays of smilax were gracefully draped on the walls. Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's church officiated.

The bride was most becomingly costumed in a chic cadet blue travelling suit trimmed with black braid and carried a shower bouquet of magnificent cream roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Irene Brignall, of Belleville, her neice, who looked most charming in a white silk gown with garniture of chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The sweet little maid-of-honour was Miss Robina Cumming, daughter of Mr. John Cumming, and neice of the bride, who was also prettily costumed in white silk.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a most handsome crescent-shaped brooch twined with pearls, whilst to the maid of honour he presented an exquisite little turquoise ring.

A number of unusually handsome gifts were received by the bride.

The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Rupert Bradburn.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. William Cumming, of Montreal.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty wedding dejeuner was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bradburn left by the afternoon train for New York and other points, being accompanied to the station by a large number of their young friends. Upon their return they will take up their residence for the winter with Mrs. Cumming on Charlotte street.

CANADIAN HISTORICAL INTERESTS.

An Effort to be Made to Establish a Branch Here of the Canadian Historical Association.

In response to the repeated requests of the parent Historical Association the local people will shortly meet to form a branch in Peterborough. The Association itself has done admirable service in preserving the records of those lively times in the earlier periods of Canadian national life. Next year the greatest celebration that Canada has ever had will be held in connection with the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Canada by Cabot. The Duke and Duchess of York will visit the country on that occasion.

The British Association for the advancement of science will be in session in Canada and everything that can be done to do honour to so important an event will be taken in hand by the society. Peterborough cannot longer remain behindhand and though, to a large extent we are guiltless of the culture, incident to antiquity, still we can do what we are asked to do by those competent to be our leaders in this respect.

It Pays to have your Clothes

Built to Order.

No two men are built alike; hence the impossibility of any man being fitted properly, except with a Suit or Overcoat made to body MEASURE.

Who wants to wear Clothing that would fit somebody else much better?

There are times when a man gets desperate, but there's no occasion for any one in Peterborough to wear clothing that looks as though he swopped suits with somebody else, when we can fit him to a nicety.

All we ask is a fair show and a good tape measure.

Well dressed men whom we have cut for have also learned another secret—that they needn't pay "away up in G" for their high-class garments.

MEETING OF THE NATURAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION.

An Interesting Paper Read on Floral Culture Last Night.

The meeting of the Natural Science Association held last evening proved most interesting. Mr. Elcome gave the distinguishing features of the raptores order of birds, which, in Canada, has but three families, viz; 1, cathartidae; 2, falconidae; 3, strigidae. He has several beautiful specimens of each of these subdivisions, but perhaps that ordinarily known as the "fish hawk" received the most attention. He closed by aptly illustrating "The Economy of Nature," as seen in the construction and uses of the various parts of bird.

By request of the Association the following abbreviated paper on "Floral Culture" is given:

"Be it ever so humble there's no place like a garden, nothing that educates, soothes and encourages like the culture of flowers," writes an enthusiast in floriculture. Very few houses are without something in the shape of a plant during the winter, from the soap box of stubby geraniums to the well appointed conservatory. It is not an easy matter for the lover of flowers to give them up with the first frost until the next May, and so house plants are attempted under all sorts of unfavourable conditions. Preparations for house plants in winter should be made during the previous spring and summer, and proper soils and a moderate amount of heat, sun and moisture are absolutely essential to their successful culture. These conditions should be as carefully observed with one plant as with a hundred, as a single pot or basket in good order with even without blossoms, is a much more agreeable sight than a consumptive window garden. No plants should have as much heat at night as they have during the day—from 10 to 20 degrees being the proper difference in temperature. On the other hand, as we all know, plants in a room where there is no heat are in danger of freezing, and if left in a room of low temperature at night they must be carefully protected from all possible window draughts.

Moisture is one of the most important considerations for plants, as the dry air of the ordinary living room is fatal to bloom and beauty. Ingenious devices are sometimes resorted to for the necessary moisture, and among these a very simple one is to suspend a large sponge, or two of them if there are many plants, in the window and keep it constantly wet. A successful cultivator of house plants says: "I steam my plants quite often. I heat several stones or bricks very hot in the stove, and then take them out and place in an old wooden pail; set it in the room, pour on a quart of boiling water, and drop the curtain. The dampness is just what the plants like, but the insects do not. The watering of house plants seems easy enough, but in reality it is a very important and delicate operation and inexperienced growers are given to deluging their pots much more than is necessary. Some plants require a great deal of water and others very little, and some atmospheres are dryer than others and call for more water in proportion. To ascertain the needs of any plant in this respect, it is only necessary to tap on the side of the pot; a hollow ringing sound in reply is a cry for water, while a dull heavy sound indicates that that the plant is not thirsty. A thorough watering is the only beneficial one. Most plants in winter do not require watering more than two or three times a week (while in summer they need it daily), but this depends in a great measure on the nature of the plant and condition of the atmosphere. Tepid water should be used which is about the temperature of the atmosphere, and should be applied in as possible, a fine shower being more like nature than a steady pour. Plants should never be watered when the sun is shining on them. Once a week the leaves of all plants should have a thorough washing and an atomizer will be found excellent for this purpose. An old cultivator recommends as a compost for pot plants one-third leaf mould, one-third rich loam, one-third river sand. Mix well together and to every bushel or thereabouts about a shovelful of lime, ashes or gypsum. The pots for house plants should not be too large, as those of contracted dimensions will ensure more bloom. The soil for potting should not be moist, but should crumble easily.

The morning sun is the great invigorator in the way of growth and bloom and a healthy appearance generally, and only plants that love the shade will prove at all satisfactory without it. Among the lists given for various exposures the following will be found useful, and you will notice that I name very few that are not well known to us, at least by names, and none are named that are difficult of culture outside the greenhouse. For an eastern or from that to a southern exposure:—Geraniums, cactus, begonias (for their almost endless variety), pelargonium, Chinese primrose, heliotrope and the following bulbous plants: narcissus, calla, oxalis, hyacinth, and scilla. On western or sunless window several pretty species of palms and ferns—the Roman hyacinth, azalea, Chinese primrose, Chinese lily, fuchsia and the primula theconica, a beautiful little flower and a constant bloomer. Give it plenty of water and it will give you a succession of delightful flowers. The leaves of these plants should not be allowed to touch a cold window pane. The heliotrope is a great favourite. Its delicate flowers of various shades of purple blue, and its delicate vanilla odor make it very desirable for bouquets. It grows readily from cuttings, but the old plants bloom more profusely than the young ones. It likes plenty of sun, needs a great deal of water, and is particularly susceptible to dust.

Mignonette, though humble, is not to be despised, and an ornamental window box, filled only with this low-growing, violet-scented annual, is a desirable addition to any room. A pot of mignonette and another of sweet alyssum cost nothing, and yet few things will be found more pleasant and attractive in the winter season. As late as September will answer for sowing seeds of these plants for winter blooming and from three to six plants may be put in one pot. In this short paper time will not permit me to deal in detail with the care of many plants but I will conclude with the wish that we may all take more interest in the cultivation of flowers.

VILLAGE SCHOOL BOARD.

Meeting of the Ashburnham Trustees Last Night.

The following trustees were present at the monthly meeting of the Ashburnham School Board last night—Messrs. Craig, chairman; Pollock, Symonds, Sheridan, Adams and Maniece.

The headmaster's report of the school attendance for the month was read and received:

	On Roll.	Av. Att.
Miss Allen	63	44
Miss Wood	29	25
Miss Fitzgerald	44	39
Miss Stevenson	33	28
Mr Matchett	48	40
Total	216	176

Moved by Messrs. Sheridan and Pollock that the two junior rooms be divided at the beginning of the new year, as suggested in the headmaster's report.—Carried.

In response to a request Messrs. F. E. Perney, of the Norwood school, and W. A. Evans, of Lakefield, gave their opinion regarding the holding of two examinations a year in the school.

Mr. Perney advanced the opinion that two examinations a year hurried the pupils too much and often resulted in imperfect and superficial work. The Norwood school was working along the lines of the one promotion examination a year principle and the results were most satisfactory. He would not advise a pupil to remain a shorter time than two years in the fourth book.

Mr. Evans stated that the school had two promotion examinations in the year for the third book and all lower classes but only a mid-summer examination for higher classes. They were considering to make the latter rule also applicable to the senior third class. He did not approve of the biennial examinations in the higher classes.

On motion of Messrs. Pollock and Mantece, the communications were received and handed to the headmaster, the matter to be left to his discretion. The secretary was also instructed to convey the thanks of the Board to Messrs. Perney and Evans for the information furnished.

On motion Mrs. Boyler's account of $1 for ink was ordered to be paid.

A communication was read from Mr. Humming, applying for position of janitor at a salary of $105. Mr. Doupe applied verbally for re-engagement at former salary, $140. The matter was left over for consideration.

On motion of Messrs. Sheridan and Craig, it was decided to hold a special meeting on the 16th inst.

The Board then adjourned.

THE LIMIT QUESTION

was taken up for discussion and Principal Smith invited to speak on the subject. He stated that the changes in the curriculum which the teachers desired were very simple, consisting mainly in a few alterations in the subjects of history and physiology in the third book divisions. If the changes were to be made it was desirable that it be done before the beginning of the new term.

Principal Yenney explained that the present limit was purely an experimental one, instituted by the late Inspector, who did not have time to ascertain whether it worked satisfactorily. The principle changes which were desirable were in the 3rd book classes. Too much history was being taken up in this grade, of a nature which was not needed. It was desirable to restrict this subject to the limits of the authorized text book.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson stated that although if he had been present at the last meeting he would have opposed the appointment of an Inspector from principle, yet he had since learned that the man who had been secured was the best possible procurable. Friends had written him to this effect from the east. He thought the matter of changing the limit should be left over until the inspector arrived.

Mr. Hill stated that the new Inspector would be in town on the 23rd. and suggested that the Supervision Committee confer with him in the matter at that time.

It was moved by Trustees Caldwell and Fair, that the Supervision Committee confer with the Inspector and principals of the different schools re any changes in the boundaries and any matters pertaining to school organization and report to the Board at its first meeting in January, with power to act.—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. McBain and Ferguson it was resolved that the chairman of the Property Committee be authorized and instructed to purchase all the necessary supplies of wood and fuel required for the public schools and Institute for the coming year.—Carried.

It was moved by Messrs. McBain and Hartley, that the election for school trustees be held at the time, place and manner as required by statute, and the secretary be instructed to publish the necessary notice.—Carried.

Trustees Hill and Ferguson moved that the headmasters prepare the papers and conduct the examinations as usual.

The Board then adjourned.

Are our Horses Threatened?

An outbreak of cerebro-spinal meningitis is reported to have broken out in a stable of horses on a farm in Wellington county, and the veterinary surgeons in attendance have advised the slaughter of the animals. This disease is stated to have been quite prevalent in some parts of the States some twenty-five years ago, but is an unusual thing in Canada, the only case known to Dr. Bryce, the Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, being an outbreak, presumed to be similar to this which occurred near Uxbridge about seven years ago, and which carried off several fine animals.

Everyone knows the biblical story of the passover. The angel of death turned aside only at the doors of the chosen people. The first-born of all others were slain. There is a chosen people to-day, at whose doors the angel of death turns aside and whose first-born escape unscathed while the children of others perish. The chosen people are the healthy people. Nine-tenths of the deaths among children are due to the ill-health of the mothers during the period preceding motherhood. Every woman owes it to herself, her husband and her children to keep herself healthy in a womanly way. She should thoroughly understand her own physical make-up. She should realize the importance of keeping the organs of womanhood healthy and vigorous. She can only do this by taking proper care of herself and using the proper remedy for weakness or disease of those organs.

The best remedy for weakness or disease of the organs peculiar to women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is truly wonderful in its effects on the female organism. It allays inflammation, soothes pain and restores health and vigor. Get it at the druggist's and take no substitute. Your health and your children's health depend upon it.

"Since I wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us," writes W. R. Malcolm, of Knobel, Clay Co., Ark. "My wife took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also your 'Favorite Prescription' all during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to mention. A stouter, healthier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age the 8th inst. and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as the colic."

Every woman in America should own a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In its 1,008 pages she will find plain talks about all sorts of ailments. These talks are made plainer by copious illustrations. About 90 pages are devoted to woman's diseases and weaknesses. There are suggestions for home-treatment. This book has already gone into more than a million homes. The original price was $1.50. Now an edition in paper covers is being distributed FREE. Send 31 one-cent stamps—this pays for customs and mailing only—to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. If a copy bound in fine cloth is desired, send 50 stamps.

NORMAN CHRISTMAS.

CUTSOMS AND FEASTS OF ENGLAND'S ANCIENT RULERS.

Celts and Saxons Were the Servants of Their Conquerors—Stewed Lampreys From the Severn—Drinks of the Early Britons.

CELTIC superstitions and traditions prevail in England, the land of the mistletoe; the romance of Arthur and his knights lingers around Avalon; Roman luxury is with us in Bath and Cirencester; Somerset recalls the scenes of Athelney and Glastonbury, and in the magnificent piles of Worcester, Gloucester and Hereford we still gaze in admiration on these wonders of Norman generosity.

But what have these Normans bequeathed to us of Christmas customs? Nothing distinctive, for their ancestors, the sea kings, were but offshoots of the same Scandanavian forefathers of the Saxons, and thus we had already received through Dane and Saxon the observances of northern Yule. But a greater luxury and love of display in every form entered English life. Quality, no longer quantity, was the fashion of the board. The ox and calf flesh, sheep and swine flesh appear as beef, veal, mutton and pork; huge horns of home-brewed ale give place to wines; spiced and highly seasoned dishes first appear. But at heart the Norman is no more refined than the Saxon. Where the Saxon is simple-minded, trustworthy and faithful, the Norman is crafty, cunning and deceitful. His fair words may sound sweeter, 'tis all.

Many and varied now are the dishes at feasts. Our terrapin and canvas-back duck had their prototype in the crane, indispensable at all aristocratic feasts, and in Becket's days, for King Henry was a veritable gormand, we find such dishes as 'dillegrout," "karumple" and "maupigyrnun."

Dillegrout required great skill on the cook's part, for it was composed of almond milk, the brawn of capons, sugar and spices, chicken parboiled and chopped and is often known as "le messe de gryron." If fat were added to it, then it became "maupigyrnun."

The tenant of the manor of Addington in Surrey held his lands in return for a mess of dillegrout on the day of the King's coronation.

The Norman Kings had learned to appreciate the stewed lampreys of the Severn, and the loyalty of Gloucester was tested every year by the preparation of a huge lamprey pie for the sovereign.

So fond was Henry II. of this rich dish that his gluttony overcame his prudence, and his last illness and death resulted from the same. John, too, fined the citizens of Gloucester for not sending him their usual tribute. But when lampreys cost 50 cents apiece, and a whole sheep's carcass could be bought for the same sum, need we wonder at the economical tendencies displayed toward the worthless king?

The Christmas lamprey pie, which Gloucester sends to the reigning King or Queen is well worth notice. Last year the custom, fallen into abeyance, was revived, and a pie weighing 31 pounds was despatched to Windsor and gratefully acknowledged by Her Majesty. According to an ancient recipe, "take out ye backbone, season ym with cloves, mace, nutmeg, pepper and allspice, stew ym in beef gravy, port wine and wine of Maderia, put ym in a pie, with chopped anchovies, flour and butter; eat yt with lemon juice, mustard and horse radish."

Accompanying this dish are silver skewers bearing the city arms, engraved or raised in relief. The English had long ere this time been celebrated for their drinking capabilities.

Iago says, "Your Dane, your German and your swag-bellied Hollander are nothing to your English."

The mead, sider, ale, pigment and morat of the Celts and Saxons have Norman successors in claret or clarre, garhiofilac and hippocras. The Saxon morat was made of honey and mulberries, and the Norman hippocras, indispensable at all high feasts, was sweetened wine mixed with spices. The garhiofilac was a white wine spiced with giroffe or cloves, and we can still read an order of Henry III. directing the keeper of his wines to get ready for Christmas two tuns of white wine to make garhiofilac and one tun of red wine for claret.

The same King gives orders for peacocks and boars' heads for the feast, showing how luxury was creeping in more and more. It was this King whose coronation at Gloucester is depicted in one of the cathedral windows. In a notable Christmas spent there in 1234 nearly all his nobles left him because he had given the best seats at table to foreigners.

But we must never forget that until Crecy was fought and won in 1346 there was no English Christmas. Previous to this Saxon and Norman dwelt apart as servant and master, the Saxon clinging to his simpler if coarser mode of life. The Norman sat scornful and aloof in his ceremonious feasts. But the leaven was none the less working, and each successive generation of the two races became more and more cognizant of the other's doings. The Saxon dwelling as servant in the Norman's halls must conform in part to the ways of the household, and the Norman child devoted to his faithful Saxon servant listened with eager ears to the tales of Arthur and his knights, for the Saxon and Celt had long ere this made common cause.

We have no tale of the reverence of the cross to tell in the observance of a Norman Christmas, and yet the wars of the cross drew Saxon and Norman closer and closer, until in the time of Edward III. they made common cause and fought bravely side by side, the Saxon full of admiration for the skill which could conquer brute force, and the Norman no longer disdainful, for he finds the Saxon yeoman a trusty friend, a faithful subject and a worthy ally. And so we come to the England of Chaucer, the father, the wellspring, the bright and morning star of our language—the richest, the greatest and most comprehensive of the languages of the world. Let us join him in "Nowell crieth every lustie man."

The numerous cures of rheumatism by the use of the old standard blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, show conclusively that it is an effective remedy, if not indeed the specific for this most painful and persistant of maladies. What has cured others will cure you.

BURNED WITH HIS CHILD.

Chaplain Blaine Tried to Rescue the Little One and Both Were Lost.

Washington, Nov. 30.—A telegram was received at the War Department to-day from Major Burke, stationed at Fort Ringold, Texas, stating that last night the quarters of Post Chaplain M. C. Blaine were burned and the Chaplain and his young daughter burned to death.

Chaplain Blaine, after the fire had made some headway, missed his daughter, and entered the building to rescue her. He was overcome by smoke, and perished with his child. His wife escaped without serious injury. Chaplain Malnor C. Blaine was born in Kentucky and enlisted as a private in Company 54th Kentucky Infantry in 1864, was discharged the next year and appointed Post Chaplain from Pennsylvania, June 16, 1880.

A NOVA SCOTIA CASE.

Suffered without Help—Eighteen Years Getting Worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N. S., Nov. 30.—(Special)—There is no man in town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who for eighteen years has been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says: "It began with backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I had run down greatly in weight the doctors said it was diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's Kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength. I am perfectly cured.

To destroy worms and expel them from children or adults use Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE

She Has Ever Known. Words of Praise from a New York Lady for

AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. MAY JOHNSON, 363 Rider Avenue, New York City.

MUST RAISE REVENUE.

Senator Frye Says the Dingley Bill or a Good Substitute for It Must be Passed.

New York, Nov. 30.—A Journal special from Lewiston, Me., says: "President Cleveland will act in an emphatic way regarding the Cuban revolution," said Senator William P. Frye, with far more emphasis than the written words indicate. "I have good grounds for so believing, and as I expect nothing of this Congress—or, rather of this Senate—I am made very glad by the confidence which I now feel in the man at the White House."

These words were uttered by the Maine Senator, who has held aloft the banner of Cuban liberty many times during the past year. The conversation had begun with the question: "What will Congress do during the short session?"

"It must do something at once to increase the revenue," replied the Maine Senator, "or stand disgraced as the law-making power of the nation. The Dingley Bill, or a good substitute, must be passed to stop the growing deficit. A Government cannot afford to live beyond its means any more than an individual. Aside from my pronounced belief in protection, I have no patience with the makeshifts that Secretary Carlisle proposes. A tax on tea and coffee is an outrage. An income tax is repugnant to democracy. Let the monarchies raise money in that way. I would admit free of duty every product of the soil or of any shop that is not competitive."
